Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

As we write this column there is good reason for our thoughts to turn to Fort Sumter.

From our hotel window we are watching the construction of placements upon which a civil war 20-pounder gun will fire Monday upon a replica of "Star of the West."

"As it was Jan. 9, 1861—we are there."

In history books the story of Fort Sumter starts in April, 1861, when the newly-organized Confederate States, after a breakdown of negotiations, fired upon Fort Sumter and President Lincoln issued a call for 75,000 volunteers.

After two days of bombardment and failure of the Federals to get supplies to Major Anderson, he prepared to vacate the fort. He did it with honor, however.

He insisted that the terms offered by General Beauregard allow him and his men to salute the American flag as it was being lowered.

Fort Sumter in the hands of the Confederates was most irritating to the Federals because it interfered with the blockade of the Atlantic coast.

As late as January, 1863 vessels plyed to and from Charleston and Nassau with the certainty of a regular line.

Fort Sumter, today under the care of the National Park Service, is being made ready for an increased influx of visitors.

During the past two years a great quantity of sand has been excavated. Original magazines, quarters of the men and some of the original cannon have been unearthed as well as shells in the thick walls.

The guide tells the story that after relic hunters had removed about 40 of the shells, a notice was published that the shells were still dangerous. Over fifty shells were returned.

Much has been written about the heroic defense by Major Anderson in April 1861. The South showed equal valor in its defense during the succeeding three years.

It was during this period that a U. S. Admiral demanded its surrender. Gen. Beauregard replied he could have Fort Sumter when he could take it and hold it.

Bombardments of Sumter continued from the sea and after 1863 from the land. The original walls of the fort, fifty feet high, were almost leveled at times. The fort became a mass of debris but Federal forces could not gain a foothold. In December, 1864, the fort had become almost a chaotic ruin but it was still held by the Confederates.

A change came when Gen. Sherman started his march north from Savannah and it was evacuated in February, 1865. The fortunes of war had accomplished what 3.500 tons of metal, a fleet of ironclads and thousands of men had failed to do.

Anderson, now a retired brigadier general, returned to Fort Sumter to raise the flag he had pulled down four years earlier.

Fort Sumter became merely a lighthouse station until the 1870's when a start was made to clear away the rubble and ruins.

The Spanish-American war in 1898 brought about construction of a battery of long range cannon.

During World War II, Fort Sumter was armed with 90 mm anti-aircraft guns.

Today it is well worth visiting as well as the old homes, churches and many historical places about Charleston.

Schneller to Head Ticket

Joseph Schneller, 37-year-old furniture store owner, became the first to toss his hat into the Arlington Heights political ring with the announcement of his candidacy for president of the board of trustees Tuesday.

Entering the race with Schneller are trustee candidates George T. Coker Jr., 1611 N. Ridge; Barney V. Erickson, 611 N. Dunton, and James W. Sutton Jr., 627 S. State rd., and village clerk aspirant Mrs. Howard Jarvis, 101 N. Phelps.

THE FIVE candidates disclosed their formation and filing of the Citizens Party slate Tuesday night at a press conference in Cooper's restaurant. More than 100 residents and well-wishers attended the conference.

Schneller, of 212 S. Dwyer, is owner of the Schneller Furniture company in the Arlington Market shopping center. He is a director of the Arlington Heights Lions club, chairman of the local Salvation Army drive, member of the chamber of commerce and president of the Arlington Market Merchants association.

"Arlington Heights is a community of about 30,000 people, most of whom get no personal representation on the village board," Schneller told the Herald. "I propose equal representation in village government for all sections of the village."

HE POINTED to the fact that Citizens Party candidates, through their residence, represent the various sections of the village. Schneller lives in Westgate, Coker in Hasbrook, Erickson in the "old" section and Sutton on the south side.

Citizens Party candidates will be shooting for the April election and the seats of village president Edward G. Carlisle, trustees Robert Bukowski, Melvin Kurtz, and Wendell Prunty, and village clerk Mildred Pearson.

Included in the party's 15-point platform are promises to encourage industry by establishing an industrial district, establish legal and consistent zoning standards and practices, and adopt an "above board" policy prohibiting closed meetings.

OTHER platform planks are the establishment of a full-time office of village attorney, renewal of efforts to construct an underpass under the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks, initiation of a street improvement program and restoration of the dignity of the individual home owner.

Announced as members of the Citizens Party campaign committee were Bill Kaucher, general chairman; Jack Keller, campaign manager; Ed Traxler, publicity; and Don Florence and Charles Wilson, finance.

In addressing his enthusiastic audience Tuesday Schneller said, "I recommend putting an end to the 'closed door' meetings that take place often during regular village board meetings.

"ARLINGTON Heights is a bustling community, no longer tiny, and as such requires something more than token government. When the voters are fully informed of the opportunities the Citizens Party of 1961 offers, I'm sure they will become enthusiastic too."

Meanwhile, Donald Whiting, chairman of the candidate recommendation committee of the Arlington Heights Caucus, said the committee is continuing its interviews of residents in the search of candidates.

As the political picture was painted this week, the announced Citizens Party candidates and those to be endorsed by the Caucus organization will fight it out for the village posts.

CITIZENS PARTY candidates who entered the race for village board seats Tuesday night are (l. to r.) Barney V. Erickson, 611 N. Dunton, trustee candidate; Joseph Schneller, 212 S. Dwyer, presidential candidate; James W. Sutton Jr., 627 S. State rd., trustee candidate, and George T. Coker Jr., 1611 N. Ridge, trustee candidate. The party promised a hard-hitting campaign in its 15-point platform.

Area Growth Banks Reflect

Twelve northwest banks this week publish their statements of condition in Paddock Publications newspapers.

Reflecting the vigorous growth and development of the suburbs they serve, the banks report a total assets of $44,514,192.35. This total does not include area savings and loan associations, one of which also published a statement this week.

Hearing Resumed On Concrete Plant

The Arlington Heights zoning board of appeals will conduct a continued public hearing Saturday, Feb. 4, to hear more discussion on the village's proposal to relocate Consumers company, a ready-mix concrete plant, from busy Northwest hwy.

The board is expected to express its approval or denial of village manager L. A. Hanson's request for a zoning variation at the inactive sewage plant located in the extreme southeastern corner of the village.

HANSON HAS asked for the variation to permit Consumers company to move to the sewage plant from its present location at 301 W. Northwest hwy. The 9.5 acre disposal plant, inoperative since 1957, is now zoned for public use.

Three objectors, including Salvatore DiMucci, a Mt. Prospect builder, opposed the relocation at a hearing December 6. A second hearing was scheduled for December 28, but was called off when the zoning board could not muster a quorum.

Victor Beisler, board chairman, announced the new hearing date last Saturday morning. It is also advertised in another portion of this week's Herald.

STEPHEN JURCO, village attorney, said Monday it was necessary to readvertise because the new hearing date was not publicly announced before the board adjourned December 28.

The hearing Saturday will be held at 10:30 a.m. in the village hall council room.

For Pump, Storage Tank

County Zoners Study Special Use Request

The Cook county zoning board of appeals voted last week to take under advisement a request for special use of property in the proposed 300-home Arlington Heights Gardens subdivision south of Arlington Heights.

The special use, as applied for by Mid-State Utilities, Inc., Roselle, is for a well pumping station and ground storage tank in the presently zoned single family residence district.

At a public hearing in the Mt. Prospect village hall January 11, the zoning board heard J. Hawley Toussie, mechanical engineer for Mid-State outline details for a two-story 200,000 gallon water reservoir and a brick pumping station.

TOUSSIE SAID, the improvement would be enclosed by a six-foot fence and painted foliage green. He noted there would be three water service pumps and a chlorination facility in the pump house.

When Walter J. Popjoy, board secretary, asked Toussie if the 260-foot well would have an effect in the area water table, the engineer opined it "would not have a great deal of effect."

Two residents of the State rd. vicinity, however, objected to the proposed well on the grounds that their private wells would be adversely affected.

Another resident presented a sample of dirty water alleged to have come from his well. He claimed Mid-State's drilling operations had contaminated the water, even though the utility's well is some 100 feet deeper.

POPJOY REFUSED to accept the dirty water as evidence, saying he "wouldn't know where to file it." He also indicated the problem should be brought to the attention of the county department of public health.

L. A. Hanson, Arlington Heights village manager, Harold G. Appleby, village manager of Mt. Prospect, and the City of Chicago asked that the board delay any decision on the Mid-State application for 15 days.

Hanson told the board the village has been negotiating with developers of the Gardens project for 90 days in regard to water supply and that the village has invested $200,000 in a deep well at Magnolia st. and State rd. which is capable of serving the subdivision.

Popjoy said he wanted to be sure the Mid-State well would not run others in the area dry, pointing out that engineer Toussie had only presented the board with hearsay testimony.

The zoning board is expected to make its recommendation to county commissioners in late January or early February.

Zoning Board Acts On Three Requests

In a three-hearing venture last week, the Arlington Heights zoning board of appeals granted two variations and withheld a decision on another when the petitioner failed to appear.

The board voted Thursday to okay a request by Mrs. Marvel Osborne that the two-flat building at 411 N. Evergreen be permitted under single family residence zoning.

ALSO APPROVED was a request by Herbert Jacobsen that a variation in rear yard requirements be granted at 208 Wilshire ln. Jacobsen explained the irregular shape of the lot prevented it from conforming exactly to village ordinances.

The board tabled a decision on a request for a variation to permit a two-flat structure at 315 N. Belmont when the petitioner, James I. Chase of Palatine, did not attend the hearing.

Chase's request is being actively opposed by a group of homeowners in the area Fred Walters, 415 E. St James, spokesman for the group, told the board the multiple family dwelling would be a liability to the neighborhood.

Railway Parks Ordinance OK'd

The Arlington Heights village board Monday approved an ordinance authorizing the issuance of $205,000 in parking revenue bonds for acquisition and improvement of four north side railroad parks between State rd. and Highland ave.

According to village manager L. A. Hanson, monies from parking meters to be installed in the lots will be used to retire the bonds. The board voted December 12 to purchase the parks for use as parking facilities.

Learned Ignorance

A man must have a certain amount of intelligent ignorance to get anywhere. — Charles F. Kettering.

For Improvement

Compromise Is Expected

The Arlington Heights board of local improvements is expected to submit a compromise proposal tonight (Thursday) in regard to the major improvement project for the 45-home Park Manor subdivision.

Harold Klingner, board chairman, indicated the compromise was being considered when he addressed village trustees Monday. He noted exclusion of sidewalks from the project would reduce the overall cost $180 per home.

Members of the Park Manor Homeowners association proposed December 15 that the project be limited to a ceiling of $45 per frontage foot on bid estimates or include only sanitary sewer and water main, excluding storm sewer and paving.

THE PROJECT originally called for the installation of sanitary sewer, water main, storm sewer and paving. The 80-acre subdivision is now served by septic tanks and wells.

Board members have voiced the opinion that a partial improvement of the area would only complicate the village's problem. Home owners maintain the cost of the entire program will be too much for them to bear.

Klingner appeared before the village board Monday to ask trustees to consider shouldering some of the cost of a storm sewer on Central rd. The board took the request under advisement.

For Zoning

Seek Opinion On Variation

Village attorney Stephen Jurco is expected to render a legal opinion Saturday as to whether or not the Arlington Heights zoning board of appeals has jurisdiction to consider a resident's request for a zoning variation.

Therequest before the board has been made by Dr. Robert C. Kloempken, owner of a medical building on lot 171 at the corner of Evergreen ave. and Central rd.

Dr. Kloempken seeks a variation on lot 172 for the purpose of erecting an addition to the medical building. Both lots 171 and 172 are now zoned for residential use.

Zoning board members decided at a public hearing last Saturday that there is some question as to whether or not the board can deal with the variation request.

ATTORNEY JURCO said it is possible Dr. Kloempken's request can be construed as an extension of a variation granted in 1958 when the original building was constructed. The zoning board is not empowered to extend the variation, Jurco noted.

He pointed out that the petitioner may have to request a rezoning instead of a variation in zoning. In this event, Jurco explained, the plea should properly be brought before the village plan commission.

Inaction Is Denounced By Trustee

Trustee Eugene Schlickman Monday charged some members of the village administration with "dragging their feet" in carrying out their official duties.

Schlickman did not point an accusing finger at persons in particular, but noted he has observed slowness in acting and reluctance to act since his election to the village board two years ago.

"I AGREE that this is a serious problem," commented Trustee William Sauer. Both trustees said they trust all employees of the village will act according to the board's directions in the future.

Schlickman said he was aware of a recent incident where an employee disagreed with the board and knowingly chose not to act as the board directed.

Vehicle License Penalties Slated

Arlington Heights trustees approved an ordinance Monday which permits the village to levy penalty charges against those delinquent in purchasing vehicle licenses.

The ordinance keeps the cost of the village vehicle sticker at $6, but provides for extra fees if the license is purchased after the annual deadline.

If the vehicle license is purchased after January 31 or after 30 days after the vehicle is subject to licensing, the license fee will be increased $1 on the first day of each month thereafter, according to the ordinance.

THE LEGISLATION stipulated that the penalty fee not exceed $4 for any one license. Another new section of the ordinance calls for the licensing of "other vehicles," trailers and motorcycles, at the rate of $1.50 per wheel.

Licenses for trucks less than one ton will cost $10, trucks over one ton cost $20 and other vehicles will be licensed at the per wheel rate. Duplicate and transfer licenses will cost $1.

L. A. Hanson, village manager, reminds Arlington Heights residents that strict enforcement of both vehicle and dog license ordinances will begin February 15. License applications are available in the village hall.

Seek Two Men For Robbery

Arlington Heights police this week were checking tips they hope will lead to the identity of two young men who robbed a village service station owner of $110 last Friday.

THE EARLY morning hold-up of the Northwest service station, 630 W. Northwest hwy., was similar in method to others staged recently in the northwest suburbs. Police in area villages have collaborated in the investigation.

Edward Slack, owner of the Northwest station, told police two men pulled up to his pumps, produced a snub nose revolver, and demanded his money. The robbers drove east on Euclid ave. in their escape.

Heart Sunday Scheduled For Suburbs February 26

On Heart Sunday, Feb. 26, everybody has the opportunity to support the work of the Heart association of the metropolitan area in and about Chicago, it was announced this week by W. C. Wolf, chairman for Arlington Heights.

Approximately 20 per cent of money collected is used for overhead expenses such as rent, wages of staff personnel and the actual cost of raising money. Not one cent is paid to the 60,000 volunteers who ring door bells on Heart Sunday.

All officials of the Heart association serve without pay. Eighty per cent of the money is used for research education and community services.

LAST YEAR in five medical schools and in hospitals in and about Chicago, 51 research projects covering all phases of prevention and treatment of heart disease were supported by the Heart Association. The following subjects are emhasized:

The prevention of rheumatic fever. Outstanding men are searching for the cuase of this dread disease. It appears that within a few years the crippling effects of this infection upon the heart valves will be largely preventable.

Some children are born with defective hearts. Investigations by surgeons, cardiologists and pathologists are being focused upon the types of deformities, their cause and the best methods of treatment.

Because of financial support of investigators in this field, innumerable children (especially "blue babies") are now saved and living happy lives.

IN FIVE institutions better methods are being sought for closing "holes in the heart." Artificial heart - lung machines are being perfected. With the use of these machines, the heart can safely be stopped for forty - five minutes, opened and repaired. After repair, the heart miraculously is started and again takes over its task of beating.

More than 20 research men in this metropolitan area alone are seeking the cause of hardening of the arteries- the reason for heart attacks and strokes - and are searching for improved methods of treating these catastrophes. People are being taught to live with their damaged hearts.

Last year 365,595.02 thousand dollars was spent on education and services to those whose hearts have failed. In Illinois 59 per cent of deaths are due to diseases of the heart and blood vessels. (A

'Suspicious' Persons Are Reported

Arlington Heights police were besieged Monday afternoon and evening by telephone calls reporting suspicious persons lurking in the village.

At the suggestion of a housewife, police searched in vain from 4 to 4:30 p.m. for a man reported to be parked in an auto watching children play in the vicinity of the St. James school.

AT 6:50 P.M. a resident on north Hickory reported a young man peeping into a bathroom window. At 8:15 p.m. an unknown person rang a doorbell on north Wilshire ln. and disappeared.

At 8:35 p.m. a housewife on south Windsor saw a man peering into her living room window. Keeping her composure, the lady directed her husband to phone police. The peeping tom was not located.

Absenteeism Of Zoning Board Noted

Absenteeism of-1-24 bold ......

Trustee Robert Bukowski Monday admonished some members of the Arlington Heights zoning board of appeals to increase their frequency of attendance at zoning board meetings and hearings.

He suggested that village manager L. A. Hanson ask board chairman Victor Beisler to poll his board to determine which members are able to serve regularly. Those that cannot should be asked to resign, Bukowski noted.

TRUSTEE Eugene Schlickman said Beisler has suggested a change of ordinance structure to permit the chairman to relieve "absentee" members of their titles.

Bukowski pointed out that "it shouldn't be necessary to take such action when dealing with adults." He did not, however, rule out the ordinance revision. A recent zoning board hearing was postponed when a quorum was not present.

Planners OK Zoning Of Tract

The Arlington Heights plan commission voted January 11 to approve a petition for the rezoning of an irregularly shaped tract of land lying between Rand, Palatine and Wilke rds. in the village's northwest corner.

According to Harold E. Carlson, commission chairman, the commission's affirmative recommendation will be transmitted to village trustees February 6 for their approval.

THE PETITION, filed by the Arlington Development corporation, asked that portions of the property be zoned from R-1 to R-3, R-1 to R-5 and R-1 to B-1. The development is known as The Village Green.

The commission also passed a resolution January 11 approving the village's recent acquisition of the four northside railroad parks for parking purposes. Commission members opined there is "great need" for additional parking facilities.

Referred to committee by the commission was a request for subdivision by Maurice Herman, owner of a 4-lot parcel on the south side of Park st. between Ridge and Walnut. (AF

Proper Address Of Mark Motors

Due to a typographical error in the issue of January 12 in Paddock Publications, the Chrysler advertisement for Mark Motors Inc., Arlington Heights, contained an error in the firm's address. The correct address is 2020 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights. (A14

Zoning Board Studies Plea

The Arlington Heights zoning board of appeals voted Saturday to take under advisement a request for frontage variations on 10 lots on the west side of Fernandez st. between Grove and George sts.

Chairman Victor Beisler said the board needs more time to gather background information before giving a decision on the petition of Eugene W. Pilawski, part owner of the 10 lots. (AF

Campfire To Observe Jubilee

Arlington Heights district of Campfire and Blue Birds will be celebrating the Golden Jubilee with two separate potluck dinners. The first dinner will be held for all Blue Birds and fathers at 6:30 p.m. January 31 in Arlington high school and the second, for all Campfire and parents, is to be held at 6:30 p.m. February 7 in the high school. Magicians will be on the program at each dinner.

Both dinners will honor pioneer members of 35 years and will serve as a kick-off for the annual Wampum drive to be held February 12.

Mrs. Robert Anderson, 120 W. White Oak, is chairman of the Blue Bird dinner and Mrs. George Landis, 528 S. Highland, is chairman of the Campfire dinner. (A

Caseworker Turnover Cited As $1 Million Welfare Cost

More than a million dollars a year is lost to the taxpayer because of personnel turnover in the Cook County Aid to Dependent Children program.

This, as well as several specific criticisms of ADC administration, was revealed in the fifth report of a series on the program released by a citizen's committee. The report also underscored the importance of current ADC rehabilitation projects here.

Despite the fact that Cook County's Department of Public Aid "carries on an active and effective recruitment program," the annual turnover rate of casework staff is 50 per cent, according to the report.

"ON A VERY conservative basis, it is estimated by DPA that it costs at least $3,000 per worker lost every year, or a total of $1.1-million," the report said.

The study cites these major reasons for the high turnover rate:

Low salaries, high caseloads, frequent crash programs (to cut down recipients), excessive paper work and complicated office procedures.

The administration also was criticized because of its "too-rigid concern" with eligibility. Inadequate office space, inefficient handling of mail and forms and poor internal communications, were also cited in the report for remedial action.

THE ADC PROGRAM in Cook County is the second largest in the United States. Currently it expends more than $4-million a month for about 100,000 individuals. The study was made by Greenleigh Associates, New York, an independent welfare agency consulting firm.

Regarding ADC's problems, the study reported that they have been further complicated by public pressures growing out of "misconceptions based on publicized instances of child neglect by ADC recipients, as well as other instances of socially unacceptable behavior."

These factors, it was said, "cause the county department to devote a much greater proportion of its time and energies to eligibility determinations than is necessary to insure that only those eligible receive assistance. It has resulted in developing layer upon layer of cumbersome procedures and an excessive amount of paper work, so that every minute proof of eligibility is thoroughly documented on each case in the event of questioning or criticism."

THE STUDY pointed out that public pressures have also caused the institution of "crash program after crash program in attempts to reduce the caseload, with expensive, punitive and harmful measures and questionable practices of an expedient nature frequently being used.

"These have never accomplished their purpose," the study disclosed. "The number of families removed from assistance might temporarily result in a net reduction, but it appears that most are back on assistance within a few months and the relief load continues to climb.

"ALL OF THIS has delayed the development of a more constructive program which could deal with the more deep-seated causes of dependency, and which could help families realize their rehabilitation potential in much greater numbers and much earlier," the study pointed out.

The survey was initiated by the Committee to Study the ADC Program in Cook County, a blue ribbon group of citizens appointed by Daniel Ryan, president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners. C. Virgil Martin, president, Carson, Pirie, Scott and Co., is chairman of the committee.

Four special ADC rehabilitation Projects point the way to improvement of the ADC problems, according to the study. They are:

The Welfare Rehabilitation Services and the Intensive Casework Service, which are on a continuing basis, and

THE ROCKWELL Gardens Project and the Kenwood ADC Rehabilitation Project, which are experimental.

Stressing the importance of the Welfare Rehabilitation Services, the study reported:

"Almost 500 relief recipients are given sheltered workshop experience, so that they may gradually move into whole or partial self-support."

In addition to job training and vocational guidance, this project, conducted by the department of public aid because of a shortage of such services in the community, also provides job-finding and placement services for employable public assistance recipients, "who frequently are difficult to place."

THE INTENSIVE Casework Services received commendation in the study for having "demonstrated the value of skilled casework service as a public welfare function."

ICS covers a limited number of families with children who have serious problems of family disorganization, or other complex problems requiring specialized casework diagnosis and treatment. These include services to unmarried mothers under 16 years of age, and some few others. The staff of 18 trained social workers with average caseloads of 20, includes three consultants and an over-all supervisor.

The study disclosed that the ICS project "has assisted the rehabilitation of some families and has prevented further deterioration of others.

"IT HAS established an important link between the department and other organized resources in the community, both public and private.

"It has demonstrated to others in the department how to enlist the cooperation of other community resources in securing specialized services for families in trouble.

"Furthermore, it has established how outside community resources can be used effectively in behalf of ADC families." (B8

Q. I never know what to say when a fellow thanks me at the end of a dance. and it's very embarrassing. Can you suggest something?

A. You can respond just with a smile, or perhaps a "Thank YOU," or some statement to the effect that it was fun.

Two Motorists Are Killed In Northwest Area Wrecks

Two motorists were killed in northwest suburban area accidents this past week.

Adolph H. Wagner, 67, of 59 Seneca, Elgin, was killed when his car collided with another vechicle Sunday, Jan. 15, at the intersection of Illinois 59 and Shoefactory rd. in Hanover township.

Robert Bookless, 40, of 708 Holly ct., Mt. Prospect, died at Northwest Community hospital Friday, Jan. 13, after the car he was driving left U. S. 12 a half mile southeast of Illinois 83, ending up on its roof.

Grimes, his wife, Delores 27, and the couple's three children: Ricky, 3, Jeffery, 2, and Pamela, 1, were taken to Sherman hospital in Elgin for treatment of injuries suffered in the crash. Damage to the vehicles was figured at $2000.

Police reported that in the death of Bookless, he had been driving northwest on U.S. 12 when his car left the road, jumped a curb and traversed a ditch before striking a utility pole and fence and flipping on its roof. The optometrists are working on a new kind of treatment to restore normal eye coordination, and all you'll have to do is watch television.

The use of a kind of polaroid filter over the TV picture screen, while the patient wears special filter lenses, is expected to be an aid for certain visual malfunctions.

Although, we don't understand the optometric technic of this treatment at LANDWEHR'S TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, we do know how to keep a clear, sharp picture on your TV screen. So, if you have any difficulty along this line, phone CLearbrook 5-0700 and we'll give you prompt service. This goes for hi-fi, radio, stereo or anything that has a sound passing through it.

And, you can see some very fine TV models in our showroom, black and white, color, table models and consoles.

Country Club Burns; Construction Slated

Construction was scheduled to start this week on a new clubhouse for Old Orchard country club, Schoenbeck and Rand rds., Mount Prospect.

The old clubhouse was destroyed last weekend in a spectacular fire which razed the structure and pro shop facilities.

The new building will include expanded banquet facilities, dining rooms and cocktail lounge as well as larger locker rooms for golfers. A new pro shop and a separate golfer's coffee shop will also be built.

Present plans call for some of the new facilities to open by April 1. Temporary quarters for golfers will be available sooner if officials of the club are able to renovate the former Clan Room. This is an area beneath the club kitchen, the walls of which were partially saved.

A MAJOR problem confronting the clubhouse operators, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Christensen, 909 Wildwood, Prospect Heights, are the bookings for banquets and meetings committed to area social and civic groups.

Christensen's reservation book was lost in the fire, and he has requested groups who had bookings for Old Orchard to contact him for new arrangements. He said all books can be rearranged through the cooperation of other restaurants and clubs in the area. New arrangements can be made by phoning CL 5-2025 or CL 5-2026.

Old Orchard country club is owned by Albert H. Newman and Frank Aldridge. Louis Sabo is managing director.

NO ONE was in the building when the fire started early Saturday morning. No injuries were reported.

Firemen from Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Glenview joined in battling the blaze. (B8

Country Club Sale Is Key to Liquor Appeal

The "on-again-off-again" sale of Mount Prospect country club is on again. This time it seems closer to completion than it has at any time since last summer.

Joseph DiFebo, attorney for a group of Chicago area businessmen and one of the purchasers, met with Mount Prospect Village President Theodore Lams Tuesday night to apply for a liquor license.

The group signed a contract with Richard Hauff Saturday. The sale is contingent upon the new owners being able to obtain the liquor license.

As president of the board, Lams is automatically liquor commissioner. Lams told DiFebo that the license would definitely not be issued if any of the group of purchasers was "of bad repute."

will have all the prospective purchasers checked through FBI and other government and business files.

The contract, held by a third party, was signed by the new group and Hauff. It is to expire Friday if a liquor license can not be obtained.

DiFebo has repeatedly stated that the new group of owners are all respectable businessmen, interested in the club as an investment.

The club is to be run on a daily fee basis.

THE OWNERS plan to run the club themselves and offer the facilities of the club to various organizations who want to rent them for their social and business functions.

A bankruptcy hearing is to be held Monday before referee Wallace Streeter. At this time, if the sale is definitely completed, the club can be taken out of bankruptcy.

If the sale is not consummated, further litigation could held up the sale for an indefinite period of time, probably long enough to keep the course from being used this coming golfing season.

Future Slums Are Target of Manual

Future subdivisions within Cook county's 400 square miles of unincorporated territory will be developed along orderly lines that will preclude their becoming slum areas, it was predicted Monday by County Commissioner John J. Duffy, chairman of the county board suburban code committee.

He presided at a public hearing on the proposed revision of the county's subdivision manual, scheduled for board adoption Jan. 25.

"Unless we adopt more stringent regulations, new areas being devoloped around our existing villages will be below-par in the way of streets, sidewalks, street lights, water supply, sewage disposal, and school sites," Duffy declared. He added:

"ALREADY some of the developments close to villages do not wish to annex them. These are sections that are becoming slum areas and would cause the villages nothing but headaches.

"We cannot correct what has been done. But we can prevent further disorderly development by revising our outmoded subdivision regulations."

The county now is operating under a subdivision manual adopted in 1925. It not only is antiquated but is oversimplified, leading to a wide variety of interpretations, Duffy said.

A STAFF headed by Harry F. Chaddick. county building and zoning consultant, prepared the new manual.

It is the second of three major ordinances designed to insure orderly development of vacant land left in the county. The first was the new zoning ordinance adopted a year ago and the third will be a revised building code expected to be passed late this year. b8

Youngsters 'Tell All' On School Bus Travels

by NATALIE McKENZIE

"Kimmy's coming, Mr. Felicetti. We've got to wait for Kimmy."

These were the first signs of life as school bus No. 14 chugged to a stop in its second run of the morning to pick up youngsters for Palatine public and parochial schools.

The day's adventures wouldn't win first prize in a thriller contest. But they are an eye-opener to the uninitiated in the art of keeping one's sanity aboard the lumbering vehicle entrusted many times daily throughout the Northwest suburbs with the lives of kids who have to get to school by means other than their own two feet.

MR. FELICETTI assured the troop from the Lake Park Estates subdivision north of Palatine that Kimmy wouldn't be left behind and sat awaiting the black-eyed, spindly-legged cargo that came running down the street.

"I forgot a note for my teacher. That's why I'm late," she puffed.

Conversations began immediately, as second, third and fourth graders from this area bunched close to the front of the bus. Later passengers scattered, less concerned with what was happening near the driver's station.

"I SAW YOU yesterday, Mr. Felicetti."

"Yea, I did, too," other children commented, considering the viewing of the Oak st. school sixth grade teacher a worthy announcement.

"Say, did you see that skunk? Mr. Felicetti, did you run over that skunk? Phew. Smells!"

The smell of skunk was undeniably present as the bus moved from stop to stop, picking up sometimes one, sometimes as many as 10 youngsters.

"Hey, Mr. Felicetti, I thought you were going to get some new gloves."

"I THOUGHT you were going to get me some gloves," the driver kidded a passenger in the first seat. He held up his hand, showing more hole than glove to prove his need for the item.

"I was going to, but I don't have enough money yet," the inquirer replied.

"I don't either," the one next to her said.

"I have $170," another bragged.

Snatches of conversations not directed toward Mr. Felicetti could be heard. "When my mother was in seventh grade she moved five times between two towns."

"HEY, FREDDIE has a radio."

Indeed Freddie had a transistor, but to everyone's disappointment the volume wouldn't go up enough for all to hear.

School bus riders have a code all their own which eliminates the necessity for words. When two are in a seat and a third wishes to share it with them, he just stands and looks. The two slide over to make room; no questions asked.

ANOTHER feature of children this age is the tremendous concern for what others are doing and telling tales on them.

Groups had been let off at the Wood st. school and St. Paul's church where temporary classes are held. One little girl stomped indignantly to the front of the bus.

"Mr. Felicetti, that boy got off again at the wrong stop."

"I'll speak to him," Felicetti said.

It seems the young man in question goes to the Lutheran school, the last stop. But he likes to get off at Wood st. and walk the few blocks to school.

MR. FELICETTI, obviously a great favorite with his passengers, made the final stop at Oak st. where a young miss had to discuss the newest baseball development with him while he let off passengers.

"Did you hear the Cubs signed Ernie Banks?"

After the baseball situation was settled, Felicetti started his third run. It was now 8:15. His first run had started shortly after 7 a. m.

His route was the same, but this time his passengers were sixth, seventh, and eighth graders with a smattering of kindergartners.

Biggest item of conversation was the day's impending basketball game between Oak st. and Paddock schools, the biggest rivals in the league. Uniforms were gingerly carried aboard, seemingly more precious than minks.

"DO YOU THINK we're going to win Mr. Felicetti? We just gotta beat Paddock. No one else matters."

Mr. Felicetti, a staunch supporter for his school, assured the worried that Oak had every possibility of winning."

One kindergartner was obviously not entranced with the idea of school. Her mother struggled to push her toward the bus, as the child grimaced and struggled just as hard in the opposite direction.

FINALLY IN desperation the child was picked up and placed inside the door. An older child was with her at the stop. Felicetti explained that as long as the older girl stayed with her the child was okay. But the older girl had been sick for several days and he had been forced to assume baby-sitting duties and keep the child with him to calm her down.

Most impressive thing about this group was their politeness as they left the bus. Most thanked the driver for the ride, as Felicetti dropped them off at their respective schools in time for the 9:05 a. m. bell.

SAME FACES, this time wide awake with tousled hair greeted bus No. 14 at 2:45 p. m. It seems impossible for children to communicate with one another in anything less than a scream. Signs of affection between both sexes is pummeling. What looks to be a death blow is merely an indication of friendship.

Same bus, different driver. This time, a woman, Mrs. Mildred Cropper, deposited the charges at their respective stops. She drives school busses all day, because she likes children and likes to be outdoors. Mrs. Cropper got her experience driving busses by driving tractors and trucks on a farm when she was growing up.

Monitors ride the afternoon busses trying to keep some semblance of order. On a Friday afternoon this is easier said than done as the shouting reaches a maniacal pitch.

SNATCHES OF conversation overheard:

—"Boy, did we have fun mixing those paints."

—"I don't ever want to be a mother. They put you to sleep."

—"Bus driver, three girls back there are snapping rubber bands."

Same route. Skunk still smells. Freddie's radio is still playing.

One gal tried to con a boy into carrying her books. He wasn't interested.

Despite screaming and fisticuffs on the school bus, drivers maintain their sanity and a degree of order. The thing that intrigued both drivers was the glibness with which their passengers discussed family life. Apparently there are no holds barred on the passing on of information about fights, philosophies, and family projects. Though public transportation has been devised to take school children to their halls of learning, it serves as an education medium for drivers.

(B-8

A LINE OF students awaits the daily arrival of the lumbering school bus — the familiar yellow vehicle that plies village and township roads throughout the day in the Northwest suburbs. According to bus drivers children ride to school to get educated, but drivers get educated from talkative students.

Do not say, "I dislike those sort of persons." Say, "I dislike that sort of persons."

Distinguish between insolvable (admitting no solution; applying to something which cannot be solved) and insoluble (applied to substances which will not dissolve). Thus: "It is one of the insolvable riddles of life," and, "This material is insoluble."

Do not say, "He generally passes by here every day." Say, "He usually passes here every day." Omit the "by," which is redundant.

Distinguish between insolvable (admitting no solution; applying to something which cannot be solved) and insoluble (applied to substances which will not dissolve). Thus: "It is one of the insolvable riddles of life," and, "This material is insoluble."

Rehearsals will be weekly and will last from 8 to 10 p. m. each Mondy.

Town and Country Chorus Begins Year with Party

Members of Town and Country chorus met for a late Christmas party on January 10 in the home of Mrs. Milan Jurco, 311 Pleasant Hills blvd., Palatine. Results of the ticket sales, expenses, pictures and tape recordings of the Christmas concert and programs were reviewed.

The party was also a farewell visit with Mrs. Harvey Hoffman of Mount Prospect, treasurer this year, president of the 1959-60 season and one of the charter members of the chorus eight years ago. Throughout the years, Mrs. Hoffman has served on the executive board several times and helped on many committees. The Hoffman family is moving to Santa Barbara, Cal. this weekend.

THE FINAL program for the year 1960 for Town and Country chorus was held jointly with Plymouth Congregational church choir in its church in Maywood on December 18. At that time the chorus presented a selection of Christmas numbers and assisted the Plymouth choir in "The Song of Christmas."

Due to her heavy schedule as a full time fifth grade teacher in St. Raymond Catholic school, playing for masses, teaching individual piano classes and being a wife and mother of two grade school daughters, Mrs. Charlotte Weigle has found it necessary to resign as accompanist for the chorus. She had served in this capacity for four years.

REHEARSALS for Town and Country chorus have been resumed on Tuesdays at 8 p. m. in St. Philips Episcopal church, Wood and Schubert sts., Palatine. Mrs. Nelson Bowser is director and Mrs. Eileen Smart, accompanist. Several of the new numbers for the spring concert were presented at this week's rehearsal.

Interest in singing with a group and regular attendance at rehearsals are more important qualifications for new chorus members than previous training and experience. Anyone interested in joining the group may call Mrs. Milan Jurco, Palatine, Fl 8-1570, membership chairman; Bob Hansen, Mount Prospect, CL 3-8071, or Burt Kuhr, Elk Grove, HE 7-0218. B8

Loan Association Records Success

Despite a general levelling off in business in 1960, First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Des Plaines had an excellent year, with assets increasing to $34,425,805.74, J. A. Eagleson, President, reported.

Mr. Eagleson said the year was marked by record gains in savings and savers, with many individuals and families stepping up their savings programs, "in part because of caution, but also because they have developed systematic savings habits."

THE HIGH savings level, coupled with ever increasing repayments on outstanding mortgages, assures an ample supply of home loan funds for home buyers in 1961, he said.

Writing in the annual report, he listed highlights of First Federal Savings' 1960 operations as follows:

-- Net savings increased by $4,231,102.86, or 16.3 per cent, boosting total savings capital to $30,233,513.90 at year's end.

-- Dividend payment to savers, at the current 4 per cent rate, totaled $1,052,427.00, an all-time high.

-- The dollar value of the mortgage loan portfolio increased to $28,901,400.91 at year's end.

LOOKING AHEAD, Mr. Eagleson suggested that the recent slowdown in business probably contains in itself the "seeds of its own recovery." He listed as "plus factors" a continued high level of sales and production, employment and personal income.

Indicating that housing may be one of the bright spots in the economy, he forecast the building of about 1.2 million new homes in 1961 and that savings and loan associations will most likely continue to provide the funds to finance 41 per cent of the nation's homes. (B8

Job Discrimination Against Aged Told

Employers in 22 counties in Illinois, including Cook, practice job discrimination based on age, according to a report in the December issue of the Illinois Labor Bulletin.

This figure was determined by 100 Illinois citizens appointed by former Gov. Stratton as delegates to the White House Conference on Aging, held last week in Washington, D.C.

THE DELEGATES assisted in preparing conclusions and recommendations for the Illinois Report to the White House Conference. The report, Illinois' contribution to the conference, is recorded in full in the December Bulletin.

The way was paved for the report when the 71st General Assembly indicated its concern with the problems of older persons by enacting Senate Bill 999, which was approved July 2[illegible] 1959.

The legislation called for the provision of necessary services, aid, and counsel to older persons and for continuous study and research into the social and economic conditions of older people.

AN "OLDER worker" was defined as "a person who is encountering difficulty in obtaining or keeping a job because of his age." For statistical purposes, older workers are generally defined as those 45 years of age or older.

The Illinois public aid commission was charged with carrying out the functions of S.B. 999. The legislation also created an advisory council on the improvement of the economic and social status of older people. At the request of the public aid commission, the advisory council accepted responsibility for Illinois' participation in the White House Conference.

THE recommendations of the council went to make up the Illinois report, which concluded that "creating and improving employment opportunities appear to be one of the most troubled areas of the aging problem."

Data from the Illinois State employment service gives clear evidence of the influence of economic changes on employment opportunities for older workers, the report said.

Compared with younger workers, in good times older workers have more difficulty in getting jobs, and unemployed older workers have more difficulty in becoming re-employed.

THE re-employment of older workers presents problems of down-grading and retraining which affect both the employer and the employee, the report continued. [illegible] jobs available to older workers are for part-time or low pay.

The state inventory reported 12 sheltered workshops and several institutional work programs.

Obstacles to employment fell into four categories -- economic, legislative, personal factors and employer policy. In each of these areas there was evidence of widespread misunderstanding and lack of knowledge, the report pointed out.

In general, there seems to be a desire to make more effective use of the employment potential of older persons on the local level and through private enterprise.

THE NEED to expand employment opportunities and placement services for older workers was evident in most county and regional meetings. Since federal restrictions have reduced the Illinois State Employment Service staff, many felt priority should be given to securing a more equitable federal allocation of funds.

Retirement policies and practices are issues about which there are conflicting attitudes buttressed by strong feelings, the report said. The majority of expressions in county meetings favored flexible retirement.

A REVIEW of findings indicates that current practices in Illinois should be examined against the background of existing knowledge and experience, and that further research could well be directed toward further clarification of controversial areas.

Former labor director Cummins said the Illinois report was compiled because of the deep concern on the part of workers, labor unions and employers in regard to the employment problems of older people. (A14

Over 25,000 Attend Suburban YMCA Tour

If the attendance at Sunday's open house is any criterion, the new Northwest Suburban YMCA is destined to be one of the nation's most popular recreation centers.

Crowds pouring into the building at 300 E. Northwest hwy. prevented an accurate count on the visitors but estimates ran as high as 40,000 One of the hostesses judged the crowd to be close to 18 to 25 thousand, an estimate based on literature passed out at the doors.

THE OUTSIDE waiting line, 3 and 4 deep, was never less than a half block in length, and this in intermittent rain, sleet and bitter cold. Doors to the building never closed until despairing policemen ordered them shut at 6 p.m. because of the traffic danger after dark.

Cars were parked for blocks in all directions and police gratefully accepted help from 'Y' officials in directing the traffic. They also reportedly ran out of tickets for those parked in the no parking zones.

THOMAS M. BLAKE, chairman of the board of directors of the Northwest Suburban YMCA from 1953-1960, takes part in Sunday dedication ceremonies of new building.

ALTHOUGH open house hours were from 1 to 5 p.m., groups began arriving at 11 a.m. and by noon crowds were already surging through the building. Attendance beyond widest expectations, was the largest ever seen at an open house anywhere in the northwest suburbs and the largest ever to turn out at a 'Y' opening anyplace in the Chicago and suburban areas according to one of the dedication speakers.

In a briefing session Saturday, 30 hostess-guides, members of the auxiliary, had been instructed to escort groups of 4 to 10 on personalized tours. By 1 p.m. Sunday, the hostesses, plus a dozen officers, directors and staff members of the 'Y' were escorting groups of 20 to 30 and by 3 p.m., the time set for the dedication ceremony, the crowd was so heavy, the guide set-up was disbanded and the guides took "stations" just to keep the crowd moving!

THOUSANDS of cups of coffee and punch and still more thousands of cookies were served by the Woman's auxiliary, following the dedication ceremony.

'Y' secretaries were swamped with hundreds of questions on the activities and programs. Still more hundreds went unanswered, because people could not reach the counter.

For those who wish more information and those who were unable to squeeze into the building Sunday, Charles McClellan, executive director, invites them to return anytime through Saturday, when private or group tours will be continued.

THE 'Y' will be closed all Sunday in order to give the staff a rest. Since the full program schedule begins Monday, Jan. 23, it is hoped that most of the residents will take advantage of this weekend for touring the building.

Q. Where is the best place for the bridegroom to keep his bride's ring until the proper moment when he places it on her finger?

A. The bridegroom always has his best man take charge of the ring, and the best man hands it over to the groom at the proper moment.

Bird Banding

First bird banding was done by John James Audubon in Montgomery County, Pa., in 1803.

PART OF CROWD estimated at between 18,000 and 40,000 files past swimming pool of new Northwest Suburban YMCA, located on Northwest hwy., just east of Mt. Prospect. Open house turnout was largest for any event in history of northwest suburbs.

Bank of Arlington Heights Marks First Anniversary

The northwest suburbs' youngest bank this week celebrates its first birthday.

The Bank of Arlington Heights, located in Arlington Market shopping center, is observing its first anniversary with a record high assets of $3.6 million and a total of 3,800 depositors.

As part of its "birthday" celebration, the bank will serve coffee and cake Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The idea for a second bank to serve Arlington Heights and surrounding area started early in 1959 when four local men —Stephen A. Jurco, Robert Bukowski, William Ball, and Robert Calvin — found themselves in accord with the potential growth for this territory.

AFTER A thorough study of statistics and other information, the men approached their friends with the thought that another bank was definitely needed.

Dr. Keith Wurtz of Arlington Heights and Richard Sampson of Hinsdale were brought into the group along with John Henricks, well-known Arlington Heights resident, and Wilfred Wolf, at that time vice president of Itasca State bank.

Application was made to the state auditor for a charter and insurance sought from the Federal Deposit Insurance corp.

ON JULY 8 at Recreation park field house, the stockholders -- mostly from Arlington Heights — elected a board of directors, who in turn elected a chairman, appointed officers of the bank, and adopted by-laws.

On August 11, the charter was received in a ceremony held in Chicago, and the bank officially opened for business January 22, 1960.

Stressing its theme of "your locally-owned bank of convenience," the bank is open 51 hours a week.

Complete drive-in banking facilities are available, and the bank computes its savings interest on a monthly basis as another serivce to customers.

One of its most successful services in the past year was initiation of college checking accounts, now offered as a regular feature of the bank.

THE BANK provides free service on all college checking accounts as a help to college-bound graduates. There is no service charge on college student accounts, and it does not require a minimum balance or limit on the number of checks written.

The only requirements are that the student must be enrolled full-time in college and that he come in personally to open the account. Future deposits may be mailed by the student or credited directly to his account by his parents while he is away. (B8

Wolf Hails Growth Of Suburban Bank

These are the key words used by Wilfred C. Wolf, president of The Bank of Arlington Heights, in summarizing the bank's development at the close of its first year of operation.

HE POINTED out at last week's annual meeting of stockholders that 3,800 accounts, both checking and savings, have been opened in the past year. Total assets now amount to $3,651,508.

"I am sure that all our stockholders realize a bank is not just a statement of condition or a building of brick and mortar, but it is made up of people," he told stockholders. "In our case, 14 full-time employees have followed the instructions of management in making our customers feel that they are very important, whether they open a small checking or savings account or negotiate a loan. It is our feeling that the only thing we have to sell is service, and all of our employees have done an excellent job in letting our customers know that the bank is a human and friendly place to transact the cold business of money."

In stressing his philosophy of friendly, personal banking services, Wolf pointed out that the bank's slogan reflects their unusual hours "We have customer hours — not banker hours" refers to the bank's opening a total of 51 hours a week for the convenience of customers.

The personable president of the Bank of Arlington Heights is known to most area residents simply as "Fritz."

HE HAS RESIDED in nearby Itasca for 20 years with his wife, Mae, and two sons, Fred and Randy.

His banking background includes consumer credit manager and assistant cashier for the Peoples National bank of Chicago and vice president of the Itasca State bank, a position he held until August, 1959, when he was named president of the new Bank of Arlington Heights.

Wolf also spent a year as an examiner for the state banking department.

He attended Northwestern university's night school of accounting for three years and also took courses at the American Institute of Banking to broaden his background knowledge of banking and finance.

WOLF IS A past president of the DuKane-DeKalb Conference of the National Bank Auditors and Comptrollers Association and past president of the DuPage County Bankers Association.

He is a member of the Itasca Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights Lions club, a director and vice president of Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, secretary of Arlington Market Merchants association, a director of Itasca Country Club, and member of Lake Park High School District 108 board of education. Compiled by Mrs. G. Rex Volz

50 years ago—Jan. 20, 1911

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: It is contrary to law to throw rubbish in the street. Anyone who throws ashes in the middle of the road and spoils the sleighing or makes it dangerous for horses to travel over for fear of old nails, glass, etc., cutting their feet, ought to be prosecuted.

Constable D. T. McNab and two assistant police from May to New Years gave Arlington Heights a sample of what good order means to a town for $5 a month each, and while giving the town splendid protection some snobs with more mouth than common sense called them (to their backs) "cheap skates"; then the police made a very modest request for a raise of salary to $15 a month each; but the board neglected their golden opportunity and took no action, so the entire police force resigned and the village has no protection against burglars, bums, incendiaries, fires, etc. at night.

The board should have backbone enough to stand by their faithful officers and pay a reasonable price for good service. They can't hire a good policeman to stay up all night for less than $75 a month, and no man can properly patrol the entire village; yet doubtless if they would offer $25 a month to each of the three men they would take turns, two to be on duty till 11 o'clock p.m. and one continue until 3 a.m. which would afford us ample police protection. A petition from the people would help the matter.

A new era has dawned for Arlington Heights. All our people now see the wisdom of united action to place our village in the front rank as a prosperous, commercial, educational and healthy city sought for by the best class of citizens for a home.

Several of our citizens have concluded that a safe, comfortable, commodious public hall is a necessity. It is thought that a building 50x80 ft., two stories and basement would meet our present needs. Main floor would be the auditorium with stage, office, etc., equipped with gymnasium apparatus. Top story for Library, Reading Rooms, Clubs Rooms, etc., basement for bowling alleys and other games for healthy amusement. It is estimated that a substantial fireproof, brick building can be built for $10,000; and to this end it is proposed to form a corporation issuing 1000 shares of stock at $10 a share.

This is a generous idea started by patriotic citizens who have the welfare of our community at heart and must receive universal cooperation or the plans cannot materialize. This is a public enterprise.

PALATINE: For Sale: A good pair of coonskin mittens. Apply to Al Hanns, Palatine, Ill.

Schierding and Paddock, real estate, is the name of the latest Palatine firm to embark on the seas of business. The members of the firm are J. H. Schierding, who has been assessor of Palatine a great number of years and who is now mayor of the village, and Stuart R. Paddock editor of the Palatine Enterprise.

Barrington people need not get the idea that Palatine is their dog pound. Several 4-footed animals from that town have been put off trains here and when the trainman was asked for an explanation he said, "You are sending us drunks; we must return the compliment. Now who do you think is getting the worst of the deal?" Really what can we say to that?

At the annual election of the M. E. Sunday school the following officers were elected: P. H. Matthei, supt.; Grade VanHorn 1st assistant; Mrs. Cady, 2nd assistant; Lois Baker, secretary; Milton Daniels, assistant secretary; Miss Lean Anderman, treasurer; Miss Lillian Filbert, organist; Miss Addie Filbert, chorister; Walter Sneible, librarian; William Mair, assistant librarian.

PALATINE: From Tom Hart's "Tales of the Street": It seems that a lot of our people want the advantages that a paved road will bring without paying the cost. Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Des Plaines are going to a lot of expense to get that highway to our township line. If we are not willing to spend a like amount of money, let us come out in the open and say so now.

Then our sister town will know what to expect and save the time and effort they are making to give Palatine a paved road. We have it on reliable authority that an effort is being made by certain Palatine citizens to have the route so changed that not a foot of it will pass through the village, which would have the property owners the expense of curbing, water pipes, etc. If such is the opinion of the majority of our citizens, let us find it out in a hurry that the county officials, state highway department, and our neighboring towns may know what cooperation to expect. After we have done that much we might erect a replica of the Chinese wall around our beautiful village.

SCHAUMBURG: Several from here are taking advantage of the surplus of milk at Elgin and are hauling it home in trucks at 10 cents a can for skimmed milk. H. Hartman says this milk is great stuff as it made his O.I.C.'s curl their tails in one week.

C. H. Meyers and F. W. Botterman were busier than bees the beginning of the week getting ready for the annual ice harvest. The old reliable Fenz pond joined the prohibition forces and went dry so the ice had to be hauled from Roselle.

ROSELLE: Mr. Henry Becker, former resident of Roselle, died Friday morning at Ontarioville, aged 85 years. Funeral was held Tuesday. Interment at Schaumburg cemetery, Rev. Seils officiating. The Fish and Mudturtle Club held its annual meeting Monday. Otto Fielitz was again chosen president and cook. Regardless of the prices and fish and all foodstuffs going down, they are looking forward to a very successful season.

Arlington Heights: Dreyer's Electric Shop has received a report from M. F. Daniels of North Dunton st., that he has 191 stations logged on the G.E. radio that he recently purchased from that firm. He has received a verification on a station in Honolulu. They had a slight interference on that station, the same coming from a station at Portland, Ore. There are five California stations logged.

Nurserymen hold fine convention at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago, attended by nurserymen from coast to coast, as well as from all parts of Illinois. Local nurserymen attending were George Klehm, retiring president; Henry Klehm; Mr. Ernest Kruse of Wheeling. Their motto "It is not a Home until it is Planted."

Phil Engelking Motor Sales offers DeSoto six at $740 up, eight $965 up; the Plymouth four, $535 up.

Arlington PTA goes right ahead, electing as officers Mrs. Leslie Moodie, president; Mr. John Sayers, V.P.; Mrs. Homer Evans, secy.; Supt. E. D. Whitmore, treas.; and Mrs. Helmer Olson, historian. The new members were received, which brings the membership at the second meeting of the revived association up to 74. The new officers, plus Miss Irene Ryssell, as one of the principals, constitute the executive committee.

WHEELING: A telegram from Portland, Ore., Saturday brought news of the death of Mrs. Chas. Wenzlaff. The Wenzlaffs are well known in this locality having been the proprieotors of the Union Hotel for some years, several years back. Mrs. Wenzlaff was noted for her motherly hospitality, and "Mother Wenzlaff" was her most popular title.

Mr. Henry Tesch, born in Hanover, Germany Feb. 14, 1851, at the age of one year, came with his family to America and located on a farm in this locality. He was married to Emma Lehman and four children were born to the family. Upon retiring as a farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Tesch moved into the village of Wheeling 18 years ago. Mrs. Tesch died a little less than a year ago. Mr. Tesch died January 13 at the home of his daughter Mrs. Jesse Mayer. He is survived by his four children, Mrs. Mayer, Mrs. Julius Meinken, Mrs. Edward Hank and Jesse Tesch; four grandchildren, Hy. Mayer, Grace and Ethel Hank and Lester Tesch. Four brothers and sister, also survive him: William, Fred, John and Herman Tesch, and Mrs. Lackner, all of Arlington Heights, except William who resides in Wheeling.

MOUNT PROSPECT: The Citizens' Band has just been reorganized under the able leadership of Herbert Bernreuter, and now that the holidays are over, rehearsals have begun in earnest, to give Mt. Prospect one of the best bands in this neighborhood for the coming season. Come and bring your instruments, rehearsals Thursday evenings at Lutheran school.

PALATINE: It isn't enough that Palatine should have to put up with a depot that was a horse stable 50 years ago. Rumor has it that the C&NW Ry. plans to remove the present freight house, build a team track where the freight house now stands and build an addition onto the old stable (depot) to house the present day freight. That, to our notion, would be adding insult to injury. "What next?" remarks one citizen. "One of the railroad officials takes the nice trees from our park and plants them at his new home down the line; they let Slade st. stay unfinished for months after the board decided it should remain open, and now this? Why not use the present station for the freight house and let the patrons sit out in a snow bank? And the railroad has stopped taking water at the Palatine tank until times get better, thereby depriving the village of a big income. If they don't want to use the water tank any more, let's tear it down and open Wilson street across the tracks. Does the C&NW want war?

20 years ago—Jan. 24, 1941

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: The youth of Arlington Heights have won a victory for free skating at Recreation Park. After public announcement two weeks ago that due to the expense, the park board had found it necessary to establish a skating fee of ten cents, the young people began to go elsewhere for their skating. Parents became alarmed over reports of molestation occurring when children went to out-of-way places seeking ice; the park board found it difficult to secure fencing to encircle their pond, and telephone calls began coming in. Under such a barrage the board decided to make skating fee voluntary. No effort will be made to collect from the children. Geo. Glow explained the situation to the village board and they promptly agreed to cooperate without making charges for the water. However, expense of supervision, maintenance, and light are still to be met through voluntary fees.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Crane will celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary Jan. 28, 1941, at their home. The Cranes have resided in Arlington Heights since Sept. 1903, having moved here from Winterset, Iowa.

WHEELING: Frank Welflin, born Sept. 21, 1886, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Welflin, a lifelong resident of Wheeling, and husband of Ella Sandberg Welflin, died Jan. 13 at his home here. Surviving him are his wife, his half brother and sister, Charles Armbruster and Anna Armbruster of Chicago, his brother, Edw. J. Welflin, his sisters, Mrs. Charles Balling of Wheeling, and Mrs. Harry Flesch of Chicago.

Alfred Krueger and W. James Utpadel, enrolled for service in the U.S. Marines some time ago, were called to enter training this week. The boys left for the coast this week.

WOOD DALE: Mr. and Mrs. E. Gabel celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary Jan. 20th. The aged pair, 85 and 83 years, are living with their grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. Schaeke.

10 years ago—Jan. 19, 1951

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: A glance at the village record of newcomers to our town since Sept. 20th, shows an average of 31 new families a month moving here. Estimating three to a family that means 93 residents a month for the past four months have been added to the population of Arlington Heights. With this rapid growth one can visualize the census going over the 10,000 mark by next year. Our schools at this rate, in spite of new additions, will be overloaded even before the smell of paint wears off.

Dogs have been a sore subject with the Police Dept. for some time. From May 1 to Dec. 30, 1950, the department has had 244 dog complaints, and 28 dog bite cases. Since Jan. 1 they have already had 26 complaints and two dog bite cases. Monday night the village board authorized Mayor Albert W. Goedke and Chief Skoog to make immediate arrangements for a dog catcher.

Residents of the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, Arlington Heights, enjoyed their 1949 Christmas tree throughout the year of 1950. The tree, placed in a corner of the old-fashioned sitting room at one end of the Home's dining room has kept its elegance to this day. When decorations for Christmas 1950 were taken out, the tree still appeared sturdy and well-preserved. It was agreed by the staff and the residents that the year-old tree should be redecorated for the 1950 holiday season with fresh popcorn and cranberries. With its new face the enduring Christmas tree took on a renewed spirit. It will be interesting to see if this 1949 Christmas tree will be able to last another year in order to brighten the lives of the residents at the Lutheran Home.

MOUNT PROSPECT: Contractors are all set to begin contruction of the first unit of St. Raymond's Catholic church here. Actual work has been delayed awaiting approval of the plan commission on the revised structure contemplated at this time. The building will be 86x46 feet, of brick construction, and estimated cost is $100,000. When a school is built, this first unit will become a gymnasium or assembly hall.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS: The Arthur Nelsons, 106 E. McDonald rd., won first prize on all five counts, beauty, neatness, originality, effort and Christmas spirit, for their outdoor Christmas display. Second prize went to the Rudolph H. Bandelows; third, Charles J. Tunnises.

PALATINE: While there has been no single large home building project here during 1950, there were 50 per cent more homes erected than were built in 1949, when permits were taken out for 72 homes, costing $773,893. The records show 111 homes were built, the estimated cost being $1,164,484. There were also nine stores built and many private garages.

Enrollment of Palatine public school jumps to 1100. This number gives Community Consolidated School District 15 an enrollment increase of 140 per cent since consolidation in 1946. Five additional rooms were opened by the Board of Education in 1950, and 18 new faculty members were employed to fill positions created by resignations and by the addition of new classrooms.

A High School program was also started in 1950 and it is hoped the new building will be finished in 1951 . . . The C&NW Ry through Mr. C. H. Longman, VP in charge of Operations, paid tribute to the Palatine village fire and police departments for their cooperation in the recent freight derailment in the center of town. "Their work was entirely voluntary and merits the utmost in thanks of all concerned for their speedy action in preventing further damage."

Youth Is Lauded For 4-H Efforts

William C. Schwartz was awarded a trophy January 11 for his outstanding 4-H club work in the Prospectors. Jack Walters, owner of the Mt. Prospect Toy shop, donated and presented the trophy in the band room of Central junior high school in Mt. Prospect.

Bill was president of the Prospectors, as the members call themselves, for the year 1960. The club is one of three "blue ribbon" clubs in Cook county.

In the past, Bill has had recognition by winning the Westinghouse Education Foundation electric award and the American Forest Product Industries, Inc. forestry award.

At Prospect High, Bill, combining activities and academics, is on the honor roll and in the field of extra-curricular activities serves as a junior varsity football manager.

After completing high school, Bill, a junior, plans to attend either Northwestern university or Valparaiso university. He is interested in becoming an electrical engineer. (ACM

Prospect Students Plan Musical Play

"Damn Yankees" will be presented by Prospect high school February 8, 9, and 10 in the Prospect little theatre.

Tickets for reserved seats will go on sale Monday, Jan. 23, for $1 each.

Members of the cast include: Lola, played by Joan D'Argo; Applegate (the devil) John Bannister; Joe Boyd, Lloyd Peterson; Meg Boyd, Susan Weiss; Van Buren (manager of the Yankees), Gene Koslowski; Gloria Thorpe, Nancy Messina; Doris, Sharon Graves; Mr. Welch (owner of the Yankees), Dennis Dryjanski; Miss Weston (secretary to Welch), Marsha Saunders; baseball commissioner, Dale Vivirito; postmaster, Richard Cook; Sonovik, Mike Smith; Henry, John Metsig; Smokey, Jim Gutzmer; Linville, Dick Eaton; Rocky, Jim Sandersfeld; Sister, Judy Seegers and Joe Hardy, Bob Bowker.

"Dawn Yankees," by Richard Adler and Jerry Ross, is based on the novel "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant," by Douglas Wallop. The musical comedy had a long run on Broadway starring Gwen Verdun and was later made into a movie.

New Faces Dotting High School Halls

New faces are appearing around Prospect high school. Besides the addition of the class of '64, a number of new students from all over the country are now a part of the student body.

To date, four seniors, 14 juniors, 25 sophomores, and 15 freshmen have entered PHS from schools which are not in the local area. At present, the male population seems to be growing at a faster pace—33 new boys as compared to only 25 new girls.

IF SOMEONE were to give a prize to the new student who came the farthest, it would probably have to be shared between Sandy and Louis Provost, who are both from Germany. Closer to home, several cities and towns in Illinois are represented, with other new arrivals coming from California, Nebraska, Florida, Kansas, Virginia, Colorado, and Washington, D.C.

With all these new arrivals, it might appear that Prospect's enrollment is on the rise. Actually, the number of students who drop out or transfer from the school keep the total number about the same. In fact, during the time span from September to the end of December, there was a loss of one student, as the enrollment dropped from 2,365 to 2,364. (ACM

Adult Night School Set For Opening

Second semester classes begin next week for high school district 214 evening adult education students.

Registration was scheduled for Monday and Tuesday nights, but late registrants may pay tuition in office 101 just prior to the initial class meeting.

Director Tom Shirley stated that another large enrollment is expected for the second semester offerings. Some 2500 adults took courses the first semester.

SHIRLEY mentioned that, although some courses are filled, there are still vacancies in the following: cake decorating expectant parents, charm, cooking for special occasions, millinery, medical technology, notehand, refresher typing, English for new Americans (beginners and advanced), public speaking, and aptitude testing.

Interested adults should phone the night school office, CL 3-0200, for further information. (ACM

MARIAN HARRIS

Girls, did you ever stop to think of what a horrible world this would be if the purveyors of those wonderful colognes and perfumes would suddenly go out of business? Think of it — all of a sudden our secret weapon would be taken from us. Gad, what a revolting development!

Seriously though, gals, just to be able to languish in your bath with that penetrating aroma of those bath salts, to be able to completely douse yourself with one of the better colognes when you finish your bath, and as the finishing touch, to put a spot of your favorite perfume behind each ear — as they say, "Gals, that's really livin' ". As the gal says on television, "Promise me anything, but give me ARPEGE' ". Arpege is one of my favorites, and, if you haven't tried it (although I can hardly believe it), then you are in for a wonderful surprise.

We have all the nationally advertised brands of Colognes and Perfumes, but be sure and get a "whiff" of Arpege. You'll find it will be one of your better weapons. See ya'.

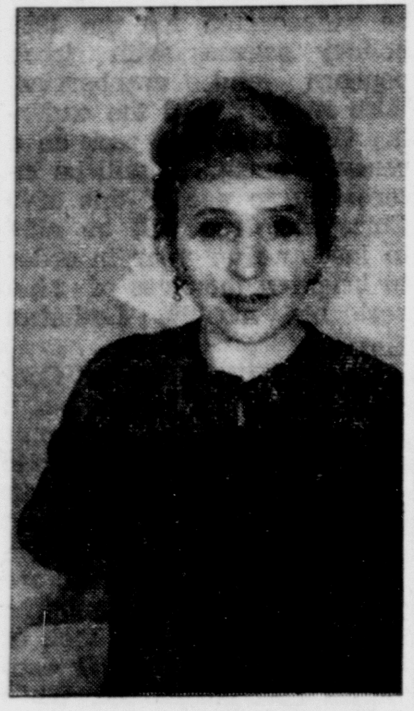
Arlington Residents Are Featured in 'Fair' Cast

Arlington Heights newcomer, Mrs. Jack A. (Hazel) Peck 811 Lynwood, plays a featured role in "Sabrina Fair," Des Plaines Theatre Guild production which opens a three weekend run Friday night at Rand Park, 2025 Miner street, Des Plaines.



The comedy will continue Saturday night and January 27, 28 and February 3 and 4. All performances begin at 8:30.

In "Sabrina Fair" Mrs. Peck plays "Julia," a witty, sharp-tongued magazine editor. She won the role, one of the three major women's parts in the show, in competitive try-outs last month.

ANOTHER Arlington Heights resident who plays a small role in the comedy is Charles Bailey, 1104 Wing.

The Peck family moved here last July from Buffalo, New York. Peck is in the plastics division of Continental Can company. 12-year-old Lise attends Wilson school.

A veteran of radio, community theatre and summer stock, Mrs. Peck studied drama at the University of Buffalo and followed her training with extensive experience in her home city and later in Pittsfield, Massachusetts and Kansas City, Missouri.

In Buffalo and Pittsfield Mrs. Peck conducted women's programs on the local radio stations, and also was heard on network dramas over CGS. From time to time she worked with Bob Smith of "Howdy Doody" fame and pianist, Jan August.

ALSO IN Buffalo Mrs. Peck started a children's theatre and acted, directed and wrote several plays for the venture. While in summer stock in Buffalo she appeared in many plays including "Personal Appearance," "Three Men on a Horse," "Outward Bound," and "The Queens of France."

The community theatre groups of Pittsfield and Kansas City claimed her talents while the Pecks resided in those cities and in Kansas City she also worked with a children's theatre which toured all the schools of the area with a production of "The Bluebird."

Others in the cast of "Sabrina Fair" include Mt. Prospect resident, Mrs. Jacqueline McDermott, 509 N. Maple; Mrs. Edith Wilson, Mrs. Nancy Raus, Jack Bohy, and Curt Vogtritter, all of Des Plaines; Ed Sauer, Judy Sauer, Sandy Bonnell, Jeffrey Amberg and Mrs. Ginny Boyer, Park Ridge; and Clayton Campbell, Evanston.

FORMER off-Broadway director and summer stock producer, Lee Madden, is directing "Sabrina Fair," which is the third production of the 15th anniversary season of the Des Plaines Guild.

The delightful comedy, penned by Samuel Taylor, revives the time-worn Cinderella fable that the little girl in rags can win the Prince Charming. In this case, however, the "Cinderella" is a brilliant, educated young woman, daughter of a chauffeur in a wealthy Long Island mansion. In love with the elder son of her father's employer, young Sabrina runs away from her love but returns years later to find he loves her too. Like the childhood fairy tale "everyone lives happily ever after."

Mrs. John Clark, Theatre Guild ticket chairman, reports there are a few tickets remaining for the run of "Sabrina Fair." For further information persons may call her at VA 4-8019. A

Arlington Annual Is Honored

Arlington high school's yearbook, "Heights," is one of several Illinois annuals which won awards in the Columbia university Scholastic Press association's annual critique and contest.

The Arlington high yearbook, edited by Marilyn Nelson, who was assisted by Vicki Lester and Lorilei Sandvig, captured a first place award, second only to the medalist award, the highest honor.

PUBLICATIONS were grouped according to size and type of school, method of reproduction and type of publication.

The book received compliments for its excellent photography, interesting copy, and attractive printing, the latter being handled by Paddock Publications. (ACM

Speech Tourney

Students of both Arlington and Prospect high schools attended an invitational speech tournament at Aurora East high school Saturday, Jan. 7. Nancy Messina and Jon Woods both won awards at the meet. Nancy received honorable mention in play reading and Jon took first place in the tourney with radio speaking as his division. (ACM

Youth Is Lauded For 4-H Efforts

William C. Schwartz was awarded a trophy January 11 for his outstanding 4-H club work in the Prospectors. Jack Walters, owner of the Mt. Prospect Toy shop, donated and presented the trophy in the band room of Central junior high school in Mt. Prospect.

Bill was president of the Prospectors, as the members call themselves, for the year 1960. The club is one of three "blue ribbon" clubs in Cook county.

In the past, Bill has had recognition by winning the Westinghouse Education Foundation electric award and the American Forest Product Industries, Inc. forestry award.

At Prospect High, Bill, combining activities and academics, is on the honor roll and in the field of extra-curricular activities serves as a junior varsity football manager.

After completing high school, Bill, a junior, plans to attend either Northwestern university or Valparaiso university. He is interested in becoming an electrical engineer. (ACM

Prospect Students Plan Musical Play

"Damn Yankees" will be presented by Prospect high school February 8, 9, and 10 in the Prospect little theatre. Tickets for reserved seats will go on sale Monday, Jan. 23, for $1 each.

The musical comedy is co-directed by Sterling Mische, Miss Michele Stewart, and Ed Volz, assisted by Leroy Hollenbeck and Miss Mary Frances Prust.

Members of the cast include: Lola, played by Joan D'Argo; Applegate (the devil) John Bannister; Joe Boyd, Lloyd Peterson; Meg Boyd, Susan Weiss; Van Buren (manager of the Yankees), Gene Koslowski; Gloria Thorpe, Nancy Messina; Doris, Sharon Graves; Mr. Welch (owner of the Yankees), Dennis Dryjanski; Miss Weston (secretary to Welch), Marsha Saunders; baseball commissioner, Dale Vivirito; postmaster, Richard Cook; Sonovik, Mike Smith; Henry, John Metsig; Smokey, Jim Gutzmer; Linville, Dick Eaton; Rocky, Jim Sandersfeld; Sister, Judy Seegers and Joe Hardy, Bob Bowker.

Music will be provided by the Prospect dance band plus a string section and organ.

"Dawn Yankees," by Richard Adler and Jerry Ross, is based on the novel "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant," by Douglas Wallop. The musical comedy had a long run on Broadway starring Gwen Verdun and was later made into a movie.

New Faces Dotting High School Halls

New faces are appearing around Prospect high school. Besides the addition of the class of '64, a number of new students from all over the country are now a part of the student body.

To date, four seniors, 14 juniors, 25 sophomores, and 15 freshmen have entered PHS from schools which are not in the local area. At present, the male population seems to be growing at a faster pace—33 new boys as compared to only 25 new girls.

IF SOMEONE were to give a prize to the new student who came the farthest, it would probably have to be shared between Sandy and Louis Provost, who are both from Germany. Closer to home, several cities and towns in Illinois are represented, with other new arrivals coming from California, Nebraska, Florida, Kansas, Virginia, Colorado, and Washington, D.C.

With all these new arrivals, it might appear that Prospect's enrollment is on the rise. Actually, the number of students who drop out or transfer from the school keep the total number about the same. In fact, during the time span from September to the end of December, there was a loss of one student, as the enrollment dropped from 2,365 to 2,364. (ACM

Adult Night School Set For Opening

Second semester classes begin next week for high school district 214 evening adult education students.

Registration was scheduled for Monday and Tuesday nights, but late registrants may pay tuition in office 101 just prior to the initial class meeting.

Director Tom Shirley stated that another large enrollment is expected for the second semester offerings. Some 2300 adults took courses the first semester.

SHIRLEY mentioned that, although some courses are filled, there are still vacancies in the following: cake decorating expectant parents, charm, cooking for special occasions, millinery, medical technology, notehand, refresher typing, English for new Americans (beginners and advanced), public speaking, and aptitude testing.

the HARRIS huddle

MARIAN HARRIS

Girls, did you ever stop to think of what a horrible world this would be if the purveyors of those wonderful colognes and perfumes would suddenly go out of business? Think of it — all of a sudden our secret weapon would be taken from us. Gad, what a revolting development!

Seriously though, gals, just to be able to languish in your bath with that penetrating aroma of those bath salts, to be able to completely douse yourself with one of the better colognes when you finish your bath, and as the finishing touch, to put a spot of your favorite perfume behind each ear — as they say, "Gals, that's really livin' ". As the gal says on television, "Promise me anything, but give me ARPEGE' ". Arpege is one of my favorites, and, if you haven't tried it (although I can hardly believe it), then you are in for a wonderful surprise.

We have all the nationally advertised brands of Colognes and Perfumes, but be sure and get a "whiff" of Arpege. You'll find it will be one of your better weapons. See ya'.

Arlington Residents Are Featured in 'Fair' Cast

Arlington Heights newcomer, Mrs. Jack A. (Hazel) Peck 811 Lynwood, plays a featured role in "Sabrina Fair," Des Plaines Theatre Guild production which opens a three weekend run Friday night at Rand Park, 2025 Miner street, Des Plaines.

The comedy will continue Saturday night and January 27, 28 and February 3 and 4. All performances begin at 8:30.

In "Sabrina Fair" Mrs. Peck plays "Julia," a witty, sharp-tongued magazine editor. She won the role, one of the three major women's parts in the show, in competitive try-outs last month.

ANOTHER Arlington Heights resident who plays a small role in the comedy is Charles Bailey, 1104 Wing.

The Peck family moved here last July from Buffalo, New York. Peck is in the plastics division of Continental Can company. 12-year-old Lise attends Wilson school.

A veteran of radio, community theatre and summer stock, Mrs. Peck studied drama at the University of Buffalo and followed her training with extensive experience in her home city and later in Pittsfield, Massachusetts and Kansas City, Missouri.

In Buffalo and Pittsfield Mrs. Peck conducted women's programs on the local radio stations, and also was heard on network dramas over CGS. From time to time she worked with Bob Smith of "Howdy Doody" fame and pianist, Jan August.

ALSO IN Buffalo Mrs. Peck started a children's theatre and acted, directed and wrote several plays for the venture. While in summer stock in Buffalo she appeared in many plays including "Personal Appearance," "Three Men on a Horse," "Outward Bound," and "The Queens of France."

The community theatre groups of Pittsfield and Kansas City claimed her talents while the Pecks resided in those cities and in Kansas City she also worked with a children's theatre which toured all the schools of the area with a production of "The Bluebird."

Others in the cast of "Sabrina Fair" include Mt. Prospect resident, Mrs. Jacqueline McDermott, 509 N. Maple; Mrs. Edith Wilson, Mrs. Nancy Raus, Jack Bohy, and Curt Vogtritter, all of Des Plaines; Ed Sauer, Judy Sauer, Sandy Bonnell, Jeffrey Amberg and Mrs. Ginny Boyer, Park Ridge; and Clayton Campbell, Evanston.

FORMER off-Broadway director and summer stock producer, Lee Madden, is directing "Sabrina Fair," which is the third production of the 15th anniversary season of the Des Plaines Guild.

The delightful comedy, penned by Samuel Taylor, revives the time-worn Cinderella fable that the little girl in rags can win the Prince Charming. In this case, however, the "Cinderella" is a brilliant, educated young woman, daughter of a chauffeur in a wealthy Long Island mansion. In love with the elder son of her father's employer, young Sabrina runs away from her love but returns years later to find he loves her too. Like the childhood fairy tale "everyone lives happily ever after."

Mrs. John Clark, Theatre Guild ticket chairman, reports there are a few tickets remaining for the run of "Sabrina Fair." For further information persons may call her at VA 4-8019. A

Arlington Annual Is Honored

Arlington high school's yearbook, "Heights," is one of several Illinois annuals which won awards in the Columbia university Scholastic Press association's annual critique and contest.

The Arlington high yearbook, edited by Marilyn Nelson, who was assisted by Vicki Lester and Lorilei Sandvig, captured a first place award, second only to the medalist award, the highest honor.

PUBLICATIONS were grouped according to size and type of school, method of reproduction and type of publication.

Speech Tourney

Students of both Arlington and Prospect high schools attended an invitational speech tournament at Aurora East high school Saturday, Jan. 7. Nancy Messina and Jon Woods both won awards at the meet. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS Lodge 1162 Free and Accepted Masons Temple stands at 1100 S. State rd., Arlington Heights. From the time of the formation of the lodge in 1929, meetings have been held in the gymnasium of the Presbyterian church. The effort to build the new Temple began in 1950.

New Masonic Temple Is Realization of 'Dream'

Arlington Heights Lodge 1162, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, has realized a dream of many years in the completion of its new Temple at 1100 S. State rd.

The local lodge was chartered in 1929 through the efforts of a small group of Masons, most of whom were originally members of the Palatine Lodge, a body which has now been in existence more than 100 years.

From the time of the formation of the Arlington Heights Lodge, meetings were held in the gymnasium of the Presbyterian church for more than 25 years.

ABOUT 10 YEARS ago, members of the Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star chapter decided to put forth every effort to establish a building of their own. After extensive work and many reversals, the present site was procured and the new Temple is the result of this planning.

The Arlington Heights Masonic Lodge is one of the fastest growing in the Chicago area, now having a membership of more than 380 men. Meetings are held the first and third Thursdays and the second and fourth Fridays of each month.

At the present time, the building is occupied by four organizations: Arlington Heights Lodge 1162, J. Herbert Haynesworth, Worshipful Master; Arlington Heights Chapter 992, Order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Jerry Hejduk, Worthy Matron; Bethel 103, International Order of Job's Daughters, Miss Sue Amy, Honored Queen, and Prospect Chapter, Order of De Molay, Jerry Boyd, Master Counsellor.

The building is most suitably located, as the organizations using the facilities serve not only Arlington Heights but also Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove, Rolling Meadows, Cumberland and Des Plaines.

Newcomers Meeting Has Japanese Theme

A Japanese setting was the theme for the recent Newcomers luncheon at Old Orchard country club. Mrs. Hamp Braun, luncheon chairer, co-chairman, greeted guests and members in Japanese kimonos. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS Lodge 1162 Free and Accepted Masons Temple stands at 1100 S. State rd., Arlington Heights. From the time of the formation of the lodge in 1929, meetings have been held in the gymnasium of the Presbyterian church. The effort to build the new Temple began in 1950.

New Masonic Temple Is Realization of 'Dream'

Arlington Heights Lodge 1162, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, has realized a dream of many years in the completion of its new Temple at 1100 S. State rd.

The local lodge was chartered in 1929 through the efforts of a small group of Masons, most of whom were originally members of the Palatine Lodge, a body which has now been in existence more than 100 years.

From the time of the formation of the Arlington Heights Lodge, meetings were held in the gymnasium of the Presbyterian church for more than 25 years.

ABOUT 10 YEARS ago, members of the Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star chapter decided to put forth every effort to establish a building of their own. After extensive work and many reversals, the present site was procured and the new Temple is the result of this planning.

The Arlington Heights Masonic Lodge is one of the fastest growing in the Chicago area, now having a membership of more than 380 men. Meetings are held the first and third Thursdays and the second and fourth Fridays of each month.

At the present time, the building is occupied by four organizations: Arlington Heights Lodge 1162, J. Herbert Haynesworth, Worshipful Master; Arlington Heights Chapter 992, Order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Jerry Hejduk, Worthy Matron; Bethel 103, International Order of Job's Daughters, Miss Sue Amy, Honored Queen, and Prospect Chapter, Order of De Molay, Jerry Boyd, Master Counsellor.

The building is most suitably located, as the organizations using the facilities serve not only Arlington Heights but also Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove, Rolling Meadows, Cumberland and Des Plaines.

Suburbia's Children

Working Teens Challenge Boredom

Youth Club Is Filling Void

by DICK HOFFMANN

(Third in a series)

In a different setting and with a given set of circumstances, the Tri-City Youth club could have become the Egyptian Cobras or the Vice Lords.

Missing was the decaying neighborhood, the economic deprivation and the traditions of violence. But the boredom remained, oppressive as the stale smoke which lingered over the much-fingered cokes in the pizza joint.

The youth club, however, which takes its name from the communities of Arlington Heights, Palatine and Mt. Prospect, represents a protest against this cultivated form of monotony.

Where the charter members used to depart from the pizzarri periodically to gun their cars around the block in aimless diversion, they now meet each Tuesday night in the basement of the St. John United Church of Christ's activity hall in Arlington Heights to conduct business and socialize.

OF THE 60 per cent in the Arlington high school district who go on to college, these youngsters are the subtraction who stay at home to take jobs after graduation.

No longer able to avail themselves of teenage facilities centered around the high schools, they congregate in pizza palaces, bowling alleys or taverns for social outlets; or they organize into a youth group to satisfy the social urge.

"We don't care to go to high school basketball games or dances anymore," says Lynn Christophersen, pretty, dark-haired 18-year-old secretary of the Tri-City youths. "And we realize we can't sit around in a restaurant and buy 10-cent cokes and not expect the proprietor to get mad."

Lynn and other members were also aware that the club had to have a more cohesive substance than sociability to hold it together. For this reason, the club has taken to charity work to cement its foundations.

Their first venture in this direction was a Christmas party held for retarded children at Little City near Palatine. "We made little Christmas stockings for each child, and found out their mental age so we could get each one something appropriate," Lynn explained.

"IT STRUCK ME that the purpose of the club would be to benefit others," said the Rev. Robert S. McDonald, pastor of St. John's, whom the group had consulted with on the possibilities of organizing such a club. "It showed they were not self-centered but other-centered."

Until the Tri-City charter gave them new directions, some of the original organizers of the club had been on a "first name basis" acquaintanceship with Maurice English, Arlington Heights juvenile officer.

Credited with starting the club is a 20-year-old soldier stationed at Ft. Sheridan with the angelic name of Bless Starr and square shoulders of a former Golden Gloves boxer. Starr, who wants to study psychology and sociology in college with a view toward working for the United Nations, was instrumental in forming a similar organization of teens in his home town of Ft. Madison, Iowa, where facilities for this particular age group were also lacking. He has seen the group grow from the restless 10 who made the pizza emporium their headquarters to a present membership of 50.

"HE GOT THE idea for the club from the pizza joint," says Lynn Chris (most people abbreviate her last name rather than try to pronounce it). "The kids would go in and hang around for a while. Then they'd drive around the block a few times for something to do before coming back inside."

"Bless saw that there was a need for more meaning to their existence," observed Rev. McDonald.

These are the restive years from teen to twenty - the last step to complete the transition from puberty to maturity, the final severance of the umbilical ties. It is the age group which makes the most generous contribution to the crime statistics. "People do not understand," says Sgt. William Duvaney, juvenile officer on the Addison police force, "that delinquency is caused by people who aren't juveniles but in the age group from 18-21."

"Those who do not go on to college are drawn together like magnets," says Arlington Heights Juvenile Officer English. For this group, special problems are posed. Many acts socially acceptable in a college setting are viewed as delinquent behavior when committed by the group left behind. "Instead of drinking in a frat house, they drink in the forest preserve," English said, pointing up one aspect of the double standard.

BUT DELINQUENCY as defined in the city almanacs of crime is just about nonexistent in the suburbs, English thinks. "The 99.5 per cent of boys and girls I talk to, I never see again," he noted. In 1960, cases involving juveniles handled by English included two assaults, two burglaries, three auto larcenies, five larcenies and three dram shop offenses. The majority of cases were disposed of by station adjustments. The "recidivist," or child who keeps returning to criminal patterns of behavior, is as rare to the suburbs as an outbreak of malaria, English noted.

Preventive action - much more possible in a smaller community - is also exercised by English. He related that the manner in which he discouraged the growth of the "seeds of delinquency" being sown by one teenage gang of girls was to let it be known that they were under police surveillance. "When the word gets out that 'the cops are watching,' they tend to disband," he explained.

The group had taken the name of an animal to describe their affiliation, wore black jackets as their badge of defiance, and picked fights at dances as their means to recognition. These girls still move about together, but without the feline family name or other symbols which police scrutiny made socially unacceptable.

THE TRI-CITY group, which hopes to stage "peewee" boxing matches to raise enough money to acquire its own meeting place, financed its Christmas party for retarded children by holding a dance which drew over 200 youths from the northwest suburban area.

"Not one car squealed its tires," says Rev. McDonald proudly. This particular irritation of "peeling around the neighborhood at 2 and 3 in the morning" he had attacked from the pulpit after one sleepless night. "What kind of foundation are these kids laying when they go around blowing their brains out an exhaust pipe?" he had asked. (Teenagers adopted the pastor's phrase, incidentally, to describe driving, i.e., "I'm going to blow my brains out the exhaust.")

"The club had its own sniffers checking on drinking at the dance," Rev. McDonald said, adding that there was none. "The reaction of their leadership was, 'Well, there's this many kids off the street tonight.' "

"We want to show people we're not just a bunch of motley kids looking for a place to throw a beer bust," Lynn Chris said. "We don't want to become known as the Friendly Drunks' club."

Len Peculunas, counselor at the Chicago Parental school and a member of Hoffman Estates youth commission, notes that such predatory street gangs as the Vice Lords and Dukes have a ritual and tradition which dates back as far in the city's history as many Chicago ladies' auxiliaries.

WHILE SUBURBIA'S Children are not exposed to such an inheritance of evil, a lack of physical facilities for all age groups presents a potential danger. Henry Cobb, guidance director at Fenton high school in Bensenville, points out that students have to travel to Arlington Heights or Elmhurst just to attend a movie or to roller skate. City children are not troubled by such distances in seeking out recreation.

Rev. McDonald, who was a pastor at an inter-city church in Chicago before coming to the suburbs, observes that even contemporary design defeats social get-togethers by leaving basements - the traditional gathering spot in homes for teenagers - out of building plans.

Whatever the setting, however, a significant clue to behavior patterns was offered by the clergyman. From his study overlooking a school across the street, the distant sounds of children at play reached up to underline his remarks. You could see the youngsters darting about the sun-drenched playground, figurative exclamation points to his words.

"We have a culture of plenty," he commented. "Plenty of everything but love."

Q. My friends tell me I am supposed to buy my fiancee a cedar chest or "hope chest." Is this correct?

A. Although often done, it is not required. The cedar chest, as well as its contents of household and personal linens, are properly the expense of the bride and her family.

(Third in a series)

In a different setting and with a given set of circumstances, the Tri-City Youth club could have become the Egyptian Cobras or the Vice Lords.

Missing was the decaying neighborhood, the economic deprivation and the traditions of violence. But the boredom remained, oppressive as the stale smoke which lingered over the much-fingered cokes in the pizza joint.

The youth club, however, which takes its name from the communities of Arlington Heights, Palatine and Mt. Prospect, represents a protest against this cultivated form of monotony.

Where the charter members used to depart from the pizzarri periodically to gun their cars around the block in aimless diversion, they now meet each Tuesday night in the basement of the St. John United Church of Christ's activity hall in Arlington Heights to conduct business and socialize.

OF THE 60 per cent in the Arlington high school district who go on to college, these youngsters are the subtraction who stay at home to take jobs after graduation.

No longer able to avail themselves of teenage facilities centered around the high schools, they congregate in pizza palaces, bowling alleys or taverns for social outlets; or they organize into a youth group to satisfy the social urge.

"We don't care to go to high school basketball games or dances anymore," says Lynn Christophersen, pretty, dark-haired 18-year-old secretary of the Tri-City youths. "And we realize we can't sit around in a restaurant and buy 10-cent cokes and not expect the proprietor to get mad."

Lynn and other members were also aware that the club had to have a more cohesive substance than sociability to hold it together. For this reason, the club has taken to charity work to cement its foundations.

Their first venture in this direction was a Christmas party held for retarded children at Little City near Palatine. "We made little Christmas stockings for each child, and found out their mental age so we could get each one something appropriate," Lynn explained.

"IT STRUCK ME that the purpose of the club would be to benefit others," said the Rev. Robert S. McDonald, pastor of St. John's, whom the group had consulted with on the possibilities of organizing such a club. "It showed they were not self-centered but other-centered."

Until the Tri-City charter gave them new directions, some of the original organizers of the club had been on a "first name basis" acquaintanceship with Maurice English, Arlington Heights juvenile officer.

Credited with starting the club is a 20-year-old soldier stationed at Ft. Sheridan with the angelic name of Bless Starr and square shoulders of a former Golden Gloves boxer. Starr, who wants to study psychology and sociology in college with a view toward working for the United Nations, was instrumental in forming a similar organization of teens in his home town of Ft. Madison, Iowa, where facilities for this particular age group were also lacking. He has seen the group grow from the restless 10 who made the pizza emporium their headquarters to a present membership of 50.

"HE GOT THE idea for the club from the pizza joint," says Lynn Chris (most people abbreviate her last name rather than try to pronounce it). "The kids would go in and hang around for a while. Then they'd drive around the block a few times for something to do before coming back inside."

"Bless saw that there was a need for more meaning to their existence," observed Rev. McDonald.

These are the restive years from teen to twenty - the last step to complete the transition from puberty to maturity, the final severance of the umbilical ties. It is the age group which makes the most generous contribution to the crime statistics. "People do not understand," says Sgt. William Duvaney, juvenile officer on the Addison police force, "that delinquency is caused by people who aren't juveniles but in the age group from 18-21."

"Those who do not go on to college are drawn together like magnets," says Arlington Heights Juvenile Officer English. For this group, special problems are posed. Many acts socially acceptable in a college setting are viewed as delinquent behavior when committed by the group left behind. "Instead of drinking in a frat house, they drink in the forest preserve," English said, pointing up one aspect of the double standard.

BUT DELINQUENCY as defined in the city almanacs of crime is just about nonexistent in the suburbs, English thinks. "The 99.5 per cent of boys and girls I talk to, I never see again," he noted. In 1960, cases involving juveniles handled by English included two assaults, two burglaries, three auto larcenies, five larcenies and three dram shop offenses. The majority of cases were disposed of by station adjustments. The "recidivist," or child who keeps returning to criminal patterns of behavior, is as rare to the suburbs as an outbreak of malaria, English noted.

Preventive action - much more possible in a smaller community - is also exercised by English. He related that the manner in which he discouraged the growth of the "seeds of delinquency" being sown by one teenage gang of girls was to let it be known that they were under police surveillance. "When the word gets out that 'the cops are watching,' they tend to disband," he explained.

The group had taken the name of an animal to describe their affiliation, wore black jackets as their badge of defiance, and picked fights at dances as their means to recognition. These girls still move about together, but without the feline family name or other symbols which police scrutiny made socially unacceptable.

THE TRI-CITY group, which hopes to stage "peewee" boxing matches to raise enough money to acquire its own meeting place, financed its Christmas party for retarded children by holding a dance which drew over 200 youths from the northwest suburban area.

"Not one car squealed its tires," says Rev. McDonald proudly. This particular irritation of "peeling around the neighborhood at 2 and 3 in the morning" he had attacked from the pulpit after one sleepless night. "What kind of foundation are these kids laying when they go around blowing their brains out an exhaust pipe?" he had asked. (Teenagers adopted the pastor's phrase, incidentally, to describe driving, i.e., "I'm going to blow my brains out the exhaust.")

"The club had its own sniffers checking on drinking at the dance," Rev. McDonald said, adding that there was none. "The reaction of their leadership was, 'Well, there's this many kids off the street tonight.' "

"We want to show people we're not just a bunch of motley kids looking for a place to throw a beer bust," Lynn Chris said. "We don't want to become known as the Friendly Drunks' club."

Len Pecilunas, counselor at the Chicago Parental school and a member of Hoffman Estates youth commission, notes that such predatory street gangs as the Vice Lords and Dukes have a ritual and tradition which dates back as far in the city's history as many Chicago ladies' auxiliaries.

WHILE SUBURBIA'S Children are not exposed to such an inheritance of evil, a lack of physical facilities for all age groups presents a potential danger. Henry Cobb, guidance director at Fenton high school in Bensenville, points out that students have to travel to Arlington Heights or Elmhurst just to attend a movie or to roller skate. City children are not troubled by such distances in seeking out recreation.

Rev. McDonald, who was a pastor at an inter-city church in Chicago before coming to the suburbs, observes that even contemporary design defeats social get-togethers by leaving basements - the traditional gathering spot in homes for teenagers - out of building plans.

Whatever the setting, however, a significant clue to behavior patterns was offered by the clergyman. From his study overlooking a school across the street, the distant sounds of children at play reached up to underline his remarks. You could see the youngsters darting about the sun-drenched playground, figurative exclamation points to his words.

"We have a culture of plenty," he commented. "Plenty of everything but love."

Q. My friends tell me I am supposed to buy my fiancee a cedar chest or "hope chest." Is this correct?

A. Although often done, it is not required. The cedar chest, as well as its contents of household and personal linens, are properly the expense of the bride and her family.

North Shore Farm

Top Race Horses Sired by Suburb Stallion

Illinois is going to be listed in the halls of history as "tops" for race horse breeding if William J. Schmidt's dream is fulfilled.

Testimony that his dream is well on the way toward fulfillment is the fame of the 150acre North Shore Farm at Northbrook.

The picturesque farm with its white buildings trimmed in bright red on a background of rolling pastures makes a perfect setting for what is one of the outstanding thoroughbred race horse training and breeding establishments in Illinois.

THIS is the home of many renowned race horses including one of the most famous racing stallions, Admiral Vee. He is the best son of War Admiral, who in turn was the best son of Man O'War, known to young and old as possibly the most famous race horse in the world.

Three others of the many champions in Schmidt's stallion family include Speed Rouser, Prospectin and Hyperil.

THAT North Shore Farm is a major breeding and training center is borne out by the fact that during the ten years Schmidt has owned the property, more that 20,000 horses have been either raised or housed for stud, training or foaling purposes.

There are 24 stalls in the main barn where there is also an indoor training arena. When weather permits, training can be done outside in the large ring or the polo ring. In bad weather the indoor ring is used.

In a second large barn there are 20 stalls. The barns, pastures and rings, as well as Schmidt's home, storage and housing facilities for the staff are all enclosed in neat rustic fences.

IN THE largest barn where the business office is located is a lounge-exhibition type of room with a large open fireplace and comfortable furnishings. It is here that owners and horse lovers congregate to visit and talk about their first love—horses.

Pictures of the many champions sired, trained and born at North Shore line the walls.

Schmidt's farm is fast becoming well known in Illinois and other main horse racing areas. He has started on an intensive public relations program to bring Illinois horse raising, training and breeding into the picture as prominently as it is in Kentucky.

SCHMIDT wants the world to realize that Illinois horse breeding and training is just as big a thing and that some of the very best stock comes from the state.

Schmidt should know. He has been in the "horse" business since he was a small boy. He apprenticed in the art of training horses in Skokie under old Illinois trainers. He had his own livery stable in Skokie while still a very young man. He has run riding and polo schools and trained both polo players and polo ponies. He has been judged the outstanding trainer in the state three different times.

HE ENTERED the business of breeding thoroughbred horses in 1951. He met with immediate success. Sanders Road, the first horse he bred became an immediate champion.

By 1957 he was well on the way to expanding the breeding operation. At this time he became a founder of the Illinois Breeding association, in which he continues as an active participant.

He has definite ideas about breeding, some of which are revolutionary, but which are paying off in producing numerous money winning race horses.

HIS DREAM is to bring a strong blood line to Illinois. To promote this, he purchased Admiral Vee, noted for not only his racing record, but for being born of a line of horses which have outstanding characteristics from the male line of Man O'War.

To encourage Illinois breeders and trainers to strengthen the breeding line, Schmidt offers Admiral Vee at the stud price of $750, said to be several times lower than regulation.

He advises owners to get the best mare possible and breed her to the best stud they can afford. This is why he offers Admiral Vee at such a low stud price. Schmidt hopes to so improve Illinois breds that they will stand up to competition anywhere in the world.

ADMIRAL Vee was bred to 33 mares. Thirty of these are now in foal. The first foal of the great giant is due to be born within a few days to either Witty or Loret, both champion thoroughbred brood mares.

Admiral Vee has won over $316,795 in price money. He has won major races including Saratoga, Nassau County, Gallant Fox, Edgemere, Paumonok and Merchants and Citizens handicaps.

He outran Bold Ruler, the horse of the year, outdistanced all noted distance horses such as Midafternoon and Third Brother and outsprinted the sprint champion, Decathalon.

THIS horse is the main hope of Schmidt's dream to strengthen the blood lines for Illinois. There are, however, other champion stallions of great blood lines at stud on the farm.

One, Speed Rouser, netted $189,385 in prize money. He is owned by Schmidt and Dr. Sidney Babbitz of Milwaukee. Speed Rouser is a grandson of Bull Lea and son of Beau Max.

Prospectin is another champion stallion in the North Shore Farm. Prospectin's first four paternal sires and his first four maternal sires either all won derbys or sired derby winners.

WHILE Schmidt is at the helm of the operation, his general manager, Fred Lutzow, is also a lifelong trainer who knows all phases of the horse business.

He is in complete charge of North Shore when Schmidt goes to Florida to his new 500 acre training farm in Clewiston. This farm was purchased and devoloped recently so training could be carried on on a year around basis.

Schmidt takes many of the horses from Illinois there during the Winter. The natural ground cushion is especially suited to training without danger of injury because there has been no frost there for over a century.

ANOTHER farm owned by Schmidt is Fox Hill Ranch in Fox Lake. All the feed, especially grown and blended at Fox Lake, is used at the three operations.

These three facilities, plus the experience and knowhow of Schmidt, aided by Lutzow, all add up to great hopes expressed by Illinois breeders that there is a continued future for the state in the field of breeding and training of thoroughbred race horses which will make themselves and their owners proud and Illinois known as "Horse Country, U.S.A." A14

ILLINOIS' GREATEST stallion, best son of War Admiral, Admiral Vee is the most versatile of all Eastern stakes horses. He was imported to Illinois by William J. Schmidt's North Shore Farm to give Illinois' breeding a shot in the arm. Admiral Vee's first foals will be born this month. (B8

THIS IS WITTY, one of Illinois' outstanding broodmares. Now in foal to the stallion Admiral Vee, Witty is expected to have her offspring this month. Both the stallion and Witty could be considered members of horsedom's royal family. Their foal will probably become an Illinois representative in the Kentucky Derby. (B8

TOO WITTY, daughter of Witty, is expected to have a fine season as a three year old this year according to North Shore officials and her owner, Vic Benvenuti. Too Witty's mother, Witty, is expected to give birth to Admiral Vee's foal within a few days.

Bird Feather Cloaks

Clothing Is Reminder Of Hawaiian Royalty

Tourists to Hawaii who enjoy Waikiki, hula girls, luaus, exotic flowers and native music are urged to take a look at a reminder of the early days of royalty in the Islands on Paddock Publications' "Hawaiian Holiday" tour.

A visit to the Bishop Museum in Honolulu will reveal a fascinating collection of feather cloaks and capes that represent the state robes and battle uniforms of Old Hawaii's highest chiefs.

THESE unusual garments were made by craftsmen who plucked the fine feathers from certain birds. An average size cloak or "Ahu-ula" took 10,000 birds. Red and yellow were the colors of feather fashion. The "mamo" bird, restricted to the use of kings and the highest chiefs, was always rare, and is extinct today, none having been seen since 1870. The "oo" bird gave yellow and black feathers. The "iiwi" and "apapane" gave scarlet.

The birds were not killed, but snared at moulting time. A few feathers were plucked, and the birds released to grow a new crop. They eventually became extinct because of changes in forest condition, due to the introduction of foreign plants and animals.

THE BISHOP Museum has tried for years to keep track of these feathered treasures. More than 160 are listed. . . 55 cloaks and 108 capes. They are scattered around the world. The Museum has the largest collection—10 cloaks and 17 capes. Many are in England, owned by private families, and several are in Windsor Castle. Others are in museums in England and throughout Europe.

The famous all-yellow cloak of Kamehameha the First, covered entirely with the feathers of the rare "crocus yellow mamo," is the most prized. Combined on this one cloak are a very large per cent of all the known "mamo" feathers, estimated at nearly half a million. Since each "Mamo" bird furnished only six or seven bright yellow feathers of the required quality, it has been estimated that these feathers represent the product of between 80,000 and 90,000 birds. It is said to have taken a hundred years to make the cloak, with craftsmen starting long before the King' birth. It is valued at a million dollars.

THE FEATHERS were tied to net foundations of fine mesh, the artist-craftsman working out motifs with different colors. The Hawaiian chiefs served as their patrons. Both rectangular and circular capes were made, along with war helmets.

A fine example in the Bishop Museum is the Kearny cloak. It is more than four feet long and has a lower edge measurement of 12 feet. It weighs five and a quarter pounds. Other cloaks are larger, such as the huge Joy cloak, which is five and a half feet long and thirteen feet along the bottom. The smallest ones, more or less shoulder capes, are about ten inches long, and three or four feet along the bottom.

THE FEATHER helmet, or "mahiole," once worn by the well-dressed warrior, resembles something from ancient Greece. Feathers were fastened to a netting of olona fiber over a woven framework of split roots of the "ieie" wine.

Leaving March 12 for two weeks in "the Islands," Paddock's tour offers luxury accomodations at economy prices, $698 a person with optional tours to the "outer Islands" included for an additional $150.

Illegal Parking Discussed

Village trustee Eugene Schlickman suggested Monday that the Arlington Heights police department be advised of the increasing number of vehicles being parked on parkways in violation of village ordinances.

Schlickman reminded other trustees that he mentioned this problem some time ago. He said it is both dangerous and unsightly for autos to be parked on the village right-of-way, between the street and sidewalk.

Village manager L. A. Hanson was directed to relay the information to police chief L. W. Calderwood. (A

Canning Technology Dates Back to Napoleonic Times

Industry's Colorful Record of Achievement

The idea of preserving foods is probably as old as man himself.

Such procedures as drying, salting and smoking date back for thousands of years, yet the most successful method of preserving food - in cans - is only about 150 years old.

The colorful history of canning technology was recounted this week by the National Canners Association, which is staging its 54th annual meeting in Chicago January 22-25.

During Napolean's early campaigns, he was successful against all but one enemy — starvation.

The French government, therefore, offered a 12,000 franc prize to the citizen who could devise a method of preserving food for transport on campaigns.

Nicolas Appert conceived the method of putting food into wide-mouthed bottles, filling the bottles full to exclude air, and corking them well. The bottles went into a kettle full of boiling water and then were cooled.

Previously, food had been preserved in bottles, but it was Appert who first realized the importance of sealing them tightly—the crucial step in food preservation.

APPERT experimented for 14 years on this knotty problem. The ingenious Frenchman also succeeded in working out different cooking times for various products. He anticipated modern packers by sending out recipes with his products.

It had been presumed that a vacuum inside the container was needed in order to keep food from spoiling, but Appert's experiments convinced him that this was untrue. He said that "Internal air is rendered harmless by the action heat."

Many years later, bacteriologists confirmed his theory. They discovered that once heat has demolished destructive bacteria, the presence of sterile air can cause no decay.

Appert performed his initial experiments with glass containers.

Peter Durand, an Englishman, checked Appert's experiments, and in 1810 patented the method of preserving foods in tin plated iron canisters, thus advancing the food industry another step.

A DECADE later, William Underwood launched a commercial preserving operation in Boston. His firm offered pickles, sauces and jellies. About the same time, a New York firm put canned salmon, lobster and oysters on the market.

Both firms met with success and the next 50 years brought a series of inventions that made canning safer and faster. Inventors turned their attentions to harvesting vegetables and dealing with them more efficiently in the canneries. Machinery appeared for husking corn and cutting kernels from the cob, as well as for shelling peas. More effective ways to manufacture the cans themselves were devised.

As more scientific methods came into use, the National Canners Association was formed in 1907 and established important research laboratories to study canning technology.

THE ASSOCIATION continues to improve standards of canned foods by means of its various bureaus which pursue research projects, test products for quality and flavor, distribute useful information to canners and to the public, and to perform other equally valuable services.

Thanks to Appert and all those after him who contributed to the preservation of food, man has been assured of a year round harvest of nutritious, good tasting canned foods. (SS.

League Officer Resigns

In keeping with League's non-partisan policy, the board of directors of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters has accepted Mrs. Fred Marks' resignation from its board.

According to League policy, a board member resigns (retaining active participation as an off-the-board member) if she or her husband wishes to actively engage in political party activities.

Mr. Marks is a member of the candidate recommendation committee of the Arlington Heights village caucus which will be apposed in April's municipal election.

THE LEAGUE, being non-partisan, takes action in support of or in opposition to selected governmental issues. It does not support or oppose candidates or political parties.

Mrs. R. B. Yadon, president of the Arlington Heights league urges all citizens and league members to take an active part in the nomination of candidates for the forthcoming elections for village, school and township.

Mrs. Dennis Moore has been appointed to replace Mrs. Marks, both as director and as membership chairman.

NEW PRESIDENT of the Opportunity Council, Inc., is Mrs. Walter A. Bricker of Mount Prospect, shown above with past president Charles E. Hayes of Arlington Heights. The suburban human relations group elected new officers last week at an annual meeting. In addition to president, the group elected D. E. Allison of Hoffman Estates, Willis J. Jensen of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Edgar W. Trout Jr. of Palatine and Hayes as vice presidents; Mrs. Stanley Korecky of Mount Prospect, secretary; and James Mason of Palatine, treasurer.

These three facilities, plus the experience and knowhow of Schmidt, aided by Lutzow, all add up to great hopes expressed by Illinois breeders that there is a continued future for the state in the field of breeding and training of thoroughbred race horses which will make themselves and their owners proud and Illinois known as "Horse Country, U.S.A." A14

ILLINOIS' GREATEST stallion, best son of War Admiral, Admiral Vee is the most versatile of all Eastern stakes horses. He was imported to Illinois by William J. Schmidt's North Shore Farm to give Illinois' breeding a shot in the arm. Admiral Vee's first foals will be born this month. (B8

THIS IS WITTY, one of Illinois' outstanding broodmares. Now in foal to the stallion Admiral Vee, Witty is expected to have her offspring this month. Both the stallion and Witty could be considered members of horsedom's royal family. Their foal will probably become an Illinois representative in the Kentucky Derby. (B8

TOO WITTY, daughter of Witty, is expected to have a fine season as a three year old this year according to North Shore officials and her owner, Vic Benvenuti. Too Witty's mother, Witty, is expected to give birth to Admiral Vee's foal within a few days.

Clothing Is Reminder Of Hawaiian Royalty

Tourists to Hawaii who enjoy Waikiki, hula girls, luaus, exotic flowers and native music are urged to take a look at a reminder of the early days of royalty in the Islands on Paddock Publications' "Hawaiian Holiday" tour.

A visit to the Bishop Museum in Honolulu will reveal a fascinating collection of feather cloaks and capes that represent the state robes and battle uniforms of Old Hawaii's highest chiefs.

THESE unusual garments were made by craftsmen who plucked the fine feathers from certain birds. An average size cloak or "Ahu-ula" took 10,000 birds. Red and yellow were the colors of feather fashion. The "mamo" bird, restricted to the use of kings and the highest chiefs, was always rare, and is extinct today, none having been seen since 1870. The "oo" bird gave yellow and black feathers. The "iiwi" and "apapane" gave scarlet.

The birds were not killed, but snared at moulting time. A few feathers were plucked, and the birds released to grow a new crop. They eventually became extinct because of changes in forest condition, due to the introduction of foreign plants and animals.

THE BISHOP Museum has tried for years to keep track of these feathered treasures. More than 160 are listed. . . 55 cloaks and 108 capes. They are scattered around the world. The Museum has the largest collection—10 cloaks and 17 capes. Many are in England, owned by private families, and several are in Windsor Castle. Others are in museums in England and throughout Europe.

The famous all-yellow cloak of Kamehameha the First, covered entirely with the feathers of the rare "crocus yellow mamo," is the most prized. Combined on this one cloak are a very large per cent of all the known "mamo" feathers, estimated at nearly half a million. Since each "Mamo" bird furnished only six or seven bright yellow feathers of the required quality, it has been estimated that these feathers represent the product of between 80,000 and 90,000 birds. It is said to have taken a hundred years to make the cloak, with craftsmen starting long before the King' birth. It is valued at a million dollars.

THE FEATHERS were tied to net foundations of fine mesh, the artist-craftsman working out motifs with different colors. The Hawaiian chiefs served as their patrons. Both rectangular and circular capes were made, along with war helmets.

A fine example in the Bishop Museum is the Kearny cloak. It is more than four feet long and has a lower edge measurement of 12 feet. It weighs five and a quarter pounds. Other cloaks are larger, such as the huge Joy cloak, which is five and a half feet long and thirteen feet along the bottom. The smallest ones, more or less shoulder capes, are about ten inches long, and three or four feet along the bottom.

THE FEATHER helmet, or "mahiole," once worn by the well-dressed warrior, resembles something from ancient Greece. Feathers were fastened to a netting of olona fiber over a woven frame work of split roots of the "ieie" wine.

Leaving March 12 for two weeks in "the Islands," Paddock's tour offers luxury accomodations at economy prices, $698 a person with optional tours to the "outer Islands" included for an additional $150.

Illegal Parking Discussed

Village trustee Eugene Schlickman suggested Monday that the Arlington Heights police department be advised of the increasing number of vehicles being parked on parkways in violation of village ordinances.

Schlickman reminded other trustees that he mentioned this problem some time ago. He said it is both dangerous and unsightly for autos to be parked on the village right-of-way, between the street and sidewalk.

Village manager L. A. Hanson was directed to relay the information to police chief L. W. Calderwood. (A

Industry's Colorful Record of Achievement

The idea of preserving foods is probably as old as man himself.

Such procedures as drying, salting and smoking date back for thousands of years, yet the most successful method of preserving food - in cans - is only about 150 years old.

The colorful history of canning technology was recounted this week by the National Canners Association, which is staging its 54th annual meeting in Chicago January 22-25.

During Napolean's early campaigns, he was successful against all but one enemy — starvation.

The French government, therefore, offered a 12,000 franc prize to the citizen who could devise a method of preserving food for transport on campaigns.

Nicolas Appert conceived the method of putting food into wide-mouthed bottles, filling the bottles full to exclude air, and corking them well. The bottles went into a kettle full of boiling water and then were cooled.

Previously, food had been preserved in bottles, but it was Appert who first realized the importance of sealing them tightly—the crucial step in food preservation.

APPERT experimented for 14 years on this knotty problem. The ingenious Frenchman also succeeded in working out different cooking times for various products. He anticipated modern packers by sending out recipes with his products.

It had been presumed that a vacuum inside the container was needed in order to keep food from spoiling, but Appert's experiments convinced him that this was untrue. He said that "Internal air is rendered harmless by the action heat."

Many years later, bacteriologists confirmed his theory. They discovered that once heat has demolished destructive bacteria, the presence of sterile air can cause no decay.

Appert performed his initial experiments with glass containers.

Peter Durand, an Englishman, checked Appert's experiments, and in 1810 patented the method of preserving foods in tin plated iron canisters, thus advancing the food industry another step.

A DECADE later, William Underwood launched a commercial preserving operation in Boston. His firm offered pickles, sauces and jellies. About the same time, a New York firm put canned salmon, lobster and oysters on the market.

Both firms met with success and the next 50 years brought a series of inventions that made canning safer and faster. Inventors turned their attentions to harvesting vegetables and dealing with them more efficiently in the canneries. Machinery appeared for husking corn and cutting kernels from the cob, as well as for shelling peas. More effective ways to manufacture the cans themselves were devised.

As more scientific methods came into use, the National Canners Association was formed in 1907 and established important research laboratories to study canning technology.

THE ASSOCIATION continues to improve standards of canned foods by means of its various bureaus which pursue research projects, test products for quality and flavor, distribute useful information to canners and to the public, and to perform other equally valuable services.

Thanks to Appert and all those after him who contributed to the preservation of food, man has been assured of a year round harvest of nutritious, good tasting canned foods. (SS

League Officer Resigns

In keeping with League's non-partisan policy, the board of directors of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters has accepted Mrs. Fred Marks' resignation from its board.

According to League policy, a board member resigns (retaining active participation as an off-the-board member) if she or her husband wishes to actively engage in political party activities.

Mr. Marks is a member of the candidate recommendation committee of the Arlington Heights village caucus which will be apposed in April's municipal election.

THE LEAGUE, being non partisan, takes action in support of or in opposition to selected governmental issues. It does not support or oppose candidates or political parties.

Mrs. R. B. Yadon, president of the Arlington Heights league urges all citizens and league members to take an active part in the nomination of candidates for the forthcoming elections for village, school and township.

Mrs. Dennis Moore has been appointed to replace Mrs. Marks, both as director and as membership chairman.

NEW PRESIDENT of the Opportunity Council, Inc., is Mrs. Walter A. Bricker of Mount Prospect, shown above with past president Charles E. Hayes of Arlington Heights. The suburban human relations group elected new officers last week at an annual meeting. In addition to president, the group elected D. E. Allison of Hoffman Estates, Willis J. Jensen of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Edgar W. Trout Jr. of Palatine and Hayes as vice presidents; Mrs. Stanley Koreckey of Mount Prospect, secretary; and James Mason of Palatine, treasurer.

Nine Wheeling township residents are in the running for two justice of the peace jobs to be filled in the April 4 election. Six residents have filed for two constable jobs, the office of the county clerk reported this week.

Filing petitions of candidacy for the $5,500-a-year JP jobs before deadline time Monday were Thomas R. Ackerman, 603 W. Henry st., Mt. Prospect, and John T. Garrity, 615 E. Grove st., Arlington Heights. They filed under the Reliable Party heading.

Reliable Party candidates for constable are Arthur E. Braband, 11 N. Pine st., Mt. Prospect, and Joseph S. Good, 1236 N. Walnut ave., Arlington Heights.

The new JP candidates will have stiff opposition from 4 who filed January 9. They are Donald L. Norman, 1840 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, and Robert L. Sklodowski, 720 N. River rd., Mt. Prospect, Better Government Party; and Carl M. Behrens, 525 W. Kirchoff rd., Arlington Heights, and Walter P. Dahl, 1111 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights, Representative Party.

In addition to voting for two JPs and two constables April 4, township residents will elect a township supervisor, clerk, assessor, collector, highway commissioner and three auditors.

According to Dorothy Hauff, township clerk, candidates of the Representative Party have been the only ones to file for the township offices. A second slate is reportedly being organized under the guidance of JP candidate Norman, an Arlington Heights attorney. (ACM

Basketball Is Slated

Bill Appleby, superintendent of recreation for the Arlington Heights park district, announced this week that arrangements have been completed with school district 25 to use the South junior high school gymnasium for a Saturday afternoon basketball program.

The program, sponsored by the park district, will consist of basketball instruction and free play. Use of the facilities will be limited to grade school children. The gym will be open on Saturday afternoons from 1 to 4 p.m. starting January 21 through March 4.

Appleby said the large number of children using the Recreation park gym on Saturdays prompted the park district to request the school district make the junior high school gym available so that children living on the south side of the village would have a place to play. It is not necessary to register for this activity. (A

Pearl Harbor Tour Planned

Hawaii-bound vacationists on Paddock Publications' "Hawaiian Holiday" will make a visit to Pearl Harbor in their sight-seeing program, according to Stuart Paddock Jr., host of the trip.

In the historic aerial attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, The Arizona and all but 289 of her crew of 1,500 died. The Navy still pays tribute each day to the men entombed in the mighty warship. Navy men still consider her a commissioned ship of the fleet.

Her crew is aboard, sailors explain—1,102 of them—from an admiral to apprentice seamen.

EACH dawn and each dusk two sailors make a special trip to The Arizona, whose main deck now is eight feet below the surface. At 8 a.m. the flag is raised. It is not put at half staff because she still is regarded as a commissioned ship. Each afternoon, it is lowered.

This ceremony was started in 1950 by Admiral Arthur Radford, then Pacific Commander. A plaque reads: "From now on the U.S.S. Arizona will again fly our country's flag just as proudly as she did on the morning of Dec. 7, 1941."

THE ARIZONA lies on one side of Ford Island. Only part of her superstructure is visible. The mount for her Number Three main battery turret and a few mushroom-shaped ventilators crack the surface of the water.

On the other side of Ford Island lies The Utah, one-time battleship which was serving as target ship when she was hit with 58 men entombed. The bottom still juts above the surface of the harboar. Though there is no landing there, Admiral Radford had a plaque placed aboard.

Pearl Harbor Tour Planned

Hawaii-bound vacationists on Paddock Publications' "Hawaiian Holiday" will make a visit to Pearl Harbor in their sight-seeing program, according to Stuart Paddock Jr., host of the trip.

In the historic aerial attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, The Arizona and all but 289 of her crew of 1,500 died. The Navy still pays tribute each day to the men entombed in the mighty warship. Navy men still consider her a commissioned ship of the fleet. Her crew is aboard, sailors explain—1,102 of them—from an admiral to apprentice seamen.

EACH dawn and each dusk two sailors make a special trip to The Arizona, whose main deck now is eight feet below the surface. At 8 a.m. the flag is raised. It is not put at half staff because she still is regarded as a commissioned ship. Each afternoon, it is lowered.

This ceremony was started in 1950 by Admiral Arthur Radford, then Pacific Commander. A plaque reads: "From now on the U.S.S. Arizona will again fly our country's flag just as proudly as she did on the morning of Dec. 7, 1941."

THE ARIZONA lies on one side of Ford Island. Only part of her superstructure is visible. The mount for her Number Three main battery turret and a few mushroom-shaped ventilators crack the surface of the water.

On the other side of Ford Island lies The Utah, one-time battleship which was serving as target ship when she was hit with 58 men entombed. The bottom still juts above the surface of the harboar. Though there is no landing there, Admiral Radford had a plaque placed aboard.

For further details on "Hawaiian Holiday," leaving March 12 and returning March 26, write Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell st., Arlington Heights, Ill. A14

Eastwood Events

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Farrell had the happy privilege of celebrating the 56th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Farrell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cassidy. Dinner for the anniversary couple was at Math Igler's in Chicago.

Besides their daughter, Eleanor, the Cassidys' other daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Lowery, and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cassidy were there. Mrs. Walter Ferrell, George's mother, was also present to wish the Cassidys many more happy years together.

The beginning of the new year was eventful for the Richard Evans family, for on that day their new son was baptized by a Jesuit friend, Father William A. Finnegan, who married Lois and Dick, and who also baptized their other three children. After the ceremony in St. James church, dinner was served in the Evans' new home for Father Finnegan and the baby's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cashion. The new baby has been named William John, after his two grandfathers and Father Finnegan.

WHILE MRS. Evans was in the hospital, the family took up residence in their newly built home at 401 N. Beverly.

The Pedersen family, comprised of Chuck and Mary Jo and their children, Tory, 17 months and 7-week-old Eric, are now residents of one week in the Evans' former home at 215 N. Beverly. While their present surroundings are new to the Pedersens, the Eastwood area is not, as they have lived for the past year in the apartment building at Miner and Dryden.

Mrs. Joy Narquis and her visitors of last Thursday had a busy time chatting of their high school days in Cleveland. Enroute to New Orleans from Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ament were the Narquis' dinner guests that evening in their home at 703 E. Euclid.

Between the holidays Mrs. Robert Luker was pleased to have her sister's family, the Owen Kofoeds, and their three children visit for a day. The The Kofoeds, who had been vacationing in Iowa, journeyed to Arlington for their short visit before returning home to Dallas.

GAMES AND presents and cake made for a happy seventh birthday celebration for Scott Kenyon January 12. Enjoying all the party fun with Scott were his friends Andy Kanouse, Curt Lane, Scott Nielsen, Sharon and Carol Luker, Eddie Laue, Phillip and Bruce Carlson, and his sister, Kim. Grandmother, Mrs. W. C. Kenyon, from Chicago, shared the birthday celebration and was also a guest for birthday dinner with the family that night.

A real fun-filled weekend was enjoyed by Bill Raasch and Dick Evans this past week. The boys, who swim for the Portage Park team, were in Indianapolis for the AAU swim meet at the Riviera club. Bill's relay took a third place, and Dick's finished fourth. (A

Senior Citizens Organizing Club

Senior Citizens 2-36 bold

The Arlington Heights park district Senior Citizens club held its first get-together on January 9. A small but enthusiastic group attended the first meeting.

The group was entertained by the Arlington Barber Shop chorus and S. P. Mulley, a member of the group, showed his collection of colored slides entitled "Beautiful Chicago."

Bill Appleby, suerintendent of recreation for the park district, said the purpose of this first meeting was to determine the number of people interested in the program and the type of activities they would like to participate in.

THE OBJECT of the Park District in sponsoring this activity is to help the many elderly and retired men and women in Arlington Heights make better use of their leisure time. Appleby urges all those that would like to participate to call the park district office and give their name and address.

Any person 60 years and over who is a resident of the park district is elibible to attend. SECTION 7. From and after the date that this ordinance becomes effective all motor vehicle parking facilities of said Village of Arlington Heights, for the purpose of this ordinance, shall be operated on a fiscal year basis commencing on the first day of May and ending on the last day of April of each succeeding year and the entire revenues derived from the operation of said motor vehicle parking facilities of said Village shall be set aside as collected and be deposited in a separate fund designated as the "Parking System Revenue Fund of the Village of Arlington Heights," which said fund was heretofore created under the terms of Ordinance No. 958 adopted on August 21, 1956, and referred to in the preamble hereof and which said ordinance authorized the issuance of the Parking Revenue Bonds, Series 1956, of the Village which are now outstanding and which said fund shall be continued until such time as all the bonds herein provided to be issued shall have been paid in full both as to principal and interest or until provision for the payment thereof in full shall have been made or provided for and said fund shall be used only in paying the reasonable costs of the maintenance and operation of said motor vehicle parking facilities of said Village and paying the principal of an interest upon all revenue bonds of said Village of Arlington Heights which by their terms are payable solely from the revenues derived from the parking facilities of said Village and for the establishment, maintenance and continuation of the respective several accounts hereinafter described in Section 8 of this ordinance and which said several accounts of said "Parking System Revenue Fund of the Village of Arlington Heights" as so described in said Section 8 shall be continued until all the bonds authorized to be issued under the terms of this ordinance and the interest thereon shall have been paid in full or provision made for the payment thereof.

SECTION 8. That the five (5) separate accounts in said Parking System Revenue Fund, designated the "Operation and Maintenance Account," the "Bond and Interest Account," the "Bond Reserve Account," the "Replacement Account," and the "Surplus Account," established and described by said Ordinance No. 958 adopted on August 21, 1956, and authorized the issuance of the Parking Revenue Bonds, Series 1956, of said Village and now outstanding, shall be continued and maintained until such time as all the bonds authorized to be issued under the terms of this ordinance, including interest thereon to maturity, shall have been paid or provision made for the payment thereof, and into which such several accounts, there shall be deposited on the first business day of each month all monies held in the Parking System Revenue Fund, in accordance with the provisions of said Ordinance No. 958 and the following provisions, and in the order the accounts referred to are hereinafter mentioned:

(a) There first shall be credited in the Operation and Maintenance Account such a sum of money as is necessary to pay the reasonable cost of operating and maintaining said motor vehicle parking system under an efficient and economical management for the period of one month; which shall include, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, salaries, wages, cost of materials and supplies, purchase of power for lighting, insurance and all other expenses incidental to the operation and maintenance thereof. The Village covenants, however, that there will be charged to the Maintenance and Operation Account for police protection, enforcement and supervision of the motor vehicle parking facilities only those salaries and expenses of the Police Department necessarily required for enforcement, supervision and protection of said facilities.

(b) In addition to the credits required to be made to the Bond and Interest Account under the provisions of said Ordinance No. 958, above referred to, there shall be credited in the Bond and Interest Account, beginning February 1, 1961, and on the first business day of each month thereafter, an amount equal to one-third (1/3) of the interest on the bonds authorized by this ordinance becoming due on May 1, 1961, and on May 1, 1961 and on the first business day of each month thereafter, an amount equal to one-sixth (1/6) of the interest becoming due on the parking revenue bonds authorized by this ordinance on the next succeeding interest payment date; and beginning May 1, 1975, and on the first business day of each month thereafter, an amount at least equal to one-twelfth (1/12) of the principal becoming due on its outstanding parking revenue bonds authorized by this ordinance on the next succeeding principal payment date.

(c) That heretofore and pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of said Ordinance No. 958, above referred to, monthly credits had been made to the Bond Reserve Account and as of the date of the adoption of this ordinance, the total amount of $22,000 has heretofore been credited to and is presently to the credit of said Bond Reserve Account and beginning on February 1, 1961, credits to said Bond Reserve Account shall be resumed at the rate of $500 per month and shall continue to be made at the rate of $500 per month until an additional $8,000 has been credited to said Bond Reserve Account and such account will aggregate the sum of $30,000, and thereafter, no further amounts shall be credited to said Bond Reserve Account except that, whenever any money is paid out of said account, said credits to said account shall be resumed and continued at the rate of $500 per month until such time as said account has again been restored to the aggregate amount of $30,000.

The funds in said account shall be used and held for use and shall be withdrawn, from time to time, only for the purpose of paying principal of or interest on the bonds of said Village which by their terms are payable from the revenues of the motor vehicle parking system of said Village whenever there are insufficient funds on hand available for that purpose in the Bond Account, and it shall be the duty of the Treasurer or other fiscal officers of the Village to withdraw such funds from time to time for that purpose. Funds held in such account may be invested from time to time by said Village in interest bearing bonds or other direct and general obligations of the United States Government having maturities within the time such funds shall be needed, and such securities may be sold from time to time pursuant to resolution of the President and Board of Trustees as funds may be needed for the purpose for which said account was created and the proceeds derived from the sale of any such securities and any interest accrued on said securities shall be credited to said Bond Reserve Account.

(d) There next shall be credited to the Replacement Account, the sum of $300.00 each month until such time as said Account aggregates the sum of $18,000, which said monthly amount and said aggregate sum are inclusive of but not in addition to the amount required to be credited each month to said Replacement Account and to the aggregate amount required to be credited to said Account under the terms of said Ordinance No. 958 referred to in the preamble hereof, and after the total amount to the credit of said Account aggregates the sum of $18,000, no further amounts shall be credited to said Account except that, whenever any money is paid out of said Account, credits to said Account shall be resumed and continued at the monthly rate of $300.00 until such time as the Account has again been restored to the aggregate amount of $18,000. The funds of said Account shall be used and held for use and shall be withdrawn from said Account, from time to time, as ordered by resolution of the President and Board of Trustees, only for the purpose of replacing parking facilities or parking meters that have become obsolete, outworn or unusable, except that the funds held in said Account to the extent necessary to prevent or remedy a default in the payment of the interest on or principal of the bonds herein authorized shall be transferred to the Bond Account, and whenever such a transfer is made, the amount so transferred shall be added to the amounts to be next credited to said Replacement Account as herein required until full reimbursement to said Replacement Account has been made. Funds held in said Account may be invested from time to time by said Village in interest bearing bonds or other direct and general obligations of the United States Government having maturities within the time such funds shall be needed, and such securities may be sold from time to time pursuant to resolution of the President and Board of Trustees as funds may be needed for the purpose for which said account was created, and the proceeds derived from the sale of any such securities, and all interest accrued on said securities, shall be credited to said Replacement Account; and

(e) All monies remaining in the motor vehicle parking system fund of said Village at the end of any fiscal year, as established by Ordinance No. 958 and by this Ordinance, after crediting the required amounts in the accounts referred to and described in paragraphs (a) to (d), inclusive, as hereinabove set forth, shall be credited to the Surplus Account.

The funds of said Surplus Account shall be used at any time to make up any deficiencies in credits to any of the accounts referred to and described in paragraphs (a) to (d), inclusive, as hereinabove provided for, and if all credits required to have been made to said accounts have been made and there remain funds to the credit of said Surplus Account at any time, said funds may be used up to and including May 1, 1966, to pay the cost of improvements, enlargements or extensions of the parking facilities of said Village, or in lieu thereof may be used for the purchase in the open market of any of the outstanding Parking Revenue Bonds of said Village which by their terms are payable from the revenues derived from the operation of the parking facilities of said Village at a price of not to exceed the maximum redemption price thereof, plus accrued interest to date of payment, and any such bonds so purchased shall be cancelled and not reissued.

On and after May 1, 1966, the funds of said Surplus Account shall be used only in redeeming any outstanding Parking Revenue Bonds of said Village which by their terms are payable from the parking facilities of said Village as said bonds become redeemable at a price not to exceed the maximum redemption price thereof.

Funds in the Surplus Account may be invested from time to time by said Village in interest bearing bonds or other direct and general obligations of the United States Government, having maturities within the time such funds shall be needed, and such securities may be sold from time to time pursuant to resolution of the President and Board of Trustees as funds may be needed for the purpose for which said account was created. The proceeds derived from the sale of such securities and any interest accrued from such securities shall be credited to said Surplus Account.

SECTION 9. If within any month the revenues of said motor vehicle parking facilities are insufficient to credit the required amounts to any of said Accounts, the deficiency shall be made up the next following month or months after all credits into all Accounts enjoying a prior claim of revenues have been made in full.

Such registered bonds shall be transferable to another registered holder or back to the bearer only upon presentation to the Treasurer, with a legal assignment duly acknowledged or approved. Registration of any of such bonds shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons thereto attached, but such coupons shall be transferable by delivery merely.

SECTION 6. That said bonds and coupons shall be in substantially the following form:

SECTION 7. From and after the date that this ordinance becomes effective all motor vehicle parking facilities of said Village of Arlington Heights, for the purpose of this ordinance, shall be operated on a fiscal year basis commencing on the first day of May and ending on the last day of April of each succeeding year and the entire revenues derived from the operation of said motor vehicle parking facilities of said Village shall be set aside as collected and be deposited in a separate fund designated as the "Parking System Revenue Fund of the Village of Arlington Heights," which said fund was heretofore created under the terms of Ordinance No. 958 adopted on August 21, 1956, and referred to in the preamble hereof and which said ordinance authorized the issuance of the Parking Revenue Bonds, Series 1956, of the Village which are now outstanding and which said fund shall be continued until such time as all the bonds herein provided to be issued shall have been paid in full both as to principal and interest or until provision for the payment thereof in full shall have been made or provided for and said fund shall be used only in paying the reasonable costs of the maintenance and operation of said motor vehicle parking facilities of said Village and paying the principal of an interest upon all revenue bonds of said Village of Arlington Heights which by their terms are payable solely from the revenues derived from the parking facilities of said Village and for the establishment, maintenance and continuation of the respective several accounts hereinafter described in Section 8 of this ordinance and which said several accounts of said "Parking System Revenue Fund of the Village of Arlington Heights" as so described in said Section 8 shall be continued until all the bonds authorized to be issued under the terms of this ordinance and the interest thereon shall have been paid in full or provision made for the payment thereof.

SECTION 8. That the five (5) separate accounts in said Parking System Revenue Fund, designated the "Operation and Maintenance Account," the "Bond and Interest Account," the "Bond Reserve Account," the "Replacement Account," and the "Surplus Account," established and described by said Ordinance No. 958 adopted on August 21, 1956, and authorized the issuance of the Parking Revenue Bonds, Series 1956, of said Village and now outstanding, shall be continued and maintained until such time as all the bonds authorized to be issued under the terms of this ordinance, including interest thereon to maturity, shall have been paid or provision made for the payment thereof, and into which such several accounts, there shall be deposited on the first business day of each month all monies held in the Parking System Revenue Fund, in accordance with the provisions of said Ordinance No. 958 and the following provisions, and in the order the accounts referred to are hereinafter mentioned:

(a) There first shall be credited in the Operation and Maintenance Account such a sum of money as is necessary to pay the reasonable cost of operating and maintaining said motor vehicle parking system under an efficient and economical management for the period of one month; which shall include, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, salaries, wages, cost of materials and supplies, purchase of power for lighting, insurance and all other expenses incidental to the operation and maintenance thereof. The Village covenants, however, that there will be charged to the Maintenance and Operation Account for police protection, enforcement and supervision of the motor vehicle parking facilities only those salaries and expenses of the Police Department necessarily required for enforcement, supervision and protection of said facilities.

(b) In addition to the credits required to be made to the Bond and Interest Account under the provisions of said Ordinance No. 958, above referred to, there shall be credited in the Bond and Interest Account, beginning February 1, 1961, and on the first business day of each month thereafter, an amount equal to one-third (1/3) of the interest on the bonds authorized by this ordinance becoming due on May 1, 1961, and on May 1, 1961 and on the first business day of each month thereafter, an amount equal to one-sixth (1/6) of the interest becoming due on the parking revenue bonds authorized by this ordinance on the next succeeding interest payment date; and beginning May 1, 1975, and on the first business day of each month thereafter, an amount at least equal to one-twelfth (1/12) of the principal becoming due on its outstanding parking revenue bonds authorized by this ordinance on the next succeeding principal payment date.

(c) That heretofore and pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of said Ordinance No. 958, above referred to, monthly credits had been made to the Bond Reserve Account and as of the date of the adoption of this ordinance, the total amount of $22,000 has heretofore been credited to and is presently to the credit of said Bond Reserve Account and beginning on February 1, 1961, credits to said Bond Reserve Account shall be resumed at the rate of $500 per month and shall continue to be made at the rate of $500 per month until an additional $8,000 has been credited to said Bond Reserve Account and such account will aggregate the sum of $30,000, and thereafter, no further amounts shall be credited to said Bond Reserve Account except that, whenever any money is paid out of said account, said credits to said account shall be resumed and continued at the rate of $500 per month until such time as said account has again been restored to the aggregate amount of $30,000.

The funds in said account shall be used and held for use and shall be withdrawn, from time to time, only for the purpose of paying principal of or interest on the bonds of said Village which by their terms are payable from the revenues of the motor vehicle parking system of said Village whenever there are insufficient funds on hand available for that purpose in the Bond Account, and it shall be the duty of the Treasurer or other fiscal officers of the Village to withdraw such funds from time to time for that purpose. Funds held in such account may be invested from time to time by said Village in interest bearing bonds or other direct and general obligations of the United States Government having maturities within the time such funds shall be needed, and such securities may be sold from time to time pursuant to resolution of the President and Board of Trustees as funds may be needed for the purpose for which said account was created and the proceeds derived from the sale of any such securities and any interest accrued on said securities shall be credited to said Bond Reserve Account.

(d) There next shall be credited to the Replacement Account, the sum of $300.00 each month until such time as said Account aggregates the sum of $18,000, which said monthly amount and said aggregate sum are inclusive of but not in addition to the amount required to be credited each month to said Replacement Account and to the aggregate amount required to be credited to said Account under the terms of said Ordinance No. 958 referred to in the preamble hereof, and after the total amount to the credit of said Account aggregates the sum of $18,000, no further amounts shall be credited to said Account except that, whenever any money is paid out of said Account, credits to said Account shall be resumed and continued at the monthly rate of $300.00 until such time as the Account has again been restored to the aggregate amount of $18,000. The funds of said Account shall be used and held for use and shall be withdrawn from said Account, from time to time, as ordered by resolution of the President and Board of Trustees, only for the purpose of replacing parking facilities or parking meters that have become obsolete, outworn or unusable, except that the funds held in said Account to the extent necessary to prevent or remedy a default in the payment of the interest on or principal of the bonds herein authorized shall be transferred to the Bond Account, and whenever such a transfer is made, the amount so transferred shall be added to the amounts to be next credited to said Replacement Account as herein required until full reimbursement to said Replacement Account has been made. Funds held in said Account may be invested from time to time by said Village in interest bearing bonds or other direct and general obligations of the United States Government having maturities within the time such funds shall be needed, and such securities may be sold from time to time pursuant to resolution of the President and Board of Trustees as funds may be needed for the purpose for which said account was created, and the proceeds derived from the sale of any such securities, and all interest accrued on said securities, shall be credited to said Replacement Account; and

(e) All monies remaining in the motor vehicle parking system fund of said Village at the end of any fiscal year, as established by Ordinance No. 958 and by this Ordinance, after crediting the required amounts in the accounts referred to and described in paragraphs (a) to (d), inclusive, as hereinabove set forth, shall be credited to the Surplus Account.

The funds of said Surplus Account shall be used at any time to make up any deficiencies in credits to any of the accounts referred to and described in paragraphs (a) to (d), inclusive, as hereinabove provided for, and if all credits required to have been made to said accounts have been made and there remain funds to the credit of said Surplus Account at any time, said funds may be used up to and including May 1, 1966, to pay the cost of improvements, enlargements or extensions of the parking facilities of said Village, or in lieu thereof may be used for the purchase in the open market of any of the outstanding Parking Revenue Bonds of said Village which by their terms are payable from the revenues derived from the operation of the parking facilities of said Village at a price of not to exceed the maximum redemption price thereof, plus accrued interest to date of payment, and any such bonds so purchased shall be cancelled and not reissued.

On and after May 1, 1966, the funds of said Surplus Account shall be used only in redeeming any outstanding Parking Revenue Bonds of said Village which by their terms are payable from the parking facilities of said Village as said bonds become redeemable at a price not to exceed the maximum redemption price thereof.

Funds in the Surplus Account may be invested from time to time by said Village in interest bearing bonds or other direct and general obligations of the United States Government, having maturities within the time such funds shall be needed, and such securities may be sold from time to time pursuant to resolution of the President and Board of Trustees as funds may be needed for the purpose for which said account was created. The proceeds derived from the sale of such securities and any interest accrued from such securities shall be credited to said Surplus Account.

SECTION 9. If within any month the revenues of said motor vehicle parking facilities are insufficient to credit the required amounts to any of said Accounts, the deficiency shall be made up the next following month or months after all credits into all Accounts enjoying a prior claim of revenues have been made in full.

Social Deadline Caused by Unlikely Weather Combination

An unlikely combination of spring fever and the mid-winter doldrums hit Arlington Heights last week and is rumored to be the cause of an abrupt social decline. Despite April-like weather, or maybe because of it, almost no one went anywhere or celebrated anything, not even Friday the 13th. There were, of course, a few notables who took exception to the widespread ho-hum attitude.

The Carl Goodsmiths of Hollywood, Fla. and Mt. Clemens, Mich. delayed the post-holiday let-down for Mr. and Mrs. Larry Schwartz, 205 E. Euclid, with a recent "quickie" visit. The host couple met the Goodsmiths during a winter stay in Florida four years ago and the foursome has reconvened since, whenever possible.

A Saturday overnight stay with the Schwartzes began the reunion and a Monday morning breakfast at the Playboy club in Chicago ended it. In between was a cocktails-and-dinner party in the H. G. Unger home, 310 S. Dunton, where the Jack Wieses of Arlington Heights and the Al Fischers of Twin Lakes, Wis., joined Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz and their guests.

The Wieses and Schwartzes drove Mr. and Mrs. Goodsmith to Chicago after the Unger party and enjoyed with them the late evening and early morning fun featured at the Playboy club. After attending the business matters which prompted the Chicago trip, Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith returned to Michigan early last week.

MRS. HAROLD Jauch, 321 N. Derbyshire, received birthday congratulations Sunday at a dinner party in her honor given in the John Softy home, 317 N. Derbyshire. Joining Mrs. Jauch and her husband were other neighborhood friends, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perschbacher.

Another Sunday celebrant was Melvin Kurtz, 805 S. Mitchell, whose January 15 birthday was duly noted at a dinner for him and his family, given by Mrs. Alma Tesch, 507 N. State. Saturday evening the Kurtz family motored to Davis, Ill. to celebrate the birthday occasion with Mr. Kurtz' mother.

Sidelights
Of Arlington Heights

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Laurie Jean Peterson was 7 years old Saturday and celebrated at a party for seven in the Peterson home, 702 S. Highland. The afternoon of games and refreshments was just right for 7-year-olds who are now biding their time until they can celebrate the way Laurie's big sister Lynn did.

Lynn was 11 December 29 and not only had an afternoon of fun with four friends but had three of them for overnight guests. Laurie and friends are sure that a slumberless slumber party must be wonderful and they're quite willing to practice staying awake all night till they're 11. Lynn and company did not stay awake the whole night but admit giggling and nibbling away a good portion of it.

FIVE - YEAR - OLD Robert Clausing celebrated his January 8 birthday exactly one week late, but didn't mind the delay at all. A week ago Sunday he and the family were just returning from a holiday stay in California and this past Sunday was therefore much better for a family party. Fourteen relatives, including Grandma Martha Duensing of Chicago, were guests in the Clausing home, 913 S. Vail, to celebrate belatedly with the young traveller.

A couple of sports took in the International Sports show at Navy Pier Sunday in celebration of their almost - mutual birthdays. The junior Mirrell Kephart, 15 years old Sunday, and his dad, celebrating a January 12 birthday, congratulated each other between ogling the boats on display and wishing they were co-skippers of the biggest one.

The Norge ski meet in Fox River Grove also attracted a sports-minded crowd Sunday and among the local spectators were the Henry Wists, 837 S. Vail, with Barrington friends, the E. F. Fords.

MILWAUKEE visitors in the Michael Bergo home Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Serzen, enjoying the hospitality generated during the holidays and still going strong at 1041 S. Pine.

The previous weekend the Bergos were guests in the home of Mrs. Fred Ori in Wonder Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Blum, 615 S. Evergreen, hosted 18 relatives and friends of Mr. Blum's father, William, at a surprise party last Wednesday evening to celebrate the elder Blum's 70th birthday. A former Palatine resident, the guest of honor is now making his home with his son and family and despite being at the site of party preparations, was properly surprised at the goings-on in his honor.

SEVENTEEN neighborhood women Monday night showered Mrs. George Carelly with baby gifts at a party given by Mrs. William Bolash and Mrs. Robert Tibbetts in the Bolash home, 719 N. Forrest. Late in November the Carellys became parents of a prematurely-born baby girl, Susan, and Monday's party was celebration as well as shower: Susan has won the fight for the necessary five pounds an infant must weigh before going home.

The neighborhood, via the shower, welcomed the newcomer to 901 N. Forrest and shared the joy of her homecoming.

WEEKEND GUESTS of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker, 115 S. Brighton, were their former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Danner of Columbus, Ind.

Mrs. W. A. Miles spent three weeks in Arlington, Va., visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Col. and Mrs. Fred K. Durni. Mrs. Mills, a long time resident of Stonegate, recently moved to an apartment in town.

Mrs. Lester Schreiber entertained at a luncheon last Thursday in her home, 123 S. Brighton, for St. Olaf college friends.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bredehoft, 201 Wilshire, joined their neighbors, the Charles O. Bennetts, in Chicago last Thursday for a performance of "A Majority of One" and at a family dinner party in the Bredehoft home. Sunday, birthday congratulations were offered to their son, Bill, on his 16th birthday, and for their guest and long time friend, Miss Virginia Booth of Barrington, who was also celebrating a January birthday.

MRS. CHARLES Barton, 321 S. Windsor, gave a coffee last Thursday morning to welcome two new neighbors, the Ray Fredericks and the John Gillens, both of whom recently moved to S. Windsor dr. in Stonegate.

Charles Coleman of Charlevoix, Mich., is spending 10 days in Arlington Heights, visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Carey, 220 S. Drury.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hamilton, 111 S. Dryden, entertained at a buffet supper and bridge Saturday.

Miss Jean Rose left for Los Angeles Saturday, after spending a month in Arlington Heights visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rose, 1300 Mayfair.

Here with Miss Rose during the last week of her visit, was Miss Nancy McGee, who shares an apartment in Los Angeles with Jean. Both girls, who made social service work their career, attended the Settlement Workers seminar at Hull House last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jirgal, 428 S. Windsor, gave a small cocktail and dinner party last weekend for Mr. and Mrs. Howard Farrell of Madison, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McQuillon, 760 S. Belmont, returned Friday from a 3-week vacation in Orlando Beach, Fla.

HAVING MADE no special plans for her January 16 birthday, Mrs. Edward Fletcher was delighted when a group of her Scarsdale neighbors arrived at her home at 625 Burton, Monday morning to fete her at a surprise breakfast.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Goldthwaite, 426 E. Park, spent the weekend in Elkhart, Ind., visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Martell and the grandchildren, Danny and Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wickens, 819 E. Park, and Mr. Wicken's mother, Mrs. Olive Wickens, returned last week from a 3-week visit in Spain. Highlight of their trip was being united with their daughter, Pam, for the Christmas holidays. Pam, a Dennison university student, is spending her junior year at the University of Madrid and lives with a Spanish family. During their stay, the Wickens took extensive sightseeing tours through southern Spain visiting points of interest in Seville, Granada, Cordoba and Toledo.

MARGARET HERMES, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hermes, 717 Mayfair, marked her ninth birthday January 8 with a luncheon for nine friends, which was followed by a performance of the Village Theatre children's play, "Rapunzel and the Witch."

Many happy returns to Miss Carol Clarke, who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Clarke of Waycindin Park, and her brother, Jeffrey, and sister, Mary, were guests at a birthday dinner Sunday in the home of her aunt and uncle, the Charles H. Oestmanns, 320 S. Burton.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cherry, 353 S. Belmont, gave a dinner party for their weekend guests, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Earle of Minneapolis. Afterwards, the Earles left for Chicago, where they are attending the American Institute of Decorators meeting at the Merchandise Mart.

(c) The Village will not permit free parking, except as in (b) above, or service to be supplied by the system to the Village or any department thereof or to any person, firm or corporation, public or private, or to any public agency or instrumentality, and all persons using any part of the system for the parking of vehicles shall pay for such services the established rate or charge;

(d) That the Village will establish such rules and regulations for the control and operation of said facilities necessary for the efficient and economical operation thereof, and rates and charges shall be fixed and revised from time to time as may be necessary to produce funds sufficient for all the purposes herein provided;

(e) That the Village will establish such rules and regulations as to the use of any such parking facilities to assure the maximum use or occupancy thereof;

(f) That so long as any of the bonds authorized herein are outstanding the Village will maintain and carry adequate public liability insurance against claims arising out of the operation of the parking facilities. (g) That the Village will maintain parking meters and collect rates therefrom in the manner required by this ordinance on all public streets where such parking meters are presently located as of the date of the passage of this ordinance, and on such streets and in off-street parking lots where parking meters or other coin collection facilities shall hereafter be located until all of the bonds authorized by this ordinance have been paid in full, both as to principal and interest; provided, however, this covenant shall not be construed to prohibit necessary changes in the location of such parking meters made necessary by street widening or street closings or substitution or changes in the location of parking meters to provide essential and necessary traffic regulation and control, provided such change will not lessen the then current income and revenue to be derived from such meters or impair the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds authorized;

(h) That the Village will maintain and keep proper books of records and accounts (separate from all other records and accounts of said Village) in which complete entries shall be made of all transactions relating to the said parking facilities, including number of meters in service on-street and off-street at year's end, and said Village hereby covenants that it will cause the books and accounts of said parking facilities to be audited annually by certified public accountants and within not more than thirty days after the close of each fiscal year will file with JOHN NUVEEN & CO. the original purchaser of said bonds, complete operating income statements of said facilities in reasonable detail covering such fiscal year and will furnish upon written request not more than thirty days after the close of each fiscal year copies of such operations and income statements to any holder of any of said bonds and will permit JOHN NUVEEN & CO., or any holder or holders to inspect at all reasonable times said parking facilities and all records and accounts and data relating thereto, and to furnish to JOHN NUVEEN & CO., or any holder or holders of said bonds then outstanding all data and information relating to said facilities which may be reasonably requested;

(j) Any holder of a bond or bonds or any of the coupons of any bond or bonds issued hereunder may either in law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceeding enforce or compel performance of all duties required by this ordinance, including the making and collection of sufficient charges and rates for the use of said motor vehicle parking facilities, and the application of the income and revenue therefrom.

SECTION 11. That it is hereby covenanted and agreed that while any of such bonds herein authorized to be issued are outstanding, no prior lien bonds or other obligations payable from the income and revenue derived and to be derived from the operation of the motor vehicle parking facilities as herein defined shall be issued; equal lien bonds may not be issued unless (1) average annual net revenues derived from the motor vehicle parking system for the two preceding fiscal years are equal to not less than one and one-half times the average annual requirements for principal of and interest on all bonds then outstanding payable from the revenues of the said facilities and on such additional bonds or other obligations proposed to be issued, (net revenues shall be computed by deducting all costs of operation and maintenance for the fiscal year from the gross revenues derived from the operation of the motor vehicle parking system for such fiscal year) and (2) all monthly credits to the Bond Reserve Account and Replacement Account have been made during said fiscal year as specified in Section 8 above.

Notwithstanding the restrictions upon the issue of bonds or other obligations as hereinabove provided, said Village shall have the power and reserves the right to issue bonds to refund part of the bonds hereby authorized with the consent of the holders thereof, and such refunding bonds shall share ratably and equally in the revenues derived and to be derived from said motor vehicle parking facilities and in the pledge thereof made under this ordinance with the bonds hereby authorized that are not refunded, provided that if less than all of said bonds then outstanding are refunded in such manner that the interest rate is increased or the refunding bonds mature at a date earlier than the maturity of the bonds not refunded then such refunding bonds shall not share ratably and equally in said revenues of such motor vehicle parking facilities with the unrefunded bonds remaining outstanding, but in such case the pledge of revenues to the payment of such refunding bonds shall be junior and subordinate to the pledge of the revenues for the payment of the unrefunded bonds herein authorized, unless the holders of such unrefunded bonds consent in writing to the maturities and to the interest rate or rates of such proposed refunding bonds.

SECTION 12. The provisions of this ordinance shall constitute a contract between the Village of Arlington Heights and the holders of the bonds herein authorized to be issued, and after the issuance of the bonds no changes, additions or alterations of any kind shall be made to this ordinance in any manner except in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance, or until such time as all of said bonds issued hereunder and the interest thereon shall be paid in full, or unless and until provision shall have been made for the payment of all of said bonds and interest thereon in full.

SECTION 13. That as soon as may be after this ordinance becomes effective, said bonds shall be executed and delivered by the Treasurer of said Village to the purchaser thereof, namely, JOHN NUVEEN & CO., of Chicago, Illinois, at a price in accordance with its proposal, the same being $970.00 for each $1,000 bond, and accrued interest from the date thereof to date of delivery, the interest cost of such purchase price being such that it does not exceed six (6%) per centum per annum, based on the average maturity of such bonds and computed according to standard tables of bond values, all in accordance with the proposal of said purchaser for the purchase thereof, which has been accepted and approved.

SECTION 14. That the proceeds derived from the sale of bonds authorized hereby shall be used solely for the acquisition and improvement of the motor vehicle parking facilities herein described, all in accordance with plans and specifications therefor, heretofore approved by the President and Board of Trustees, and now on file in the Office of the Village Clerk for public inspection. Any surplus bond proceeds remaining after completion of said improvement shall be transferred to the Bond and Interest Account and applied only toward the payment of principal of and interest on the bonds hereby authorized to be issued.

SECTION 15. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 16. That this ordinance after its passage and approval by the President shall be published in THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS HERALD, a newspaper published and of general circulation in said Village and shall be in full force and effect as provided by law.

VIRGINIA TERRACE

With this last reference to the holiday season, it was truly their most joyous, report Angela and Emil Piscopo, 1325 N. Race, as December 8 they were able to welcome into their home Anna Marie, 2, and Michael Angelo, 1. Present for the children's first Christmas in their new home was their paternal grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Piscopo, Chicago.

Saturday was a full day for Dorothy and Richard Kirstein, 1310 Jo lane, as they celebrated, individually, the birthdays of their son, Ricky, and daughter, Donna Lyn. A luncheon party attended by cowboys Kevin Weiderhold, Kevin Corley, Stephen Balow and Steve Von Ebers and cowgirl Donna Lyn, all of whom were attired in western regalia, was given for Ricky, 7 January 16. The children were served lunch chuckwagon style, played western type games, for which Steve Von Ebers was awarded a prize, and, of course, his cake bore out the western theme, too.

Later in the afternoon, Donna Lyn, 5, January 17, was guest of honor at a dolly tea party, with each of the guests, among whom were Cheryl and Wendy Bloom, Carolyn Slaughter, Debbie Bang and Lori Martin, bringing her favorite doll to share in the fun. Games, with Cheryl Bloom a prize winner, dolly item favors and a ballerina doll cake all combined to make her fifth birthday a memorable occasion.

THE Kirsteins were hosts over the weekend to the children's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lierman, Bloomington, Ill., to be present for all the festivities, which included a birthday dinner party Sunday, which was also attended by Ricky and Donna's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Jordan, Waukegan.

Baby gifts were the center of attraction Wednesday night at a surprise stork shower given for Isabel Chodera in the home of Diane Moser, 1418 N. Illinois, whose cohostesses were Terrace neighbors Ann Brown and Nancy Grassly. Among those admiring the lullabye tree centerpiece adorning the buffet service were Isabel's mother, Mrs. Peter Sampou, Carpentersville, mother-in-law, Mrs. John Chodera, Park Ridge, Mrs. David Yeats, Palatine, Mrs. Charles Mikuta, Inverness, and neighborhood friends, Mrs. Gordon Martin and Mrs. John Miller, both of Sherwood, as well as Sandy Mullins, Jeanette Gaffney, Olive Balow, Bunny Reinhardt and Ruth Randle of the Terrace.

Marian and Ed Nielsen, 1252 N. Illinois, enjoyed an evening out with friends from Mount Prospect last Friday by attending the Scottish Rite evening of entertainment at Medinah temple in Chicago, following which the couples went on to have dinner.

Sunday the Nielsens, including Brad, who was celebrating his 13th birthday, and his brother, Scott, spent a busy day doing things as per Brad's wishes. Following church services, the family enjoyed a brunch before going on to visit the Museums of Natural History and Science and Industry. The day was concluded with a special birthday dinner out.

CINDY, daughter of Jeanette and Bill Gaffney, 1405 N. Illinois, spent last week in her paternal grandparent's home in Rockford, that of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gaffney. Although Cindy was 4 January 12, the family birthday dinner party wasn't held until Saturday, when her parents and sisters, Patty and Kelly, as well as aunts, uncles and cousins, were able to be present. A special treat was extended to Cindy, that of remaining another week with her grandparents, with Patty staying on, too, to keep her company.

A long over-due get together finally took place Saturday night in the home of Mary Lou and James Charleston, 1333 N. Chicago, when they were able to enjoy a visit with former Terrace neighbors, Mary and Dan Healy, Arlington Heights, and Val and John Bickley, Mount Prospect. Beside catching up on the latest news of one another, the guests enjoyed a late buffet snack.

With a toboggan party in the offing if and when we ever have snow, Pam, daughter of Jackie and Joe Koenig, 1255 N. Chicago, was content to celebrate her 12th birthday January 13 at a family dinner party, with her brothers, Bobby, Tommy and Kenny, lending assistance in blowing out the birthday candles.

Friends and neighbors of Doris and Dee Gehrig, until recently of 1219 N. Race, and who now live in Springfield, will be glad to know that they became parents of a son last Saturday. The baby has a sister, Donna, 2.

Julie, daughter of Carol and Bill Narup, 1207 N. Race, 1, January 13, was honored at a family dinner party Sunday. Present to share her birthday cake and ice cream were her sister, Cathy, brother, Scott, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thorlief Narup and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Petersen, all of Park Ridge, and maternal greatgrandmother, Mrs. Herbert Norton, Chicago.

A COMPANY transfer is prompting the move Friday for Betty and Charles Oman, 1239 N. Illinois, and their children, Chuckie, Nancy, Robert and Stephen, to Connecticut. Although their friends here will miss them all, they wish them luck and happiness, and realize they will be happier being close to their families in Boston.

Theresa, daughter of Anne and Fred Miller, 1256 N. Illinois, was guest of honor January 13 at a dinner party. Beside her sisters, Mary Anthony, Elizabeth and Laura, brothers, Freddie and Billy, guests Brad and Scott Nielsen wished her a happy fifth birthday over their share of the birthday cake and ice cream. Saturday, the Millers enjoyed another birthday celebration in the home of Theresa's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Frank, Chicago.

The January get together of a Terrace bridge group, consisting of Jane Coleman, Mary Louise Burkhardt, Mary Funk, Janice Borland, Marva Kuhl, Rite Talaber and Kathleen Dunne, met recently in the home of Eileen Brown, 1504 W. Oakton. The girls enjoyed dessert and coffee and congratulated top scorer, Rita Talaber. (A

When the Kenneth Huggs, 1007 N. Chicago, learned that her brother was being transferred from Connecticut to Minnesota, they were delighted, for it meant that part of the family was moving to the midwest and chances of seeing more of them were greater than when they were in the east. Betty and Louis Fox spent the night with the Huggs last week, and brought them up to date on their plans which include settling in a suburb of Minneapolis.

The year has started out fine for the Basil Butts, 916 N. Salem, and their son, Don and his wife. Don was released from the navy January 3 and is already working here in Arlington Heights. His parents are also happy that their son and daughter-in-law have decided to settle here.

Last Tuesday, Charlotte Ronayne, 1011 N. Kennicott, had a welcome coffee to introduce newcomer Jane Klein to her neighbors. Claire Remer was there, as well as Mickey Kubik, Jean Kunberger, Madeline Keller, Joyce Lauer, Nan Stocking, Dorothy Cryer, Lu Hostler and Betty Dunn. Jane and Al Klein moved to 1003 N. Kennicott from Chicago two weeks ago. Al is a metallurgist with American Can company in Barrington and finds it a real convenience living so close to his work. Four children help make up the family; Steve, 5, already at home in the morning kindergarten session at Ridge school, Karen, 4, Danny, 2 and Chuckie, 11 months.

WORD comes from Mary and Jack Meade, who formerly lived in the Klein house, that they had a trip home to Massachusetts for the holidays and talked with the Kent Robinsons while there. Mary says there are several playmates for the children and that they have adjusted well to Charlestown, Ind.

Ann and Joe Pecoraro, 727 N. Kennicott, attended a dinner at the Ambassador East hotel last Wednesday given by the Mount Prospect shopping center for the village officials and the new tenants of the center. They were joined by the Charles O'Dors for the evening. Joe is a Mount Prospect building inspector. Ann decided that before she returned to work the first of next month she would get a little entertaining done. So last Thursday they entertained three couples for dinner. Because it was too cold to barbecue outdoors, they did it inside and received many applauds for their efforts.

While Jim Spiel, Bob Balfour, Richard Ketza, Joe Numbers and Alex Schoenmeyer were bowling in the Paddock tournament Sunday at Rolling Meadows, their wives were sitting on the sidelines cheering them on. The crowds didn't seem to bother Jim—he bowled like an expert.

The Lawrence Gieslers, 816 N. Ridge, attended a dinner dance at the Conrad Hilton hotel last Saturday evening given by the 40 and 8 of the American Legion. Mr Geisler is a member of the 40 and 8 and is also a lieutenant in the color guard. Besides dancing, Mrs. Geisler says they also had a floor show with a wide variety of acts.

Wednesday evening Doris and Cas Nastal and their boys 701 N. Kennicott, drove out to Cary to visit her mother and his family to deliver a belated birthday gift.

BECAUSE Bill Griffith, 625 N. Kaspar, won a contest last November for life insurance protection, he and Ruth were treated to dinner for two at Radigans, near Kenosha, last Wednesday evening. The agency manager from Evanston and another couple, also lucky winners, joined Ruth and Bill for the evening.

On his way to Coronado, Cal. Com George Kunberger stopped to visit his brother and family for a few days. The Harry Kunbergers, 926 N. Kennicott, had been expecting him to pass through Chicago on his way to Coronado, where he will receive training before he is made commander of a squadron in Whidbey, Wash.

While the Kaspar ave. folks were New Year's Eve partying, someone mentioned a hayride and the idea caught on. They didn't realize they could go on a hayride in the middle of January, but they did, last Saturday night. The Ray Howes, Thad Ostrowskis, Gene Barnes, Elmer Sowkas, Dick Sorensens, Wally Pilips, Jim Shields, Roy Martins, the Roy Winkelmans and Eleanor Pemberton and Tom Thompson drove out to Pine Tree Stables where a wagon was waiting for them piled high with hay. They all piled atop the hay and rode out to Half Day inn. An orchestra was playing and those who just can't keep their feet still when there's music in the air danced until it was time to leave. They rode back to the stables, picked up their cars and headed for Bette and Ray's house where they continued the party in the basement. Bette served barbecued beef and all the trimmings and everyone did justice to the buffet after having their appetites sharpened during the hayride.

FROM SHERWOOD

The W. L. Johnsons, 1308 Watling, are back home after spending the holidays in Greenwich, Conn. with their daughter and her family, Rev. and Mrs. William J. Murphey. Coming home, they stopped to see former Arlington Heighters, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mills, in Pittsburgh.

Friday the 13th was also Alan Carlson's 13th birthday and the day the seventh graders at South junior high had their Crystal ball. After the dance, Alan took Craig Elstee Jim Auld and John Moore to O'Hare inn for refreshments to continue celebrating his birthday. Alan is the son of the T. C. Carlsons, 1314 N. Harvard.

Mrs. E. J. Koester, 111 Watling, had a welcome coffee for two Sherwood newcomers last Friday night: Mrs. Frank Sulley and Mrs. Wallace Olson. The Sulleys have already been welcomed to Arlington Heights through this column, but the Olsons have not. They moved to 1219 Watling from LaCrosse, Wis. three weeks ago, this being a transfer for Mr. Olson, who is manager of the Chicago office of Alexander Grant and company. The Olson children are Steven, 16, and Richard, 15, both at Arlington High; Jane, 11, at South junior high; and Ellen, 7, at Ridge school A

Of Arlington Heights

An unlikely combination of spring fever and the mid-winter doldrums hit Arlington Heights last week and is rumored to be the cause of an abrupt social decline. Despite April-like weather, or maybe because of it, almost no one went anywhere or celebrated anything, not even Friday the 13th. There were, of course, a few notables who took exception to the widespread ho-hum attitude.

The Carl Goodsmiths of Hollywood, Fla. and Mt. Clemens, Mich. delayed the post-holiday let-down for Mr. and Mrs. Larry Schwartz, 205 E. Euclid, with a recent "quickie" visit. The host couple met the Goodsmiths during a winter stay in Florida four years ago and the foursome has reconvened since, whenever possible.

A Saturday overnight stay with the Schwartzes began the reunion and a Monday morning breakfast at the Playboy club in Chicago ended it. In between was a cocktails-and-dinner party in the H. G. Unger home, 310 S. Dunton, where the Jack Wieses of Arlington Heights and the Al Fischers of Twin Lakes, Wis., joined Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz and their guests.

The Wieses and Schwartzes drove Mr. and Mrs. Goodsmith to Chicago after the Unger party and enjoyed with them the late evening and early morning fun featured at the Playboy club. After attending the business matters which prompted the Chicago trip, Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith returned to Michigan early last week.

MRS. HAROLD Jauch, 321 N. Derbyshire, received birthday congratulations Sunday at a dinner party in her honor given in the John Softy home, 317 N. Derbyshire. Joining Mrs. Jauch and her husband were other neighborhood friends, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perschbacher.

Another Sunday celebrant was Melvin Kurtz, 805 S. Mitchell, whose January 15 birthday was duly noted at a dinner for him and his family, given by Mrs. Alma Tesch, 507 N. State. Saturday evening the Kurtz family motored to Davis, Ill. to celebrate the birthday occasion with Mr. Kurtz' mother.

Laurie Jean Peterson was 7 years old Saturday and celebrated at a party for seven in the Peterson home, 702 S. Highland. The afternoon of games and refreshments was just right for 7-year-olds who are now biding their time until they can celebrate the way Laurie's big sister Lynn did.

Lynn was 11 December 29 and not only had an afternoon of fun with four friends but had three of them for overnight guests. Laurie and friends are sure that a slumberless slumber party must be wonderful and they're quite willing to practice staying awake all night till they're 11. Lynn and company did not stay awake the whole night but admit giggling and nibbling away a good portion of it.

FIVE - YEAR - OLD Robert Clausing celebrated his January 8 birthday exactly one week late, but didn't mind the delay at all. A week ago Sunday he and the family were just returning from a holiday stay in California and this past Sunday was therefore much better for a family party. Fourteen relatives, including Grandma Martha Duensing of Chicago, were guests in the Clausing home, 913 S. Vail, to celebrate belatedly with the young traveller.

A couple of sports took in the International Sports show at Navy Pier Sunday in celebration of their almost - mutual birthdays. The junior Mirrell Kephart, 15 years old Sunday, and his dad, celebrating a January 12 birthday, congratulated each other between ogling the boats on display and wishing they were co-skippers of the biggest one.

The Norge ski meet in Fox River Grove also attracted a sports-minded crowd Sunday and among the local spectators were the Henry Wists, 837 S. Vail, with Barrington friends, the E. F. Fords.

MILWAUKEE visitors in the Michael Bergo home Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Serzen, enjoying the hospitality generated during the holidays and still going strong at 1041 S. Pine. The previous weekend the Bergos were guests in the home of Mrs. Fred Ori in Wonder Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Blum, 615 S. Evergreen, hosted 18 relatives and friends of Mr. Blum's father, William, at a surprise party last Wednesday evening to celebrate the elder Blum's 70th birthday. A former Palatine resident, the guest of honor is now making his home with his son and family and despite being at the site of party preparations, was properly surprised at the goings-on in his honor.

SEVENTEEN neighborhood women Monday night showered Mrs. George Carelly with baby gifts at a party given by Mrs. William Bolash and Mrs. Robert Tibbetts in the Bolash home, 719 N. Forrest. Late in November the Carellys became parents of a prematurely-born baby girl, Susan, and Monday's party was celebration as well as shower: Susan has won the fight for the necessary five pounds an infant must weigh before going home.

The neighborhood, via the shower, welcomed the newcomer to 901 N. Forrest and shared the joy of her homecoming.

WEEKEND GUESTS of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker, 115 S. Brighton, were their former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Danner of Columbus, Ind.

Mrs. W. A. Miles spent three weeks in Arlington, Va., visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Col. and Mrs. Fred K. Durni. Mrs. Mills, a long time resident of Stonegate, recently moved to an apartment in town.

Mrs. Lester Schreiber entertained at a luncheon last Thursday in her home, 123 S. Brighton, for St. Olaf college friends.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bredehoft, 201 Wilshire, joined their neighbors, the Charles O. Bennetts, in Chicago last Thursday for a performance of "A Majority of One" and at a family dinner party in the Bredehoft home. Sunday, birthday congratulations were offered to their son, Bill, on his 16th birthday, and for their guest and long time friend, Miss Virginia Booth of Barrington, who was also celebrating a January birthday.

MRS. CHARLES Barton, 321 S. Windsor, gave a coffee last Thursday morning to welcome two new neighbors, the Ray Fredericks and the John Gillens, both of whom recently moved to S. Windsor dr. in Stonegate.

Charles Coleman of Charlevoix, Mich., is spending 10 days in Arlington Heights, visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Carey, 220 S. Drury.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hamilton, 111 S. Dryden, entertained at a buffet supper and bridge Saturday.

Miss Jean Rose left for Los Angeles Saturday, after spending a month in Arlington Heights visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rose, 1300 Mayfair.

Here with Miss Rose during the last week of her visit, was Miss Nancy McGee, who shares an apartment in Los Angeles with Jean. Both girls, who made social service work their career, attended the Settlement Workers seminar at Hull House last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jirgal, 428 S. Windsor, gave a small cocktail and dinner party last weekend for Mr. and Mrs. Howard Farrell of Madison, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McQuillon, 760 S. Belmont, returned Friday from a 3-week vacation in Orlando Beach, Fla.

HAVING MADE no special plans for her January 16 birthday, Mrs. Edward Fletcher was delighted when a group of her Scarsdale neighbors arrived at her home at 625 Burton, Monday morning to fete her at a surprise breakfast.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Goldthwaite, 426 E. Park, spent the weekend in Elkhart, Ind., visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Martell and the grandchildren, Danny and Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wickens, 819 E. Park, and Mr. Wicken's mother, Mrs. Olive Wickens, returned last week from a 3-week visit in Spain. Highlight of their trip was being united with their daughter, Pam, for the Christmas holidays. Pam, a Dennison university student, is spending her junior year at the University of Madrid and lives with a Spanish family. During their stay, the Wickens took extensive sightseeing tours through southern Spain visiting points of interest in Seville, Granada, Cordoba and Toledo.

MARGARET HERMES, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hermes, 717 Mayfair, marked her ninth birthday January 8 with a luncheon for nine friends, which was followed by a performance of the Village Theatre children's play, "Rapunzel and the Witch."

Richard E. Down, received birthday congratulations at a dinner party Sunday in the Down home, 230 Bristol. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph of Antioch and their daughter, Laura.

Many happy returns to Miss Carol Clarke, who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Clarke of Waycindin Park, and her brother, Jeffrey, and sister, Mary, were guests at a birthday dinner Sunday in the home of her aunt and uncle, the Charles H. Oestmanns, 320 S. Burton.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cherry, 353 S. Belmont, gave a dinner party for their weekend guests, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Earle of Minneapolis. Afterwards, the Earles left for Chicago, where they are attending the American Institute of Decorators meeting at the Merchandise Mart.

(e) That the Village will establish such rules and regulations as to the use of any such parking facilities to assure the maximum use or occupancy thereof;

(f) That so long as any of the bonds authorized herein are outstanding the Village will maintain and carry adequate public liability insurance against claims arising out of the operation of the parking facilities. (h) That the Village will maintain and keep proper books of records and accounts (separate from all other records and accounts of said Village) in which complete entries shall be made of all transactions relating to the said parking facilities, including number of meters in service on-street and off-street at year's end, and said Village hereby covenants that it will cause the books and accounts of said parking facilities to be audited annually by certified public accountants and within not more than thirty days after the close of each fiscal year will file with JOHN NUVEEN & CO. the original purchaser of said bonds, complete operating income statements of said facilities in reasonable detail covering such fiscal year and will furnish upon written request not more than thirty days after the close of each fiscal year copies of such operations and income statements to any holder of any of said bonds and will permit JOHN NUVEEN & CO., or any holder or holders to inspect at all reasonable times said parking facilities and all records and accounts and data relating thereto, and to furnish to JOHN NUVEEN & CO., or any holder or holders of said bonds then outstanding all data and information relating to said facilities which may be reasonably requested;

SECTION 11. That it is hereby covenanted and agreed that while any of such bonds herein authorized to be issued are outstanding, no prior lien bonds or other obligations payable from the income and revenue derived and to be derived from the operation of the motor vehicle parking facilities as herein defined shall be issued; equal lien bonds may not be issued unless (1) average annual net revenues derived from the motor vehicle parking system for the two preceding fiscal years are equal to not less than one and one-half times the average annual requirements for principal of and interest on all bonds then outstanding payable from the revenues of the said facilities and on such additional bonds or other obligations proposed to be issued, (net revenues shall be computed by deducting all costs of operation and maintenance for the fiscal year from the gross revenues derived from the operation of the motor vehicle parking system for such fiscal year) and (2) all monthly credits to the Bond Reserve Account and Replacement Account have been made during said fiscal year as specified in Section 8 above.

Notwithstanding the restrictions upon the issue of bonds or other obligations as hereinabove provided, said Village shall have the power and reserves the right to issue bonds to refund part of the bonds hereby authorized with the consent of the holders thereof, and such refunding bonds shall share ratably and equally in the revenues derived and to be derived from said motor vehicle parking facilities and in the pledge thereof made under this ordinance with the bonds hereby authorized that are not refunded, provided that if less than all of said bonds then outstanding are refunded in such manner that the interest rate is increased or the refunding bonds mature at a date earlier than the maturity of the bonds not refunded then such refunding bonds shall not share ratably and equally in said revenues of such motor vehicle parking facilities with the unrefunded bonds remaining outstanding, but in such case the pledge of revenues to the payment of such refunding bonds shall be junior and subordinate to the pledge of the revenues for the payment of the unrefunded bonds herein authorized, unless the holders of such unrefunded bonds consent in writing to the maturities and to the interest rate or rates of such proposed refunding bonds.

SECTION 12. The provisions of this ordinance shall constitute a contract between the Village of Arlington Heights and the holders of the bonds herein authorized to be issued, and after the issuance of the bonds no changes, additions or alterations of any kind shall be made to this ordinance in any manner except in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance, or until such time as all of said bonds issued hereunder and the interest thereon shall be paid in full, or unless and until provision shall have been made for the payment of all of said bonds and interest thereon in full.

SECTION 13. That as soon as may be after this ordinance becomes effective, said bonds shall be executed and delivered by the Treasurer of said Village to the purchaser thereof, namely, JOHN NUVEEN & CO., of Chicago, Illinois, at a price in accordance with its proposal, the same being $970.00 for each $1,000 bond, and accrued interest from the date thereof to date of delivery, the interest cost of such purchase price being such that it does not exceed six (6%) per centum per annum, based on the average maturity of such bonds and computed according to standard tables of bond values, all in accordance with the proposal of said purchaser for the purchase thereof, which has been accepted and approved.

SECTION 14. That the proceeds derived from the sale of bonds authorized hereby shall be used solely for the acquisition and improvement of the motor vehicle parking facilities herein described, all in accordance with plans and specifications therefor, heretofore approved by the President and Board of Trustees, and now on file in the Office of the Village Clerk for public inspection. Any surplus bond proceeds remaining after completion of said improvement shall be transferred to the Bond and Interest Account and applied only toward the payment of principal of and interest on the bonds hereby authorized to be issued.

SECTION 15. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 16. That this ordinance after its passage and approval by the President shall be published in THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS HERALD, a newspaper published and of general circulation in said Village and shall be in full force and effect as provided by law.

VIRGINIA TERRACE

With this last reference to the holiday season, it was truly their most joyous, report Angela and Emil Piscopo, 1325 N. Race, as December 8 they were able to welcome into their home Anna Marie, 2, and Michael Angelo, 1. Present for the children's first Christmas in their new home was their paternal grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Piscopo, Chicago.

Saturday was a full day for Dorothy and Richard Kirstein, 1310 Jo lane, as they celebrated, individually, the birthdays of their son, Ricky, and daughter, Donna Lyn. A luncheon party attended by cowboys Kevin Weiderhold, Kevin Corley, Stephen Balow and Steve Von Ebers and cowgirl Donna Lyn, all of whom were attired in western regalia, was given for Ricky, 7 January 16. The children were served lunch chuckwagon style, played western type games, for which Steve Von Ebers was awarded a prize, and, of course, his cake bore out the western theme, too.

Later in the afternoon, Donna Lyn, 5, January 17, was guest of honor at a dolly tea party, with each of the guests, among whom were Cheryl and Wendy Bloom, Carolyn Slaughter, Debbie Bang and Lori Martin, bringing her favorite doll to share in the fun. Games, with Cheryl Bloom a prize winner, dolly item favors and a ballerina doll cake all combined to make her fifth birthday a memorable occasion.

THE Kirsteins were hosts over the weekend to the children's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lierman, Bloomington, Ill., to be present for all the festivities, which included a birthday dinner party Sunday, which was also attended by Ricky and Donna's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Jordan, Waukegan.

Baby gifts were the center of attraction Wednesday night at a surprise stork shower given for Isabel Chodera in the home of Diane Moser, 1418 N. Illinois, whose cohostesses were Terrace neighbors Ann Brown and Nancy Grassly. Among those admiring the lullabye tree centerpiece adorning the buffet service were Isabel's mother, Mrs. Peter Sampou, Carpentersville, mother-in-law, Mrs. John Chodera, Park Ridge, Mrs. David Yeats, Palatine, Mrs. Charles Mikuta, Inverness, and neighborhood friends, Mrs. Gordon Martin and Mrs. John Miller, both of Sherwood, as well as Sandy Mullins, Jeanette Gaffney, Olive Balow, Bunny Reinhardt and Ruth Randle of the Terrace.

Marian and Ed Nielsen, 1252 N. Illinois, enjoyed an evening out with friends from Mount Prospect last Friday by attending the Scottish Rite evening of entertainment at Medinah temple in Chicago, following which the couples went on to have dinner.

Sunday the Nielsens, including Brad, who was celebrating his 13th birthday, and his brother, Scott, spent a busy day doing things as per Brad's wishes. Following church services, the family enjoyed a brunch before going on to visit the Museums of Natural History and Science and Industry. The day was concluded with a special birthday dinner out.

CINDY, daughter of Jeanette and Bill Gaffney, 1405 N. Illinois, spent last week in her paternal grandparent's home in Rockford, that of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gaffney. Although Cindy was 4 January 12, the family birthday dinner party wasn't held until Saturday, when her parents and sisters, Patty and Kelly, as well as aunts, uncles and cousins, were able to be present. A special treat was extended to Cindy, that of remaining another week with her grandparents, with Patty staying on, too, to keep her company.

A long over-due get together finally took place Saturday night in the home of Mary Lou and James Charleston, 1333 N. Chicago, when they were able to enjoy a visit with former Terrace neighbors, Mary and Dan Healy, Arlington Heights, and Val and John Bickley, Mount Prospect. Beside catching up on the latest news of one another, the guests enjoyed a late buffet snack.

With a toboggan party in the offing if and when we ever have snow, Pam, daughter of Jackie and Joe Koenig, 1255 N. Chicago, was content to celebrate her 12th birthday January 13 at a family dinner party, with her brothers, Bobby, Tommy and Kenny, lending assistance in blowing out the birthday candles.

Friends and neighbors of Doris and Dee Gehrig, until recently of 1219 N. Race, and who now live in Springfield, will be glad to know that they became parents of a son last Saturday. The baby has a sister, Donna, 2.

Julie, daughter of Carol and Bill Narup, 1207 N. Race, 1, January 13, was honored at a family dinner party Sunday. Present to share her birthday cake and ice cream were her sister, Cathy, brother, Scott, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thorlief Narup and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Petersen, all of Park Ridge, and maternal greatgrandmother, Mrs. Herbert Norton, Chicago.

A COMPANY transfer is prompting the move Friday for Betty and Charles Oman, 1239 N. Illinois, and their children, Chuckie, Nancy, Robert and Stephen, to Connecticut. Although their friends here will miss them all, they wish them luck and happiness, and realize they will be happier being close to their families in Boston.

Theresa, daughter of Anne and Fred Miller, 1256 N. Illinois, was guest of honor January 13 at a dinner party. Beside her sisters, Mary Anthony, Elizabeth and Laura, brothers, Freddie and Billy, guests Brad and Scott Nielsen wished her a happy fifth birthday over their share of the birthday cake and ice cream. Saturday, the Millers enjoyed another birthday celebration in the home of Theresa's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Frank, Chicago.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

When the Kenneth Huggs, 1007 N. Chicago, learned that her brother was being transferred from Connecticut to Minnesota, they were delighted, for it meant that part of the family was moving to the midwest and chances of seeing more of them were greater than when they were in the east. Betty and Louis Fox spent the night with the Huggs last week, and brought them up to date on their plans which include settling in a suburb of Minneapolis.

The year has started out fine for the Basil Butts, 916 N. Salem, and their son, Don and his wife. Don was released from the navy January 3 and is already working here in Arlington Heights. His parents are also happy that their son and daughter-in-law have decided to settle here.

Last Tuesday, Charlotte Ronayne, 1011 N. Kennicott, had a welcome coffee to introduce newcomer Jane Klein to her neighbors. Claire Remer was there, as well as Mickey Kubik, Jean Kunberger, Madeline Keller, Joyce Lauer, Nan Stocking, Dorothy Cryer, Lu Hostler and Betty Dunn. Jane and Al Klein moved to 1003 N. Kennicott from Chicago two weeks ago. Al is a metallurgist with American Can company in Barrington and finds it a real convenience living so close to his work. Four children help make up the family; Steve, 5, already at home in the morning kindergarten session at Ridge school, Karen, 4, Danny, 2 and Chuckie, 11 months.

WORD comes from Mary and Jack Meade, who formerly lived in the Klein house, that they had a trip home to Massachusetts for the holidays and talked with the Kent Robinsons while there. Mary says there are several playmates for the children and that they have adjusted well to Charlestown, Ind.

Ann and Joe Pecoraro, 727 N. Kennicott, attended a dinner at the Ambasador East hotel last Wednesday given by the Mount Prospect shopping center for the village officials and the new tenants of the center. They were joined by the Charles O'Dors for the evening. Joe is a Mount Prospect building inspector. Ann decided that before she returned to work the first of next month she would get a little entertaining done. So last Thursday they entertained three couples for dinner. Because it was too cold to barbecue outdoors, they did it inside and received many applauds for their efforts.

While Jim Spiel, Bob Balfour, Richard Ketza, Joe Numbers and Alex Schoenmeyer were bowling in the Paddock tournament Sunday at Rolling Meadows, their wives were sitting on the sidelines cheering them on. The crowds didn't seem to bother Jim—he bowled like an expert.

The Lawrence Gieslers, 816 N. Ridge, attended a dinner dance at the Conrad Hilton hotel last Saturday evening given by the 40 and 8 of the American Legion. Mr Geisler is a member of the 40 and 8 and is also a lieutenant in the color guard. Besides dancing, Mrs. Geisler says they also had a floor show with a wide variety of acts.

Wednesday evening Doris and Cas Nastal and their boys 701 N. Kennicott, drove out to Cary to visit her mother and his family to deliver a belated birthday gift.

BECAUSE Bill Griffith, 625 N. Kaspar, won a contest last November for life insurance protection, he and Ruth were treated to dinner for two at Radigans, near Kenosha, last Wednesday evening. The agency manager from Evanston and another couple, also lucky winners, joined Ruth and Bill for the evening.

On his way to Coronado, Cal. Com George Kunberger stopped to visit his brother and family for a few days. The Harry Kunbergers, 926 N. Kennicott, had been expecting him to pass through Chicago on his way to Coronado, where he will receive training before he is made commander of a squadron in Whidbey, Wash.

While the Kaspar ave. folks were New Year's Eve partying, someone mentioned a hayride and the idea caught on. They didn't realize they could go on a hayride in the middle of January, but they did, last Saturday night. The Ray Howes, Thad Ostrowskis, Gene Barnes, Elmer Sowkas, Dick Sorensens, Wally Pilips, Jim Shields, Roy Martins, the Roy Winkelmans and Eleanor Pemberton and Tom Thompson drove out to Pine Tree Stables where a wagon was waiting for them piled high with hay. They all piled atop the hay and rode out to Half Day inn. An orchestra was playing and those who just can't keep their feet still when there's music in the air danced until it was time to leave. They rode back to the stables, picked up their cars and headed for Bette and Ray's house where they continued the party in the basement. Bette served barbecued beef and all the trimmings and everyone did justice to the buffet after having their appetites sharpened during the hayride.

FROM SHERWOOD

The W. L. Johnsons, 1308 Watling, are back home after spending the holidays in Greenwich, Conn. with their daughter and her family, Rev. and Mrs. William J. Murphey. Coming home, they stopped to see former Arlington Heighters, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mills, in Pittsburgh.

Friday the 13th was also Alan Carlson's 13th birthday and the day the seventh graders at South junior high had their Crystal ball. After the dance, Alan took Craig Elstee, Jim Auld and John Moore to O'Hare inn for refreshments to continue celebrating his birthday. Alan is the son of the T. C. Carlsons, 1314 N. Harvard.

Mrs. E. J. Koester, 111 Watling, had a welcome coffee for two Sherwood newcomers last Friday night: Mrs. Frank Sulley and Mrs. Wallace Olson. The Sulleys have already been welcomed to Arlington Heights through this column, but the Olsons have not. They moved to 1219 Watling from LaCrosse, Wis. three weeks ago, this being a transfer for Mr. Olson. who is manager of the Chicago office of Alexander Grant and company. The Olson children are Steven, 16, and Richard, 15, both at Arlington High: Jane, 11, at South junior high; and Ellen, 7, at Ridge school

Lone GOP Legislator Is Made 'Goat' of His Party

by STATE REP.
BERNARD M. PESKIN

State Representative Walter (Babe) McAvoy (R-Chgo) was the lonesomest man in the State of Illinois on the morning of January 11.

As you all know, we had quite a time in Springfield the previous week, when Secretary of State Carpentier abruptly recessed the Illinois House of Representatives before we could elect a Speaker. He declared the recess on a voice vote, ignored the shouts of eighty-eight Democrats for a roll call on the motion, dropped the gavel as though it were a hot poker, and stepped off the Speaker's rostrum and out of the hall before half the spectators could realize what happened.

For a guy with a slipped disk, the Secretary moved awfully fast. The purpose of the recess, of course, was to give the Republican leadership time to consolidate their membership behind one man for the post of Speaker.

The House reconvened at 9 a.m. Monday, Jan. 11, just three hours before the scheduled inauguration of Governor Kerner and the other State-Officers-elect. All 88 Democratic members were there. Over two thousand spectators were crowded in the galleries, corridors and side-aisles of the House Chambers. But on the Republican side of the House, not a single member was in his seat.

REMEMBER now, the call to reconvene had come not only from Paul Powell (D-Vienna) who we had elected Speaker the previous week after what we felt was an illegal walk-out by the Republican member—the refusal of the Secretary to grant a roll call was in direct controvention of the Illinois Constitution and we continued on with the business at hand with a quorum present. The call to reconvene at 9 a.m. on January 11 also came from Secretary Carpentier! Each house member received a telegram two days beforehand.

But instead of appearing at the House at the apointed hour, the Republican members met in caucus at a Springfield Hotel knowing that if we did not have the 89 members present, we could not convene the House for lack of a quorum, we could not meet in joint session with the Senate to canvass the election returns for the State Officers, and we could not inaugurate our new State Officials.

I heartily approve of using every parliamentary maneuver or other legal weapon to achieve a desired political result in the Legislature. But it is another thing to deliberately flaunt the mandate of 4½ million voters in Illinois and block the inauguration of the newly elected Governor.

Now let's get back to "Babe" McAvoy.

SHORTLY AFTER the roll call for attendance started, I heard a buzz of conversation and all heads turned toward the vacant seats on our right. McAvoy had come in and taken his seat. He was the eighty-ninth member to be present, and made our quorum.

It was anti-climactic that two other Republican members appeared shortly afterward. The important thing was that McAvoy decided that a political hassle in the House should not deprive the people of Illinois of the man of their choice to serve as Governor of this State. He decided that his oath of office obligated him to serve Illinois first and his political party second.

You can't have any idea of the courage it takes to sit there, all alone among those empty seats, knowing the castigation which will be forthcoming—knowing that you will later be ostracized by those with whom you have served for the past sixteen years.

WHAT HE did later in the morning, when we elected Paul Powell as permanent Speaker of the House is not important here. What is important is that without McAvoy's doing what he did—without his answering the roll call, Governor Kerner would not have taken his oath of office last Monday. In my judgement, McAvoy made himself the goat of the Republican party in order that Illinois be spared the notoriety of failing to inaugurate its Governor. (B8

Mrs. Church Named to Policy Post

Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church, 13th District, Illinois, has been appointed to membership on the Republican Policy Committee of the House of Representatives.

This committee, under the chairmanship of Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, is composed of the Republican leadership of the House, four members from the Committee on Rules, and constituent members chosen from nine respective geographical groupings, in addition to three members at large.

THE COMMITTEE meets weekly during the legislative session to discuss the course of legislation, to hear reports from the chairmen of committees, and to suggest the policy of the Republican membership of the House regarding pending legislation and other steps under consideration to aid in the national welfare.

Mrs. Church was chosen as a representative from the midwest regional grouping, which includes Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. (B8

Begin Susie Scout Contest in This Area

Who is Susie Scout? Perhaps you know her.

Susie Scout is the girl who always wears her uniform properly, attends meetings regularly, takes an active part in troop activities, and can be depended upon to do well the jobs assigned to her. She also knows and understands the Girl Scout promise and laws and tries to live up to them at all times.

But her identity will not be known until March 12 when the Girl Scout Council of Northwest Cook county announces the results of a 2-month search for Susie Scout. Actually there will be three Susie Scouts, one Brownie, one Intermediate, and one Senior selected from each of the six districts in the council.

EACH TROOP is picking its candidate for this honor. The candidate must write an essay entitled "What Makes a Good Girl Scout?" which will be submitted to a screening board composed of the members of the public relations committee of the council. This board will group the entries into neighborhoods and select two Brownies, two Intermediates and two Seniors from each neighborhood.

Entrants who pass the neighborhood judging will go up against the other neighborhood winners from that town. Sitting on this town board will be a Girl Scout district chairman, a neighborhood chairman and a leader.

THEN COMES the district judging. Judges for this board will be announced later.

The Girl Scout council stresses that this is not a popularity contest among its 10,000 girls. The 18 Susie Scouts will represent all the best qualities to be found in Girl Scouts everywhere. (B9

Palatine Man Is Elected

Edward M. Ohlrich, warm air heating contractor, 356 S. Potite rd., Palatine, was elected president of the Furnace Air Conditioning Sheet Metal Institute of Chicago, one of the oldest trade associations of its kind in the state of Illinois.

His election to this office coincides with his completion in 1961 of 25 years as a warm air heating contractor. Mr. Ohlrich has served the institute for the past two years in the office of vice president.

Harry H. Campbell Jr., owner of Special Service Sheet Metal, 1402 Greenleaf st., Evanston, and a resident of 109 E. Clarendon st., Prospect Heights, retiring president, has been named chairman of the board of directors. (B9

To Open Additional Lanes On Expressway Saturday

The two "reversible" lanes in the center of Northwest expressway will be opened to traffic Saturday, Jan. 21 -- about five months ahead of a now abandoned schedule.

The two center lanes, 7 miles long, run from the junction of Northwest and Edens expressways to a point past Erie street near Chicago's central business district. They have no outlets between these two points.

CONSTRUCTED for rush hour traffic only, they weren't scheduled to be opened until June 1, the expected completion date for installation of permanent signs, signals and other traffic control equipment.

Installation of temporary control equipment was rushed along in recent weeks because the expressway has been jammed in rush hours and traffic demands since the superhighway was opened November 5 have been heavier than anticipated.

The two center lanes will be open only to Loop bound traffic from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. and to outbound traffic from 3:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. At other hours they will be closed.

Highway officials, however, intend to restrict use of the reversible lanes in the morning rush hours to southbound traffic from Edens and in the evening to outbound motorists heading for the O'Hare leg of Northwest expressway.

THIS arrangement will be in effect until overhead stop-and-go lights are installed where the two center lanes join the two expressways, the officials said.

Without this temporary limitation on the use of the center lanes, motorists would find themselves dodging traffic.

Traffic from the O'Hare leg in the morning would be weaving across the expressway to enter the reversible lanes and the same dangers would be present if Edens-bound traffic tried to get out of the center lanes in the evening.

The decision not to wait until June to open the center lanes was made by George L. DeMent, Chicago commissioner of public works; J. P. Tuthill, district engineer for the Illinois highway department, and Roger F. Nusbaum, state expressway engineer.

THEIR STUDIES have found that 5,500 vehicles an hour on Edens enter the expressway in the morning, with 3,000 of them traveling the full distance to the Loop.

And 3,800 vehicles an hour on the O'Hare leg of Northwest reach the junction in the morning, with 2,000 of them continuing to the Loop.

Thus, drivers of 5,000 vehicles an hour in rush periods would benefit by using the reversible lanes. If all of them do, there most likely will be slow-ups, for capacity of the two extra lanes has been figured at only between 3,000 and 4,000 vehicles an hour. (B8

William H. Rentschler Speaks on Tuesday

Mrs. Walter Brown, president of the Wheeling Township Women's Republican club, this week issued an invitation to all area Republicans to hear William H. Rentschler address the club at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 24, in the community room of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association building, 25 E. Campbell st.

Rentschler, who has acquired eminent stature as an Illinois Republican leader, will present a forthright appraisal of the GOP in Illinois and suggest means of reorganization.

Rentschler's 15-point plan for overhauling the party was recently published in the metropolitan press and last week he expressed his views regarding the Coyle voting machine as a revolutionary answer to the problem of accurate and honest vote counts.

RENTSCHLER, 35, has worked in the Republican party from precinct to the national level. He ran for U.S. Senator in last April's primary election and is about to serve as chairman of the United Republican Fund forum which convenes Thursday, Jan. 26.

Members of Republican organizations in Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove and Schaumburg townships have been invited to hear Rentschler's January 24 address. Further information may be obtained by phoning Mrs. George Marshall at CL 3-8028. (B9

State Representative Walter (Babe) McAvoy (R-Chgo) was the lonesomest man in the State of Illinois on the morning of January 11.

As you all know, we had quite a time in Springfield the previous week, when Secretary of State Carpentier abruptly recessed the Illinois House of Representatives before we could elect a Speaker. He declared the recess on a voice vote, ignored the shouts of eighty-eight Democrats for a roll call on the motion, dropped the gavel as though it were a hot poker, and stepped off the Speaker's rostrum and out of the hall before half the spectators could realize what happened.

For a guy with a slipped disk, the Secretary moved awfully fast. The purpose of the recess, of course, was to give the Republican leadership time to consolidate their membership behind one man for the post of Speaker.

The House reconvened at 9 a.m. Monday, Jan. 11, just three hours before the scheduled inauguration of Governor Kerner and the other State-Officers-elect. All 88 Democratic members were there. Over two thousand spectators were crowded in the galleries, corridors and side-aisles of the House Chambers. But on the Republican side of the House, not a single member was in his seat.

REMEMBER now, the call to reconvene had come not only from Paul Powell (D-Vienna) who we had elected Speaker the previous week after what we felt was an illegal walk-out by the Republican member—the refusal of the Secretary to grant a roll call was in direct controvention of the Illinois Constitution and we continued on with the business at hand with a quorum present. The call to reconvene at 9 a.m. on January 11 also came from Secretary Carpentier! Each house member received a telegram two days beforehand.

But instead of appearing at the House at the apointed hour, the Republican members met in caucus at a Springfield Hotel knowing that if we did not have the 89 members present, we could not convene the House for lack of a quorum, we could not meet in joint session with the Senate to canvass the election returns for the State Officers, and we could not inaugurate our new State Officials.

I heartily approve of using every parliamentary maneuver or other legal weapon to achieve a desired political result in the Legislature. But it is another thing to deliberately flaunt the mandate of 4½ million voters in Illinois and block the inauguration of the newly elected Governor.

Now let's get back to "Babe" McAvoy.

SHORTLY AFTER the roll call for attendance started, I heard a buzz of conversation and all heads turned toward the vacant seats on our right. McAvoy had come in and taken his seat. He was the eighty-ninth member to be present, and made our quorum.

It was anti-climactic that two other Republican members appeared shortly afterward. The important thing was that McAvoy decided that a political hassle in the House should not deprive the people of Illinois of the man of their choice to serve as Governor of this State. He decided that his oath of office obligated him to serve Illinois first and his political party second.

You can't have any idea of the courage it takes to sit there, all alone among those empty seats, knowing the castigation which will be forthcoming—knowing that you will later be ostracized by those with whom you have served for the past sixteen years.

WHAT HE did later in the morning, when we elected Paul Powell as permanent Speaker of the House is not important here. What is important is that without McAvoy's doing what he did—without his answering the roll call, Governor Kerner would not have taken his oath of office last Monday. In my judgement, McAvoy made himself the goat of the Republican party in order that Illinois be spared the notoriety of failing to inaugurate its Governor. (B8

Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church, 13th District, Illinois, has been appointed to membership on the Republican Policy Committee of the House of Representatives.

This committee, under the chairmanship of Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, is composed of the Republican leadership of the House, four members from the Committee on Rules, and constituent members chosen from nine respective geographical groupings, in addition to three members at large.

THE COMMITTEE meets weekly during the legislative session to discuss the course of legislation, to hear reports from the chairmen of committees, and to suggest the policy of the Republican membership of the House regarding pending legislation and other steps under consideration to aid in the national welfare.

Mrs. Church was chosen as a representative from the midwest regional grouping, which includes Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. (B8

Begin Susie Scout Contest in This Area

Who is Susie Scout? Perhaps you know her.

Susie Scout is the girl who always wears her uniform properly, attends meetings regularly, takes an active part in troop activities, and can be depended upon to do well the jobs assigned to her. She also knows and understands the Girl Scout promise and laws and tries to live up to them at all times.

But her identity will not be known until March 12 when the Girl Scout Council of Northwest Cook county announces the results of a 2-month search for Susie Scout. Actually there will be three Susie Scouts, one Brownie, one Intermediate, and one Senior selected from each of the six districts in the council.

EACH TROOP is picking its candidate for this honor. The candidate must write an essay entitled "What Makes a Good Girl Scout?" which will be submitted to a screening board composed of the members of the public relations committee of the council. This board will group the entries into neighborhoods and select two Brownies, two Intermediates and two Seniors from each neighborhood.

Entrants who pass the neighborhood judging will go up against the other neighborhood winners from that town. Sitting on this town board will be a Girl Scout district chairman, a neighborhood chairman and a leader.

THEN COMES the district judging. Judges for this board will be announced later.

The Girl Scout council stresses that this is not a popularity contest among its 10,000 girls. The 18 Susie Scouts will represent all the best qualities to be found in Girl Scouts everywhere. (B9

To Open Additional Lanes On Expressway Saturday

The two "reversible" lanes in the center of Northwest expressway will be opened to traffic Saturday, Jan. 21 -- about five months ahead of a now abandoned schedule.

The two center lanes, 7 miles long, run from the junction of Northwest and Edens expressways to a point past Erie street near Chicago's central business district. They have no outlets between these two points.

CONSTRUCTED for rush hour traffic only, they weren't scheduled to be opened until June 1, the expected completion date for installation of permanent signs, signals and other traffic control equipment.

Installation of temporary control equipment was rushed along in recent weeks because the expressway has been jammed in rush hours and traffic demands since the superhighway was opened November 5 have been heavier than anticipated.

The two center lanes will be open only to Loop bound traffic from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. and to outbound traffic from 3:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. At other hours they will be closed.

Highway officials, however, intend to restrict use of the reversible lanes in the morning rush hours to southbound traffic from Edens and in the evening to outbound motorists heading for the O'Hare leg of Northwest expressway.

THIS arrangement will be in effect until overhead stop-and-go lights are installed where the two center lanes join the two expressways, the officials said.

Without this temporary limitation on the use of the center lanes, motorists would find themselves dodging traffic.

Traffic from the O'Hare leg in the morning would be weaving across the expressway to enter the reversible lanes and the same dangers would be present if Edensbound traffic tried to get out of the center lanes in the evening.

The decision not to wait until June to open the center lanes was made by George L. DeMent, Chicago commissioner of public works; J. P. Tuthill, district engineer for the Illinois highway department, and Roger F. Nusbaum, state expressway engineer.

THEIR STUDIES have found that 5,500 vehicles an hour on Edens enter the expressway in the morning, with 3,000 of them traveling the full distance to the Loop.

And 3,800 vehicles an hour on the O'Hare leg of Northwest reach the junction in the morning, with 2,000 of them continuing to the Loop.

Thus, drivers of 5,000 vehicles an hour in rush periods would benefit by using the reversible lanes. If all of them do, there most likely will be slow-ups, for capacity of the two extra lanes has been figured at only between 3,000 and 4,000 vehicles an hour. (B8

Mrs. Walter Brown, president of the Wheeling Township Women's Republican club, this week issued an invitation to all area Republicans to hear William H. Rentschler address the club at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 24, in the community room of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association building, 25 E. Campbell st.

Rentschler, who has acquired eminent stature as an Illinois Republican leader, will present a forthright appraisal of the GOP in Illinois and suggest means of reorganization.

Rentschler's 15-point plan for overhauling the party was recently published in the metropolitan press and last week he expressed his views regarding the Coyle voting machine as a revolutionary answer to the problem of accurate and honest vote counts.

RENTSCHLER, 35, has worked in the Republican party from precinct to the national level. He ran for U.S. Senator in last April's primary election and is about to serve as chairman of the United Republican Fund forum which convenes Thursday, Jan. 26.

Members of Republican organizations in Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove and Schaumburg townships have been invited to hear Rentschler's January 24 address. Further information may be obtained by phoning Mrs. George Marshall at CL 3-8028. (B9

Housing Study Shows Discrimination Price

Landlords of substandard dwellings in the Chicago area obtain a $15 per month bonus for renting to nonwhites. This is only one of the many unusual findings which are a part of "Housing A Metropolis — Chicago," a new book by Philip M. Hauser and Mrs. Beverly Duncan.

The book, a measure of Chicago's changing housing situation, includes comparisons with changes in other metropolitan areas such as New York, Detroit, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

According to one of its authors, Philip Hauser, "It reveals the effects of urban renewal and public housing programs on the quantity and quality of housing, compares housing conditions for different areas within the city, high and low income groups, white and non-white population and provides basic facts about housing in different stages."

THE STUDY on housing in the Chicago metropolitan area covers the period between 1950 and 1957. According to the findings, housing in Chicago improved considerably both in supply and quality during these years.

There has been an increase of nearly 60,000 new dwellings in Chicago according to the study, while the available vacancy rate doubled. Severe room crowding was found among five per cent of the 1957 households as compared with seven per cent of the households in the city in 1950.

"This overall improvement in the city's housing supply will not eliminate all the housing problems of lower-income families and Negro residents. In 1960, as in earlier years, many members of these groups will be living in housing of inferior quality and payin grentals they can ill afford," the authors said.

ONE OF every six families in Chicago at the end of 1956, according to the book, was a renter whose family income was less than $4,000. Two thirds of the lower-income renters were paying rentals which exceeded a fourth of their current income.

One third of the Negro population of Chicago was living in substandard housing as compared with a sixth of the white renters. One sixth of the households in Chicago were occupied by Negroes in 1956.

With an average income of $3,900, Negroes paid a median rent of $76 as compared with a median rent of $78 for whites. The average white family reported an income of $5,500.

"TO COMPETE in the housing market Negroes must pay rents as high as those paid by whites although the incomes of Negroes are lower," according to the authors.

The purpose of the book as these examples show, is to present an overview of metropolitan housing in relation to which planners, social workers, administrators, and interested citizens can evaluate particular problems.

Philip Hauser is a professor and chairman of the department of sociology at the University of Chicago, and is one of the nation's foremost authorities on population and population trends. He has also served as United States representative on the population commission of the United Nations, as assistant to the Secretary of Commerce, and director of the office of program planning in the Department of Commerce. The position of statistical advisor to the governments of Burma and Thailand have also been held by Mr. Hauser.

MRS. BEVERLY Duncan, co-author with Philip M. Hauser, has been associated with the Population Research and Training center and the Chicago Community Inventory at the University of Chicago since 1951. Both she and Mr. Hauser have numerous other publications. (A-14

Slayer Is Granted a Continuance

Judge Walter P. Dahl granted a two-week continuance last Friday in the case of Carl A. Lindberg, 56-year-old Wheeling township resident who fatally wounded his son-in-law with a shotgun January 5.

The continuance to January 27 was requested by Anthony Manno, assistant state's attorney. Manno said he wanted time to study the staement Lindberg made to a court reporter shortly after the shooting.

LINDBERG IS faced with a manslaughter charge. He is accused of shotgunning his son-in-law, George Meredith, 26, when the latter forcibly entered Lindberg's home on Vista ln., near State and Hintz rds. in Wheeling township.

Meredith was attempting to enter the house to talk with his estranged wife, Evelyn, who was living there with the couple's two children. Lindberg reportedly refused his son-in-law entrance, shooting him when he broke in through a kitchen door.

Dorothy Patton Rolls 229 Game

Dorothy Patton put together a string of six straight strikes en route to a 229 game that took top honors in the annual Bowling Night of the Couples Club of St. Mark Lutheran Church, Mt. Prospect, last Saturday at Rolling Meadows Bowl.

Mrs. Patton's 229 was individual high game for the night. She added games of 143 and 141 for a 513 series, high among the women bowlers. Dee Schmidt was runner-up in the women's division in both individual game (193) and series (439).

Housing Study Shows Discrimination Price

Landlords of substandard dwellings in the Chicago area obtain a $15 per month bonus for renting to nonwhites. This is only one of the many unusual findings which are a part of "Housing A Metropolis — Chicago," a new book by Philip M. Hauser and Mrs. Beverly Duncan.

The book, a measure of Chicago's changing housing situation, includes comparisons with changes in other metropolitan areas such as New York, Detroit, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

According to one of its authors, Philip Hauser, "It reveals the effects of urban renewal and public housing programs on the quantity and quality of housing, compares housing conditions for different areas within the city, high and low income groups, white and non-white population and provides basic facts about housing in different stages."

THE STUDY on housing in the Chicago metropolitan area covers the period between 1950 and 1957. According to the findings, housing in Chicago improved considerably both in supply and quality during these years.

There has been an increase of nearly 60,000 new dwellings in Chicago according to the study, while the available vacancy rate doubled. Severe room crowding was found among five per cent of the 1957 households as compared with seven per cent of the households in the city in 1950.

"This overall improvement in the city's housing supply will not eliminate all the housing problems of lower-income families and Negro residents. In 1960, as in earlier years, many members of these groups will be living in housing of inferior quality and payin grentals they can ill afford," the authors said.

ONE OF every six families in Chicago at the end of 1956, according to the book, was a renter whose family income was less than $4,000. Two thirds of the lower-income renters were paying rentals which exceeded a fourth of their current income.

One third of the Negro population of Chicago was living in substandard housing as compared with a sixth of the white renters. One sixth of the households in Chicago were occupied by Negroes in 1956.

With an average income of $3,900, Negroes paid a median rent of $76 as compared with a median rent of $78 for whites. The average white family reported an income of $5,500.

"TO COMPETE in the housing market Negroes must pay rents as high as those paid by whites although the incomes of Negroes are lower," according to the authors.

The purpose of the book as these examples show, is to present an overview of metropolitan housing in relation to which planners, social workers, administrators, and interested citizens can evaluate particular problems.

Philip Hauser is a professor and chairman of the department of sociology at the University of Chicago, and is one of the nation's foremost authorities on population and population trends. He has also served as United States representative on the population commission of the United Nations, as assistant to the Secretary of Commerce, and director of the office of program planning in the Department of Commerce. The position of statistical advisor to the governments of Burma and Thailand have also been held by Mr. Hauser.

MRS. BEVERLY Duncan, co-author with Philip M. Hauser, has been associated with the Population Research and Training center and the Chicago Community Inventory at the University of Chicago since 1951. Both she and Mr. Hauser have numerous other publications. (A-14

Judge Walter P. Dahl granted a two-week continuance last Friday in the case of Carl A. Lindberg, 56-year-old Wheeling township resident who fatally wounded his son-in-law with a shotgun January 5.

The continuance to January 27 was requested by Anthony Manno, assistant state's attorney. Manno said he wanted time to study the staement Lindberg made to a court reporter shortly after the shooting.

LINDBERG IS faced with a manslaughter charge. He is accused of shotgunning his son-in-law, George Meredith, 26, when the latter forcibly entered Lindberg's home on Vista ln., near State and Hintz rds. in Wheeling township.

Meredith was attempting to enter the house to talk with his estranged wife, Evelyn, who was living there with the couple's two children. Lindberg reportedly refused his son-in-law entrance, shooting him when he broke in through a kitchen door.

Revenue Crisis Commands Top Priority for State

W. RUSSELL ARRINGTON
State Senator,
4th Senatorial District

There is no minimizing the critical financial condition in which the state finds itself. That such condition would arise has been wholly apparent for the past two years.

The Illinois Legislature, at its last general session in 1959, appropriated more funds than the state could foreseeably collect during the present biennium. This result was occasioned by the failure of the Democratic-dominated House of Representatives to pass the so-called sales tax broadening bills.

THE DEMOCRATIC party has opposed this legislation ever since 1949, when I first introduced these measures in the House. Mayor Daley, who was at that time the State Director of Revenue, was the executioner of those measures. During the last campaign, the newly-elected Attorney General stumped the State boasting that his leadership in the House caused the defeat of these bills at the last legislative session.

The newly-elected Governor is apparently attempting to reverse the policy of his party, for he now supports a broadening of the sales tax base. In fact, that is the only specific and tangible revenue-producing action he has proposed to date. I will most emphatically support such legislation.

IN REGARD to income taxes, I have persistently opposed the imposition of an income tax at the State level, whether upon individuals or corporations. I foresee no situation which will compel a revision of that point of view.

It seems to me that inasmuch as we have a new administration, we must await a complete and full statement of that administration's objectives before we can discuss a manner of financing them. If as suspected, the new administration is going to propose vastly increased spending, it is the responsibility of that administration to propose a program for financing it.

I HAVE been representing my district for over 16 years, and my constituents have a pretty solid understanding of my position with respect to government spending. I am opposed to wasteful and lavish state spending. On the other hand, I fully support and will endeavor to assist in providing the finances for the carrying on of every legitimate State responsibility. But until the Governor elucidates his conception of what these State responsibilities are, I shall withhold reaching any final determination on the means which may be suggested for financing such responsibilities.

As during the past 12 years, I am continuing my efforts to construct and have passed a much-needed constitutional amendment to our archaic and out-moded Revenue Article. (ACM

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"What is Truth?" is a vital question to be considered at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Truth" will include this reassuring statement: "I will cry unto God most high; unto God that performeth all things for me. He shall send from heaven, and save me from the reproach of him that would swallow me up. God shall send forth his mercy and his truth" (Psalms 57: 2,3).

The importance of prayer in understanding Truth is emphasized in this citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (11:27-31): "Prayer cannot change the unalterable Truth, nor can prayer alone give us an understanding of Truth; but prayer, coupled with a fervent habitual desire to know and do the will of God, will bring us into all Truth."

Q. Does the well-dressed woman always wear a hat?

A. A great many smartly dressed women (particularly the young ones) don't own a hat of any kind, except the one they wear to church. And I think, too, that uncovered heads of gleaming, well-groomed hair are undeniably attractive. Do what you want about hats—wear them or not, as you please.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"What is Truth?" is a vital question to be considered at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Truth" will include this reassuring statement: "I will cry unto God most high; unto God that performeth all things for me. He shall send from heaven, and save me from the reproach of him that would swallow me up. God shall send forth his mercy and his truth" (Psalms 57: 2,3).

The importance of prayer in understanding Truth is emphasized in this citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (11:27-31): "Prayer cannot change the unalterable Truth, nor can prayer alone give us an understanding of Truth; but prayer, coupled with a fervent habitual desire to know and do the will of God, will bring us into all Truth."

Q. Does the well-dressed woman always wear a hat?

A. A great many smartly dressed women (particularly the young ones) don't own a hat of any kind, except the one they wear to church. And I think, too, that uncovered heads of gleaming, well-groomed hair are undeniably attractive. Do what you want about hats—wear them or not, as you please.

Bowling Center Open by Summer

Paul Rissman, vice president of the Rick Casares Pro Bowl corporation, announced this week that the 24-lane bowling establishment is "well under construction" at the northwest corner of Dundee and Buffalo Grove rds. in Buffalo Grove.

Rissman said the lanes are scheduled to be completed by June 1 at the latest. The corporation is headed by Rick Casares, outstanding professional football player for the Chicago Bears.

RESIDENTS OF the northwest suburbs wishing to apply for bowling leagues in the summer or for fall of 1961 may phone LE 7-5300, Rissman explained. He said interest in the new bowling facility has already been very encouraging.

In addition to its 24 Brunswick lanes, the Pro Bowl will contain free nursery facilities, meeting rooms, a snack bar, pro shop, family recreation area, cocktail lounge and a 250-car parking lot.

The million dollar bowling establishment is expected to provide luxury recreational facilities at low cost, Rissman pointed out. He noted the unusually mild winter weather is aiding construction of the building appreciably.

Arlington Sophs Drop Two League Hardwood Games

Arlington's frosh-soph hardwood representative experienced a slow start at Hinsdale and a fast one against Maine East but came out on the short end of both scores last weekend.

Coach Ken Schaller's young Cardinals fell behind 30-17 at halftime in the Hinsdale battle and wound up dropping their fifth West Suburban game 64-42.

With a new starting alignment the Cards broke fast Saturday and held the lead for almost ten minutes of the league test before the visitors opened up and coasted in with a 42-32 decision.

THE LOSSES set Arlington's West Suburban standard at 1-6 for the first half of play. The young Cards are 4-9 overall for the campaign.

Hinsdale jumped off to a 16-9 first period lead and had little trouble disposing of Arlington in Friday's game.

The host Imps held a 13-point advantage at halftime and outscored the Cards by nine in the final two periods as they cleared the bench.

FROSH JOE Mueller potted 14 points for Arlington, nine in the first half, and Tom Wilmotte chipped in with ten.

In Saturday's battle the Cardinals climbed out to a 13-7 lead and held a 15-13 advantage with 4:02 remaining before halftime when the roof fell in. Maine went in with a 26-19 halftime lead and held on to wrap up the West Suburban decision.

Wilmotte and Mueller were Arlington's top scorers again with 12 and nine respectively. Ken Wessling, who started at center for the locals, collected seven, all in the first period.

Schaller indicated after Saturday's game that he was encouraged in that the squad showed more hustle than it had in recent outings. Starting for Arlington were freshmen Mueller and Arnie Koriath and sophs Wilmotte, Wessling ,and Eric Berg.

Prospect's Soph Five Defeated

Prospect high school's sophomore basketball team dropped a close 37-36 decision to Elmwood Park's little Tigers last Friday night in the western suburb.

The little Knights blew a five-point 20-15 halftime lead in the third quarter, and then tried vainly to make up the difference in the closing minutes.

Elmwood Park outscored the visitors 15-6 in the crucial third period, to take a 30-26 lead. Prospect won the final quarter 10-7 with their closing rush.

Prospect's Bob Hope led all scorers with 18 points. Bill Dorr and Al Cangliosi had nine apiece for the winners.

Wayside's Cagers Win Two Games

Our Lady of the Wyaside turned in its best performance of the season by soundly dumping a good St Thomas of Crystal Lake squad 43-23.

Bob Connors tossed in 16 points for the winning Wayside five.

Arlington's Frosh Drop First Game!

Riverside's talented frosh cagers had little trouble with Arlington high Saturday morning as they rolled to a 39-15 halftime lead and coasted in with a 60-29 victory.

The hosts had three boys in double figures as they handed Rog Steingraber's frosh "A" squad its first defeat of the season.

Arlington was handicapped with the absence of leading scorer and rebounder Greg Buczynski who was out with a sprained ankle. Regular Jim Murray was recovering from the flu.

Jeff Beckman tossed in eight points to pace the Cardinals and Fred Devin added six.

Arlington's frosh "Bs" recovered from a first period deficit and rolled to their fifth straight win with a 30-19 conquest of R-B. Jim Fruehling scored seven points and Garron Kokai collected six for Bob Rees' Cards.

Two Skaters To Compete In National

Two Mount Prospect Skating Club members, Helen Joy Lutsch and Robert Grady, will compete in the National Outdoor skating championships in Minneapolis on Jan. 28 and 29.

They earned this coveted opportunity through their fine performances at the Northwest Open Championships, which were held on Lake Ellyn in Glen Ellyn on Jan. 15, as well as at other earlier meets this year.

Miss Lutsch, the coach of the Mt. Prospect skating club, competing in the Senior Women's division, won second place medals in the mile and in the 880 yard races and took a fourth place medal in the 220 yard event at the Northwest meet.

BOB GRADY won a second place medal in the 440 yard event in the Juvenile division, which gave him enough total points for the season to send him to the Nationals. Bob's younger brother Billy, 7, skating his first year in competition, showed that he is learning fast by winning his first medal, a fourth place in the 220 yard event in the Pony division.

Pat Lutsch, 9, a niece of Miss Lutsch, also won a fourth place medal at the Northwest meet, skating in the Pony Girls division. Pat also has been making good progress in her first year of speed skating and shows great promise for the future.

Other skaters from the Mount Prospect Skating Club who gave very good performances at the Northwest meet and qualified for the finals were Tom Haenisch in the 880 yard event of the Junior Boys division, Mary Lou Haenisch in both the 220 yard and 440 yard event of the Midget Girls division, Linda Sommers in the 220 yard race in the Midget Girls division, Dick Solley in the 110 yard event of Pony Boys, and Ronnie Baker in the 220 yard event of Pony Boys.

IN ADDITION to the above qualifiers, the following Mount Prospect skaers competed at Lake Ellyn and gave a good account of themselves --Jerry Haenisch, Dan and Tim Jilek, Bill Leonard, Jack Nick Rutigliano, Janet Bickler and Norine Lutsch.

On Saturday, Jan. 14, the Pierce Western Open Championships, which were scheduled to be held at Humboldt Park in Chicgo, were postponed because of the unseasonable warm weather. They will be rescheduled later this week at Northbrook, weather permitting.

On Jan. 21 and 22, the Mount Prospect skaters will journey to Humboldt Park to participate in the Chicago Tribune Silver Skates championships. (Sp

Prospect's JVs Stop Maine West

Prospect's junior varsity basketeers ground out a 54-45 victory over Maine West's Warriors Saturday night in an Interim association contest.

The junior Knights played some of their best ball of the season in chalking up their third conference win against two losses.

Coach Ted Wissen's youngsters battled back from an 11-8 first quarter deficit to take a 22-20 lead at the half. The third quarter saw the lead change hands repeatedly with the Warriors coming out on top 34-32 at the buzzer.

But the Knights came on strongly in the opening minutes of the final period, dumping in eight straight points to move ahead 40-34. Maine West made it 40-36 with 4:55 remaining. Six more points and two minutes later it was the Knights 46-36. In all, Wissen's charges rang up 22 points in the last quarter to Maine's 11 to waltz home with the victory.

Tommy Thomas led the Knight attack with 19 points. Ken Groh had 17 and Bob Gerrard 11. Waters led Maine West with 16.

Bowling Center Open by Summer

Paul Rissman, vice president of the Rick Casares Pro Bowl corporation, announced this week that the 24-lane bowling establishment is "well under construction" at the northwest corner of Dundee and Buffalo Grove rds. in Buffalo Grove.

Rissman said the lanes are scheduled to be completed by June 1 at the latest. The corporation is headed by Rick Casares, outstanding professional football player for the Chicago Bears.

RESIDENTS OF the northwest suburbs wishing to apply for bowling leagues in the summer or for fall of 1961 may phone LE 7-5300, Rissman explained. He said interest in the new bowling facility has already been very encouraging.

In addition to its 24 Brunswick lanes, the Pro Bowl will contain free nursery facilities, meeting rooms, a snack bar, pro shop, family recreation area, cocktail lounge and a 250-car parking lot.

The million dollar bowling establishment is expected to provide luxury recreational facilities at low cost, Rissman pointed out. He noted the unusually mild winter weather is aiding construction of the building appreciably.

Arlington Sophs Drop Two League Hardwood Games

Arlington's frosh-soph hardwood representative experienced a slow start at Hinsdale and a fast one against Maine East but came out on the short end of both scores last weekend.

Coach Ken Schaller's young Cardinals fell behind 30-17 at halftime in the Hinsdale battle and wound up dropping their fifth West Suburban game 64-42.

With a new starting alignment the Cards broke fast Saturday and held the lead for almost ten minutes of the league test before the visitors opened up and coasted in with a 42-32 decision.

THE LOSSES set Arlington's West Suburban standard at 1-6 for the first half of play. The young Cards are 4-9 overall for the campaign.

Hinsdale jumped off to a 16-9 first period lead and had little trouble disposing of Arlington in Friday's game.

The host Imps held a 13-point advantage at halftime and outscored the Cards by nine in the final two periods as they cleared the bench.

FROSH JOE Mueller potted 14 points for Arlington, nine in the first half, and Tom Wilmotte chipped in with ten.

In Saturday's battle the Cardinals climbed out to a 13-7 lead and held a 15-13 advantage with 4:02 remaining before halftime when the roof fell in. Maine went in with a 26-19 halftime lead and held on to wrap up the West Suburban decision.

Wilmotte and Mueller were Arlington's top scorers again with 12 and nine respectively. Ken Wessling, who started at center for the locals, collected seven, all in the first period.

Schaller indicated after Saturday's game that he was encouraged in that the squad showed more hustle than it had in recent outings. Starting for Arlington were freshmen Mueller and Arnie Koriath and sophs Wilmotte, Wessling ,and Eric Berg.

Prospect's Soph Five Defeated

Prospect high school's sophomore basketball team dropped a close 37-36 decision to Elmwood Park's little Tigers last Friday night in the western suburb.

The little Knights blew a five-point 20-15 halftime lead in the third quarter, and then tried vainly to make up the difference in the closing minutes.

Elmwood Park outscored the visitors 15-6 in the crucial third period, to take a 30-26 lead. Prospect won the final quarter 10-7 with their closing rush.

Prospect's Bob Hope led all scorers with 18 points. Bill Dorr and Al Cangliosi had nine apiece for the winners.

Bob Connors tossed in 16 points for the winning Wayside five.

Arlington's Frosh Drop First Game!

Riverside's talented frosh cagers had little trouble with Arlington high Saturday morning as they rolled to a 39-15 halftime lead and coasted in with a 60-29 victory.

The hosts had three boys in double figures as they handed Rog Steingraber's frosh "A" squad its first defeat of the season.

Arlington was handicapped with the absence of leading scorer and rebounder Greg Buczynski who was out with a sprained ankle. Regular Jim Murray was recovering from the flu.

Jeff Beckman tossed in eight points to pace the Cardinals and Fred Devin added six.

Arlington's frosh "Bs" recovered from a first period deficit and rolled to their fifth straight win with a 30-19 conquest of R-B. Jim Fruehling scored seven points and Garron Kokai collected six for Bob Rees' Cards.

Two Skaters To Compete In National

Two Mount Prospect Skating Club members, Helen Joy Lutsch and Robert Grady, will compete in the National Outdoor skating championships in Minneapolis on Jan. 28 and 29.

They earned this coveted opportunity through their fine performances at the Northwest Open Championships, which were held on Lake Ellyn in Glen Ellyn on Jan. 15, as well as at other earlier meets this year.

Miss Lutsch, the coach of the Mt. Prospect skating club, competing in the Senior Women's division, won second place medals in the mile and in the 880 yard races and took a fourth place medal in the 220 yard event at the Northwest meet.

BOB GRADY won a second place medal in the 440 yard event in the Juvenile division, which gave him enough total points for the season to send him to the Nationals. Bob's younger brother Billy, 7, skating his first year in competition, showed that he is learning fast by winning his first medal, a fourth place in the 220 yard event in the Pony division.

Pat Lutsch, 9, a niece of Miss Lutsch, also won a fourth place medal at the Northwest meet, skating in the Pony Girls division. Pat also has been making good progress in her first year of speed skating and shows great promise for the future.

Other skaters from the Mount Prospect Skating Club who gave very good performances at the Northwest meet and qualified for the finals were Tom Haenisch in the 880 yard event of the Junior Boys division, Mary Lou Haenisch in both the 220 yard and 440 yard event of the Midget Girls division, Linda Sommers in the 220 yard race in the Midget Girls division, Dick Solley in the 110 yard event of Pony Boys, and Ronnie Baker in the 220 yard event of Pony Boys.

IN ADDITION to the above qualifiers, the following Mount Prospect skaers competed at Lake Ellyn and gave a good account of themselves --Jerry Haenisch, Dan and Tim Jilek, Bill Leonard, Jack Nick Rutigliano, Janet Bickler and Norine Lutsch.

On Saturday, Jan. 14, the Pierce Western Open Championships, which were scheduled to be held at Humboldt Park in Chicgo, were postponed because of the unseasonable warm weather. They will be rescheduled later this week at Northbrook, weather permitting.

On Jan. 21 and 22, the Mount Prospect skaters will journey to Humboldt Park to participate in the Chicago Tribune Silver Skates championships. (Sp

Prospect's JVs Stop Maine West

Prospect's junior varsity basketeers ground out a 54-45 victory over Maine West's Warriors Saturday night in an Interim association contest.

The junior Knights played some of their best ball of the season in chalking up their third conference win against two losses.

Coach Ted Wissen's youngsters battled back from an 11-8 first quarter deficit to take a 22-20 lead at the half. The third quarter saw the lead change hands repeatedly with the Warriors coming out on top 34-32 at the buzzer.

But the Knights came on strongly in the opening minutes of the final period, dumping in eight straight points to move ahead 40-34. Maine West made it 40-36 with 4:55 remaining. Six more points and two minutes later it was the Knights 46-36. In all, Wissen's charges rang up 22 points in the last quarter to Maine's 11 to waltz home with the victory.

Tommy Thomas led the Knight attack with 19 points. Ken Groh had 17 and Bob Gerrard 11. Waters led Maine West with 16.

Abbinanti Insurance Claims Men's Crown!

It was time for a change!

In both the 1959 and 1960 Paddock Publications' men's bowling tournaments the final shift of the two-day affairs had produced the champions.

In '59 it was the Arlington Furniture Mart keglers of the Beverly Classic loop who put on a clutch performance for the dramatic title.

Last winter Schmidt Construction assaulted the lanes for a 3099 gross on that final shift to annex the crown.

The 1961 tournament, matching first place team's of 86 local leagues, followed a different and less dramatic script, however, as the Abbinanti Insurance keglers of the first shift turned in a 3085 gross that held up against the firing of the other entries.

The insurance-men outdistanced runnerup Bill Cook Buick of the Paddock Classic league by 48 total pins.

Heading the champions was Andy Steichman who rolled games of 242, 190, and 222. Stanley Polly chipped in with a 563 and Ed Sessions collected a 556 with a 234 opener. Gail Webber's 498 and sponsor Sam Abbinanti's 464 rounded out the champions' efforts.

THE PADDOCK Classic entry, rolling in the final shift, had a chance for the big prize and turned in games of 1022, 914, and 988 but only managed to edge Klehm's Nursery by one pin for second with a 3037 gross.

Tom Kouros' 639 with a 237 third game topped the Cook Buick squad and Jim Perna came home with a 610.

Charles Klehm and Son Nursery of the Business Men's Sportsman league at Beverly Lanes rolled in the first shift Sunday and its 3036 gross held up for second until Bill Cook Buick made its move.

FRANK Wilkowski fashioned a neat 629 series for Klehm's and finished with a 254.

Claiming the fourth spot was Meadows Restaurant of the Rolling Meadows Shopping Center division with a 3032 gross. Bob Deiber's 614 topped this entry which came in with a 2570 scratch and 462 handicap.

In fifth spot was Schroeder's Painter of the Pioneer Jr. Major loop. Bob Ross' 553 and Donald Schwenig's 551 topped the DuPage outfit with Ross collecting a 216 in his final game.

HIGH GAME out of the money was turned in by the Roselle State Bank of the Wood Dale Monday Scratch with a 979.

Averages of all prize winning keglers will be verified within the next three weeks, after which trophies and checks will be distributed. Results are still unofficial until the averages are verified and computations checked.

THE SAM ABBINANTI Insurance entry of the Mt. Prospect professional men's league at Jack Gunnell's Bowling Lanes walked off with top honors in Paddock Publications' tenth annual Inter-League handicap tournament last weekend. The 1961 champions rolled 2735 scratch and 3085 gross in claiming a 48-pin victory over runnerup Bill Cook Buick of the Paddock Classic men's traveling league. Heading the new titlist was Andy Steichman with a fancy 654 series on games of 242, 190, and 222. Stan Polly came in with a 563. Relaxing after their triumph are (l. to r.) Ed Sessions, Sam Abbinanti, Gail Webber, Steichman, and Polly. Rounding out the top five team finishers were Klehm's Nursery, Meadows Restaurant, and Schroeder's Painter.

Hi-Way to Host Gals January 21-22

The women start where the men left off — that's the situation in the Paddock Publications tournament trail where 55 squads of lady keglers will vie for honors this weekend at Hi-Way Recreation.

Competition will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday with eight units in the initial shift. Seven teams will follow at 3:40 p.m. in the final shift of the first day.

Four shifts will be staged Sunday with a 12:30 p.m. starting time.

Handicaps vary for this big event from just 39 sticks for the top team in the meet, Steve's Restaurant of the Paddock Women's Classic to Paddock Women's Classic to 617 for the Alley Kats of the DoAll Women's division. Team averages for the two squads are 856 and 581.

SECOND hottest outfit in the gals' tourney is Rein Tile of the Beverly Lanes Ladies Classic with an average of 811. Rein carried an 812 mark into last year's tournament.

Tire Terminal, Inc. of the Tri-City Friday Ladies league captured the 1960 crown but won't be back to defend its championship. Representing the Tri - City loop will be the Lane Janes with 652 average and 468 handicap.

First place teams of all local women's leagues as of New Year's Eve were eligible for this year's tourney with the field of 55 squads surpassing the previous record of 50.

FIRST place money in the women's meet is likely to be over $110 with second team money amounting to around $75. In addition, five individual trophies will be given the winners as well as the large traveling trophy.

All bowlers must be on time, a challenge to housewives. No "catch up" bowling will be permitted with women not ready to bowl in turn receiving zeroes for each missing frame.

Competitors are urged to be about twenty minutes early in reporting in order to be ready to bowl on time. Team captains should try to have an extra kegler on hand too, in the event of a flat tire or some other mishap the day of the tournament.

Abbinanti Insurance Claims Men's Crown!

It was time for a change!

In both the 1959 and 1960 Paddock Publications' men's bowling tournaments the final shift of the two-day affairs had produced the champions.

In '59 it was the Arlington Furniture Mart keglers of the Beverly Classic loop who put on a clutch performance for the dramatic title.

Last winter Schmidt Construction assaulted the lanes for a 3099 gross on that final shift to annex the crown.

The 1961 tournament, matching first place team's of 86 local leagues, followed a different and less dramatic script, however, as the Abbinanti Insurance keglers of the first shift turned in a 3085 gross that held up against the firing of the other entries.

The insurance-men outdistanced runnerup Bill Cook Buick of the Paddock Classic league by 48 total pins.

Heading the champions was Andy Steichman who rolled games of 242, 190, and 222. Stanley Polly chipped in with a 563 and Ed Sessions collected a 556 with a 234 opener. Gail Webber's 498 and sponsor Sam Abbinanti's 464 rounded out the champions' efforts.

THE PADDOCK Classic entry, rolling in the final shift, had a chance for the big prize and turned in games of 1022, 914, and 988 but only managed to edge Klehm's Nursery by one pin for second with a 3037 gross.

Tom Kouros' 639 with a 237 third game topped the Cook Buick squad and Jim Perna came home with a 610.

Charles Klehm and Son Nursery of the Business Men's Sportsman league at Beverly Lanes rolled in the first shift Sunday and its 3036 gross held up for second until Bill Cook Buick made its move.

FRANK Wilkowski fashioned a neat 629 series for Klehm's and finished with a 254.

Claiming the fourth spot was Meadows Restaurant of the Rolling Meadows Shopping Center division with a 3032 gross. Bob Deiber's 614 topped this entry which came in with a 2570 scratch and 462 handicap.

In fifth spot was Schroeder's Painter of the Pioneer Jr. Major loop. Bob Ross' 553 and Donald Schwenig's 551 topped the DuPage outfit with Ross collecting a 216 in his final game.

HIGH GAME out of the money was turned in by the Roselle State Bank of the Wood Dale Monday Scratch with a 979.

Averages of all prize winning keglers will be verified within the next three weeks, after which trophies and checks will be distributed. Results are still unofficial until the averages are verified and computations checked.

THE SAM ABBINANTI Insurance entry of the Mt. Prospect professional men's league at Jack Gunnell's Bowling Lanes walked off with top honors in Paddock Publications' tenth annual Inter-League handicap tournament last weekend. The 1961 champions rolled 2735 scratch and 3085 gross in claiming a 48-pin victory over runnerup Bill Cook Buick of the Paddock Classic men's traveling league. Heading the new titlist was Andy Steichman with a fancy 654 series on games of 242, 190, and 222. Stan Polly came in with a 563. Relaxing after their triumph are (l. to r.) Ed Sessions, Sam Abbinanti, Gail Webber, Steichman, and Polly. Rounding out the top five team finishers were Klehm's Nursery, Meadows Restaurant, and Schroeder's Painter.

Hi-Way to Host Gals January 21-22

The women start where the men left off — that's the situation in the Paddock Publications tournament trail where 55 squads of lady keglers will vie for honors this weekend at Hi-Way Recreation.

Competition will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday with eight units in the initial shift. Seven teams will follow at 3:40 p.m. in the final shift of the first day.

Four shifts will be staged Sunday with a 12:30 p.m. starting time.

Handicaps vary for this big event from just 39 sticks for the top team in the meet, Steve's Restaurant of the Paddock Women's Classic to Paddock Women's Classic to 617 for the Alley Kats of the DoAll Women's division. Team averages for the two squads are 856 and 581.

SECOND hottest outfit in the gals' tourney is Rein Tile of the Beverly Lanes Ladies Classic with an average of 811. Rein carried an 812 mark into last year's tournament.

Tire Terminal, Inc. of the Tri-City Friday Ladies league captured the 1960 crown but won't be back to defend its championship. Representing the Tri - City loop will be the Lane Janes with 652 average and 468 handicap.

First place teams of all local women's leagues as of New Year's Eve were eligible for this year's tourney with the field of 55 squads surpassing the previous record of 50.

FIRST place money in the women's meet is likely to be over $110 with second team money amounting to around $75. In addition, five individual trophies will be given the winners as well as the large traveling trophy.

All bowlers must be on time, a challenge to housewives. No "catch up" bowling will be permitted with women not ready to bowl in turn receiving zeroes for each missing frame.

Competitors are urged to be about twenty minutes early in reporting in order to be ready to bowl on time. Team captains should try to have an extra kegler on hand too, in the event of a flat tire or some other mishap the day of the tournament.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

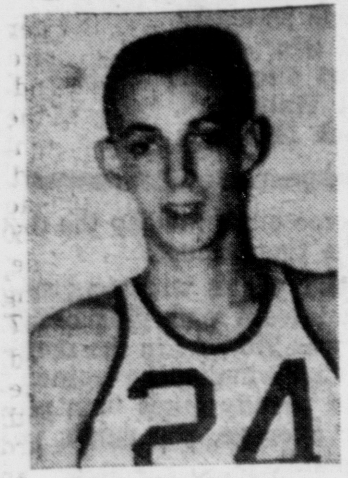
by BOB FRISK

ANYONE WHO DOUBTED that Hinsdale high's Bob Haarlow would carry on the family name in basketball circles just didn't know this likeable and talented young man.

Three years ago the son of an all-time great at the University of Chicago and brother of one of the West Suburban's, top hardwood performers entered high school.

Today this same Bob Haarlow, a seasoned varsity player though only a junior, is recognized as one of the state's finest. Last weekend he jumped into the West Suburban scoring lead and now carries a 19.7 average in league play.



BILL HAARLOW

If Bob continues at his present scoring pace, he will collect 276 points in the 14 West Suburban games and will turn in the second best season output ever recorded by a junior in league play. As a junior in the 1952-53 campaign, Ted Caiazza of LaGrange tossed in 313 for a 22.4 per game average and the current "high" among third-year performers.

The Haarlow name has been a prominent one in West Suburban basketball. In the 1958-59 campaign Hinsdale's classy outfit boasted 6-3 Bill Haarlow and all he did was collect 211 points for a 15.7 ppg and earn an all-conference ranking.

Although Bill was certainly a capable performer and one of the finest players to operate on WSC hardwoods in many season, Hinsdale's current stickout is likely to make a lot more headlines before he's through.

Bill saw extensive varsity action in only one season. He was used sparingly as a junior and finished with 33 points in conference games.

Bob was elevated to the varsity and handed a starting assignment as a sophomore, and he responded with 165 points in WSC games with a high of 18 against Downers Grove.

Just for the record, Downers Grove's Ken Lutgens has the "sophomore mark" in the conference with his 188 varsity points in the 1956-57 season. The next best output by a soph in 14 varsity games was 181 by Caiazza.

With this season only half way through and with another full varsity schedule ahead, Bob Haarlow should make quite a name for himself. He could become the conference scoring champion this year and if he accomplishes that trick, he would be the third non-senior to win the title in the past decade.

Caiazza and Lutgens both claimed scoring crowns as juniors with Ted rimming 313 in that 1952-53 season and Ken collecting his 231 in the 1958-58 campaign.

Bob Haarlow is probably one year away from All-State recognition. But that senior year should be a great one!

Prospect High Matmen Edge Willowbrook

Prospect high's varsity wrestlers toppled Willowbrook last Friday afternoon 26-20 in a test highlighted by the unusual!

The 120 and 127-pound bouts were held at the end of the meet in a move prompted by Willowbrook's Bill Pitts failing to make weight.

It was decided that if by the end of the heavyweight match, either team was safely on top, Willowbrook would forfeit 120 and Pitts and Prospect's Capt. Bob Trausch, two of the district's finest matmen, would meet in an exhibition.

If it were a close meet, Willowbrook's Scarpelli was to wrestle at 120 with either Pitts or Terry Mitchell going at 127.

AS IT TURNED out, Prospect held a 21-17 lead with the two matches remaining. Scarpelli was matched against Trausch and the Knight claimed a pin in 1:37. Mitchell battled Wayne Zaehler and picked up an 11-10 decision.

Claming victories for Willowbrbook in the Interim league battle were Ed Leppert, Jim MacIntyre, Symak, Gene Hallongren, and Larry Fontaine.

Doug Vaughan, Bob Laden, Ed Pedersen, and Darryl Phillips joined Capt. Trausch in the win column for Prospect with both Vaughan at 133 and Phillips at heavyweight recording pins.

Prospect's Blakely saw his unbeaten skein snapped at seven by Willowbrook's Leppert.

The victory set Arlington's standard at 5-1 for the season with two matches remaining.

Maine West Rally Tips Frosh-Sophs

Maine West outscored Prospect's frosh-soph cagers by six points in the final period Saturday and picked up a 43-41 hardwood victory.

The host Warriors trailed by 26-23 at halftime and 34-30 after three periods.

Coach Bob Hoese's Knights experienced a productive first quarter with five boys scoring and 16 points finding the mark. The offense slacked off in each succeeding stanza.

Hank LaRocco poured in 12 points, eight in the first half, to spark Prospect and Bob Hope added nine.

Score by quarters:

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Prospect | 16 | 10 | 8 | 7—41 |
| Maine West | 9 | 14 | 7 | 13—43 |

Prospect's Frosh Five Drops First

Maine West handed Prospect high's frosh cagers their first loss of the season last Saturday morning.

The visitors rallied from a third period deficit to outscore the young Knights by seven in the final stanza and collect a 47-41 decision.

Maine held a 19-16 lead at halftime but Coach Larry Wyllie's Prospect squad exploded for 18 points in the third period and gained a 34-33 advantage.

Dave White pumped in 11 points and Dave Gobielle added ten to pace the Knights. Agerster's 22 topped Maine West.

Hinsdale to Host Invitational Test

by BOB FRISK

A gymnastics spectacular will unfold at Hinsdale township high school Saturday when the state's finest competitors display their talents in the fifth annual Northern Illinois invitational championships.

Twenty-eight schools and over 150 boys are expected to compete for seven individual cronws and three team trophies.

Arlington high school's Cardinals, defending state champions, also claimed the Northern last winter and rank as one of the meet favorites.

Joining Arlington among the outfits that appear strong enough to annex the coveted invitational, this year are Prosect, Proviso East, York, Willowbrook, and New Trier.

AFTERNOON and evening sessions will be held with activities getting underway at both 1:30 and 7:30. Doors will open at 12:30 and 6:30 and a capacity crowd is expected for the evening session.

Each school is allowed to enter one all-around man and one specialist in each event.

Arlington's Gay Hughes will operate with Bill Sayre in tumbling and on the Trampoline, Dick Wetzel on the side horse, Len Witter on the horizontal bar and rings, Dave Wollerman on the parallel bars, and Jerry Russell in the all-around.

SAYRE and Wetzel, state champions in tumbling and on the side horse, both claimed Northern Illinois titles in their specialities last winter and are the only titlists returning for another crack.

Gary Erwin ruled the Trampolinists as a junior in both the Northern and state meets and would be favored Saturday, but the Cards' standout sitting out the first semester of competition.

Erwin spent the outset of the school year at the Berlin Industires Fair sponsored by the United States Information agency and because he wasn't in school within 10 days of its opening for the fall term, he is ineligible for competition until the second semester.

PROSPECT'S Rick Farris plans to use Ray Strobel on the Trampoline, Jim Oldham in tumbling, Dan Malloy on rings, Warren VanDerVoort on the high bar, Rick Stubenrauch on the side horse, Bill Palmer on the parallel bars, and Dave Price in the all-around.

Palmer was sixth in the state on parallel bars and Price was eighth in the all-around. Bill also finished eighth in the Northern's all-around event.

Hinsdale's gymnastics coach John Schaefer has lined up an outstanding list of judges for the Northern with the majority handling college gym outfits.

CHARLEY POND, successful University of Illinois coach, will reign as Superior Judge with Newt Loken of Michigan, Bill Meade of Southern Illinois, Dick Holzapfel of the University of Iowa, George Bauer of Wisconsin, and Ben Montcalm of the Chicago branch of Illinois working as assistants.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students at each session.

Two League Contests

Prospect at Proviso West; Arlington to Host Trojans

Prospect hits the road and Arlington hosts Downers Grove Friday evening as the area hardwood representatives engage in single conference encounters over the weekend.

The unbeaten Knights of the Interim league, now ranked second in the state in the Associated Press poll, will travel to Proviso West for a battle with Joe Hartley's Panthers.

Frank Bohac's Cardinals, a club fighting a losing skein but capable of exploding at any time, will kick off the second half of play in the West Suburban conference with their battle against the Trojans.

PROSPECT'S Interim tilt will be preceded by a junior-varsity game and Arlington's WSC affair will include a frosh-soph prelim. Both openers will begin at 7 p.m.

Coach Dick Kinneman's Knights will be seeking their 17th straight victory Friday in the battle in Hillside. Prospect routed Elmwood Park and dumped Maine West in two tilts last weekend.

Although the unbeaten Foundry rd. crew had little trouble with the Tigers on Friday, racing away with a 74-39 conquest, they were extended against Maine before pulling out a 51-39 decision.

FOR THE first time in its last four outings Prospect was held below 70 points. But although the offense was below par Saturday Kinneman expressed satisfaction with the defensive play.

This defense has been gaining plaudits throughout the state with Prospect holding opponents to an average of only 44.4 points per game. The Knights have now held opponents under 50 in their last five games. Only two of their victims this winter have collected more than 60 and five have been held under 40.

Kinneman praised the play of key reserves Bob Glaser and Keith Grams in the win over Maine West.

PROVISO West will carry a 2-3 Interim league record into Friday's fray. The Panthers bumped both Willowbrook and Glenbrook last weekend to climb into a tie for fourth in the loop.

Guard Bill Mele is the Panthers' top scorer in Interim action with 59 markers in five games but Dick Murphy, 6-4 Wayne Erdmann, and Tony Niketopoulos all chipped in with some clutch scoring last weekend.

TIME:

COACHES:

OFFICIALS:
Otho Kortz and Joe Lewis

It was Murphy's free throw in the final seconds that enabled the Panthers to edge Willowbrook 68-67.

ARLINGTON high's Cardinals have a six game losing streak to take care of and Friday would be a good time to break back into the win column.

The Cards rebounded from a 21-point loss to Hinsdale last Friday to give Maine township East's league leaders a good battle Saturday and may be ready to make some noise in the West Suburban.

In looking back over the first half of WSC play Arlington was only "out" of one game, that 73-52 loss at Hinsdale. In the other contests Bohac's entry was either in the game to the final buzzer or in contention until hitting a dry spell in the final period.

FIVE OF Arlington's losses this season have been by less than 10 points. Four have been by less than five.

Inexperienced to begin with, the varsity personnel at AHS now have 14 games behind them. Chuck Close and Gary Brodnan, the sophomore guards, are beginning to profit from varsity experience as both have been playing impressive basketball.

Close is developing into one of the squad's most consistent scorers and has been in double figures in three straight games. Chuck now ranks second to Jim Clabaugh on the squad in league scoring with 69 markers in seven games.

Senior Bob Jacobsen, a regular and the squad's second leading scorer, is still a question-mark. Jacobsen, who had pneumonia, is back in school but may be slow in working back into shape. He's missed three straight loop tilts and is a doubtful performer for Friday's game.

Midget Track Trials Slated For Jan. 28

Arlington Heights Midget speedsters will have their chance to qualify to run in the Chicago daily News Relays slated for the International Amphitheatre.

Time trials for the Park District midget relay team will be held Jan. 28 beginning at 1 p.m. on the Prospect high school indoor track.

Any boy 11 years of age and under (will not be 12 before March 10, 1961)-and attends school in the Arlington Heights Park District is eligible to try out.

FIVE BOYS will be picked for the team on the basis of the time trials. Practice sessions will then be scheduled for the team.

In mid-February the team will go to the University of Chicago for the relay team time trials. If the team has a good enough time it will make the trip to the finals.

The finals will be a part of the annual Chicago Daily News Relays to be held in the International Amphitheater on March 10. Call CL 3-0620 for further information.

PERFORMING ON the rings for Arlington high's varsity gymnasts in last Saturday's meet with York is junior Jerry Russell. Russell finished fifth in this event, and the visiting Dukes surprised Arlington 79-52.

Maine East Hands Cards' Wrestlers 1st League Loss!

Maine township East's wrestlers handed Arlington high its first conference loss last Saturday afternoon in a varsity battle on the Blue Demons' mat.

Coach Bob Emmons' Cardinals, seeking their sixth straight dual meet victory and fourth straight in WSC action, held the lead on two occasions before Maine put on its rush.

The Blue Demons trailed 11-9 after the 133-pound bout, then rolled to four straight decisions and a 21-11 lead.

RICH EDELBLUTE claimed the Cards' final victory with a 5-0 decision at 180, his tenth conquest of the 1960-61 campaign.

Also picking up victroies for Arlington wer eTim Smith at 112, Ken Adams with a pin at 120, and Tim O'Gorman at 133. Both Smith and O'Gorman remained unbeaten in West Suburban competition.

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph wrestlers will host Downers Grove Saturday at 2 p.m. with the varsity Trojans topping the West Suburban with a 4-0 mark.

The summaries:

Maine East 24, Arlington 14

95 pounds—Johnson (M) beat FitzPatrick (A), 7-4
103—DeStefano (M) beat Hoehle (A), 8-0
112—Smith (A) beat Peterson (M), 6-1

The host Warriors trailed by 26-23 at halftime and 34-30 after three periods.

Coach Bob Hoese's Knights experienced a productive first quarter with five boys scoring and 16 points finding the mark. The offense slacked off in each succeeding stanza.

Hank LaRocco poured in 12 points, eight in the first half, to spark Prospect and Bob Hope added nine.

Two League Contests

Prospect at Proviso West; Arlington to Host Trojans

Prospect hits the road and Arlington hosts Downers Grove Friday evening as the area hardwood representatives engage in single conference encounters over the weekend.

The unbeaten Knights of the Interim league, now ranked second in the state in the Associated Press poll, will travel to Proviso West for a battle with Joe Hartley's Panthers.

Frank Bohac's Cardinals, a club fighting a losing skein but capable of exploding at any time, will kick off the second half of play in the West Suburban conference with their battle against the Trojans.

PROSPECT'S Interim tilt will be preceded by a junior-varsity game and Arlington's WSC affair will include a frosh-soph prelim. Both openers will begin at 7 p.m.

FOR THE first time in its last four outings Prospect was held below 70 points. But although the offense was below par Saturday Kinneman expressed satisfaction with the defensive play.

This defense has been gaining plaudits throughout the state with Prospect holding opponents to an average of only 44.4 points per game. The Knights have now held opponents under 50 in their last five games. Only two of their victims this winter have collected more than 60 and five have been held under 40.

Kinneman praised the play of key reserves Bob Glaser and Keith Grams in the win over Maine West.

PROVISO West will carry a 2-3 Interim league record into Friday's fray. The Panthers bumped both Willowbrook and Glenbrook last weekend to climb into a tie for fourth in the loop.

Guard Bill Mele is the Panthers' top scorer in Interim action with 59 markers in five games but Dick Murphy, 6-4 Wayne Erdmann, and Tony Niketopoulos all chipped in with some clutch scoring last weekend.

It was Murphy's free throw in the final seconds that enabled the Panthers to edge Willowbrook 68-67.

ARLINGTON high's Cardinals have a six game losing streak to take care of and Friday would be a good time to break back into the win column.

The Cards rebounded from a 21-point loss to Hinsdale last Friday to give Maine township East's league leaders a good battle Saturday and may be ready to make some noise in the West Suburban.

In looking back over the first half of WSC play Arlington was only "out" of one game, that 73-52 loss at Hinsdale. In the other contests Bohac's entry was either in the game to the final buzzer or in contention until hitting a dry spell in the final period.

FIVE OF Arlington's losses this season have been by less than 10 points. Four have been by less than five.

Inexperienced to begin with, the varsity personnel at AHS now have 14 games behind them. Chuck Close and Gary Brodnan, the sophomore guards, are beginning to profit from varsity experience as both have been playing impressive basketball.

Close is developing into one of the squad's most consistent scorers and has been in double figures in three straight games. Chuck now ranks second to Jim Clabaugh on the squad in league scoring with 69 markers in seven games.

Senior Bob Jacobsen, a regular and the squad's second leading scorer, is still a question-mark. Jacobsen, who had pneumonia, is back in school but may be slow in working back into shape. He's missed three straight loop tilts and is a doubtful performer for Friday's game.

Maine East Hands Cards' Wrestlers 1st League Loss!

Maine township East's wrestlers handed Arlington high its first conference loss last Saturday afternoon in a varsity battle on the Blue Demons' mat.

Coach Bob Emmons' Cardinals, seeking their sixth straight dual meet victory and fourth straight in WSC action, held the lead on two occasions before Maine put on its rush.

The Blue Demons trailed 11-9 after the 133-pound bout, then rolled to four straight decisions and a 21-11 lead.

Hinsdale to Host Invitational Test

by BOB FRISK

A gymnastics spectacular will unfold at Hinsdale township high school Saturday when the state's finest competitors display their talents in the fifth annual Northern Illinois invitational championships.

Twenty-eight schools and over 150 boys are expected to compete for seven individual cronws and three team trophies.

Arlington high school's Cardinals, defending state champions, also claimed the Northern last winter and rank as one of the meet favorites.

Joining Arlington among the outfits that appear strong enough to annex the coveted invitational this year are Prosect, Proviso East, York, Willowbrook, and New Trier.

AFTERNOON and evening sessions will be held with activities getting underway at both 1:30 and 7:30. Doors will open at 12:30 and 6:30 and a capacity crowd is expected for the evening session.

Each school is allowed to enter one all-around man and one specialist in each event.

Arlington's Gay Hughes will operate with Bill Sayre in tumbling and on the Trampoline, Dick Wetzel on the side horse, Len Witter on the horizontal bar and rings, Dave Wollerman on the parallel bars, and Jerry Russell in the all-around.

SAYRE and Wetzel, state champions in tumbling and on the side horse, both claimed Northern Illinois titles in their specialities last winter and are the only titlists returning for another crack.

Gary Erwin ruled the Trampolinists as a junior in both the Northern and state meets and would be favored Saturday, but the Cards' standout sitting out the first semester of competition.

Erwin spent the outset of the school year at the Berlin Industires Fair sponsored by the United States Information agency and because he wasn't in school within 10 days of its opening for the fall term, he is ineligible for competition until the second semester.

PROSPECT'S Rick Farris plans to use Ray Strobel on the Trampoline, Jim Oldham in tumbling, Dan Malloy on rings, Warren VanDerVoort on the high bar, Rick Stubenrauch on the side horse, Bill Palmer on the parallel bars, and Dave Price in the all-around.

Palmer was sixth in the state on parallel bars and Price was eighth in the all-around. Bill also finished eighth in the Northern's all-around event.

Hinsdale's gymnastics coach John Schaefer has lined up an outstanding list of judges for the Northern with the majority handling college gym outfits.

CHARLEY POND, successful University of Illinois coach, will reign as Superior Judge with Newt Loken of Michigan, Bill Meade of Southern Illinois, Dick Holzapfel of the University of Iowa, George Bauer of Wisconsin, and Ben Montcalm of the Chicago branch of Illinois working as assistants.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students at each session.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

IT WAS A WEEK of upsets. On the state level, East Rockford was beaten by East Aurora and should tumble plenty from a second place ranking. In the suburban area the upset of the season was engineered by McHenry in beating neighboring rival Crystal Lake by two points. The Lakers dropped to 6-1 with Libertyville remaining 5-2 as they nosed out Dundee by one point. Barrington ran up a 25-10 first quarter on Zion and beat them by 10. Douglas, veteran Broncho guard, was the difference with 27 points. In our opinion Douglas and Murphy of Zion are the best shooting guards in the circuit. Murphy scored 23 in this game and both he and Douglas were top performers last season on two of the finest clubs in the North Suburban Conference.

THE BIG EIGHT Conference is in the process of reorganization. Just what alignment is being planned we are not certain. It seems likely that Elgin, planning a second high school, will compete in a new group which will include Big Eight members, East and West Aurora. Joliet left the conference to join the South Suburban, competing for the first time this season. We understand that possible schools to join the new setup may be some of the west side members of the Interim Association. This could include the new Glenbard school, Leyden, Willowbrook, West Proviso and Wheaton as possibilities. We understand that Naperville of the Little Seven is under consideration. The Big Eight is wise in planning ahead. A third Rockford school, Auburn, was opened this year and a fourth is on the drawing boards. Just who the Rockfords and Freeport could arrange to join them is a real question. Actually they are not far, from the standpoint of time, from the north and west suburbs since opening of the tollway. Then there is the situation of LaSalle-Peru, a member which is quite far from all the other Big Eight schools. This points up once again the fact that for many years to come the suburban area will be in a state of realignment due to new schools and changing enrollments.

20 YEARS AGO

Palatine took two conference double victories the past two weeks. The varsity aided by Hildebrandt's 21 points beat Grant 42-22 while the lights won 32-30. At Bensenville the Pirates took a 52-24 victory in the varsity game as Snyder and Hahnfeldt each scored 16 while playing 20 minutes. Palatine led 30-8 at the half. Palatine lights also won their 6th straight in the conference 27-23 as "Bucky" Harris scored 12. . . . Saturday night when Hebron's Green Giants with four members of a state tournament team came to Palatine the Pirates played their best of the season winning 44-41. Hollinger with 14 and Hildebrandt with 12 topped the scorers but it was a smooth, fast passing team effort which won for Palatine in its 14th victory in 16 games. It was Hebron's 3rd loss in 17 with Howie Judson scoring 15. Arlington is off to a good start since the holidays beating Warren 39-23 and Libertyville 47-34 as Ed Mueller collected a total of 39 points.

10 YEARS AGO

Bensenville won their first league game in seven starts Friday and it knocked Palatine out of a tie for the Northwest lead by 40-32. The rejuvenated Bisons shot 40% from the field and were aided by a transfer from Nebraska, Shymkwich, who led the scorers with 10 points. Palatine sophs got their 2nd win 36-33. . . . Arlington droped a 42-36 decision to Leyden. Uvelli had 12 for Leyden and Clark collected 16 for the Cardinals. . . . Arlington in their first year of wrestling has individual winners in Bob Schulze (heavyweight), Norbert Leckband (154), Fred Bogardt (112), and Francis Lyons (153). . . . A new regional tournament will be held this year in the suburbs with Barrington the host and among the competing teams will be Arlington and Palatine.

Cards' Matmen Top Hinsdale Squad, 23-21

Arlington high fashioned its fifth straight dual meet victory and third straight West Suburban decision last Friday evening with an impressive 23-21 conquest of Hinsdale.

The varsity Cardinals collected three decisions, two pins, and two ties in dumping the visiting Red Devils.

Arlington trailed 16-15 after 154 but picked up eight points in the next two bouts thanks to a 4-2 decision by Hal Selleck and pin by Rich Edelblute.

EDELBLUTE'S pin at 180 provided the margin Bob Emmons' Cards needed in gaining the victory. It was the ninth triuph of the season for Edelblute who has five pins to his credit.

Conference Leaders Handle Cards, 59-51

by BOB FRISK

Maine township East's conference leaders, the only unbeaten outfit in the West Suburban title chase, got more than they bargained for from a fired-up Arlington squad last Saturday evening.

Coach Bernie Brady's Blue Demons needed help from a big first quarter in wrapping up a 59-51 victory over the host Cardinals.

A meeting of the loop's only unbeaten team with one of the occupants of the cellar normally doesn't generate too much excitement for hardwood followers. But when the teams involved are Maine and Arlington, past results can be tossed aside.

COACH FRANK Bohac's Cards now standing 1-6 in league action, only led on one occasion in the entire game Saturday but with a little luck from the charity stripe could have recorded a major upset.

Only six of 16 free throws found the mark in a first half that saw Maine pull out to a 30-22 lead. Arlington only connected on two of ten in the second stanza.

Maine rocketed off to a 19-10 first period margin after Jim Clabaugh had given Arlington a brief lead of 2-0 on a 17-foot jumper.

The Blue Demons held a 21-13 lead at the outset of the second period when the Cardinals started to move. Don Kolstad, showing well for the second straight night in a reserve role, banged home a tip-in and seconds later Gary Brodnan was netting a nifty drive.

WITH 5:5 remaining before halftime Kolstad dumped in two free throws to cut Maine's lead to two markers. With 4:29 remaining Ross Retterer potted a, jump to give the Cardinals a '21-all deadlock.

The visitors fought back and outscored Arlington by eight points in the final four minutes before the intermission. The Cardinals' only point in this unfortunate dry spell was a free throw by Brodnan.

Retterer's jump shot from the corner pushed the Cardinals to within four midway in the third period, but Maine rebounded again and took command by ten, 44-34, at the buzzer.

BRADY'S league - leaders had things pretty much their own way in that final quarter but weren't in such complete command that they could afford to toss in the shock troops.

With 2:58 remaining Maine went into a modified stall with a 53-44 lead. Arlington scored five of the game's final seven points and outscored the Blue Demons 12-6 in the final 3½ minutes.

Seven boys broke into the scoring column for Arlington with Clabaugh's 12 points high. Soph Chuck Close hit double figures for the third straight game and finished with 11.

Maine's Ed Petrick took game honors with 17, eleven from the charity line. Big Steve Smith, a 6-5 junior, added 16.

Prospect High Matmen Dump Elmwood Park

A pin by Mike Hogarty and decision by Darryl Phillips broke a 19-all deadlock and gave Prospect high's varsity wrestlers a 27-19 victory over Elmwood Park Tuesday afternoon.

Trailing all the way until the 165-pound bout, Elmwood Park climbed into a tie when Joe Urbanski dumped Ron Christensen 7-3. That set the stage for the two concluding bouts.

Hogarty held a 2-0 lead when he put on the clincher in 3:34 of the 180-pound meeting, and Phillips piled up six points in the second period in a 6-3 victory at heavyweight.

PROSPECT jumped off to a 13-0 lead after three bouts on a decision by Del Blakely, pin by frosh Mike Phillips, and forefeit.

York's Gymnasts Shock Arlington

An unbeaten string that covered 17 meets and was initiated toward the end of the 1958-59 campaign was snapped last Saturday afternoon when York high school's varsity gymnasts surprised a host Arlington team, 79-52.

The Dukes rolled up advantages in four events and blanked the defending state champions on the high bar in claiming the decisive victory.

It was the first defeat for a varsity gymnastics team at Arlington high since Proviso East turned the trick in February of 1959. Since that setback, the Cards had registered triumphs in two state meets, the Northern Illinois invitational, and 15 duals.

Arlington's Dick Wetzel and Bill Sayre, defending state champs on the side horse and in tumbling respectively, both dropped their specialties for the first time this season.

SAYRE DID collect a first on the Trampoline and Jerry Russell topped the parallel bars for the Cardinals' only firsts of the afternoon.

Tigers No Match for PHS Five

by TOM McSHANE

Prospect high school's Knights, the state's fourth-ranked basketball team last week, roared past Elmwood Park Friday night 74-39 on the Tiger floor for their 15th straight win of the season.

The Tigers, giving away pounds and inches at every position, never really were in the game as the Knights butchered their offense and defense with a fast break and ball-hawking press.

The Knights took a 5-0 lead in the first two minutes on two tips by George Pomey and a free throw by Bill Zadel. The Prospect team built its lead to 17-9 at the buzzer after the teams chalked up 14 fouls between them in a whistle-filled eight minutes.

THE KNIGHTS continued to roll in the second quarter with bursts of eight and ten straight points, building a 41-17 halftime lead. Bob Glaser led the Prospect attack with eight points. Pomey added six to his first quarter total of nine.

Things didn't get any better for the Tigers in the third quarter. The Knights extended their ten point burst of the second quarter to 13 straight before Elmwood Park scored. As it ended, the Tigers had not scored in six minutes, 50 seconds of regulation time, while Prospect was jumping its lead from 31-17 to 44-17.

The barrage continued, and, when Coach Dick Kinneman pulled his regulars with 35 seconds left in the third period, Prospect owned an untouchable 59-23 lead.

THE TIGERS lost the final period to the Knight reserves 15-14 in what proved to be a much closer battle.

Pomey led the Prospect squad with 17 points for the night. Zadel had 10. Bob Kahle got 15 for the losers.

This Friday the Knights take to the road again, this time to Hillside, where Proviso West's Panthers will host them in the final game of Interim association first round play.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

IT WAS A WEEK of upsets. On the state level, East Rockford was beaten by East Aurora and should tumble plenty from a second place ranking. In the suburban area the upset of the season was engineered by McHenry in beating neighboring rival Crystal Lake by two points. The Lakers dropped to 6-1 with Libertyville remaining 5-2 as they nosed out Dundee by one point. Barrington ran up a 25-10 first quarter on Zion and beat them by 10. Douglas, veteran Broncho guard, was the difference with 27 points. In our opinion Douglas and Murphy of Zion are the best shooting guards in the circuit. Murphy scored 23 in this game and both he and Douglas were top performers last season on two of the finest clubs in the North Suburban Conference.

THE BIG EIGHT Conference is in the process of reorganization. Just what alignment is being planned we are not certain. It seems likely that Elgin, planning a second high school, will compete in a new group which will include Big Eight members, East and West Aurora. Joliet left the conference to join the South Suburban, competing for the first time this season. We understand that possible schools to join the new setup may be some of the west side members of the Interim Association. This could include the new Glenbard school, Leyden, Willowbrook, West Proviso and Wheaton as possibilities. We understand that Naperville of the Little Seven is under consideration. The Big Eight is wise in planning ahead. A third Rockford school, Auburn, was opened this year and a fourth is on the drawing boards. Just who the Rockfords and Freeport could arrange to join them is a real question. Actually they are not far, from the standpoint of time, from the north and west suburbs since opening of the tollway. Then there is the situation of LaSalle-Peru, a member which is quite far from all the other Big Eight schools. This points up once again the fact that for many years to come the suburban area will be in a state of realignment due to new schools and changing enrollments.

20 YEARS AGO

Palatine took two conference double victories the past two weeks. The varsity aided by Hildebrandt's 21 points beat Grant 42-22 while the lights won 32-30. At Bensenville the Pirates took a 52-24 victory in the varsity game as Snyder and Hahnfeldt each scored 16 while playing 20 minutes. Palatine led 30-8 at the half. Palatine lights also won their 6th straight in the conference 27-23 as "Bucky" Harris scored 12. . . . Saturday night when Hebron's Green Giants with four members of a state tournament team came to Palatine the Pirates played their best of the season winning 44-41. Hollinger with 14 and Hildebrandt with 12 topped the scorers but it was a smooth, fast passing team effort which won for Palatine in its 14th victory in 16 games. It was Hebron's 3rd loss in 17 with Howie Judson scoring 15. Arlington is off to a good start since the holidays beating Warren 39-23 and Libertyville 47-34 as Ed Mueller collected a total of 39 points.

10 YEARS AGO

Bensenville won their first league game in seven starts Friday and it knocked Palatine out of a tie for the Northwest lead by 40-32. The rejuvenated Bisons shot 40% from the field and were aided by a transfer from Nebraska, Shymkwich, who led the scorers with 10 points. Palatine sophs got their 2nd win 36-33. . . . Arlington droped a 42-36 decision to Leyden. Uvelli had 12 for Leyden and Clark collected 16 for the Cardinals. . . . Arlington in their first year of wrestling has individual winners in Bob Schulze (heavyweight), Norbert Leckband (154), Fred Bogardt (112), and Francis Lyons (153). . . . A new regional tournament will be held this year in the suburbs with Barrington the host and among the competing teams will be Arlington and Palatine.

Cards' Matmen Top Hinsdale Squad, 23-21

Arlington high fashioned its fifth straight dual meet victory and third straight West Suburban decision last Friday evening with an impressive 23-21 conquest of Hinsdale.

The varsity Cardinals collected three decisions, two pins, and two ties in dumping the visiting Red Devils.

Arlington trailed 16-15 after 154 but picked up eight points in the next two bouts thanks to a 4-2 decision by Hal Selleck and pin by Rich Edelblute.

EDELBLUTE'S pin at 180 provided the margin Bob Emmons' Cards needed in gaining the victory. It was the ninth triuph of the season for Edelblute who has five pins to his credit.

Sophomore Denny Fitz-Patrick got Arlington off to a quick start with a 9-0 decision at 95. The Tnext bouts were also decided by shutouts with Tim Smith gaining the single Cardinal victory.

Senior Tim O'Gorman pinned Sullivan in 5:50 at 133, marking his first pin in high school competition. Tim boosted his season standard to 8-1-1 with the victory.

MIKE KOENIG gave the Cards two points with a tie at 138 and following a setback, the locals counted again on another deadlock. Gar Simmons was involved in this tie at 154.

Maine East Wins

Conference Leaders Handle Cards, 59-51

by BOB FRISK

Maine township East's conference leaders, the only unbeaten outfit in the West Suburban title chase, got more than they bargained for from a fired-up Arlington squad last Saturday evening.

Coach Bernie Brady's Blue Demons needed help from a big first quarter in wrapping up a 59-51 victory over the host Cardinals.

A meeting of the loop's only unbeaten team with one of the occupants of the cellar normally doesn't generate too much excitement for hardwood followers. But when the teams involved are Maine and Arlington, past results can be tossed aside.

COACH FRANK Bohac's Cards now standing 1-6 in league action, only led on one occasion in the entire game Saturday but with a little luck from the charity stripe could have recorded a major upset.

Only six of 16 free throws found the mark in a first half that saw Maine pull out to a 30-22 lead. Arlington only connected on two of ten in the second stanza.

Maine rocketed off to a 19-10 first period margin after Jim Clabaugh had given Arlington a brief lead of 2-0 on a 17-foot jumper.

The Blue Demons held a 21-13 lead at the outset of the second period when the Cardinals started to move. Don Kolstad, showing well for the second straight night in a reserve role, banged home a tip-in and seconds later Gary Brodnan was netting a nifty drive.

WITH 5:5 remaining before halftime Kolstad dumped in two free throws to cut Maine's lead to two markers. With 4:29 remaining Ross Retterer potted a, jump to give the Cardinals a '21-all deadlock.

The visitors fought back and outscored Arlington by eight points in the final four minutes before the intermission. The Cardinals' only point in this unfortunate dry spell was a free throw by Brodnan.

Retterer's jump shot from the corner pushed the Cardinals to within four midway in the third period, but Maine rebounded again and took command by ten, 44-34, at the buzzer.

BRADY'S league - leaders had things pretty much their own way in that final quarter but weren't in such complete command that they could afford to toss in the shock troops.

With 2:58 remaining Maine went into a modified stall with a 53-44 lead. Arlington scored five of the game's final seven points and outscored the Blue Demons 12-6 in the final 3½ minutes.

Seven boys broke into the scoring column for Arlington with Clabaugh's 12 points high. Soph Chuck Close hit double figures for the third straight game and finished with 11.

Maine's Ed Petrick took game honors with 17, eleven from the charity line. Big Steve Smith, a 6-5 junior, added 16.

Prospect High Matmen Dump Elmwood Park

A pin by Mike Hogarty and decision by Darryl Phillips broke a 19-all deadlock and gave Prospect high's varsity wrestlers a 27-19 victory over Elmwood Park Tuesday afternoon.

Trailing all the way until the 165-pound bout, Elmwood Park climbed into a tie when Joe Urbanski dumped Ron Christensen 7-3. That set the stage for the two concluding bouts.

Hogarty held a 2-0 lead when he put on the clincher in 3:34 of the 180-pound meeting, and Phillips piled up six points in the second period in a 6-3 victory at heavyweight.

PROSPECT jumped off to a 13-0 lead after three bouts on a decision by Del Blakely, pin by frosh Mike Phillips, and forefeit.

Ed Pederson gave Prospect three points at 145, but Elmwood Park continued its rush and finally knotted the count with Urbanski's decision at 165.

York's Gymnasts Shock Arlington

An unbeaten string that covered 17 meets and was initiated toward the end of the 1958-59 campaign was snapped last Saturday afternoon when York high school's varsity gymnasts surprised a host Arlington team, 79-52.

The Dukes rolled up advantages in four events and blanked the defending state champions on the high bar in claiming the decisive victory.

It was the first defeat for a varsity gymnastics team at Arlington high since Proviso East turned the trick in February of 1959. Since that setback, the Cards had registered triumphs in two state meets, the Northern Illinois invitational, and 15 duals.

Arlington's Dick Wetzel and Bill Sayre, defending state champs on the side horse and in tumbling respectively, both dropped their specialties for the first time this season.

SAYRE DID collect a first on the Trampoline and Jerry Russell topped the parallel bars for the Cardinals' only firsts of the afternoon.

Tigers No Match for PHS Five

by TOM McSHANE

Prospect high school's Knights, the state's fourth-ranked basketball team last week, roared past Elmwood Park Friday night 74-39 on the Tiger floor for their 15th straight win of the season.

The Tigers, giving away pounds and inches at every position, never really were in the game as the Knights butchered their offense and defense with a fast break and ball-hawking press.

The Knights took a 5-0 lead in the first two minutes on two tips by George Pomey and a free throw by Bill Zadel. The Prospect team built its lead to 17-9 at the buzzer after the teams chalked up 14 fouls between them in a whistle-filled eight minutes.

THE KNIGHTS continued to roll in the second quarter with bursts of eight and ten straight points, building a 41-17 halftime lead. Bob Glaser led the Prospect attack with eight points. Pomey added six to his first quarter total of nine.

Things didn't get any better for the Tigers in the third quarter. The Knights extended their ten point burst of the second quarter to 13 straight before Elmwood Park scored. As it ended, the Tigers had not scored in six minutes, 50 seconds of regulation time, while Prospect was jumping its lead from 31-17 to 44-17.

The barrage continued, and, when Coach Dick Kinneman pulled his regulars with 35 seconds left in the third period, Prospect owned an untouchable 59-23 lead.

THE TIGERS lost the final period to the Knight reserves 15-14 in what proved to be a much closer battle.

Pomey led the Prospect squad with 17 points for the night. Zadel had 10. Bob Kahle got 15 for the losers.

This Friday the Knights take to the road again, this time to Hillside, where Proviso West's Panthers will host them in the final game of Interim association first round play.

Riverside JVs Handle Cards, 45-34

Riverside-Brookfield's junior-varsity cagers moved out to an early lead, then held on in fashioning a 45-34 victory over Arlington last Saturday morning.

The loss was the first in six outings for Coach Norm Patberg's Cardinals.

R-B held an 18-9 lead at the end of the first period and was on top 24-21 at halftime. The hosts outscored Arlington in each of the final two quarters.

The Cards were operating without some key performers who had been elevated to varsity status and guard Bob Laughlin became ill and only saw action in half the game.

John Burgermeister topped the Cardinals with 12 points on six baskets. Vince Furlong chipped in with seven and Laughlin added five in his brief appearance.

River-Rand Bowlers Record 3-0 Decision

On the face of it, River-Rand Bowl of Des Plaines seems to have taken over things in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League as second half play opened Saturday night at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights.

The River-Rand girls, fourth in the first round, captured all three games from Northfield Bowl and thereby took a one-game lead on every team in the league.

Basically, things remain the same as before with Steve's Restaurant of Wheeling and Vernon Hills Restaurant of Lake Zurich the one-two teams in the league.

IT JUST SO happened that these two teams met right off the bat with Vernon Hills Restaurant avenging its runnerup role by taking a pair from Steve's.

Average's Saturday also prove the two teams to be the best. Vernon Hills overaged 860 and Steve's average was 850. River-Rand's team average was 817.

Vernon Hills, bowling out of Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, took the first game from Steve's Restaurant, 882-835, as Vi Douglas of Palatine bowled 210. Steve's, which calls Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling home, came back to take the second, 900-863, as Alice Alten of Mt. Prospect and Dona Reynolds of Northbrook, rolled 202 and 201, respectively. Both teams dropped off their early pace in the last game, Vernon Hills finishing the stronger, 835-816.

RIVER-RAND Bowl had little trouble winning all three from Northfield Bowl except for the last game which was by a 23-pin difference. Hazel Steiger of Arlington Heights led River-Rand with a 205 game and 521 series. Gloria Lucchesi of Winnetka was high for Northfield with a 501 triplicate.

Two girls, Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights and Mary Amisante rolled 614 and 575, respectively for Morton Pontiac of Arlington Heights, but they couldn't carry the weight alone as Sims Bowl won two of three games. Maxine Moehling of Mt. Prospect paced the Des Plaines team with a 489 triplicate.

Aside from the two Morton bowlers, the only other women to bowl 550 or better were Janice Crovetti of Highwood and Steve's Restaurant with 556 and Vi Douglas of Palatine with 552.

2nd Sportsarama Set for January 28 By Booster Club

The Cardinals Booster Club of Arlington high school will present its second Sportsarama in the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m., Saturday, January 28.

A similar program was offered in the fall of 1958 and it proved so popular, the club has decided to use the same idea for the annual Sports show this year.

The program will appeal to all ages as an attempt will be made to acquaint parents, friends and students with all phases of sports activities at the high school.

ALL NINE competitive sports will be represented in one way or another. Some acts will be educational, some will be humorous and all will be entertaining. An added attraction will be the highly popular German band of the high school.

Master of ceremonies for the evening of fun and laughter will be Paul Michaels, Booster Club member and well known local humorist. Max Friedlander, Ways and Means chairman of the club is in charge of all arrangements.

BOOSTER CLUB members will receive tickets in the mail soon. Admission charges will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Tickets will also be on sale in the gym foyer during the next two basketball games, January 20 and 27.

Tickets may also be purchased in the high school administrative office and at the door the night of the Sports show.

Jeffery Lanes, Casablanca Sweep Three Classic Games

The standings look a good deal different after one week of play in the second half of the Paddock Classic Traveling League than they did when the first half ended two weeks ago.

Two changes are quite noticeable. Bill Cook Buick, first round champion, lost all three games and finds itself tied for last place. Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling, which finished seventh in the first round, captured all three games from Timroth Plumbing and finds itself tied for first.

Tommy Thomas' Casablanca team, bowling on its home Hi-Way Recreation lanes in Palatine Saturday night, found the pins to its liking as it swept all three games from the Bowlway of Elgin entry, Bill Cook Buick.

BILL BOND'S Mens Wear bowled the high series, 3015, no game being lower than 999, and yet won only two. Bill Bond's, bowling out of Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, rolled 1005 in the second game but lost as Pro Sport Center of Mt. Prospect hit 1036. This was the highest losing game by any Paddock Classic team this year.

Cook County Mobile Homes of Des Plaines, first half runnerup, captured two from Moyle Construction of Barrington. This was a much better start for Moyle Construction than the first round in which it was last from start to finish.

Captain Bill Harris of Wheeling paced his Jeffery team to three decisions over the Timroth five from Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights where next Saturday's action is scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

HARRIS WAS the only Jeffery bowler to hit 600, posting a 640 series on games of 223, 192 and 225. However, no teammate was below 535 and this produced a 2836 series for Jeffery.

Jeffery bowled just a little better when the occasion called for it and the score showed that. The Wheeling team out-totaled Timroth by just 32 pins in winning all three. Jeffery won the first game by three pins, 892-889. The second game was a nine pin difference as the teams stepped up the pace. And when Timroth hit 992 in the final behind a 225 by Warren Olson, Jeffery retaliated with a 1022 on a 225 game by Harris.

Herb Engstrom of Elgin was the big cog for Casablanca, rolling a 684 series to equal the high bowled by Bob Rogers of Des Plaines. Bill Cook Buick was unable to come with the scores it had the week before while winning the first round championship. As a result, Casablanca took all three, the closest contest being a 31 pin difference in the final. Jim Perna of Rolling Meadows was the only Bill Cook Buick bowler to be in the 600's with a 615 series, including a 244 high game.

BILL BOND'S of Rolling Meadows produced the only twosome to join the 600 club from one team. John Taylor of Waukegan racked up a 650 total and George Radke of Mundelein shot 634.

The Bill Bond five was outstanding in every game as it bowled 1011, 1005, and 999. The 999 game was the best "low game" in any one series by a Paddock team this year. A 224 game by Earl Fenimore of Arlington Heights, 219 by John Ribando of Mt. Prospect, and 209 by Al Valentino of Rolling Meadows, gave Pro Sport Center the high game for the night and its only win against Bill Bond's. Although Fenimore, who had a 670 series, rolled a 269 for high game, Bill Bond's overcame this handicap to win the deciding game.

Rogers was the difference as Cook County Mobile Homes, the River-Rand representative, won two. His 181 game didn't stop Moyle Construction of Ten Pin in Barrington from winning the opener. But when Rogers rolled 267 and 236, Moyle couldn't compete.

Hinsdale's Cagers Roll Past Cards

by BOB FRISK

Hinsdale's Hal Brandt popped in the game's first three points and the Red Devils were never headed last Friday evening as they raced past a visiting Arlington quintet, 73-52.

The hosts broke the game wide open with an explosive second period and coasted in with their fifth West Suburban victory.

Arlington suffered its fifth straight loss of the 1960-61 campaign and fifth defeat in six league outings.

Forwards Bob Haarlow and Brandt carried the Red Devil's offensive attack with 39 of 73 markers. Haarlow pumped in 21 with 12 coming in the final two periods.

ALTHOUGH Hinsdale held the upperhand, Arlington was in contention throughout the opening stanza. The Cards closed the gap to 3-2 on a jumper from the side by Chuck Close, 9-7 on a three-point play by Jim Clabaugh, and 13-11 on a short hook by Skip Witt.

But the Red Devils were equal to the occasion and never let themselves fall behind the visitors. Coach Larry Hoff's hustling crew gained a 17-13 advantage after one period, then exploded in the next eight minutes.

With 6:03 remaining before halftime Hinsdale led 25-14. At the 5:21 mark it was 29-14. Gary Brodnan's free throw accounted for Arlington's only point in the first three minutes.

Clabaugh and Close put together successive baskets to cut the Devils' margin to 11 points, but that was as close as the Cards could come for the remainder of the conference encounter.

Hinsdale opened up a 15-point lead at the end of the first half, held a 21-point margin at one time in the third quarter, and finished with that 21-point cushion.

Clabaugh netted 15 to finish as Arlington's top scorer with sophs Close and Brodnan collecting ten and nine respectively.

In two meetings with Hinsdale last year the Cards also fell victim to an explosive offense. The Red Devils poured through 70 and 74 in two effortless victories over Arlington in the 1959-60 campaign.

St. Peter of Arlington tightened its hold on first place in the Walther league basketball race with a 69-28 victory over St. Paul of Mt. Prospect last Sunday.

The game was decided in the second half as St. Peter pulled away from a 24-15 half time score. The winners now stand 6-0 in the league.

River-Rand Bowlers Record 3-0 Decision

On the face of it, River-Rand Bowl of Des Plaines seems to have taken over things in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League as second half play opened Saturday night at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights.

The River-Rand girls, fourth in the first round, captured all three games from Northfield Bowl and thereby took a one-game lead on every team in the league.

Basically, things remain the same as before with Steve's Restaurant of Wheeling and Vernon Hills Restaurant of Lake Zurich the one-two teams in the league.

IT JUST SO happened that these two teams met right off the bat with Vernon Hills Restaurant avenging its runnerup role by taking a pair from Steve's.

Average's Saturday also prove the two teams to be the best. Vernon Hills overaged 860 and Steve's average was 850. River-Rand's team average was 817.

Vernon Hills, bowling out of Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, took the first game from Steve's Restaurant, 882-835, as Vi Douglas of Palatine bowled 210. Steve's, which calls Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling home, came back to take the second, 900-863, as Alice Alten of Mt. Prospect and Dona Reynolds of Northbrook, rolled 202 and 201, respectively. Both teams dropped off their early pace in the last game, Vernon Hills finishing the stronger, 835-816.

RIVER-RAND Bowl had little trouble winning all three from Northfield Bowl except for the last game which was by a 23-pin difference. Hazel Steiger of Arlington Heights led River-Rand with a 205 game and 521 series. Gloria Lucchesi of Winnetka was high for Northfield with a 501 triplicate.

Two girls, Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights and Mary Amisante rolled 614 and 575, respectively for Morton Pontiac of Arlington Heights, but they couldn't carry the weight alone as Sims Bowl won two of three games. Maxine Moehling of Mt. Prospect paced the Des Plaines team with a 489 triplicate.

Aside from the two Morton bowlers, the only other women to bowl 550 or better were Janice Crovetti of Highwood and Steve's Restaurant with 556 and Vi Douglas of Palatine with 552.

2nd Sportsarama Set for January 28 By Booster Club

The Cardinals Booster Club of Arlington high school will present its second Sportsarama in the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m., Saturday, January 28.

A similar program was offered in the fall of 1958 and it proved so popular, the club has decided to use the same idea for the annual Sports show this year.

The program will appeal to all ages as an attempt will be made to acquaint parents, friends and students with all phases of sports activities at the high school.

ALL NINE competitive sports will be represented in one way or another. Some acts will be educational, some will be humorous and all will be entertaining. An added attraction will be the highly popular German band of the high school.

Master of ceremonies for the evening of fun and laughter will be Paul Michaels, Booster Club member and well known local humorist. Max Friedlander, Ways and Means chairman of the club is in charge of all arrangements.

BOOSTER CLUB members will receive tickets in the mail soon. Admission charges will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Tickets will also be on sale in the gym foyer during the next two basketball games, January 20 and 27.

Tickets may also be purchased in the high school administrative office and at the door the night of the Sports show.

Jeffery Lanes, Casablanca Sweep Three Classic Games

The standings look a good deal different after one week of play in the second half of the Paddock Classic Traveling League than they did when the first half ended two weeks ago.

Two changes are quite noticeable. Bill Cook Buick, first round champion, lost all three games and finds itself tied for last place. Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling, which finished seventh in the first round, captured all three games from Timroth Plumbing and finds itself tied for first.

Tommy Thomas' Casablanca team, bowling on its home Hi-Way Recreation lanes in Palatine Saturday night, found the pins to its liking as it swept all three games from the Bowlway of Elgin entry, Bill Cook Buick.

BILL BOND'S Mens Wear bowled the high series, 3015, no game being lower than 999, and yet won only two. Bill Bond's, bowling out of Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, rolled 1005 in the second game but lost as Pro Sport Center of Mt. Prospect hit 1036. This was the highest losing game by any Paddock Classic team this year.

Cook County Mobile Homes of Des Plaines, first half runnerup, captured two from Moyle Construction of Barrington. This was a much better start for Moyle Construction than the first round in which it was last from start to finish.

Captain Bill Harris of Wheeling paced his Jeffery team to three decisions over the Timroth five from Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights where next Saturday's action is scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

HARRIS WAS the only Jeffery bowler to hit 600, posting a 640 series on games of 223, 192 and 225. However, no teammate was below 535 and this produced a 2836 series for Jeffery.

Jeffery bowled just a little better when the occasion called for it and the score showed that. The Wheeling team out-totaled Timroth by just 32 pins in winning all three. Jeffery won the first game by three pins, 892-889. The second game was a nine pin difference as the teams stepped up the pace. And when Timroth hit 992 in the final behind a 225 by Warren Olson, Jeffery retaliated with a 1022 on a 225 game by Harris.

Herb Engstrom of Elgin was the big cog for Casablanca, rolling a 684 series to equal the high bowled by Bob Rogers of Des Plaines. Bill Cook Buick was unable to come with the scores it had the week before while winning the first round championship. As a result, Casablanca took all three, the closest contest being a 31 pin difference in the final. Jim Perna of Rolling Meadows was the only Bill Cook Buick bowler to be in the 600's with a 615 series, including a 244 high game.

BILL BOND'S of Rolling Meadows produced the only twosome to join the 600 club from one team. John Taylor of Waukegan racked up a 650 total and George Radke of Mundelein shot 634.

The Bill Bond five was outstanding in every game as it bowled 1011, 1005, and 999. The 999 game was the best "low game" in any one series by a Paddock team this year. A 224 game by Earl Fenimore of Arlington Heights, 219 by John Ribando of Mt. Prospect, and 209 by Al Valentino of Rolling Meadows, gave Pro Sport Center the high game for the night and its only win against Bill Bond's. Although Fenimore, who had a 670 series, rolled a 269 for high game, Bill Bond's overcame this handicap to win the deciding game.

Rogers was the difference as Cook County Mobile Homes, the River-Rand representative, won two. His 181 game didn't stop Moyle Construction of Ten Pin in Barrington from winning the opener. But when Rogers rolled 267 and 236, Moyle couldn't compete.

Hinsdale's Cagers Roll Past Cards

by BOB FRISK

Hinsdale's Hal Brandt popped in the game's first three points and the Red Devils were never headed last Friday evening as they raced past a visiting Arlington quintet, 73-52.

The hosts broke the game wide open with an explosive second period and coasted in with their fifth West Suburban victory.

Arlington suffered its fifth straight loss of the 1960-61 campaign and fifth defeat in six league outings

Forwards Bob Haarlow and Brandt carried the Red Devil's offensive attack with 39 of 73 markers. Haarlow pumped in 21 with 12 coming in the final two periods.

ALTHOUGH Hinsdale held the upperhand, Arlington was in contention throughout the opening stanza. The Cards closed the gap to 3-2 on a jumper from the side by Chuck Close, 9-7 on a three-point play by Jim Clabaugh, and 13-11 on a short hook by Skip Witt.

But the Red Devils were equal to the occasion and never let themselves fall behind the visitors. Coach Larry Hoff's hustling crew gained a 17-13 advantage after one period, then exploded in the next eight minutes.

With 6:03 remaining before halftime Hinsdale led 25-14. At the 5:21 mark it was 29-14. Gary Brodnan's free throw accounted for Arlington's only point in the first three minutes.

Clabaugh and Close put together successive baskets to cut the Devils' margin to 11 points, but that was as close as the Cards could come for the remainder of the conference encounter.

Hinsdale opened up a 15-point lead at the end of the first half, held a 21-point margin at one time in the third quarter, and finished with that 21-point cushion.

Clabaugh netted 15 to finish as Arlington's top scorer with sophs Close and Brodnan collecting ten and nine respectively.

In two meetings with Hinsdale last year the Cards also fell victim to an explosive offense. The Red Devils poured through 70 and 74 in two effortless victories over Arlington in the 1959-60 campaign.

Our Saviour's to Hold Congregation Meeting

The annual congregational meeting of Our Saviour Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, will be held Sunday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. A coffee hour, hostessed by the Women's guild, will precede the meeting. Pastor John P. Petersen will conduct a devotional service at the meeting.

Adoption of a $35,000 operating budget for 1961 will be voted upon, and reports of 1960 activities from church officers, committees, and auxiliaries reviewed. The building committee will report on surveys of present and future building needs. Church yearbooks containing annual reports and a current directory of membership will be distributed to those attending.

THE COUPLES' Club of the church will hold a bowling party at Beverly Lanes Saturday, Jan. 21, at 7 p.m., returning to the church afterwards for resfreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Petelle and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Weeg are in charge of arrangements, and are also the 1961 officers of the club, co-chairmen and secretary-treasurer respectively.

1961 officers of the Women's guild elected at the guild's annual meeting in December are: president, Mrs. James Garrison; vice president, Mrs. John Carson; secretary, Mrs. Edward Schneider; and treasurer, Mrs. Byron Fanselow.

These officers have made the following committee chairmen appointments: Christian service, Mrs. Walter Krueger and Mrs. Melvin Weeg; devotional, Mrs. Gust Hermanson; education, Mrs. Robert Wolff and Mrs. Carl Zehner; membership, Mrs. Richard Hertel; publicity, Mrs. Carl Couve; and thank-offering, Mrs. Wendell Swenson.

THESE ELECTED and appointed officers comprise the executive board of the guild, and are responsible for all major decisions and policies of this church auxiliary. Guild meetings are held bi-monthly in February, April, June, October and December. The five circles of the guild, three evening and two day, meet monthly. Each circle is a service aid to the church in all its inner and outer programs. Educational theme for circle meetings this year will be "Religion and the Arts." Mrs. Robert Wolff and Mrs. Carl Zehner, educational co-chairmen, will develop and direct this program with each circle.

Thursday, Jan. 19, 1961

Baptized in recent services were Philip Scott Johnston, Michael Ross Birkeness, an Russell David Nester, infa sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robe Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Davi Birkeness and Mr. and Mrs Fremont Nester. (A carry garbage?

NEVER ...with a Gas Incinerator!

Anything that burns disappears conveniently in a modern Gas Incinerator. Food cartons, egg shells, coffee grounds, bones, old shoes—nearly every type of refuse except bottles and cans! Instead of lugging messy garbage bundles outdoors in all kinds of weather, you just lift the lid of your Gas Incinerator, drop in the trash and turn on the automatic burning cycle. Even with moist garbage like a bag of banana peels, the clean, hot gas flame consumes smoke and odors. The small amount of powdery ash remaining makes good fertilizer for lawn and garden.

Prospect Claims Key Interim Win, 51-39!

by TOM McSHANE

The Warriors of Maine West war-danced into the Prospect high school gym last Saturday night behind a feathered chieftain, staked out a couple of Knights, and went home with everything but their own scalps after a bitterly-waged Interim association basketball contsst.

Prospect won the game 51-39, and the Knights had the bruises to prove it.

The Warriors, a mediocre team record-wise going into Saturday's action, made up for a size and weight disadvantage with some sheer aggressiveness that sometimes got out of hand.

Coach Gaston Freeman's squad probably played its best game of the season in handcuffing the powerful Knight offense that had averaged 77 points a game in four previous conference outings. But even the tightest pressing defense and bone-jarring board play were not enough to pull the upset of the year.

GEORGE POMEY opened the scoring for the evening with a 15-foot jump shot in the opening minute.

Maine's Rick Warnicke and John Reese then started the Warriors off and pressing. Warnicke, 5-feet, 7-inches of scrap, and Reese, a heavy shouldered 6-2, harrassed the Knights in the back court and under the hoop all night, stealing the ball repeatedly and dragging down some bruising rebounds.

Pomey made it 4-0; then Warnicke hit a free throw to put Maine in the column. Baskets by Bill Zadel and a free throw by Fred Lussow offset a Warnicke driving layup and free throw and a corner shot by Mike Rowlee as the Knights took a 9-6 lead with three minutes left in the period. The teams exchanged baskets until the buzzer sounded with Prospect on top 16-14.

MAINE WEST tied the score at 16-all, 18-all, and 20-all in the second quarter, but never did take the lead. Prospect held a 26-22 advantage at halftime.

Things got rough in the third quarter as Prospect widened the gap to 34-25 in the first three minutes on two baskets and a free throw by Bill Zadel and a layup and charity toss by Bob Glaser.

POMEY CAME right back after a brief mixup with Doug Halpenny and canned a drive shot to give Prospect a 36-28 lead. But the Warriors were far from beaten. Two free throws by Bruce Shriver, a corner shot by Rowlee, a hook and two more free throws by Reese closed the gap to 39-36 at the buzzer.

The fourth quarter opened with both teams pressing hard. A minute and 35 seconds went by before Zadel hit a layup and Fred Empkie followed with a 10-footer to move the Knights seven points up at 43-36.

Empkie's basket probably proved the undoing of the Warriors. During the closing five minutes Maine pressed very hard trying to overcome the big lead. A basket and free throw by Halpenny with 2:50 remaining moved the Warriors to 43-39. Then their pressing tactics worked in reverse, leaving their forecourt open to the devastating Prospect fast break. The Knights canned eight straight in the last two minutes to win going away.

PROSPECT'S Zadel was high point man for the evening with 14. Empkie had 12, while Pomey and Lussow got 10. Halpenny was high for Maine with 11.

The victory was the sixteenth in a row for Prospect. The Knights journey to Hillside to meet Proviso West this Friday.

Palatine Man Married In California Dec. 31

A coin belonging to her father was the "something old" carried by Miss Sandra Lynn Frye of Sacramento when she became the bride of a Palatine man, Lt. Robert William Fremd, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Fremd of Rand rd., Palatine. The wedding took place December 31 in Grace Methodist church, Yuba City, Cal. Yuba City is the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet T. Frye.

The double ring ceremony took place before an altar decorated with silvered magnolia leaves that were flanked by white tapers.

The bride, approaching the altar on the arm of her father, wore a gown made by her mother. The bodice of re-embroidered alencon lace was fashioned with a scoop neckline and long sleeves, tapered at the wrists. The full skirt of peau de soie was floor-length and swept into a chapel train from unpressed pleats.

Her fingertip veil, borrowed from a friend, was of imported chantilly lace and her "something new" was a set of cultured pearl earrings, a gift from her bridegroom. Stephanotis with a large, white orchid center, made up her bridal bouquet.

MRS. BYRON Newell of Yuba City was her sister's matron of honor and another sister, Miss Suzanne Frye, also of Yuba City, was one of the two bridesmaids. The other bridesmaid was Mrs. Merlyn Lindsay of Sacramento. Their short gowns were of peppermint green taffeta, with drapes of emerald green. Emerald green shoes and cascades of red roses completed their outfits.

Two flower girls, Jennifer and Cynthia Frye, cousins of the bride from Yuba City, were also in the wedding party as flower girls as was Clifford Newell of Yuba City, a nephew of the bride, who was ring bearer.

ATTENDING THE bridegroom as best man was Byron Newell, brother-in-law of the bride, and ushers were Loren Perkins of Yuba City and Lt. Paul Bragdon of Sacramento.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the church hall for 150 guests. Mrs. Frye received in a floral print dress with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Lt. Fremd and his bride honeymooned for a week in California and spent last week in Palatine before the bridegroom left Sunday for a tour of duty in England. His bride will follow as soon as arrangements are made.

WHILE IN Palatine, the couple was honored January 8 with a party in the home of the Fremds, where relatives and friends unable to attend the wedding, met the bride. The couple met in Sacramento while Lt. Fremd was stationed there. More recently he has been at Shaw air force base in South Carolina. A graduate of Palatine high school, the lieutenant also studied at Illinois State college.

The new Mrs. Fremd was graduated from Yuba Junior college, attended Sacramento State college and is affiliated with Delta Sigma Nu sorority. She is a secretary for the Community Welfare Council of the Greater Sacramento area. (S

Lights, Camera, Action!

YOU WANT TO HAVE a really dandy time? Just more fun than anything you can think of? Then give a birthday party for some two and three year olds. It's a laugh a minute. You may have a nervous breakdown but, after all, it's worth it.

I really did it up big for the junior, junior set. This group is composed of a couple of three year olds, and a couple of two year olds. And, there they were in their best bibs and tuckers with their fists. Of course, they refused to relinquish the offerings to the birthday boy which made for a nice wrestling match before they even had their coats off. The birthday boy wasn't so dumb. He knew whose birthday it was.

However, it is the opening of the gifts that is the highlight of the party. All of them open all the gifts. They rip, they tear, they grab, they snatch. The cards go flying through the air. Mothers keep saying to their respective friends that all the presents belong to sonny. Which does absolutely no good at all. They just know that all those lovely things are really meant for them.

As Sonny sees present after present disappear into alien hands, he clouds up and begins to rain. This is when I know that the party is a howling success. Then the worm turns and he begins to fight for his rights. And when I say fight, I mean fisticuffs. The recipient of the blows then cries. See, the party is getting better and better. The loser of the battle then gloms onto something held by another guest. Then, that contestant cries.

This little round robin goes on until all of them are bawling and brawling. Finally one of them will get a toy and quietly sneak off into a corner to play in peace. But, it takes only a moment for the rest to discover this defection and the pack is after him in full cry.

Whatever it is he has, that's what they all want. Nothing holds any charms for any of them except what the other one wants. All of the children have a horrible time. We only have these parties because they make wonderful home movies.

Eye of the Beholder

Dear Peg:

"Beauty is in the eye of the beholder"—the only possible explanation for the choices by the judges in the 64th Annual Amedican Painting and Sculpture exhibit at the Art Institute. It is difficult, if not impossible, to understand in a mammoth canvas of strange white forms floating in a mass of cloudy blues and greens there is to be found $2,000 worth of beauty (to say nothing of how much the artist thinks it's worth!).

However, in the eyes of the beholding judges "The Sea" by William Baziotes deserved the highest prize and medal given in the show. So be it.

The most exciting aspect of this all-inclusive show is in the fact that for the first time in years there is almost as much realism as abstraction. I don't know whether this is because there is more realistic painting being done or whether our artistic taste is swinging back in this direction. Whatever the reason it's refreshing to see some recognizable art again, even though it was difficult to understand some of these choices also.

Perhaps you and I and the judges have so long been exposed to little else than abstract art that we have forgotten how to determine good representional art. In any event, if you go to see this xhibit, don't turn around and go home after seeing the first few disappointing examples of realism—things get much better as you go along. It seems as if in hanging the pictures the idea was to start with the simplest (to the point of amateurish) paintings and slowly work up to the way-out-art. This is with the exception of David Levine's "Preliminary Examination" a warm and touching portrait of a doctor holding a new born infant which you come upon early in the show.

From what seems to be pure realism the exhibit progresses to the sort of realism-impressionism of Andrew Wyeth whose painstakingly done canvases though factual in character reveal a mood rather than objects. His "Snow Flurries" is a delightful, airy landscape painted in browns, grays and white.

Of the 11 Chicago artists represented, although not prize winners, the Max Kahn and LeRoy Neiman paintings are thoroughly enjoyable. Kahn's "Fishing Boat and White Sun" glows with jewel-like colors and the bold brilliant work "Toro" by Neiman is bound to seize your attention. A beautiful little oil on wood in glowing coppery tones called Still Life With Onions, by Seymour Remenick, was one of our immediate favorites.

The two other big prize winners, Hans Hoffman and Franz Kline both showed canvases of masses of color, Hoffman's being a little brighter and more bombastic than Kline's. I neither pretend to understand nor particularly enjoy this kind of abstract art—which is purely personal and of little consequence. However, one thought nagged me as I studied the work of these two well known, well thought of artists of today: because, according to the critics, these men have made such remarkable contributions to American art and we have learned to respect whatever they do, would critics, judges and you and I accept all their work on the reliability of their past achievements and reputations or would anyone be able to distinguish or have the courage to distinguish a bad or even expedimental canvas that either might do?

Several fine pieces of sculpture are included in the show. Among them is a powerful and moving figure of a woman called "Prelude" by Marianna Pineda and a prize winner "Surveyor" by Roszak.

The show merits a great deal of attention as a cross-section example of art. I hope you can see it. It closes Feb. 5.

My love,

Patty.

Of course, they refused to relinquish the offerings to the birthday boy which made for a nice wrestling match before they even had their coats off. The birthday boy wasn't so dumb. He knew whose birthday it was.

However, it is the opening of the gifts that is the highlight of the party. All of them open all the gifts. They rip, they tear, they grab, they snatch. The cards go flying through the air. Mothers keep saying to their respective friends that all the presents belong to sonny. Which does absolutely no good at all. They just know that all those lovely things are really meant for them.

As Sonny sees present after present disappear into alien hands, he clouds up and begins to rain. This is when I know that the party is a howling success. Then the worm turns and he begins to fight for his rights. And when I say fight, I mean fisticuffs. The recipient of the blows then cries. See, the party is getting better and better. The loser of the battle then gloms onto something held by another guest. Then, that contestant cries.

This little round robin goes on until all of them are bawling and brawling. Finally one of them will get a toy and quietly sneak off into a corner to play in peace. But, it takes only a moment for the rest to discover this defection and the pack is after him in full cry.

Whatever it is he has, that's what they all want. Nothing holds any charms for any of them except what the other one wants. All of the children have a horrible time. We only have these parties because they make wonderful home movies.

Eye of the Beholder

Dear Peg:

"Beauty is in the eye of the beholder"—the only possible explanation for the choices by the judges in the 64th Annual Amedican Painting and Sculpture exhibit at the Art Institute. It is difficult, if not impossible, to understand in a mammoth canvas of strange white forms floating in a mass of cloudy blues and greens there is to be found $2,000 worth of beauty (to say nothing of how much the artist thinks it's worth!).

However, in the eyes of the beholding judges "The Sea" by William Baziotes deserved the highest prize and medal given in the show. So be it.

The most exciting aspect of this all-inclusive show is in the fact that for the first time in years there is almost as much realism as abstraction. I don't know whether this is because there is more realistic painting being done or whether our artistic taste is swinging back in this direction. Whatever the reason it's refreshing to see some recognizable art again, even though it was difficult to understand some of these choices also.

Perhaps you and I and the judges have so long been exposed to little else than abstract art that we have forgotten how to determine good representional art. In any event, if you go to see this xhibit, don't turn around and go home after seeing the first few disappointing examples of realism—things get much better as you go along. It seems as if in hanging the pictures the idea was to start with the simplest (to the point of amateurish) paintings and slowly work up to the way-out-art. This is with the exception of David Levine's "Preliminary Examination" a warm and touching portrait of a doctor holding a new born infant which you come upon early in the show.

From what seems to be pure realism the exhibit progresses to the sort of realism-impressionism of Andrew Wyeth whose painstakingly done canvases though factual in character reveal a mood rather than objects. His "Snow Flurries" is a delightful, airy landscape painted in browns, grays and white.

Of the 11 Chicago artists represented, although not prize winners, the Max Kahn and LeRoy Neiman paintings are thoroughly enjoyable. Kahn's "Fishing Boat and White Sun" glows with jewel-like colors and the bold brilliant work "Toro" by Neiman is bound to seize your attention. A beautiful little oil on wood in glowing coppery tones called Still Life With Onions, by Seymour Remenick, was one of our immediate favorites.

The two other big prize winners, Hans Hoffman and Franz Kline both showed canvases of masses of color, Hoffman's being a little brighter and more bombastic than Kline's. I neither pretend to understand nor particularly enjoy this kind of abstract art—which is purely personal and of little consequence. However, one thought nagged me as I studied the work of these two well known, well thought of artists of today: because, according to the critics, these men have made such remarkable contributions to American art and we have learned to respect whatever they do, would critics, judges and you and I accept all their work on the reliability of their past achievements and reputations or would anyone be able to distinguish or have the courage to distinguish a bad or even expedimental canvas that either might do?

Several fine pieces of sculpture are included in the show. Among them is a powerful and moving figure of a woman called "Prelude" by Marianna Pineda and a prize winner "Surveyor" by Roszak.

The show merits a great deal of attention as a cross-section example of art. I hope you can see it. It closes Feb. 5.

My love,
Patty.

Ace Meal Planner Can Cook Sans Salt, Butter and Sugar

How many northwest suburban homemakers are faced with the problem of pleasing their families' palates with food they must prepare with an absolute minimum of salt, butter and sugar — three of the basic essentials to tasty cuisine?

Not many. But there is one meal planner in this area who must put up with this handicap and yet try to please 80 to 100 hungry people three times each day. That person is Mrs. Ruth Shub, head dietitian at Northwest Community hospital, Arlington Heights, who is certified by the American Dietetic association.

"When it is realized that we must give our patients extremely bland diets for health's sake, I am constantly impressed by the great number of compliments we receive on our meals," said Alan Campbell, hospital administrator, "Hospital meals are occasionally criticized, but it is usually by those who have not been told of the unusual complications faced by the hospital's dietary department."

ACCORDING to Mrs. Shub, there are many persons in the hospital who are on strict non-salt diets. Others are forbidden fats, so butter may not be used in cooking. To complicate matters further, other patients are not allowed sweets. A sizeable percentage of hospital patients are on special diets. Therefore, the "bookkeeping" on meals is considerably more complicated than in other food service operations.

This bookkeeping is of vital importance, of course, for it directly affects the health of sick and injured persons. In normal times, about 40 per cent of the meals served at Northwest Community are on a "special" diet basis, in accordance with doctors' special instructions.

To provide greater enjoyment of hospital fare, Mrs. Shub, some time ago, instituted a plan of selective menus which permits patients to choose from two different entrees, vegetables and desserts. This means a further bookkeeping involvement and it requires a large portion of one person's time to record and tabulate orders.

Selections are set up in advance and hospital volunteers take the menus to patients a day ahead of time to permit planning of requirements for the various dishes a day in advance.

TWO HOURS prior to mealtime, Mrs. Shub's staff begins the loading of the scientifically-designed delivery carts known as "Meals on Wheels" that combine both refrigerated and heated sections. Cold foods are placed in the carts first and just before delivery to the floors, hot foods are loaded. Each cart carries 20 complete meals. New mothers, on the second floor of the hospital, are served first, then the children, next the surgical patients, and finally those on the medical floor.

The time and attention of a special dietitian is devoted to the supervision of preparing sterilized formulas for infants, a very important phase of the food service in a suburban hospital like Northwest where the maternity ward is always one of the busiest. This work is done in separate rooms where special sterilizing equipment is available.

Mrs. Shub came to Northwest Community after having served as dietitian at the Catherine Booth hospital in Chicago for nearly five years. Prior to that she was food service manager with the Veterans Administration in Chicago.

CHEF IN the hospital kitchen is Edward Sramek, of Rolling Meadows, who previously was a chef for North Western railroad. Mr. Sramek has earned an enviable reputation among patients, doctors, employees and visitors for his expert skills in preparing tasty and attractive food.

Dietitians who competently assist Mrs. Shub are Mrs. Eunice Miller of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Ella O'Donnell of Mt. Prospect. A staff of 30 employees, of whom about half work on a part-time basis, is required in the operation of the patient service and the hospital cafeteria which serves staff members and visitors.

As a special service to the staff, an attendant is on duty in the cafeteria from 9:30 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. so that doctors, nurses and aides can have hot food and beverage service on a virtual 'round-the-clock basis. (SOC

Palatine Girl Weds In Phoenix Church

In a double ring ceremony at Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church in Phoenix, Miss Judith Lee Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Golden of Palatine and PO 3/T Richard Michael Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Collins of Riverdale, N. J., were married Thanksgiving eve. Baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums decorated the altar and Rev. H. Engelbrecht officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white nylon ballerina gown with nylon net overskirt and a beaded bodice. A crown of seed pearls held the shoulder-length veil in place and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Her sister, Sandra Jean, was maid of honor and wore a blue lace gown with full skirt with matching accessories and a colonial bouquet of blue carnations.

THE MOTHER of the bride wore a green brocaded taffeta gown with green accessories and a corsage of white carnations while the groom's mother chose a beige lace gown, matching accessories and an identical corsage.

A reception for 30 guests was held at Nelsons Prime Rib in Phoenix. The newlyweds are now residing in their apartment at 449 Cowles, Long Beach, Cal.

The former Miss Shaw was graduated from Palatine high school last summer and her bridegroom is majoring in electronics with the navy. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

A Chinese New Year Party

by DOLORES HAUGH

Gon how thin hee phonetically says "Happy New Year" in Chinese, beginning January 19 through February 25 685 million Chinese throughout the world will begin "The Year of The Ox." So wouldn't it be fun to have a Chinese New Year party.

INVITATIONS

Rice paper, or a reasonable facsimile would be onion paper, will be the beginning of the invitation. With brush and black ink, write in as oriental a manner as possible the following:

Gong How Thin Hee is Happy
New Year
In Chinese, so they say,
And in your bright kimonos
come,
The 18th is the day.
Slant your eyes and bow so
low,
To the Year of The Ox, we will say Gung Ho.
Rice is nice and famine never,
Come, let us celebrate together.

State time, place and re-mention the costume idea and RSVP. A costume party during the first part of the new year after the whirl of Christmas Holiday fun is a welcome morale booster. Roll the invitation as a scroll and seal with wax.

DECORATIONS

The more authentic you are the better, and if you can manage low tables, grass-mats, cushions for the floor and many oriental items for decor the more effective your setting will be. By a quick visit to Chinatown in Chicago you can purchase, very inexpensively, many items that will add to the party such as fans, parasols, tiny china figurines, silk scuffs, tea, fortune cookies and just about anything in any price range.

The table should be very low and can be made by using building blocks and pieces of plywood or ping pong tables without legs. Cover the table with burlap, silk, or white paper and try designing some oriental motifs on each table.

TINY PAPER parasols are available in all 10 cent stores and there are also cocktail toothpicks in tiny paper wrappers that bear fortunes too. Shrimp dip with wooden carved toothpicks, Chinese flavor add too.

A typical oriental arrangement of flowers would certainly add the right table adornment. If you want to learn about arranging artificial flowers and about Haugh to Plan a Party call CLearbrook 3-3996 for information regarding the course. The next one will start in February.

Paper napkins and plain white plates plus handleless cups are also available inexpensively and have many other useful purposes. They may be obtained in Chinatown as well as tea.

MENU

A simple, yet, probably not Chinese, menu would be Chop Suey for the main course, however, authentic or not, it is easy to prepare ahead of time and so is the rice and egg foo young. The use of salty fish for appetizers and shrimp for cocktails, the main course and almond cookies and fortune cookies make a cooked ahead dinner easily prepared. Water chestnuts, and other tasty items may be also obtained in any Chinese store.

ENTERTAINMENT

The Chinese are famous gamblers so try and set up at least two or three different games to entertain your guests. Any games of chance, skill or cards would be suitable just so it is for money, almost everyone has a yen for this type of entertainment.

Prizes can be as elaborate or simple as you please and the items mentioned before are suitable.

Be sure to award presents for the best costume, the most authentic, funniest, longest queue.

Sorority Activities

ALTHA DELTA PI

Northwestern university alumnae of Alpha Delta Pi sorority is planning a tea to honor pledges of the sorority this Sunday, January 22.

The alum-pledge tea will be the first activity of Friendship week which will culminate with the initiation of the 39 sorority pledges. The tea will be held from 3:30 to 5 p.m. at the Alpha Delta Pi house, 1722 Judson ave., Evanston.

Alumna Mrs. Jim Homer, 139 Golf terrace, Arlington Heights, president of the alum group, is serving on the tea committee.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Paddock area alumnae of Kappa Alpha Theta will observe the 91st anniversary of the fraternity's founding at a luncheon Monday, Jan. 23, in the Old Spinning Wheel, Hinsdale. All alumnae are invited to this traditional Founder's day celebration and should call Mrs. R. W. Daeschner, CLearbrook 3-5087, if they would like to attend. Reservations are due January 20.

FOUNDER'S DAY for Tau chapter of Northwestern university was held January 11 with special guests being 50-year members of Kappa Alpha Theta and members of the grand council. Kappa Alpha Theta was founded at DePauw university in 1870 and was the first Greek letter fraternity known among women.

Its fund-raising projects include partial support of the Institute of Logopedics at Wichita, Kan.; its local projects are contributing time and money to the Illinois Research and Educational hospital and the Illinois Children hospital-school, Chicago.

Members wishing further information may call Mrs. Norval Stephens, CLearbrook 5-2242. (S

ALPHA DELTA PI

A morning coffee and white elephant auction will be the first program of the year when Alpha Delta Pi Countryside Alumnae association meets Wednesday, Jan. 25, at 9:30 a.m., in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Clayton Lyons. Mrs. John O'Halloran of Rolling Meadows will be co-hostess.

Proceeds of the auction, an annual event, will be given to the Abigail Davis Student Loan fund, which is a financial aid program to ADPi collegiate members. Abigail Davis was an early expansion leader of Alpha Delta Pi, and helped found six collegiate chapters during her brief life. Her birthday, February 11, is commemorated by ADPi's 100 active chapters and 250 alumnae groups throughout the U. S. and Canada.

ON THE business agenda will be the group's voting on financial contributions to be made for the year to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, ADPi's national philanthropy, and retarded children, a local philanthropy of the Countryside group. Members will observe the second anniversary of their local alumnae association.

Organized in January, 1959, the ADPi Countryside group is a nationally chartered alumnae association, open to all ADPi's in the northwest suburban area who are interested in giving service to their sorority and the community.

Towns encompassed in the group go from Park Ridge to Barrington to Glenview, and all suburbs in between. Meetings are regularly held the fourth Wednesday evening of the month, except for January and February when day meetings have been scheduled because of winter weather and driving conditions.

ADPI Countryside alums will also attend a pledge-alumnae tea at the Northwestern university chapter house, Evanston, Sunday, Jan. 22, at 3:30 p.m. Sponsored by Northwestern alumnae, the tea will commence chapter "friendship week" before formal initiation of pledges into active membership of Alpha Delta Pi.

Any ADPi's in the Paddock area interested in attending the tea or coffee may contact Mrs. Clayton Lyons, Cl 3-7451, suburban contact chairman, for details.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Mrs. E. J. Moscaret of Mt. Prospect is in charge of decorations for the Alpha Chi Omega's 13th annual benefit, a luncheon-fashion show to be held April 29 in the Michigan Shores club. The affair will benefit the sorority's cerebral palsy speech clinic at Northwestern university.

North Shore and Chicago alumnae of the group's board will meet Tuesday, Jan. 24, in the Chicago home of Mrs. Sheldon Knight. Guest at the meeting will be the sorority's national alumnae vice president, Mrs. O. Neil Olson of Wauwatosa.

by DOLORES HAUGH

Gon how thin hee phonetically says "Happy New Year" in Chinese, beginning January 19 through February 25 685 million Chinese throughout the world will begin "The Year of The Ox." So wouldn't it be fun to have a Chinese New Year party.

INVITATIONS

Rice paper, or a reasonable facsimile would be onion paper, will be the beginning of the invitation. With brush and black ink, write in as oriental a manner as possible the following:

Gong How Thin Hee is Happy
New Year
In Chinese, so they say,
And in your bright kimonos
come,
The 18th is the day.
Slant your eyes and bow so
low,
To the Year of The Ox, we will say Gung Ho.
Rice is nice and famine never,
Come, let us celebrate together.

State time, place and remention the costume idea and RSVP. A costume party during the first part of the new year after the whirl of Christmas Holiday fun is a welcome morale booster. Roll the invitation as a scroll and seal with wax.

DECORATIONS

The more authentic you are the better, and if you can manage low tables, grass-mats, cushions for the floor and many oriental items for decor the more effective your setting will be. By a quick visit to Chinatown in Chicago you can purchase, very inexpensively, many items that will add to the party such as fans, parasols, tiny china figurines, silk scuffs, tea, fortune cookies and just about anything in any price range.

The table should be very low and can be made by using building blocks and pieces of plywood or ping pong tables without legs. Cover the table with burlap, silk, or white paper and try designing some oriental motifs on each table.

TINY PAPER parasols are available in all 10 cent stores and there are also cocktail toothpicks in tiny paper wrappers that bear fortunes too. Shrimp dip with wooden carved toothpicks, Chinese flavor add too.

A typical oriental arrangement of flowers would certainly add the right table adornment. If you want to learn about arranging artificial flowers and about Haugh to Plan a Party call CLearbrook 3-3996 for information regarding the course. The next one will start in February.

Paper napkins and plain white plates plus handleless cups are also available inexpensively and have many other useful purposes. They may be obtained in Chinatown as well as tea.

MENU

A simple, yet, probably not Chinese, menu would be Chop Suey for the main course, however, authentic or not, it is easy to prepare ahead of time and so is the rice and egg foo young. The use of salty fish for appetizers and shrimp for cocktails, the main course and almond cookies and fortune cookies make a cooked ahead dinner easily prepared. Water chestnuts, and other tasty items may be also obtained in any Chinese store.

ENTERTAINMENT

The Chinese are famous gamblers so try and set up at least two or three different games to entertain your guests. Any games of chance, skill or cards would be suitable just so it is for money, almost everyone has a yen for this type of entertainment.

Prizes can be as elaborate or simple as you please and the items mentioned before are suitable.

Be sure to award presents for the best costume, the most authentic, funniest, longest queue.

Time to Re-Examine Party Activity, Says GOP Leader

In the editorial "Local Government Is Hurt By Partisan Politics" (January 5, 1961), an eloquent plea was made for continuing the nonpartisan approach traditional in local suburban elections. We of Schaumburg township feel that the viewpoint expressed is pernicious enough to require an immediate rebuttal.

The editorial seems to imply that there is something inherently unwholesome, wicked, or illegal about a political party. The fact is that such is not the case. In this nation, political parties have always proved to be effective instruments for mobilizing and/or expressing public opinion. When they have failed in those tasks, they have expired.

For too many years, suburban Cook county Republicans have been content to be nice-Nelly nonpartisans between general elections. They have permitted local elections to be lost by default, because they have failed to maintain a year-round political identity. And when their highly-qualified candidates for state and national offices have been resoundingly defeated, they have sat around disconsolately wringing their hands and wondering what hit them.

WHAT DID hit them?

The Democrats did, because Daley's city-hall crowd works at politics year-round. And because it does, the 1960 Republican candidates for president and for every state and Cook county office -- with just one exception -- went down to smashing defeat.

Your editorial stated that there is "... no Republican or Democratic way to repair township roads . . . nor is there a Republican or Democratic way of assessing or collecting taxes . . ."

What about the Democratic way of counting votes, or is that too embarrassing a subject to bring up?

What about the Democratic way of running the Chicago police department, or is that too sensitive to discuss?

What about the Democratic method of assessing and collecting personal property taxes within the city of Chicago, or is that being rude?

NOW ABOUT this matter of repairing township roads. Here in Schaumburg township, a vacancy occurred in the office of Highway Commissioner in 1960. It was the duty of the township board of appointment to fill the vacancy.

Whom did it select? A civil engineer; an experienced road builder; a successful business executive?

The answer is, none of the three. Instead the board appointed the Schaumburg township Democratic committeeman, a Daley payroller. Why was he selected? Because the township board was dominated by Democrats, office-holders whose primary allegiance was not to the people of Schaumburg township but to the Democratic party's big boss sitting in the Chicago city hall.

And incidentally, if you believe there isn't a Democratic way of maintaining and repairing township roads, ask a few of the residents of the unincorporated area in this township.

IT IS WIDELY acknowledged in political circles that Daley has instructed the suburban Democratic committeemen to make a drive to capture every local township and village office this spring. This is Daley's prelude to the 1962 congressional, state, and county elections. And he intends to see that the committeemen do as they are told or face replacement.

We Republicans in Schaumburg township do not intend to let the Chicago city-hall crowd or its local henchmen win any more township elections by default. Nor do we intend to let the issues be obscured by a subrosa ticket masquerading under an innocuous-sounding name, or by Democratic endorsement of a so-called independent slate.

Far from harming the cause of good government, the revitalization of suburban Republican organizations will make a positive contribution to the advancement of progressive local government. It will help to achieve party responsibility for the conduct of local government, something this rapidly growing area urgently needs.

At the same time, it will halt the creeping cancer of Daleyism and all of the shenanigans that go along with it. And it will effectively block Daley's plan for running the suburbs by remote control from Chicago's city hall.

THE REALITIES of Cook county politics in 1961 suggest that it is time to re-examine the nonpartisan approach to township elections so traditional in the suburbs. We Republicans of Schaumburg township have already done so, and we intend to act on that decision beginning today.

Schaumburg Police Are Commended

Just a few words in defense of the Schaumburg police force. This happened about a month ago, but this should have no bearing.

We were heading east on Schaumburg rd., as we noticed a police car behind us. We gave this no thought as our speedometer registered the limit posted. About three quarters of mile further, we were stopped and told we had exceeded the limit by 10 mph. We then replied this could not be, as we knew they had been following us. I was sure we were right and got a little sore. All this time the officer was polite and courteous.

WE WERE told they have their clocking unit checked regularly and we best have ours checked (speedometer).

We were not given a ticket, but later found out we should have gotten one.

The same day we checked our car against several of our friends and found ours to be 8 mph too low on the readings. This we could not understand until we remembered that we had put on our snow tires, and they are one size larger, which would give us a false reading.

This is for the benefit of those who think policemen are nothing but "speed-trappers."

How Would Northerner Handle This

I was deeply moved by a letter I just read. Here is an excerpt from it:

" . . . Oh sickness, oh hate. Go and leave the hearts and minds of man; let me be me . man, student, lover of life. I don't want to be that nigger with no personality, no being, just a dark blob. I want to be me with my color, that I love, with my eyes, my body, my dreams and aspirations..."

"...I don't hate my jailers.. I feel sorry for them and I hurt for them too...Pray for me...Pray for us all..."

THIS, of course, was a letter written to a friend by a college student who had been arrested for "sitting-in" at a Southern lunch counter and was in jail awaiting trial.

We in the North, of course, are different. We wouldn't treat a Negro college student as a "dark blob . . . or would we?

Thieves Take Decorations

My husband and I take great pride in the maintenance of our little white house at 404 W. Green st., Bensenville. We enjoy outdoor decorations during the various holidays. At Christmas over the years we have gaily decorated the various pine trees and each year have added a little bit more to the decor. Each year we have had a few bulbs removed from the trees from persons unknown.

December 28 past, between 6:30 and 8:00 p.m., while we were away, someone or someones veritably stripped the largest of the trees of bulbs and one of the smaller trees, taking over 100 bulbs as well as a spot-light. They were quite brazen, working in the glare of six spot-lights, but were apparently unseen by anyone passing by.

Do we have sick people in our town? The Garden club advocates outdoor decorations at Christmastime, but what good does it do when it leads to petty thievery? Needless to say how we feel about this act, especially after all our hard work. Your home should be your sanctuary, but is it here in Bensenville?

I. Stellman
Bensenville

All Humanitarian Causes Are Worthy

Why does one drive not suffice? Ask our churches. They should know best.

The church where I hold membership spent for 1960 more than one-third of its budget for salaries, and its leaders find it wise to ask for some "extra" donation almost every month. Last week it was the Deacon's Fund, which I consider a worthy cause.

I know of no person or organization that claims to be perfect. It is my belief that when we reach that stage, we will be in heaven.

BUT I DO believe that prayer is the greatest force available to mankind and that the working together of mothers for humanitarian causes is another great power that will be blessed. It would be untrue to say that the Salk and Sabin vaccines are not blessed answers to our efforts and our prayers. As we continue to work together in fact and with our hearts and prayers, we find new and unknown diseases.

The New March of Dimes of the National Foundation includes the battle against polio, arthritis, and birth defects, and your contributions to the Mothers' March "are spent primarily in direct payment for the care of the stricken of our county". Aid was given 856 polio patients in Cook county last year.

If you believe one fund is good, please do not do yourself the injustice of believing others are not good. Whenever, wherever, and however you give to humanitarian causes, please give with your heart, and take time for a moment of prayer. I can testify to the fact that you will find amazing answers.

Mrs. Walter T.
Brownell,
Chairman
Mothers March of Dimes

Callous Motorist Earns Contempt

To the man in an old model tan car who ran down and killed a small black dog on Highland avenue, one half block west of Main, last Saturday about 4 p.m. in Mt. Prospect.

This small black dog, Pixie, 6 months old, had been a source of companionship and great joy to our 10 and 13 year old children, for the past four months. Her playfulness and deeds of mischief were a great help in taming down our high-strung 10 year old.

RUNNING OVER the pet was, very likely, unavoidable, but the shameful, sinful act you committed was in ignoring the pleading of a heartbroken child, who said, "I am all alone, please help me take her to a vet." You, without even getting out of your car, said "I don't have time, you should call a vet" and away you went.

Perhaps you didn't hear these two children cry themselves to sleep for want of their pet, nor see the pitiful look on their faces as they came out to the kitchen Sunday morning and Pixie was not there to greet them.

WE ALL pray our Lord will forgive, and help us forget, one who could not stop for a minute to give a word of sympathy to a heartbroken child during a time of tragedy.

May this incident never happen to you or your family.

Our Scouting Manual states, "Never is a man so tall as when he stoops to help a child." How tall are you?

William L. Poling
Mt. Prospect

Wood Dale Needs Improved Streets

Wood Dale needs better streets. The village budget does not have enough money to improve the streets. WHERE CAN IT GET THE MONEY?

It can get it by charging every car owner in Wood Dale $5 more a year for his village car license. I am sure that anyone who has paid garage towing bills to be pulled out of Wood Dale's mudholes, has paid out more than this in a year's time in garage bills, time and inconvenience.

I HAVE HEARD that there is to be a referendum to decide if this $5 is to be paid. There can be only one of two results to this referendum, (neither, in my eyes, advantageous to the town and its residents). . . . The $5 increase can be voted down, which means that the people of Wood Dale will pay several hundred dollars for a referendum, but nothing for their streets. . . . or the $5 increase will be passed, and the money spent for the referendum, which could better be put to improving the streets will be wasted.

I hope that the referendum will not have to be held. I hope that the people of Wood Dale will make it clear to the village council, that they do want reasonably better streets (some are actually impassable at some times of the year). I hope that they will go in to pay their car license with that extra $5 in their hand and say, "Here is my $5 for our streets -- and that is what I want it spent for. Spend it for tar or gravel or grading."

The people of Wood Dale built a much needed library through their voluntary generosity and cooperation.

WE CAN IMPROVE our streets too. We can accomplish a great deal, when we know what we want. I think I am correct in saying we do want, we need, better streets.

I am going to the village office today to spend that extra $5 for our streets, and to tell them there, that is what I want it spent for.

HOW ABOUT YOU?

This is our town. It will be what we make it!

Mrs. Ansel Huntley
Wood Dale

Hoffman Police Are Commended

May we be permitted a word of commendation for the Hoffman Estates police department who exceeded the call of duty in protecting our home from possible entry last weekend.

We had asked them to check our house on their patrol during the two days we planned to be away, and they certainly gave it more than a casual glance. On our return we found the back storm door broken and ajar from a high wind, and the weatherstripping had jammed the inner door so it could not be latched properly.

The vigilant police patrol had noted the situation and securely barricaded the back door with a case of soda and a kitchen chair. Our hats are off to Chief Orlick and his men. We're sorry they were so inconvenienced, but happy in the knowledge that the safety of our community lies in such capable hands.

Schaumburg Police Are Commended

Just a few words in defense of the Schaumburg police force. This happened about a month ago, but this should have no bearing.

We were heading east on Schaumburg rd., as we noticed a police car behind us. We gave this no thought as our speedometer registered the limit posted. About three quarters of mile further, we were stopped and told we had exceeded the limit by 10 mph. We then replied this could not be, as we knew they had been following us. I was sure we were right and got a little sore. All this time the officer was polite and courteous.

WE WERE told they have their clocking unit checked regularly and we best have ours checked (speedometer).

We were not given a ticket, but later found out we should have gotten one.

The same day we checked our car against several of our friends and found ours to be 8 mph too low on the readings. This we could not understand until we remembered that we had put on our snow tires, and they are one size larger, which would give us a false reading.

This is for the benefit of those who think policemen are nothing but "speed-trappers."

How Would Northerner Handle This

I was deeply moved by a letter I just read. Here is an excerpt from it:

"... Oh sickness, oh hate. Go and leave the hearts and minds of man; let me be me. man, student, lover of life. I don't want to be that nigger with no personality, no being, just a dark blob. I want to be me with my color, that I love, with my eyes, my body, my dreams and aspirations..."

"...I don't hate my jailers.. I feel sorry for them and I hurt for them too...Pray for me...Pray for us all..."

THIS, of course, was a letter written to a friend by a college student who had been arrested for "sitting-in" at a Southern lunch counter and was in jail awaiting trial.

We in the North, of course, are different. We wouldn't treat a Negro college student as a "dark blob ... or would we?

Thieves Take Decorations

My husband and I take great pride in the maintenance of our little white house at 404 W. Green st., Bensenville. We enjoy outdoor decorations during the various holidays. At Christmas over the years we have gaily decorated the various pine trees and each year have added a little bit more to the decor. Each year we have had a few bulbs removed from the trees from persons unknown.

December 28 past, between 6:30 and 8:00 p.m., while we were away, someone or someones veritably stripped the largest of the trees of bulbs and one of the smaller trees, taking over 100 bulbs as well as a spot-light. They were quite brazen, working in the glare of six spot-lights, but were apparently unseen by anyone passing by.

Do we have sick people in our town? The Garden club advocates outdoor decorations at Christmastime, but what good does it do when it leads to petty thievery? Needless to say how we feel about this act, especially after all our hard work. Your home should be your sanctuary, but is it here in Bensenville?

All Humanitarian Causes Are Worthy

Why does one drive not suffice? Ask our churches. They should know best.

The church where I hold membership spent for 1960 more than one-third of its budget for salaries, and its leaders find it wise to ask for some "extra" donation almost every month. Last week it was the Deacon's Fund, which I consider a worthy cause.

I know of no person or organization that claims to be perfect. It is my belief that when we reach that stage, we will be in heaven.

BUT I DO believe that prayer is the greatest force available to mankind and that the working together of mothers for humanitarian causes is another great power that will be blessed. It would be untrue to say that the Salk and Sabin vaccines are not blessed answers to our efforts and our prayers. As we continue to work together in fact and with our hearts and prayers, we find new and unknown diseases.

The New March of Dimes of the National Foundation includes the battle against polio, arthritis, and birth defects, and your contributions to the Mothers' March "are spent primarily in direct payment for the care of the stricken of our county". Aid was given 856 polio patients in Cook county last year.

If you believe one fund is good, please do not do yourself the injustice of believing others are not good. Whenever, wherever, and however you give to humanitarian causes, please give with your heart, and take time for a moment of prayer. I can testify to the fact that you will find amazing answers.

Callous Motorist Earns Contempt

To the man in an old model tan car who ran down and killed a small black dog on Highland avenue, one half block west of Main, last Saturday about 4 p.m. in Mt. Prospect.

This small black dog, Pixie, 6 months old, had been a source of companionship and great joy to our 10 and 13 year old children, for the past four months. Her playfulness and deeds of mischief were a great help in taming down our high-strung 10 year old.

RUNNING OVER the pet was, very likely, unavoidable, but the shameful, sinful act you committed was in ignoring the pleading of a heartbroken child, who said, "I am all alone, please help me take her to a vet." You, without even getting out of your car, said "I don't have time, you should call a vet" and away you went.

Perhaps you didn't hear these two children cry themselves to sleep for want of their pet, nor see the pitiful look on their faces as they came out to the kitchen Sunday morning and Pixie was not there to greet them.

WE ALL pray our Lord will forgive, and help us forget, one who could not stop for a minute to give a word of sympathy to a heartbroken child during a time of tragedy.

May this incident never happen to you or your family.

Wood Dale Needs Improved Streets

Wood Dale needs better streets. The village budget does not have enough money to improve the streets. WHERE CAN IT GET THE MONEY?

It can get it by charging every car owner in Wood Dale $5 more a year for his village car license. I am sure that anyone who has paid garage towing bills to be pulled out of Wood Dale's mudholes, has paid out more than this in a year's time in garage bills, time and inconvenience.

I HAVE HEARD that there is to be a referendum to decide if this $5 is to be paid. There can be only one of two results to this referendum, (neither, in my eyes, advantageous to the town and its residents).... The $5 increase can be voted down, which means that the people of Wood Dale will pay several hundred dollars for a referendum, but nothing for their streets.... or the $5 increase will be passed, and the money spent for the referendum, which could better be put to improving the streets will be wasted.

I hope that the referendum will not have to be held. I hope that the people of Wood Dale will make it clear to the village council, that they do want reasonably better streets (some are actually impassable at some times of the year). I hope that they will go in to pay their car license with that extra $5 in their hand and say, "Here is my $5 for our streets -- and that is what I want it spent for. Spend it for tar or gravel or grading."

The people of Wood Dale built a much needed library through their voluntary generosity and cooperation.

WE CAN IMPROVE our streets too. We can accomplish a great deal, when we know what we want. I think I am correct in saying we do want, we need, better streets.

I am going to the village office today to spend that extra $5 for our streets, and to tell them there, that is what I want it spent for.

HOW ABOUT YOU?

This is our town. It will be what we make it!

Mrs. Ansel Huntley

Hoffman Police Are Commended

May we be permitted a word of commendation for the Hoffman Estates police department who exceeded the call of duty in protecting our home from possible entry last weekend.

We had asked them to check our house on their patrol during the two days we planned to be away, and they certainly gave it more than a casual glance. On our return we found the back storm door broken and ajar from a high wind, and the weatherstripping had jammed the inner door so it could not be latched properly.

The vigilant police patrol had noted the situation and securely barricaded the back door with a case of soda and a kitchen chair. Our hats are off to Chief Orlick and his men. We're sorry they were so inconvenienced, but happy in the knowledge that the safety of our community lies in such capable hands.

Home Owners Group Offers Ethics Code for Officials

The Wood Dale Property Owners association has been called in the past, "an organization that is against anything that is an asset to this Village."

Let us make our position clear! We are not against anything of a constructive nature to this community, but we are against the methods by which these issues or supposed assets are brought to the attention of the public.

We do not favor the position of being forced to a "yes" vote for anything, under the duress of a panic situation, and still be made to believe it is a constructive element we are producing.

IN EVERY case we have fought, this was the situation, and we do not understand why the officials in charge of any particular issue need the use of "manufactured reasons" to force a supposed valid situation.

As in the case of our new school, you were told of the lack of water for drinking and sanitation, cold classrooms in winter, basement classrooms that are detrimental to learning, a school yard too small for playing. Through each succeeding referendum these "reasons" became more grave and the voices became higher-pitched until finally kindergarten was stopped and children went to half-day school. Forced again to vote "yes" for a constructive issue? Of course, the new school is not as yet built, but by the will of the school board we do have kindergarten and full-day sessions again. What have we gained by a new school? Apparently only a new school. The "reasons" why are left behind at the present school, unattended to, untouched, only now not as grave, perhaps even acceptable. What did we pay for a new school? Certainly a monetary payment, but more than that, a right to vote freely for a choice without the use of coercion. The four referendums alone are an indication of its non-constructive ability for the community as a whole.

The same situation was present when the sewer system was presented to the public. What were the events leading to this constructive event?

(1) The Village officials of that era declared that the septic systems were inadequate by allowing sewage water to filter through to the surface.

(2) The county then supposedly entered the picture stopping all new construction, and almost condemned the Village for health "reasons."

(3) The Village officials then presented you with the question—"do you want a Village operated sewer system?" Forced again to vote "yes" for a progressive step? Did you have a choice, as you should be granted, or time to be able to adjust budgets at home to meet the demand willingly? No. You were forced to vote "yes", or have your Village condemned.

WE VENTURE to say it was gross negligence that led up to this situation, by not having adequate supervision over new and incoming construction, and yet to these same men we credit our sewer system. A system more than three years in the making and still not complete. Not by lack of interest in those that do not have the sewer, but by lack of trust by those who do. Merely again a situation not indicative of progressive tendencies.

A village-operated water system will be presented to you in the same way, and will be instituted under a panic situation for a quick decision by the public and you will have no choice.

Look at it this way—the only places on which a new community of homes may be built in our Village is on the edges or surrounding areas, and each developer would be required by council approval to construct a well or wells to supply this particular new development (community), with the consequences to the developer or contractor, that no building permits would be issued unless this is agreed to.

Each of these wells in due time by process of operation will dry up individual wells in the area. Now the question is presented to the individuals with wells gone dry, "do you want a Village operated water system?" Where is your choice, and who made the initial choice for you?

IF YOU want a choice one way or the other now is the time to give it before the situation demands a quick observation for another "yes" vote.

By allowing these situations to continue and become standard operating procedure in any issue, would place you in subjection by those in power, to taxation without representation. These are not local problems by any means, but have plagued residents of communities throughout the country at one time or another.

You must remember these "cigarette a day" proposals coming individually could cost you the whole pack when considered as one.

We propose a code of ethics for these public officials.

(1) Act on the public behalf only.

(2) Cite a need publicly for a particular item with at least one year's time for planning ahead.

(3) Give only true answers to questions about this need, not "manufactured reasons."

(4) Have a referendum vote.

(5) Act on decision—if a yes decision, act and carry it through quickly—if a no decision, be content that you have done your job according to the powers granted you by the public.

IF YOU, (the public officials) do this job for us (the public), you would be giving us what has been called in the past — democracy—government by the people.

Unsavory Element Exposed by Press

Let's not let the bad apples spoil the barrel!

I have been merchandising Permanent Stainless Steel cookware in this area for many years. We are at present merchandising an ensemble that can and does save the young single girl a substantial sum when investing in hope chest items.

We work primarily by referral and could not have remained in business long if we had not dealt fairly and squarely with our customers. We do not misrepresent nor make wild promises.

IT IS EXTREMELY unfortunate that there occasionally creeps into our business an element that we could all do well without. We compliment Paddock Publications on their exposure of these dishonest elements in our industry. We hasten to add, however, that we hope the general public is aware of the existence of career people doing an honest, ethical, and sincre job in the hope chest field.

We will stand on our past record and hope that the public will not judge us in the same light as some of the undesirable and vicious characters who seem to take a delight in not only fleecing the public but making life miserable for those of us trying to earn an honest living.

Thanks again to Paddock for a fine job of reporting. It appears you may accomplish what the Better Business Bureau and the State's Attorneys Office cannot!

Parochial Parent Complains Of Unfair School Bus Cost

I love our country and our town dearly, but like all those in love, find them slightly confusing and unreasonable.

If my husband was alcholic or dope addict, if I were a prostitute or our three children were illegitimate or delinquents, we could get help from our government agencies.

We are none of these government-favored souls.

My husband works hard to provide a nice home and good standard of living for his family. The government taxes his pay before he gets it, then when we spend it we pay more taxes, then here's the straw that broke the camel's back; the government punishes us for accumulating personal property.

INSTEAD of spending money for booze and dope, we must pay a personal property tax on goods we have already paid taxes on. Wasn't there a war concerning America's dislike of "taxation upon taxation?"

Our relatives, friends and neighbors, state's attorney, congressman do not pay this tax, but lucky us, at least our government has recognized us! We are one of the chosen few! These people who don't pay, earn more money and spend more; how come we were chosen? How lucky can you get?

Explain to me, poor female that I am, why doesn't everyone owning personal property pay or why do I have to?

THEN there is another confusing point. The state of Illinois subsidizes free transportation to school children residing over 1½ miles from school. This state aid is for the child's transportation, not education. On our block, two children from the same income level, same political background, same race, same color, board the school bus.

One child pays, one rides free. Why? Dare I mention it? One child is a Catholic. If this one child was Hebrew or Lutheran he would pay also.

The Catholic, Hebrew or Lutheran parents pay the same rate of taxes to support the public schools, but because they choose another school, the transportation allowance is cut off. Why? That's not the law. That's not equality.

This year we withdrew our three children from the Catholic school because we couldn't pay the high cost of transporting them.

This interpretation of the law is not only against America's principle of equality and freedom, it is downright stupid on the part of the school board.

Isn't it cheaper to transport all children living 1½ miles from their school, than it would be to educate all the Catholic school children in Arlington Heights? Again, its just us "chosen ones" who pay.

MAYBE women should make the laws; the men have odd ways of doing things. No wonder Communism grows. They had better wake up and give the average working man a chance. Spend government funds on the aged, the sick, on educating our youth, fighting disease, making America strong, not financing drunks, dope addicts, prostitutes and delinquents.

Above all, our government bodies at all levels should operate on the principles our forefathers gave us. Put common sense into our way of living, our laws. Then American prestige will flourish.

'Survival' Instruction Is Rapped

The cerebral palsy drive this year includes "survival" instructions for each solicitee in the event of military attack.

I view this combination as a distressing contradiction. It fosters humanitarianism on the one hand while on the other it cooperates with, promotes and surrenders to a concept which says "yes" to the indiscriminate killing of millions of innocent men, women, children and babies. That concept is preparation for war, or defense, and civil defense is a part of it.

IT IS MORALLY wrong to create the illusion in the minds of people that there is any real defense against war attack, and that survival is something we can believe in.

I feel, also, that such violation of truth, and alarming lack of responsibility, appreciably increase war's likelihood through greater public acceptance of the while idea.

I wish to protest the civil defense phase of this year's cerebral palsy drive, and to express my regret that this organization is being used as a channel for what could be dangerously misleading information.

'One Voice' In Slate Is Emphasized

On behalf of the Better Government party, we wish to express our appreciation for the information concerning our slate of candidates for Wheeling township offices which was published in last week's editions of the Paddock Publications.

Howver, I wish to correct certain statements that were attributed to me in the article. I alone am not assembling the Better Government party slate—in fact I have only one voice in the selection of the candidates our Party will present to the public. My running mate for Justice of the Peace, Robert L. Sklodowski, and our candidates for Constable, Samuel Abbinanti and Arnold Krause, together with a large group of other individuals, have had and are having an active voice in making up the slate we will file for the Township offices. This slate-making group and not the writer, has the final authority with respect to the slate.

The fact that I was not sure at all of the issues our party would use in the campaign was a distinct indication that I could not speak for the entire group, and I would not presume to speak for the backers of our Party. We do, of course, expect that all of our candidates will be of Republican persuasion. When our slate is filed, we will furnish the Paddock Publications with full information concerning our candidates.

Young GOP Club to See Film Feb. 1

The film "Operation Abolition," a product of the House committee on un-American activities, will be shown Wednesday, Feb. 1, at the regular meeting of the Wheeling Township Young Republican club in the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association building, 25 E. Campbell st.

The film, now being widely shown in the northwest suburbs, is being contributed by Herman Deisenroth, chairman of the Americanism committee of the Des Plaines Veterans of Foreign Wars post, according to Tom Houser, club president.

HOUSER SAID the film attempts to show that student protests against the House committee's hearings in San Francisco last May were inspired and led by Communists.

Robert Bradner, chairman of the Cook County Young Republican organization, will attend the February 1 meeting to address the newly chartered club, Houser said. Bradner's brief address will precede the club's installation ceremony.

Judy Heinrich, recording secretary of the club, announced this week the February meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m., a half hour earlier than usual, to accommodate the long program. (B9

If my husband was alcholic or dope addict, if I were a prostitute or our three children were illegitimate or delinquents, we could get help from our government agencies.

We are none of these government-favored souls.

My husband works hard to provide a nice home and good standard of living for his family. The government taxes his pay before he gets it, then when we spend it we pay more taxes, then here's the straw that broke the camel's back; the government punishes us for accumulating personal property.

INSTEAD of spending money for booze and dope, we must pay a personal property tax on goods we have already paid taxes on. Wasn't there a war concerning America's dislike of "taxation upon taxation?"

Our relatives, friends and neighbors, state's attorney, congressman do not pay this tax, but lucky us, at least our government has recognized us! We are one of the chosen few! These people who don't pay, earn more money and spend more; how come we were chosen? How lucky can you get?

Explain to me, poor female that I am, why doesn't everyone owning personal property pay or why do I have to?

THEN there is another confusing point. The state of Illinois subsidizes free transportation to school children residing over 1½ miles from school. This state aid is for the child's transportation, not education. On our block, two children from the same income level, same political background, same race, same color, board the school bus.

One child pays, one rides free. Why? Dare I mention it? One child is a Catholic. If this one child was Hebrew or Lutheran he would pay also.

The Catholic, Hebrew or Lutheran parents pay the same rate of taxes to support the public schools, but because they choose another school, the transportation allowance is cut off. Why? That's not the law. That's not equality.

This year we withdrew our three children from the Catholic school because we couldn't pay the high cost of transporting them.

This interpretation of the law is not only against America's principle of equality and freedom, it is downright stupid on the part of the school board.

Isn't it cheaper to transport all children living 1½ miles from their school, than it would be to educate all the Catholic school children in Arlington Heights? Again, its just us "chosen ones" who pay.

MAYBE women should make the laws; the men have odd ways of doing things. No wonder Communism grows. They had better wake up and give the average working man a chance. Spend government funds on the aged, the sick, on educating our youth, fighting disease, making America strong, not financing drunks, dope addicts, prostitutes and delinquents.

Above all, our government bodies at all levels should operate on the principles our forefathers gave us. Put common sense into our way of living, our laws. Then American prestige will flourish.

When I called Mr. Peterson scrooge in my letter, I thought you were the typical crackpot who goes around condemning everyone and everything.

Someone has been kind enough to send me some pamphlets explaining your attitude.

If I have offended you or anyone else, I am sorry. I merely wanted to point out that it doesn't hurt to think about God among our festivities even if the pagans did start it all.

'Survival' Instruction Is Rapped

The cerebral palsy drive this year includes "survival" instructions for each solicitee in the event of military attack.

I view this combination as a distressing contradiction. It fosters humanitarianism on the one hand while on the other it cooperates with, promotes and surrenders to a concept which says "yes" to the indiscriminate killing of millions of innocent men, women, children and babies. That concept is preparation for war, or defense, and civil defense is a part of it.

IT IS MORALLY wrong to create the illusion in the minds of people that there is any real defense against war attack, and that survival is something we can believe in.

I feel, also, that such violation of truth, and alarming lack of responsibility, appreciably increase war's likelihood through greater public acceptance of the while idea.

I wish to protest the civil defense phase of this year's cerebral palsy drive, and to express my regret that this organization is being used as a channel for what could be dangerously misleading information.

'One Voice' In Slate Is Emphasized

On behalf of the Better Government party, we wish to express our appreciation for the information concerning our slate of candidates for Wheeling township offices which was published in last week's editions of the Paddock Publications.

Howver, I wish to correct certain statements that were attributed to me in the article. I alone am not assembling the Better Government party slate—in fact I have only one voice in the selection of the candidates our Party will present to the public. My running mate for Justice of the Peace, Robert L. Sklodowski, and our candidates for Constable, Samuel Abbinanti and Arnold Krause, together with a large group of other individuals, have had and are having an active voice in making up the slate we will file for the Township offices. This slate-making group and not the writer, has the final authority with respect to the slate.

The fact that I was not sure at all of the issues our party would use in the campaign was a distinct indication that I could not speak for the entire group, and I would not presume to speak for the backers of our Party. We do, of course, expect that all of our candidates will be of Republican persuasion. When our slate is filed, we will furnish the Paddock Publications with full information concerning our candidates.

Young GOP Club to See Film Feb. 1

The film "Operation Abolition," a product of the House committee on un-American activities, will be shown Wednesday, Feb. 1, at the regular meeting of the Wheeling Township Young Republican club in the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association building, 25 E. Campbell st.

The film, now being widely shown in the northwest suburbs, is being contributed by Herman Deisenroth, chairman of the Americanism committee of the Des Plaines Veterans of Foreign Wars post, according to Tom Houser, club president.

HOUSER SAID the film attempts to show that student protests against the House committee's hearings in San Francisco last May were inspired and led by Communists.

Robert Bradner, chairman of the Cook County Young Republican organization, will attend the February 1 meeting to address the newly chartered club, Houser said. Bradner's brief address will precede the club's installation ceremony.

Judy Heinrich, recording secretary of the club, announced this week the February meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m., a half hour earlier than usual, to accommodate the long program. (B9

Interest Rising In Ag-Industries Forum

An idea for a meeting of college of agriculture staff members and businessmen dealing with farmers and farm products has mushroomed into an annual conference drawing nation-wide interest.

The 1961 University of Illinois Agricultural Industries forum to be held January 31 to February 1 is the third meeting of this type. Continuance of the event shows that agricultural college professors and businessmen serving farmers find it worth while to meet and discuss current problems in marketing farm products and in serving farmers with needed supplies and equipment.

The first forum in 1959 drew about 500 agricultural industry representatives. Last year about 700 participants came from 22 states and Canada to hear and discuss current business problems. Forum chairman E. E. Broadbent believes the 1961 forum will draw more persons than of the past two years.

THE PROGRAM this year will follow much the same pattern as previously. Only the speakers and the topics have been changed.

Leading off the Tuesday morning general session, O. V. Wells, administrator of the USDA Agricultural Marketing service, will speak on "The Economic Environment Confronting Agricultural Industries." Wm. R. Tincher, assistant director of the Federal Trade commission's Bureau of Litigation, will discuss the question, "How Much Control of Business by Monopolies and Government Can We Afford and Endure?"

The Tuesday evening general session will feature University's President David Dodds Henry, whose subject will be "The University's Role in Agricultural Industries." Irwin A. Cochrun, director of the U. of I. Bureau of Business Management, will talk on "This Business of Wheel Spinning."

AT THE Wednesday morning general session, Nicholas Nyaradi, director of the Institute of International Studies, Bradley university, will speak on "Competing on a World Market."

The special-interest sessions Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning may be the key to the wide appeal of the forum. Those interested in marketing dairy products, grain, livestock, poultry and farm supplies and equipment get together to discuss topics of current interest.

For example, the dairy group will discuss expected competition as milk concentrates come into wider use. Those interested in marketing farm supplies and equipment, such as machinery, fertilizer and chemicals, feed and buildings, have three different group meetings to discuss current trends and what they mean.

GRAIN marketing men will hear about the prospects for export markets. Livestock marketing men will talk about market location and what it means today. Those interested in poultry and egg marketing will take a look at the changes taking place in this industry.

Forum headquarters will be in Garner House, one of the newest men's residence halls. Meals will be served in the nearby dining room. General sessions and special group meetings will use conference rooms in the residence halls and other nearby university buildings. Forum guests may stay in university residence halls set aside for the conference or they may use local hotels or motels.

An example of the national stature gained by the U. OF I. Forum is a recent inquiry from the chamber of commerce of a large southern city about the forum and how it was organized.

Programs and reservation forms are still available for those interested in attending this year's forum. Inquiries should be addressed to 305 Mumford Hall, Urbana. (FM

Seed Company Introduces Borer-Tolerant Hybrid Corn

New corn hybrids are making it tough for the corn borer to get a square meal these days.

By the same token, infectious stalk rot and the more infamous corn plant diseases are less likely to affect standability of new corn hybrids.

Corn borer tolerance and better standability are two of the characteristics incorporated into several new corn hybrids released recently by the Northrup King company's breeding staff after almost two decades of hybrid corn breeding and research. These hybrids will be available for area farmers in time for next year's planting.

"Northrup King corn breeders have developed hybrids which cut down corn borer feeding to the tune of an extra three to nine bushels to the acre," Glenn Moore, company research entomologist, said.

"We were the first commercial firm to start a corn borer infestation program in conjunction with our breeding work," Lewis Riba, Northrup King corn breeder explained. "Since our work with this program in 1947, we've already made good progress. It's a long, tough battle to outwit an insect pest like the corn borer — a problem that requires the cooperation of plant breeders everywhere."

In 1959 alone, corn borers took almost $72,000,000 worth of corn, according to the U.S. department of agriculture. Biggest losses last year were in Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota and Ohio, in that order.

Since 1951, Northrup King researchers have used 80,000 to 100,000 egg masses per year —enough to thoroughly infest about 30,000 plants each year with the hungry, tunneling, creamy-white insects. The artificially - infested plants are evaluated for resistance to leaf and sheath feeding by the borers. Then every stalk is split to check on stalk establishment and yield is checked closely too.

The seed firm's corn breeders have also come up with a possible clue to why some hybrids stand better than others. They believe the answer may lie in the thickness of the "rind" or outer layer of the corn stalk.

The company's stalk rot research program began in 1940 when researchers began infecting corn lines with two fungi capable of producing the disease. The infections were set up by injecting the fungus into the corn stalks with hypodermic needles. This ultimately rots the stalk of susceptible hybrids and produces "down" corn.

By combining the study of disease reaction, "rind" thickness and standability, researchers are able to tell which fungus they are getting resistance to—and whether they are getting resistance to both in a particular hybrid line.

So far, the company has a number of varieties, some adapted to this area, which meet critical standards of disease and corn borer resistance, high yield under heavy populations and good standability. (Fm

See Future Rise In Government Spending

There is no evidence of any substantial cut in government spending in the near future, a University of Illinois professor of agricultural law believes. On the contrary, most signs point to an upward trend in spending if any change should occur.

N. G. P. Krausz points out that government benefits, once they are established and people get used to them and depend on them, are difficult to remove or cut back.

The federal government through federal aid programs actively encourages states to tax for certain purposes by guaranteeing "free" federal money on a matching basis. Old-age assistance and aid to dependent children are examples of such aid.

IN 1957 THE tax burden per person for state and local taxes in Illinois averaged $233, Krausz reports, whereas the national average was about $242. In 1960 the federal tax burden per person in Illinois averaged about $543 compared with a national average of $424.

As the population continues to grow, more government services are demanded. The rising percentage of school-age children and older persons puts a greater burden on taxpayers, because these groups require more state assistance, Krausz said.

He cited these figures in the first issue of Illinois Agricultural Economics, just published by the University of Illinois department of agricultural economics. This new publication is designed to provide timely economic information for agricultural leaders. (Fm

Consumer Spending Up 5% In '50's for Farm Goods

American consumers boosted their spending for American farm food products a little more than 5 per cent each year during the 1950's, a University of Illinois agricultural economist wrote recently.

Even when the change in buying power of the dollar is figured in, the growth in the market for food has averaged about 3 per cent a year.

Population growth accounts for about two-thirds of the growth in demand for food, T. A Hieronymus explained. Higher incomes and improved diets are responsible for the other one-third.

If the greater amount of food products are to be sold, a marketing system must cater to consumer desires, the economist emphasized. The food marketing system in the United States is highly developed. But there is still a need to improve quality of products, reduce marketing costs and develop new processes and products.

If food producers are to sell to consumers, they must price their products attractively. American farmers are sending their products into a very price-conscious market. Any attempt to control the supply of food products would retard further growth of the market for food, Hieronymus said.

These statements appear in the first issue of Illinois Agricultural Economics, a new publication of the University of Illinois department of agricultural economics. (Fm

Explain Purpose, Operation Of School Lunch Program

H. W. HANNAH and N. G. P. KRAUSZ

The school lunch program will not solve our surplus food problem, nor was it basically meant to do so.

The purpose outlined by Congress in 1946 was "to safeguard the health and well being of the nation's children and to encourage the domestic consumption of nutritious agricultural commodities and other food." As can be seen from this language, Congress did have the food surplus in mind, however.

Payments of federal funds to states for lunches are made on a matching-formula basis. States with higher than average per capita income must put up three dollars for each dollar of federal contribution. However, the three dollars of state funds includes money spent for supplies, facilities, and equipment. If a particular school qualifies for the program, it is reimbursed for the cost of food consumed.

SCHOOL lunch funds are allocated to states on the basis of 1) number of school children in the state between the ages of 5 and 17 years and 2) need for assistance as shown by per capita income compared with the national per capita income. Both public and nonprofit private schools are included.

There are several related laws that give authority to supply commodities and funds to the school lunch program. One is an act to prevent waste of perishable foods acquired by the CCC. There is a requirement that the secretary of agriculture obtain assurance that schools will not diminish their normal expenditures for food by reason of such donation.

Another law allows the use of 30 per cent of custom receipts to encourage exportation and domestic consumption of agricultural commodities. A considerable amount of food is purchased for school lunches under this program.

STILL ANOTHER law appropriates funds for milk in schools. The last extension of this law, in 1959, authorized the CCC to expend $75,000,000 a year (to which a deficiency appropriation of $20,000,000 was added for the school year 1959-60) to increase consumption of fluid milk in 1) nonprofit elementary and high schools and 2) nonprofit nursery schools, child-care centers and other nonprofit institutions caring for and training children.

Lunches must meet minimum nutritional requirements set by the secretary of agriculture. Meals can be served free or at a reduced cost. The whole operation must be on a nonprofit basis.

The total amount of federal funds distributed under the school lunch program to all schools in 1959-60 was about $205,000,000. For Illinois schools the total was $9,541,942.

DONATED commodities are classified as either in surplus or not in surplus. The latter are acquired by direct purchase and include such items as peaches, tomatoes, green beans, frozen ground beef and turkey. Commodities in surplus include, among others, dried milk, rice, processed cheese, peanut butter, dried eggs and butter. Commodities donated in 1959-60 were valued at about $11,000,000.

This program is a substantial one in which 30 to 35 per cent of the schools in Illinois are participating. It appears to be meeting the objectives as defined by Congress and presumably will continue, and probably expand, at least as long as there are surplus agricultural commodities. (FM

Down On The Farm

with Your Farm Adviser

I attended the National Turkey Growers convention at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago last week as a guest of Keith Chidley, secretary- treasurer of the Cook county Farm bureau and owner of the Sunset Turkey farm, Palatine. I was surprised when I walked in the hotel to find that nearly 5,000 turkey growers and guests had literally taken over one of the largest hotels in Chicago.

What did we see? Some of the finest dressed turkeys and live turkeys, that I had ever seen. I saw too, the latest equipment used in the turkey growing business. Growing turkeys is a business all of its own. If one does not know the hazards connected with it, he had better not get into it.

There were dressed turkeys at the convention that weighed from seven pounds to 49 pounds, 10 ounces. I stopped to chat with the owner of the 49 pound bird. He asked if we had a roaster at home that would hold the bird. I told him I wasn't sure we had an oven we could get it into. It was huge. The birds that weighed from 20 to 30 pounds were almost one foot across. There was plenty of white meat on the broad breasts.

OUR EATING habits have been changing in recent years. Years ago, people ate turkey only about twice a year, Thanksgiving and Christmas, I don't know why. It may have been that it cost too much or just plain tradition. I prefer to think it was the latter. Today people eat turkey more often. One can order it at many restaurants the year around. It is an excellent meat and need not be eaten only on special occasions. If you have an occasion to eat at the Conrad Hilton hotel in the near future, order turkey. You may get some from the prize winning birds I saw because the hotel bought the majority of them.

We have at our office the 1961 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide published by the U.S. Treasury Department, Internal Revenue service. There is an excellent source of information concerning the farmer's income tax compiled in this 64-page publication. If you desire your free copy call me at CLearbrook 3-6441.

THE LAKE - Cook Farm Supply company invited me to attend its annual meeting in Des Plaines, January 12. This Farm bureau cooperative has been serving farmers in the area since the early 1930's. It has done an excellent job supplying farmers with the supplies they need. It follows closely the recommendations of the Cooperative Extension service, University of Illinois, on fertilizers, insecticides and fungicide applications.

I accepted an invitation from the Cook county Truck Gardeners and Farmers association to attend their annual meeting, January 14.

The meeting was held in their new office building at 2120 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. The organization is to be complimented on their fine new office quarters. It is an asset to any community.

Vegetable growers are facing many perplexing problems, but I am confident that they will find the correct solution. The Truck Gardeners association is the oldest farm organization in the county. It was organized in 1902. It has served the interest of the vegetable growers exceedingly well during the past 58 years. I am happy to have the privilege of working with this fine organization and to attend its annual meeting. (Fm

An idea for a meeting of college of agriculture staff members and businessmen dealing with farmers and farm products has mushroomed into an annual conference drawing nation-wide interest.

The 1961 University of Illinois Agricultural Industries forum to be held January 31 to February 1 is the third meeting of this type. Continuance of the event shows that agricultural college professors and businessmen serving farmers find it worth while to meet and discuss current problems in marketing farm products and in serving farmers with needed supplies and equipment.

The first forum in 1959 drew about 500 agricultural industry representatives. Last year about 700 participants came from 22 states and Canada to hear and discuss current business problems. Forum chairman E. E. Broadbent believes the 1961 forum will draw more persons than of the past two years.

THE PROGRAM this year will follow much the same pattern as previously. Only the speakers and the topics have been changed.

Leading off the Tuesday morning general session, O. V. Wells, administrator of the USDA Agricultural Marketing service, will speak on "The Economic Environment Confronting Agricultural Industries." Wm. R. Tincher, assistant director of the Federal Trade commission's Bureau of Litigation, will discuss the question, "How Much Control of Business by Monopolies and Government Can We Afford and Endure?"

The Tuesday evening general session will feature University's President David Dodds Henry, whose subject will be "The University's Role in Agricultural Industries." Irwin A. Cochrun, director of the U. of I. Bureau of Business Management, will talk on "This Business of Wheel Spinning."

AT THE Wednesday morning general session, Nicholas Nyaradi, director of the Institute of International Studies, Bradley university, will speak on "Competing on a World Market."

The special-interest sessions Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning may be the key to the wide appeal of the forum. Those interested in marketing dairy products, grain, livestock, poultry and farm supplies and equipment get together to discuss topics of current interest.

For example, the dairy group will discuss expected competition as milk concentrates come into wider use. Those interested in marketing farm supplies and equipment, such as machinery, fertilizer and chemicals, feed and buildings, have three different group meetings to discuss current trends and what they mean.

GRAIN marketing men will hear about the prospects for export markets. Livestock marketing men will talk about market location and what it means today. Those interested in poultry and egg marketing will take a look at the changes taking place in this industry.

Forum headquarters will be in Garner House, one of the newest men's residence halls. Meals will be served in the nearby dining room. General sessions and special group meetings will use conference rooms in the residence halls and other nearby university buildings. Forum guests may stay in university residence halls set aside for the conference or they may use local hotels or motels.

An example of the national stature gained by the U. OF I. Forum is a recent inquiry from the chamber of commerce of a large southern city about the forum and how it was organized.

Programs and reservation forms are still available for those interested in attending this year's forum. Inquiries should be addressed to 305 Mumford Hall, Urbana. (FM

Seed Company Introduces Borer-Tolerant Hybrid Corn

New corn hybrids are making it tough for the corn borer to get a square meal these days.

By the same token, infectious stalk rot and the more infamous corn plant diseases are less likely to affect standability of new corn hybrids.

Corn borer tolerance and better standability are two of the characteristics incorporated into several new corn hybrids released recently by the Northrup King company's breeding staff after almost two decades of hybrid corn breeding and research. These hybrids will be available for area farmers in time for next year's planting.

"Northrup King corn breeders have developed hybrids which cut down corn borer feeding to the tune of an extra three to nine bushels to the acre," Glenn Moore, company research entomologist, said.

"We were the first commercial firm to start a corn borer infestation program in conjunction with our breeding work," Lewis Riba, Northrup King corn breeder explained. "Since our work with this program in 1947, we've already made good progress. It's a long, tough battle to outwit an insect pest like the corn borer — a problem that requires the cooperation of plant breeders everywhere."

In 1959 alone, corn borers took almost $72,000,000 worth of corn, according to the U.S. department of agriculture. Biggest losses last year were in Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota and Ohio, in that order.

Since 1951, Northrup King researchers have used 80,000 to 100,000 egg masses per year —enough to thoroughly infest about 30,000 plants each year with the hungry, tunneling, creamy-white insects. The artificially - infested plants are evaluated for resistance to leaf and sheath feeding by the borers. Then every stalk is split to check on stalk establishment and yield is checked closely too.

The seed firm's corn breeders have also come up with a possible clue to why some hybrids stand better than others. They believe the answer may lie in the thickness of the "rind" or outer layer of the corn stalk.

The company's stalk rot research program began in 1940 when researchers began infecting corn lines with two fungi capable of producing the disease. The infections were set up by injecting the fungus into the corn stalks with hypodermic needles. This ultimately rots the stalk of susceptible hybrids and produces "down" corn.

By combining the study of disease reaction, "rind" thickness and standability, researchers are able to tell which fungus they are getting resistance to—and whether they are getting resistance to both in a particular hybrid line.

So far, the company has a number of varieties, some adapted to this area, which meet critical standards of disease and corn borer resistance, high yield under heavy populations and good standability. (Fm

Explain Purpose, Operation Of School Lunch Program

H. W. HANNAH and N. G. P. KRAUSZ

The school lunch program will not solve our surplus food problem, nor was it basically meant to do so.

The purpose outlined by Congress in 1946 was "to safeguard the health and well being of the nation's children and to encourage the domestic consumption of nutritious agricultural commodities and other food." As can be seen from this language, Congress did have the food surplus in mind, however.

Payments of federal funds to states for lunches are made on a matching-formula basis. States with higher than average per capita income must put up three dollars for each dollar of federal contribution. However, the three dollars of state funds includes money spent for supplies, facilities, and equipment. If a particular school qualifies for the program, it is reimbursed for the cost of food consumed.

SCHOOL lunch funds are allocated to states on the basis of 1) number of school children in the state between the ages of 5 and 17 years and 2) need for assistance as shown by per capita income compared with the national per capita income. Both public and nonprofit private schools are included.

There are several related laws that give authority to supply commodities and funds to the school lunch program. One is an act to prevent waste of perishable foods acquired by the CCC. There is a requirement that the secretary of agriculture obtain assurance that schools will not diminish their normal expenditures for food by reason of such donation.

Another law allows the use of 30 per cent of custom receipts to encourage exportation and domestic consumption of agricultural commodities. A considerable amount of food is purchased for school lunches under this program.

STILL ANOTHER law appropriates funds for milk in schools. The last extension of this law, in 1959, authorized the CCC to expend $75,000,000 a year (to which a deficiency appropriation of $20,000,000 was added for the school year 1959-60) to increase consumption of fluid milk in 1) nonprofit elementary and high schools and 2) nonprofit nursery schools, child-care centers and other nonprofit institutions caring for and training children.

Lunches must meet minimum nutritional requirements set by the secretary of agriculture. Meals can be served free or at a reduced cost. The whole operation must be on a nonprofit basis.

The total amount of federal funds distributed under the school lunch program to all schools in 1959-60 was about $205,000,000. For Illinois schools the total was $9,541,942.

DONATED commodities are classified as either in surplus or not in surplus. The latter are acquired by direct purchase and include such items as peaches, tomatoes, green beans, frozen ground beef and turkey. Commodities in surplus include, among others, dried milk, rice, processed cheese, peanut butter, dried eggs and butter. Commodities donated in 1959-60 were valued at about $11,000,000.

This program is a substantial one in which 30 to 35 per cent of the schools in Illinois are participating. It appears to be meeting the objectives as defined by Congress and presumably will continue, and probably expand, at least as long as there are surplus agricultural commodities. (FM

See Future Rise In Government Spending

There is no evidence of any substantial cut in government spending in the near future, a University of Illinois professor of agricultural law believes. On the contrary, most signs point to an upward trend in spending if any change should occur.

N. G. P. Krausz points out that government benefits, once they are established and people get used to them and depend on them, are difficult to remove or cut back.

The federal government through federal aid programs actively encourages states to tax for certain purposes by guaranteeing "free" federal money on a matching basis. Old-age assistance and aid to dependent children are examples of such aid.

IN 1957 THE tax burden per person for state and local taxes in Illinois averaged $233, Krausz reports, whereas the national average was about $242. In 1960 the federal tax burden per person in Illinois averaged about $543 compared with a national average of $424.

As the population continues to grow, more government services are demanded. The rising percentage of school-age children and older persons puts a greater burden on taxpayers, because these groups require more state assistance, Krausz said.

He cited these figures in the first issue of Illinois Agricultural Economics, just published by the University of Illinois department of agricultural economics. This new publication is designed to provide timely economic information for agricultural leaders. (Fm

Consumer Spending Up 5% In '50's for Farm Goods

American consumers boosted their spending for American farm food products a little more than 5 per cent each year during the 1950's, a University of Illinois agricultural economist wrote recently.

Even when the change in buying power of the dollar is figured in, the growth in the market for food has averaged about 3 per cent a year.

Population growth accounts for about two-thirds of the growth in demand for food, T. A Hieronymus explained. Higher incomes and improved diets are responsible for the other one-third.

If the greater amount of food products are to be sold, a marketing system must cater to consumer desires, the economist emphasized. The food marketing system in the United States is highly developed. But there is still a need to improve quality of products, reduce marketing costs and develop new processes and products.

If food producers are to sell to consumers, they must price their products attractively. American farmers are sending their products into a very price-conscious market. Any attempt to control the supply of food products would retard further growth of the market for food, Hieronymus said.

Down On The Farm

CARL F. MEES

I attended the National Turkey Growers convention at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago last week as a guest of Keith Chidley, secretary- treasurer of the Cook county Farm bureau and owner of the Sunset Turkey farm, Palatine. I was surprised when I walked in the hotel to find that nearly 5,000 turkey growers and guests had literally taken over one of the largest hotels in Chicago.

What did we see? Some of the finest dressed turkeys and live turkeys, that I had ever seen. I saw too, the latest equipment used in the turkey growing business. Growing turkeys is a business all of its own. If one does not know the hazards connected with it, he had better not get into it.

There were dressed turkeys at the convention that weighed from seven pounds to 49 pounds, 10 ounces. I stopped to chat with the owner of the 49 pound bird. He asked if we had a roaster at home that would hold the bird. I told him I wasn't sure we had an oven we could get it into. It was huge. The birds that weighed from 20 to 30 pounds were almost one foot across. There was plenty of white meat on the broad breasts.

OUR EATING habits have been changing in recent years. Years ago, people ate turkey only about twice a year, Thanksgiving and Christmas, I don't know why. It may have been that it cost too much or just plain tradition. I prefer to think it was the latter. Today people eat turkey more often. One can order it at many restaurants the year around. It is an excellent meat and need not be eaten only on special occasions. If you have an occasion to eat at the Conrad Hilton hotel in the near future, order turkey. You may get some from the prize winning birds I saw because the hotel bought the majority of them.

We have at our office the 1961 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide published by the U.S. Treasury Department, Internal Revenue service. There is an excellent source of information concerning the farmer's income tax compiled in this 64-page publication. If you desire your free copy call me at CLearbrook 3-6441.

THE LAKE - Cook Farm Supply company invited me to attend its annual meeting in Des Plaines, January 12. This Farm bureau cooperative has been serving farmers in the area since the early 1930's. It has done an excellent job supplying farmers with the supplies they need. It follows closely the recommendations of the Cooperative Extension service, University of Illinois, on fertilizers, insecticides and fungicide applications.

I accepted an invitation from the Cook county Truck Gardeners and Farmers association to attend their annual meeting, January 14.

The meeting was held in their new office building at 2120 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. The organization is to be complimented on their fine new office quarters. It is an asset to any community.

Vegetable growers are facing many perplexing problems, but I am confident that they will find the correct solution. The Truck Gardeners association is the oldest farm organization in the county. It was organized in 1902. It has served the interest of the vegetable growers exceedingly well during the past 58 years. I am happy to have the privilege of working with this fine organization and to attend its annual meeting. (Fm

Lessons In English

OFTEN MISUSED

Distinguish between intolerable (unbearable; unendurable) and intolerant (narrow-minded; unfair; hidebound). Thus: "These conditions are intolerable," and, "He met all their suggestions with an intolerant mind."

Avoid the expression, "I cannot go that person." What you really mean is, "I cannot tolerate that person."

Do not say, "We have in our midst a very well-known person." Although the expression, "in our midst," is very widely used, it has never been completely established as good usage. It is better to say, "We have with us a very well-known person."

Do not say, "I had my leg broken in two places." You didn't really have it done. Instead, say, "My leg was broken in two places."

Do not say, "I have never heard such a strange story." Say, "I have never before heard so strange a story."

Do not say, "My mother is going on sixty." Say, "My mother is approaching sixty."

WORD STUDY

OFTEN MISUSED

Distinguish between intolerable (unbearable; unendurable) and intolerant (narrow-minded; unfair; hidebound). Thus: "These conditions are intolerable," and, "He met all their suggestions with an intolerant mind."

Avoid the expression, "I cannot go that person." What you really mean is, "I cannot tolerate that person."

Do not say, "We have in our midst a very well-known person." Although the expression, "in our midst," is very widely used, it has never been completely established as good usage. It is better to say, "We have with us a very well-known person."

Do not say, "I had my leg broken in two places." You didn't really have it done. Instead, say, "My leg was broken in two places."

Do not say, "I have never heard such a strange story." Say, "I have never before heard so strange a story."

Do not say, "My mother is going on sixty." Say, "My mother is approaching sixty."

WORD STUDY

Quell; to calm; to still. "The militia was called out to quell the riot."

Anachronism; an error in chronology, by which events are misplaced in order. "The many anachronisms in this historical work make it unreliable."

(This article appeared in the 38 newspapers affiliated with the Suburban Press Foundation, Inc.)

America's model housewife says she loves the convenience and economy of canned foods.

"With five lively children to keep an eye on, I can't afford to spend too much time in the kitchen."

The attractive 32-year-old homemaker, winner of the 1961 Mrs. America contest, cited her prize-winning green bean casserole as an example of "canned convenience."

Her "blue ribbon" green beans combined canned French-style green beans with canned cream of mushroom soup, slivered almonds, grated cheese, garlic salt, and pepper.

THE MIXTURE gets sprinkled with bread crumbs, baked until golden brown, and garnished with sprigs of parsley.

Explained Mrs. Murphy:

"My casserole takes about three minutes to mix, gets popped into the oven, and I don't have to give it a thought until serving time. What could be simpler? But without the handy canned ingredients, I'd have to buy fresh green beans, clean them, snip off the ends, and cut them into thin strips—and that's really a job. Then I'd have to clean the mushrooms, prepare the soup. Almonds would have to be slivered and cheese grated. Then I'd have to go take a nap!"

Like all busy homemakers, Mrs. America relies on the canned foods in her cupboard to help her prepare meals in minutes and allow time for her family and community activities.

THE NATION'S foremost homemaker has had to learn to make every dollar count. "And thanks to canned foods, I've learned how to stretch every dollar of my food budget," she adds.

Currently, Mrs. America of 1961 is making a nationwide tour. She will appear before the National Canners Association, home builder expositions, department stores, cooking conventions, fashion shows, and women's conventions.

Mrs. America

HERE'S THE recipe for Mrs. Murphy's "blue ribbon" green beans:

2 cans (1-pound each) French style green beans
2 cans (10 ½-ounces each) cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup slivered almonds
½ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup buttered bread crumbs

Drain beans; blend liquid with undiluted soup. Stir in almonds, cheese, garlic salt, pepper and drained beans. Turn into a 1½ quart casserole; sprinkle crumbs over top. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes or until heated through. If desired, garnish with parsley.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Week's Best food buys

While the many reasons for it exceed the scope of the University of Illinois consumer service food market survey, the fact remains that consumer demand for some meats, produce and groceries has slackened enough to be felt, if not measured.

Item: Fresh red meat prices -- recently on the climb -- are stabilized at retail. At lower market levels heavier receipts build up total supplies to erase cost gains.

Item: Eggs decline further on a continuing hesitancy to buy despite heavy supplies that are available, and the wholesale market structure weakens.

ITEM: CHICAGO wholesale prices on some fresh vegetables are the same as quotes at shipping points, thus affecting some retails.

Item: Higher priced bacon will tend to further slow movement at the consumer level.

Item: Prices can break either way on fryers, but the market cost trend is slightly higher, and especially so on heavier weight stewing hens.

All factors considered, lamb emerges as the consensus market value for the week ending January 21 on the U of I yardstick of values. Specific bargains are:

MEATS — lamb roasts and chops, boneless beef roasts and steaks, pork picnics; dairy -- large eggs; produce -- lettuce, tomatoes, onions, spinach, cabbage, brussels sprouts, oranges, pears and grapes.

With the salad vegetables and citrus above as clear cut produce bargains, carrots, corn and snapbeans diminish in value on a higher pricing scale.

Coincident with a marked lag in consumer demand, two other factors also affect markets: 1.) cost advances of the past two weeks gave buyers a chance to jump prices that result this week in steady but widely quoted ranges; 2.) the transport strike at New York is playing into the hands of Chicago and Midwest consumers by holding supplies here.

AT LIVE and wholesale levels these developments occurred: cattle -- receipts up one third, erased price increases and dropped late-week quotes as much as a dollar. At wholesale, beef prices dropped on slackened Eastern demand and lower paced local activity. Hogs -- supplies 25 per cent above week-ago, demand good with live quotes ranging steady to a quarter higher. Pork, at wholesale, was steady. Lamb -- heaviest receipts in many weeks, good demand; live quotes that went up as much as a dollar early week, fell off late week for a net loss of a half on the week. At wholesale, the reaction was unchanged to slight losses on moderate trade.

Retail markets, equating all of these situations, generally showed the following price tags for consumer attention:

Lamb -- tagged in promotional value ranges are leg roasts 49-69 cents, shoulder roasts 39-49 cents (depending on size and cut), shoulder chops 59-75 cents, loin chops 98 cents - $1.29 and rib chops 79-98 cents.

BEEF -- blade cut chuck pot roasts move to a general 59-65 cent range, round bone roasts 69-75 cents, 5th-6th cut rib roasts stabilize generally at 69 cents, 1st through 4th cuts 79 cents and up, while the rolled roasts (rump and sirloin tip) are better buys at a stabilized 89-99 cents. Wider ranges continue on steaks and are reasonable bargains at more general levels of $1.09 for sirloin, $1.29 for porterhouse and 89-95 cents for round — although prices ranging to as low as 75 cents for some cuts will be noted in area stores.

Pork -- although the general feeling (and hope) is for a down trend, fresh pork is in strictly an up and down situation depending on dealers. Mostly tags show 49 cents for rib roasts, 59 cents for loin ends, 89-95 cents for center cut chops and 49-59 cents each for fresh Boston butts and spare ribs.

In processed lines, bacon costs increase and the new 69-73 cent range on first line brands is expected to slow movement. Second lines hold at 55-59 cents, and two-pound thick sliced quote $1.19. Although picnics quote higher at wholesale, they retail at a steady 39 cents. Conversely, smoked Boston butts cost less at wholesale but retails price up on supply factors to 79 cents. The big question in hams -- where's the market, and what's the inventory?

POULTRY -- retails hold at 39 cents for fryers, although many lower quotes will be found in promotional situations, despite higher trending market tendencies. Retails advanced to 49 cents on the four-pound and over stewing hens, reflecting higher wholesales. Eggs are confronted with heavy stocks (storage stocks 137,100 cases below year-ago, meaning more supplies in circulation), and the market is rated as disorderly. Large grade A's that moved down to 61-69 cents last week post another lower range of 55-65 cents this week, the high side of the range generally for whites, and the low side for browns. (SH

Canned Foods' Convenience Wins Praise of Mrs. America

(This article appeared in the 38 newspapers affiliated with the Suburban Press Foundation, Inc.)

America's model housewife says she loves the convenience and economy of canned foods.

"With five lively children to keep an eye on, I can't afford to spend too much time in the kitchen."

The attractive 32-year-old homemaker, winner of the 1961 Mrs. America contest, cited her prize-winning green bean casserole as an example of "canned convenience."

Her "blue ribbon" green beans combined canned French-style green beans with canned cream of mushroom soup, slivered almonds, grated cheese, garlic salt, and pepper.

THE MIXTURE gets sprinkled with bread crumbs, baked until golden brown, and garnished with sprigs of parsley.

Explained Mrs. Murphy:

"My casserole takes about three minutes to mix, gets popped into the oven, and I don't have to give it a thought until serving time. What could be simpler? But without the handy canned ingredients, I'd have to buy fresh green beans, clean them, snip off the ends, and cut them into thin strips—and that's really a job. Then I'd have to clean the mushrooms, prepare the soup. Almonds would have to be slivered and cheese grated. Then I'd have to go take a nap!"

Like all busy homemakers, Mrs. America relies on the canned foods in her cupboard to help her prepare meals in minutes and allow time for her family and community activities.

THE NATION'S foremost homemaker has had to learn to make every dollar count. "And thanks to canned foods, I've learned how to stretch every dollar of my food budget," she adds.

Currently, Mrs. America of 1961 is making a nationwide tour. She will appear before the National Canners Association, home builder expositions, department stores, cooking conventions, fashion shows, and women's conventions.

HERE'S THE recipe for Mrs. Murphy's "blue ribbon" green beans:

2 cans (1-pound each) French style green beans
2 cans (10 ½-ounces each) cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup slivered almonds
½ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup buttered bread crumbs

Drain beans; blend liquid with undiluted soup. Stir in almonds, cheese, garlic salt, pepper and drained beans. Turn into a 1½ quart casserole; sprinkle crumbs over top. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes or until heated through. If desired, garnish with parsley.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Week's Best food buys

While the many reasons for it exceed the scope of the University of Illinois consumer service food market survey, the fact remains that consumer demand for some meats, produce and groceries has slackened enough to be felt, if not measured.

Item: Fresh red meat prices -- recently on the climb -- are stabilized at retail. At lower market levels heavier receipts build up total supplies to erase cost gains.

Item: Eggs decline further on a continuing hesitancy to buy despite heavy supplies that are available, and the wholesale market structure weakens.

ITEM: CHICAGO wholesale prices on some fresh vegetables are the same as quotes at shipping points, thus affecting some retails.

Item: Higher priced bacon will tend to further slow movement at the consumer level.

Item: Prices can break either way on fryers, but the market cost trend is slightly higher, and especially so on heavier weight stewing hens.

All factors considered, lamb emerges as the consensus market value for the week ending January 21 on the U of I yardstick of values. Specific bargains are:

MEATS — lamb roasts and chops, boneless beef roasts and steaks, pork picnics; dairy -- large eggs; produce -- lettuce, tomatoes, onions, spinach, cabbage, brussels sprouts, oranges, pears and grapes.

With the salad vegetables and citrus above as clear cut produce bargains, carrots, corn and snapbeans diminish in value on a higher pricing scale.

Coincident with a marked lag in consumer demand, two other factors also affect markets: 1.) cost advances of the past two weeks gave buyers a chance to jump prices that result this week in steady but widely quoted ranges; 2.) the transport strike at New York is playing into the hands of Chicago and Midwest consumers by holding supplies here.

AT LIVE and wholesale levels these developments occurred: cattle -- receipts up one third, erased price increases and dropped late-week quotes as much as a dollar. At wholesale, beef prices dropped on slackened Eastern demand and lower paced local activity. Hogs -- supplies 25 per cent above week-ago, demand good with live quotes ranging steady to a quarter higher. Pork, at wholesale, was steady. Lamb -- heaviest receipts in many weeks, good demand; live quotes that went up as much as a dollar early week, fell off late week for a net loss of a half on the week. At wholesale, the reaction was unchanged to slight losses on moderate trade.

Former Texas Family Serves Side Dish Tomato Specialty

In season or out, tomatoes are one of the favorite foods in the Carl Dispenziere household. This is especially true when they are prepared according to an old family recipe.

The "surprise" in this recipe is a chive and cream cheese filling which is spread between two slices of tomatoes. The tomato sandwiches are coated with an egg mixture and bread crumbs and fried in butter.

"We make dozens of these during the summer months when tomatoes are in season," said Mrs. Dispenziere. "As soon as they ripen in our garden my husband and I pick them and prepare enough tomato surprises for several meals. They will keep for days in the refrigerator."

BECAUSE Mr. Dispenziere enjoys cooking, both indoors and out, he is a willing hand in the kitchen and the tomatoes are usually a joint endeavor. They cook them in an electric skillet, and when prepared in advance need only be reheated before serving.

"The tomato surprises are a nice side dish with hamburgers, meat loaf or stuffed flank steak," commented Mrs. Dispenziere.

Her favorite flank steak recipe is made with a flavorful veal stuffing seasoned with onion, parsley and paprika. Rolled up and browned well, the flank steak is baked until tender. Carrots may be added to the baking dish, if desired.

WITH this savory steak Mrs. Dispenziere suggests serving Belgium Potatoes, a simplified and greaseless version of French fries. The potatoes are cut in long strips and baked on a cookie sheet in the oven. Thus with this meal, the oven heat can be utilized to cook both the meat and the vegetables. And with the tomatoes as a side dish, you will have a delicious dinner, indeed!

Cooking is just one of the talents of this capable young woman. Art is her major interest, having taught this subject for three years in elementary and junior high schools.

She recently completed a drawing course at the adult evening school.

The Dispenzieres moved to this area a year ago from San Antonio, Texas. They live at 710 N. Stratford in Arlington Heights and have two children: Denise, 2 and Carl Jr., 6-months-old.

TOMATO SURPRISES

6 medium-size firm tomatoes
2 3-ounce packages cream cheese with chives, softened
2 eggs
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ cup butter or oil
½ cup parsley flakes, cut fine

Cut each tomato into four slices crosswise. The slices should be ¼ inch thick. Spread cream cheese and chive mixtures between two slices of tomatoes, sandwich fashion. (Six tomatoes makes 12 sandwiches.)

Mix bread crumbs, salt, pepper and half of the parsley in a dish. Beat eggs and milk together with a dash of salt and pepper and remaining parsley.

Dip tomato sandwiches into crumb mixture, then into egg mixture, then into crumb mixture again, coating well.

Fry tomato sandwiches in oil or butter until brown on one side. Turn carefully with spatula and brown on other side. Drain on absorbant paper.

If the tomato surprises are made in advance, refrigerate and re-heat in a 300 degree oven.

VEAL-STUFFED FLANK STEAK

1½ to 2 pounds flank steak, cut thin
Salt, pepper and flour
½ pound ground veal from shoulder rump
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup onion, chopped fine
¼ cup parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1 cup milk
½ cup water
Sliced carrots, if desired

Score flank steak crosswise. Season with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Pound well with a potato masher.

To prepare stuffing, brown ground veal in a skillet; remove from pan and set aside.

Melt the butter in skillet and blend in flour. Add onion, parsley, salt and paprika. Saute mixture until it bubbles. Gradually add milk and cook until mixture thickens; then add browned veal.

Spread mixture over flank steak and roll up. Tie in middle and on the ends securely. Brown well in fat on all sides. Transfer to a shallow pan and add water plus carrots, if desired.

Cover pan with foil and bake in a 350 degree oven for 1½ hours or until tender. Remove foil after the first hour and baste meat occasionally with the juice in the pan.

This recipe can be made in a Dutch oven on the top of the stove. Serves 4.

BELGIUM POTATOES

Pare and cut up potatoes as you would for French fries. Places on a cookie sheet and bake in a 350 degree oven for 45 minutes to one hour or until brown, turning occasionally. Serve seasoned with salt.

The potatoes may be cut in wider slices, if desired. After baking, they can be sliced open, dotted with butter and seasoned with salt. (SH

Snowtime Scenario

Color movies of action in the snow are lively souvenirs of a winter resort vacation. Think how much fun you had last year when you went to the mountains for a holiday on bobsleds and skis. But think how that fun would have lasted if you had a color movie of it all.

This winter, if you're going back up to the slopes, take along a movie camera. Here are a few tips to help you capture the action, beauty and color of fun in the snow:

PLAN YOUR shots, so that every activity is covered. The simplest "script" to follow is one that starts with early morning breakfast, goes through the day on the slopes to the evening songfest by the fire in the lodge.

You needn't take it all on one day. Shoot whenever you can, then edit for continuity by cutting and splicing when you have the developed film.

Think how the picture will look on the screen. Somebody falling down in a flurry of snow can make a fine action shot. But if it comes right in the middle of scenes bearing no relation to it, the viewer will be confused.

Thursday, Jan. 19, 1961

IF YOU happen to catch such a scene, you can make it much more effective if you shoot some others to be sliced in before and after.

Thus: a distance shot of the slopes—then the climb to the top—followed by a closeup of the skier and the smooth start of the descent—then the flailing of arms, legs, skis and poles, and a final shot of the skier picking himself up.

Vary the distances, and don't be afraid of closeups. Avoid the common tendency to "pan" every scene. A series of quick shots from differing angles and distances is often a much more effective way to present an over-all scene than a long, slow panning shot that serves no dramatic purpose. (SH

Spicy Tamale Pie Bubbles In Flavorful Meat Filling

A buffet party's certain to be a success if you serve a proven favorite. Tamale Pie, with its spicy goodness, is that kind of recipe. It's flavorful, failure-proof and distinctive enough to become your own personal party specialty.

HOT TAMALE PIE and cold beer — This party specialty features a corn meal crust and a spicy meat filling which also contains whole black olives, corn, green pepper and onions, and a little beer or ale for extra tang. The topping is bubbly melted cheddar cheese. (SH

This dinner-in-a-dish can be prepared for baking a day or so ahead—it keeps well if refrigerated. But be sure to allow the casserole to warm to room temperature before baking to prevent breakage of the crust. A small amount of beer or ale lends a special subtle flavor.

Serve Tamale Pie oven-hot with a crisp green salad, heated crusty rolls and as a cooling contrast to the entree, choose beer or ale as the ideal beverage accompaniment.

TAMALE PIE

1 cup white corn meal
1 cup cold water
1 tablespoon salt
3 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons butter

Combine corn meal, cold water and salt; mix until smooth. Add to boiling water in saucepan and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cover and continue cooking over low heat 5 minutes. Stir in butter.

Cool slightly. Pour into buttered shallow 2-quart casserole and spread evenly to cover bottom and sides of dish. This crust will hold the following prepared mixture.

2 tablespoons olive oil
1 large onion, chopped
1 green pepper, cut in thin strips
1 pound ground beef
1 can (1 pound) whole tomatoes
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1/3 cup beer or ale
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn
1 cup whole pitted ripe olives
½ cup grated cheddar cheese

Heat oil in skillet; add onion and green pepper and saute until tender. Add beef and cook until brown. Mix in tomatoes, tomato paste, beer or ale, salt, chili powder and Tabasco; simmer 10 minutes. Stir in corn and ripe olives.

Pour filling into corn meal crust. Sprinkle top with grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 50 minutes. Yield: 8 servings. (SH

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

Eggs are a very important part of our daily eating requirements, both from a health standpoint and as a necessary ingredient in a variety of dishes.

Here are a few facts you should know about this all important food: Eggs should be stored in the refrigerator with small ends down and only brought out when ready to use. Always cook eggs with low or moderate heat, as cooking at too high a temperature will make them tough.

Important uses for eggs are to thicken (puddings and custards), to bind (meatloaf), to coat (breading meat), to garnish (soups or salads), to emulsify (mayonnaise), and to leaven (cakes, etc.)

Expressionism and Realism Are Topics

By LUCILE ERNST

Tonight the second in a series of art appreciation lectures, based on the Metropolitan Museum of Art Seminars, is being presented by the Countryside Art Center. Everyone interested in learning more about art is cordially invited to attend. The seminar will be held at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights and will begin at 8 p.m.

"Realism, the Painter and the World Around Us" and Expressionism, the Painter and the World He Creates" will be discussed and illustrated by William J. Wimmer, Jr.

BILL WIMER

IN ORDER that art may be better understood, we must first understand the total experience of looking at a painting. This total experience involves the visual, emotional, and intellectual elements of a painting

As we look at so called "realistic" painting down through the history of art, we realize that each culture involves a different standard of realism which is reflected in its art. Realism itself is a most ambiguous and difficult term to define for the real world of one age is not the real world of another.

"EXPRESSIONISM, The Painter and the World He Creates," the second part of the lecture, deals with yet another aspect of painting. Realism may change, reorganize and modify its subject, but it still remains "real" to its particular culture. The expressionist, however, creates his own world, a world of emotion and feeling. John Canaday says, "Expressionism is the distortion of form and color for emotional interpretation."

Artists whose paintings will be discussed and used to illustrate "Realism" and "Expressionism" include: William Harnett, Raoul Dufy, Georges Braque, Jan Van Eyck, Raphael, Rubens, Valazquez, Chardin, and others. All the paintings to be illustrated are slides from the lecturer's own collection.

REFRESHMENTS will be served at the end of the meeting. The seminar is free to members of the Countryside Art Center. A guest donation of 50 cents is requested.

On January 26, the first film of the international film series will be shown. It will be "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and will be shown at Prospect high school theatre, 801 W. Foundry Rd., Mount Prospect.

The world is such an exciting place to a child. They fascinate me, when they are not breaking the sound barrier, that is. The world lies shining and ready for exploration and they dive into the job with such verve. Everything is a challenge, everything is fun, whether it is a class in art or the problem of disecting a dead horse. Oh, yes, they do too disect dead horses. Some of my children brought some of the remains of the dear departed to class. In any case, they are never bored. Isn't it too bad adults aren't as daring with the unfamiliar?

I WONDER why we don't find the world exciting. We act as though we had read all the books and knew all the answers. We haven't and we don't. If we could return to that childlike wonder and curiousity we all once possessed, we would find an enchanting world. There are several doors to this magic place and one of them is art. Be careful if you open the door, you may become as interesting as your children. (Bill

In season or out, tomatoes are one of the favorite foods in the Carl Dispenziere household. This is especially true when they are prepared according to an old family recipe.

The "surprise" in this recipe is a chive and cream cheese filling which is spread between two slices of tomatoes. The tomato sandwiches are coated with an egg mixture and bread crumbs and fried in butter.

"We make dozens of these during the summer months when tomatoes are in season," said Mrs. Dispenziere. "As soon as they ripen in our garden my husband and I pick them and prepare enough tomato surprises for several meals. They will keep for days in the refrigerator."

BECAUSE Mr. Dispenziere enjoys cooking, both indoors and out, he is a willing hand in the kitchen and the tomatoes are usually a joint endeavor. They cook them in an electric skillet, and when prepared in advance need only be reheated before serving.

"The tomato surprises are a nice side dish with hamburgers, meat loaf or stuffed flank steak," commented Mrs. Dispenziere.

Her favorite flank steak recipe is made with a flavorful veal stuffing seasoned with onion, parsley and paprika. Rolled up and browned well, the flank steak is baked until tender. Carrots may be added to the baking dish, if desired.

WITH this savory steak Mrs. Dispenziere suggests serving Belgium Potatoes, a simplified and greaseless version of French fries. The potatoes are cut in long strips and baked on a cookie sheet in the oven. Thus with this meal, the oven heat can be utilized to cook both the meat and the vegetables. And with the tomatoes as a side dish, you will have a delicious dinner, indeed!

Cooking is just one of the talents of this capable young woman. Art is her major interest, having taught this subject for three years in elementary and junior high schools. She recently completed a drawing course at the adult evening school.

The Dispenzieres moved to this area a year ago from San Antonio, Texas. They live at 710 N. Stratford in Arlington Heights and have two children: Denise, 2 and Carl Jr., 6-months-old.

MRS. Dispenziere is a member of the Northwest Suburban Gamma Phi Beta Alumnae club and enjoys playing bridge for recreation.

TOMATO SURPRISES

6 medium-size firm tomatoes
2 3-ounce packages cream cheese with chives, softened
2 eggs
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ cup butter or oil
½ cup parsley flakes, cut fine

Cut each tomato into four slices crosswise. The slices should be ¼ inch thick. Spread cream cheese and chive mixtures between two slices of tomatoes, sandwich fashion. (Six tomatoes makes 12 sandwiches.)

Mix bread crumbs, salt, pepper and half of the parsley in a dish. Beat eggs and milk together with a dash of salt and pepper and remaining parsley.

Dip tomato sandwiches into crumb mixture, then into egg mixture, then into crumb mixture again, coating well.

Fry tomato sandwiches in oil or butter until brown on one side. Turn carefully with spatula and brown on other side. Drain on absorbant paper.

If the tomato surprises are made in advance, refrigerate and re-heat in a 300 degree oven.

VEAL-STUFFED FLANK STEAK

1½ to 2 pounds flank steak, cut thin
Salt, pepper and flour
½ pound ground veal from shoulder rump
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup onion, chopped fine
¼ cup parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1 cup milk
½ cup water
Sliced carrots, if desired

Score flank steak crosswise. Season with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Pound well with a potato masher.

To prepare stuffing, brown ground veal in a skillet; remove from pan and set aside.

Melt the butter in skillet and blend in flour. Add onion, parsley, salt and paprika. Saute mixture until it bubbles. Gradually add milk and cook until mixture thickens; then add browned veal.

Spread mixture over flank steak and roll up. Tie in middle and on the ends securely. Brown well in fat on all sides. Transfer to a shallow pan and add water plus carrots, if desired.

Cover pan with foil and bake in a 350 degree oven for 1½ hours or until tender. Remove foil after the first hour and baste meat occasionally with the juice in the pan.

This recipe can be made in a Dutch oven on the top of the stove. Serves 4.

BELGIUM POTATOES

Pare and cut up potatoes as you would for French fries. Places on a cookie sheet and bake in a 350 degree oven for 45 minutes to one hour or until brown, turning occasionally. Serve seasoned with salt.

The potatoes may be cut in wider slices, if desired. After baking, they can be sliced open, dotted with butter and seasoned with salt. (SH

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

Snowtime Scenario

Color movies of action in the snow are lively souvenirs of a winter resort vacation. Think how much fun you had last year when you went to the mountains for a holiday on bobsleds and skis. But think how that fun would have lasted if you had a color movie of it all.

This winter, if you're going back up to the slopes, take along a movie camera. Here are a few tips to help you capture the action, beauty and color of fun in the snow:

PLAN YOUR shots, so that every activity is covered. The simplest "script" to follow is one that starts with early morning breakfast, goes through the day on the slopes to the evening songfest by the fire in the lodge.

You needn't take it all on one day. Shoot whenever you can, then edit for continuity by cutting and splicing when you have the developed film.

Think how the picture will look on the screen. Somebody falling down in a flurry of snow can make a fine action shot. But if it comes right in the middle of scenes bearing no relation to it, the viewer will be confused.

IF YOU happen to catch such a scene, you can make it much more effective if you shoot some others to be sliced in before and after.

Thus: a distance shot of the slopes—then the climb to the top—followed by a closeup of the skier and the smooth start of the descent—then the flailing of arms, legs, skis and poles, and a final shot of the skier picking himself up.

Vary the distances, and don't be afraid of closeups. Avoid the common tendency to "pan" every scene. A series of quick shots from differing angles and distances is often a much more effective way to present an over-all scene than a long, slow panning shot that serves no dramatic purpose. (SH

Spicy Tamale Pie Bubbles In Flavorful Meat Filling

A buffet party's certain to be a success if you serve a proven favorite. Tamale Pie, with its spicy goodness, is that kind of recipe. It's flavorful, failure-proof and distinctive enough to become your own personal party specialty.

HOT TAMALE PIE and cold beer — This party specialty features a corn meal crust and a spicy meat filling which also contains whole black olives, corn, green pepper and onions, and a little beer or ale for extra tang. The topping is bubbly melted cheddar cheese. (SH

This dinner-in-a-dish can be prepared for baking a day or so ahead—it keeps well if refrigerated. But be sure to allow the casserole to warm to room temperature before baking to prevent breakage of the crust. A small amount of beer or ale lends a special subtle flavor.

Serve Tamale Pie oven-hot with a crisp green salad, heated crusty rolls and as a cooling contrast to the entree, choose beer or ale as the ideal beverage accompaniment.

TAMALE PIE

1 cup white corn meal
1 cup cold water
1 tablespoon salt
3 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons butter

Combine corn meal, cold water and salt; mix until smooth. Add to boiling water in saucepan and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cover and continue cooking over low heat 5 minutes. Stir in butter.

Cool slightly. Pour into buttered shallow 2-quart casserole and spread evenly to cover bottom and sides of dish. This crust will hold the following prepared mixture.

2 tablespoons olive oil
1 large onion, chopped
1 green pepper, cut in thin strips
1 pound ground beef
1 can (1 pound) whole tomatoes
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1/3 cup beer or ale
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn
1 cup whole pitted ripe olives
½ cup grated cheddar cheese

Heat oil in skillet; add onion and green pepper and saute until tender. Add beef and cook until brown. Mix in tomatoes, tomato paste, beer or ale, salt, chili powder and Tabasco; simmer 10 minutes. Stir in corn and ripe olives.

Pour filling into corn meal crust. Sprinkle top with grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 50 minutes. Yield: 8 servings. (SH

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

Eggs are a very important part of our daily eating requirements, both from a health standpoint and as a necessary ingredient in a variety of dishes.

Here are a few facts you should know about this all important food: Eggs should be stored in the refrigerator with small ends down and only brought out when ready to use. Always cook eggs with low or moderate heat, as cooking at too high a temperature will make them tough.

Important uses for eggs are to thicken (puddings and custards), to bind (meatloaf), to coat (breading meat), to garnish (soups or salads), to emulsify (mayonnaise), and to leaven (cakes, etc.)

Bank Directors Elect 2 Corporate Officers

THE BANK OF Arlington Heights this week celebrates its first anniversary with an "open house" of coffee and cake Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The new bank, located in Arlington Market shopping center at 900 E. Kensington rd., is open 51 hours a week. Complete banking services and drive-in facilities are available.

Two new corporate officers were elected last week by the board of directors of The Bank of Arlington Heights, 900 E. Kensington rd., Arlington Heights.

W. C. Wolf, president, said the appointments were made by the board following the annual stockholder's meeting on January 10.

The new officers are J. W. Milligan and Norbert J. Nelson, both assistant cashiers.

MILLIGAN, 30, is responsible for the bank's installment loan department. Before joining the bank last year, he was a trainer in the Oak Park office of Retail Credit Co.

He recently completed a course in installment credit at the American Institute of Banking.

A native son of Arlington Heights, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Milligan and was graduated from Arlington high school in 1948.

NORBERT J. NELSON

J. W. MILLIGAN

Milligan is married to the former Juanita Graves of Arlington Heights. They are parents of a son, 11 months, and live in Addison.

NELSON, 28, will be responsible for bank operations and auditing.

Prior to his position with the Bank of Arlington Heights, he was a loan teller at the Cosmopolitan National bank in Chicago.

Nelson attended evening sessions at Northwestern university and has completed courses in accounting, banking, and business law at the American Institute of Banking.

He is single and lives with his parents in Chicago.

MORE THAN 50 stockholders attended the annual meeting which included full reports on bank operations, bond account, real estate loans, loans and discounts, and public relations.

John Henricks, president of John Henricks, Inc., Arlington Heights, was re-elected chairman of the board. Other officers re-elected include Wolf as president, Robert M. Calvin vice president, and Leonard D. DeRaedt as cashier.

Speaking in behalf of stockholders was R. Marshall Barnes of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities and Co. of Chicago, who said the stockholders had "every confidence" in the directors and were "pleased at the bank's excellent growth."

The bank's current assets total $3.6 million, described by Wolf as a "good record" for the first year of operation. Half that amount would have been regarded as an acceptable growth figure for the first year, he added. (BB

Hollywood Errs with 'Over-Sexed' Movies

By JIM PHILLIPS

Once again its time for: Previews of Coming Distractions.

"THE Grass is Greener": I hate to sound like a cinematic Carrie Nation, and yet I don't want to convey the impression that I think sex is just great, no matter what the circumstances—but I'm wondering whether or not there's a very childish, yet powerfully dangerous campaign going on to promote illicit love, adultery, husband - and - wife stealing, etc., using the motion picture as the primary medium. A good example of this is the number of "outspoken" movies coming out lately.

"The Grass Is Greener is one such vehicle. Starring Cary Grant as a well-dressed Englishman with a larger - than-usual countryhouse, and a more unfaithful-than-usual wife (Deborah Kerr); Bob Mitchum as a visiting, oilier-than-usual American zillionaire; and Jean Simmons as a sexier-than-usual completion to the foursome, "Grass" tries its best at treating infidelity humorously, and as a result, falls flat on its promiscuous face.

THE PLOT concerns Cary's indifference to his wife, and said wife's extra-marital revenge: the running-around with some other man. Grant plans his own strategy to get his wife back into the oh-so-Brittish household.

Stanley (he's better with musicals) Donen, who produced and directed the film, lets it dwindle on this theme—and dwindle it does. The whole thing impressed me as being a testing ground for censorship of script lines. There's plenty of "light-hearted" talk about adultery, with the attitude, "Oh Boy! Gee Whiz! This is something new we've discovered, and let's see how far we can go in fooling around with the subject!" That's about all "Grass" does—fool around.

And to top off the whole sexy satire, Noel Coward's music finds its way into the sound-track. This is like using Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture as background music for "Bambi."

I'm disappointed with the "sexier-than-thou" American motion picture productions of this type while trying to be cute, clever, subtle, and sly, the boys from Beverly Hills are playing around with a very dangerous subject that's liable to go off in all our faces—and you know who'll be hurt the most? The kids whose parents don't get to them before the movie does! Capsule Comment: "I say, old bean, isn't that my wife you've got there?"

"Caltiki": No matter, this isn't sone of Kon-Tiki, this is the first or last name of a blobbish something - or-other which could be science-fiction's answer to instant chocolate pudding.

It slurps around in Mexico and enjoys gulping up things and people and more things. With the goofy, disjointed music on the soundtrack (there seems to be a corner on this stuff lately!), "Caltiki" or "Immortal Monster" as the ads read, is probably one of the screwiest "musical comedies" to bloodthirst its way into our neighborhood theaters since "Circus of Horrors."

The picture deals with the panic that evolves when the monster begins to blob its way over the land we call Mexico. As the plot and your candy bar wrapper unfold, you see the "Immortal Monster" destroyed by fire. Is this the end? Not on your popcorn-crunching life!

Some wise guy-scientist has to bring a specimen of "Caltiki" to Mexico City with him. What is he going to do? What are his plans? Is he going to put Lucky Whip on top of it and serve it for dessert?

I DON'T want to spoil the nauseating evening any more than it will be if you see this movie—all I can say is that, thanks to our boy with the blobby specimen, the whole nasty business starts again from scratch—or is it blob?

At any rate, Allied Artists will keep up its excellent record of having the worst double-bill combinations in motion picture history: the partner to "Caltiki" is a weirdie entitled, "Tormented"— a title dedicated to "Caltiki's" audience, no doubt! Capsule Comment: "I Found My Thrill On Blob-berry Hill!"

Just to show you that all is not lost, the following films are highly recommended:

SUNRISE At Campobello": Ralph Bellamy as R.F.D., Greer Garson as Eleanor, and a slick production by Dore Shary make this movie adaption of the Broadway play, a must for the whole family. Slate Miss Garson for a possible Academy Award.

"The Three Worlds of Gulliver": A non-animated romp with the well-known story of Gulliver's Travels. Kids will like the special effects.

"Man In A Cocked Hat": Terry-Thomas and Peter Sellers give it all they've got in one of the tightest bits of fun-poking at jolly old England since the Alec Guinness comedies of the past three years.

News Note: The Elm Theatre in Wauconda did a very interesting thing—they put the Adults Only tag on "Butterfield 8." Could it be that our suburban theaters are slowly but surely out-thinking the city-slickers? More power to you, Wauconda!

Personal Note: A special thanks should go the Arlington, Catlow, and Mt. Prospect theaters for their fine Saturday children's shows—especially when the kids can enjoy quality entertainment like Danny Kay's "Merry Andrew". (Bill

Opening Friday At Des Plaines

Tryouts Monday For 'Rashomon'

Final try-outs will be held at 8:30 p.m. Monday at Rand Park for "Rashomon," March production of Des Plaines Theatre Guild, Inc.

All aspiring actors and actresses in the northwest area are invited to try out. During the past several years nearly every Guild play has included residents of this section in its cast.

Called "pure art of the theatre" by New York Times critic, Brooks Atkinson, when it opened on Broadway in the spring of 1959, "Rashomon" will be one of the most challenging dramas ever presented by a northwest suburban community theatre group.

Claire Bloom and Rod Steiger played the two major roles in the original Broadway production.

Lee Madden, former Broadway actor and summer stock producer-director, will direct "Rashomon" and be in charge of Monday night's try-outs. Madden stresses that anyone may try out, regardless of previous experience or training.

"RASHOMON" will be presented March 10, 11, 17, 18, 24, and 25. Rehearsals will begin January 30.

Further information about the "Rashomon" try-outs may be obtained by calling Mrs. Mary Jane Bentley, CL 9-2492, or Mrs. Jacqueline McDermott, CL 3-3262. (Bill

Q. I know that the bridesmaids at a wedding pay for their own outfits. But who pays for the bouquets they carry?

A. The bouquets are a part of the wedding expenses, and as such, devolve upon the bride's parents.

AT CATLOW

GULLIVER, played by Kerwin Mathews, towers over the Lilliputians in Columbia Pictures' "The 3 Worlds of Gulliver." Filmed in Superdynamation and Eastman Color, the Morningside production also stars Jo Morrow and June Thorburn.

Million Dollar Repair Plant Opened by Milwaukee Road

The Milwaukee Road has opened a $1 million freight car repair facility at its Bensenville yard near Chicago which greatly shortens the time required for repairing cars and getting them on their way again to destination.

Designed for automatic operation in conjunction with the yard's electronic retarder and classification system, the new facility promises to effect still further improvement in the efficiency of the road's huge yard 17 miles west of downtown Chicago.

F. G. McGinn, Milwaukee Road operating vice president, said that the installation features the most modern concepts of automated car repair. It is one of the largest in the country and is the first of its kind to be installed on a railroad serving the northwestern region of the United States.

REFERED to as a "spot repair system," the facility provides for bringing the cars to the workmen in a sheltered central area where all materials and tools are ready at hand, rather than taking men and materials to the cars spotted on open repair tracks.

McGinn pointed out that, in addition to shortening switching time and reducing per diem costs (daily charges for the use of equipment belonging to other railroads), the sharply reduced repair time is expected to speed service by getting loaded cars through to destination more quickly. Likewise, empty equipment needed for loading will be delayed a minimum length of time in the event it should require repair en route.

The "spot" system is a compact layout featuring a 120 by 120-foot shop building with four servicing tracks. There is also a smaller building housing a car and stores department office, welfare facilities, lunch table accommodations, a heating and air compressor room, and a combination car and stores stock room; also, a building for soaking journal lubricating pads, an oxygen-acetylene platform, a wheel storage area, tanks for solvent and journal oil, and a stores department platform.

EACH OF the service tracks is equipped with two electric power winches which pull the cars to and from the shop building by means of between - the - rail cables and axle-engaging devices known as "rabbits." The operation on each track is controlled with precision from a push button panel located at trackside in the building. A network of lights on the panel pinpoints the location of the cars and pullers.

Repaired cars are put back into train make-up as quickly and automatically as they were originally taken out. Leaving the building, they are picked up by a yard locomotive, put into a string of cars moving into the automatic retarder classification yard, and soon are in place on the proper track, ready to resume their journey to destination.

All repairs are performed in the building, with work going forward, one car at a time, on the four tracks. Each track is equipped with recessed 80-ton power jacks which raise a car within 25 seconds, compared with 15 to 20 minutes by conventional methods; a pneumatic retarder for stopping a car and positioning it over the jacks; two jib crane assemblies equipped with electric hoists for making truck and wheel repairs; four sets of retractable hose reels supplying air, oxygen, acetylene, solvent and journal oil; and an electric welder mounted overhead with a retractable cable reel. The operation of the jacks is controlled from the push button panel.

Parts required for car repairs are within easy reach, with small parts stored in bins or on racks, and large units in the area immediately outside of the building. Various types of hand tools are mounted on mobile pegboards.

THE BUILDING is constructed to provide maximum ventilation. during mild weather as well as protection from the elements. For cold weather comfort, infrared ray heaters are located above the work area.

Large areas of clear plastic panels in the roof and side walls admit a maximum of natural light for daytime operations. Outside, a high level of artificial illumination is furnished by mercury vapor high intensity floodlights. With this shelter and illumination, work formerly more convenient to do in daylight hours can now be handled around the clock.

Cars requiring heavy repairs anywhere on the Milwaukee Road's 10,600-mile system are moved to the company's large modern car shops at various points, the principal one of which is located in Milwaukee, Wis. Lighter repairs are normally taken care of on open repair tracks at many points on the railroad. The new installation at Bensenville, Ill., is designed to speed up the handling of the latter type of repairs in the key Chicago area, through which the largest daily volume of cars on the railroad is handled.

With the new facility in operation 24 hours a day, seven days a week, Milwaukee Road engineers estimate that no car repaired in the new facility will be delayed more than a few hours.

Expressionism and Realism Are Topics

By LUCILE ERNST

Tonight the second in a series of art appreciation lectures, based on the Metropolitan Museum of Art Seminars, is being presented by the Countryside Art Center. Everyone interested in learning more about art is cordially invited to attend. The seminar will be held at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights and will begin at 8 p.m.

"Realism, the Painter and the World Around Us" and Expressionism, the Painter and the World He Creates" will be discussed and illustrated by William J. Wimmer, Jr.

BILL WIMER

IN ORDER that art may be better understood, we must first understand the total experience of looking at a painting. This total experience involves the visual, emotional, and intellectual elements of a painting

As we look at so called "realistic" painting down through the history of art, we realize that each culture involves a different standard of realism which is reflected in its art. Realism itself is a most ambiguous and difficult term to define for the real world of one age is not the real world of another.

"EXPRESSIONISM, The Painter and the World He Creates," the second part of the lecture, deals with yet another aspect of painting. Realism may change, reorganize and modify its subject, but it still remains "real" to its particular culture. The expressionist, however, creates his own world, a world of emotion and feeling. John Canaday says, "Expressionism is the distortion of form and color for emotional interpretation."

Artists whose paintings will be discussed and used to illustrate "Realism" and "Expressionism" include: William Harnett, Raoul Dufy, Georges Braque, Jan Van Eyck, Raphael, Rubens, Valazquez, Chardin, and others. All the paintings to be illustrated are slides from the lecturer's own collection.

REFRESHMENTS will be served at the end of the meeting. The seminar is free to members of the Countryside Art Center. A guest donation of 50 cents is requested.

On January 26, the first film of the international film series will be shown. It will be "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and will be shown at Prospect high school theatre, 801 W. Foundry Rd., Mount Prospect.

The world is such an exciting place to a child. They fascinate me, when they are not breaking the sound barrier, that is. The world lies shining and ready for exploration and they dive into the job with such verve. Everything is a challenge, everything is fun, whether it is a class in art or the problem of disecting a dead horse. Oh, yes, they do too disect dead horses. Some of my children brought some of the remains of the dear departed to class. In any case, they are never bored. Isn't it too bad adults aren't as daring with the unfamiliar?

I WONDER why we don't find the world exciting. We act as though we had read all the books and knew all the answers. We haven't and we don't. If we could return to that childlike wonder and curiousity we all once possessed, we would find an enchanting world. There are several doors to this magic place and one of them is art. Be careful if you open the door, you may become as interesting as your children. (Bill

Bank Directors Elect 2 Corporate Officers

THE BANK OF Arlington Heights this week celebrates its first anniversary with an "open house" of coffee and cake Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The new bank, located in Arlington Market shopping center at 900 E. Kensington rd., is open 51 hours a week. Complete banking services and drive-in facilities are available.

Two new corporate officers were elected last week by the board of directors of The Bank of Arlington Heights, 900 E. Kensington rd., Arlington Heights.

W. C. Wolf, president, said the appointments were made by the board following the annual stockholder's meeting on January 10.

The new officers are J. W. Milligan and Norbert J. Nelson, both assistant cashiers.

MILLIGAN, 30, is responsible for the bank's installment loan department. Before joining the bank last year, he was a trainer in the Oak Park office of Retail Credit Co.

He recently completed a course in installment credit at the American Institute of Banking.

A native son of Arlington Heights, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Milligan and was graduated from Arlington high school in 1948.

He attends Faith Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, and is a member of Arlington Heights Masonic lodge, and Arlington Heights Jaycees.

NORBERT J. NELSON

J. W. MILLIGAN

Milligan is married to the former Juanita Graves of Arlington Heights. They are parents of a son, 11 months, and live in Addison.

NELSON, 28, will be responsible for bank operations and auditing.

Prior to his position with the Bank of Arlington Heights, he was a loan teller at the Cosmopolitan National bank in Chicago.

Nelson attended evening sessions at Northwestern university and has completed courses in accounting, banking, and business law at the American Institute of Banking.

He is single and lives with his parents in Chicago.

MORE THAN 50 stockholders attended the annual meeting which included full reports on bank operations, bond account, real estate loans, loans and discounts, and public relations.

John Henricks, president of John Henricks, Inc., Arlington Heights, was re-elected chairman of the board. Other officers re-elected include Wolf as president, Robert M. Calvin vice president, and Leonard D. DeRaedt as cashier.

Speaking in behalf of stockholders was R. Marshall Barnes of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities and Co. of Chicago, who said the stockholders had "every confidence" in the directors and were "pleased at the bank's excellent growth."

The bank's current assets total $3.6 million, described by Wolf as a "good record" for the first year of operation. Half that amount would have been regarded as an acceptable growth figure for the first year, he added. (BB

John Henricks, president of John Henricks, Inc., Arlington Heights, was re-elected chairman of the board. Other officers re-elected include Wolf as president, Robert M. Calvin vice president, and Leonard D. DeRaedt as cashier.

Speaking in behalf of stockholders was R. Marshall Barnes of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities and Co. of Chicago, who said the stockholders had "every confidence" in the directors and were "pleased at the bank's excellent growth."

The bank's current assets total $3.6 million, described by Wolf as a "good record" for the first year of operation. Half that amount would have been regarded as an acceptable growth figure for the first year, he added. (BB

James Kelly Heads Elgin Ford Agency

JAMES KELLY

James Kelly revealed today that he has assumed the presidency of Elgin Motors, Elgin, franchised dealership of the Ford Motor Co. Simultaneously he announced that the name of the firm has been changed to Jim Kelly Ford. Inc.

The new president joined this automotive agency two years ago as general manager. His financial investment in the firm also began at this time.

Since then he has made four major organizational changes which have been designed to increase customer sales and service efficiencies.

With the assumption of his new post, Kelly stated, "We realize that in order to be successful in our operation, we must render to the public a sales and repair service of the highest quality. And this we will bend every effort to provide."

The first Ford agency in Elgin was established in 1914 by George S. Adams. Since that time, the orginal franchise had been passed down through six hands until it reached those of Jim Kelly.

Kelly is an outstanding example of the lad who was raised on the farm and came to the city to make good—and did it. Jim was born on a wheat farm near St. Cloud, Minn., in 1918. He graduated from the University of Minnesota with a degree in law with a minor in business administration.

BEFORE GETTING a real start in the business world, Jim was asked by Uncle Sam to serve in World War II in the Army Combat Engineers.

Since the termination of the war, he has been engaged in the occupation of re-organizing and rebuilding businesses of different types in the Midwest and on the west coast. In the last five years he has devoted that talent to the automotive industry.

An outstanding example of his accomplishments in this field can be found in the business records of a Mercury dealership in Ohio covering the years of 1957 and 1958. During this time Jim raised the unit volume of this firm from 10th place out of ten dealers in his county to 2nd place.

He achieved this goal by establishing a top-flight service department and by earning the confidence of the public.

Jim resides with his wife, Betty, and his son, Jim, who is 10 years old, at 337 Hamilton, ave., Elgin. (BB

Million Dollar Repair Plant Opened by Milwaukee Road

The Milwaukee Road has opened a $1 million freight car repair facility at its Bensenville yard near Chicago which greatly shortens the time required for repairing cars and getting them on their way again to destination.

Designed for automatic operation in conjunction with the yard's electronic retarder and classification system, the new facility promises to effect still further improvement in the efficiency of the road's huge yard 17 miles west of downtown Chicago.

F. G. McGinn, Milwaukee Road operating vice president, said that the installation features the most modern concepts of automated car repair. It is one of the largest in the country and is the first of its kind to be installed on a railroad serving the northwestern region of the United States.

REFERED to as a "spot repair system," the facility provides for bringing the cars to the workmen in a sheltered central area where all materials and tools are ready at hand, rather than taking men and materials to the cars spotted on open repair tracks.

McGinn pointed out that, in addition to shortening switching time and reducing per diem costs (daily charges for the use of equipment belonging to other railroads), the sharply reduced repair time is expected to speed service by getting loaded cars through to destination more quickly. Likewise, empty equipment needed for loading will be delayed a minimum length of time in the event it should require repair en route.

The "spot" system is a compact layout featuring a 120 by 120-foot shop building with four servicing tracks. There is also a smaller building housing a car and stores department office, welfare facilities, lunch table accommodations, a heating and air compressor room, and a combination car and stores stock room; also, a building for soaking journal lubricating pads, an oxygen-acetylene platform, a wheel storage area, tanks for solvent and journal oil, and a stores department platform.

EACH OF the service tracks is equipped with two electric power winches which pull the cars to and from the shop building by means of between - the - rail cables and axle-engaging devices known as "rabbits." The operation on each track is controlled with precision from a push button panel located at trackside in the building. A network of lights on the panel pinpoints the location of the cars and pullers.

Repaired cars are put back into train make-up as quickly and automatically as they were originally taken out. Leaving the building, they are picked up by a yard locomotive, put into a string of cars moving into the automatic retarder classification yard, and soon are in place on the proper track, ready to resume their journey to destination.

All repairs are performed in the building, with work going forward, one car at a time, on the four tracks. Each track is equipped with recessed 80-ton power jacks which raise a car within 25 seconds, compared with 15 to 20 minutes by conventional methods; a pneumatic retarder for stopping a car and positioning it over the jacks; two jib crane assemblies equipped with electric hoists for making truck and wheel repairs; four sets of retractable hose reels supplying air, oxygen, acetylene, solvent and journal oil; and an electric welder mounted overhead with a retractable cable reel. The operation of the jacks is controlled from the push button panel.

Parts required for car repairs are within easy reach, with small parts stored in bins or on racks, and large units in the area immediately outside of the building. Various types of hand tools are mounted on mobile pegboards.

THE BUILDING is constructed to provide maximum ventilation during mild weather as well as protection from the elements. For cold weather comfort, infrared ray heaters are located above the work area.

Large areas of clear plastic panels in the roof and side walls admit a maximum of natural light for daytime operations. Outside, a high level of artificial illumination is furnished by mercury vapor high intensity floodlights. With this shelter and illumination, work formerly more convenient to do in daylight hours can now be handled around the clock.

Cars requiring heavy repairs anywhere on the Milwaukee Road's 10,600-mile system are moved to the company's large modern car shops at various points, the principal one of which is located in Milwaukee, Wis. Lighter repairs are normally taken care of on open repair tracks at many points on the railroad. The new installation at Bensenville, Ill., is designed to speed up the handling of the latter type of repairs in the key Chicago area, through which the largest daily volume of cars on the railroad is handled.

With the new facility in operation 24 hours a day, seven days a week, Milwaukee Road engineers estimate that no car repaired in the new facility will be delayed more than a few hours.

Revenues of Illinois Tollway Estimated for Two Months

An estimated 4 and 7 per cent increase in revenue on the Illinois tollway resulted in October and November from the opening of the Congress and Northwest expressways and the O'Hare Airport ramps.

This was announced by Charles L. Dearing, executive director of the Illinois State Toll Highway commission.

DEARING said that a statistical comparison of toll plaza receipts with projected estimates of revenues, adjusted for seasonal variations, indicate that traffic revenues increased 4.2 per cent or $74,-160 in October as a direct result of the expressway and O'Hare openings and 6. 5per cent or $102,450 in November.

"It is not possible to measure exactly the effect of the expressways at this early date," Dearing said. "However, this is a reasonable estimate and we expect traffic to the Tollway from the expressways to continue to grow as more motorists learn how to us the integrated tollway-expressway system."

Estimates of traffic revenue changes at eight toll plazas affected by the new expressways and O'Hare ramps ranged from an increase of 66 per cent to a decrease of 5 per cent. These included:

EAST - West Tollway — York rd, toll plaza increased 14.9 per cent in October and 20.2 per cent in November after completion of Congress Street expressway.

Tri-State tollway—After the opening of Congress expressway revenue at the Irving Park rd. plaza in October was 7.2 per cent above projections. After the Northwest Expressway opened revenue in November was 5.0 per cent below projections because traffic changed from the Tri-State-Congress Street routing to the Northwest Expressway. At the Cermak rd. toll plaza revenue increased 2.5 per cent and 4.5 per cent for October and November, respectively.

Northwest Tollway at River rd. plaza, handling eastbound traffic, revenue increased 10.-5 per cent for October due to Congress st. expressway traffic moving north on Tri-State and exiting at this plaza for such communities as Park Ridge, Niles, and the northwest area of Chicago. In November, revenue at the same plaza increased 66.2 per cent with the opening of the Northwest Expressway.

At the Devon av. plaza on the Northwest Tollway, handlin gwestbound traffic, toll revenue increased 13.8 per cent in November as a result of the opening of the Northwest Expressway. (BB

Park Ridge Bank Pays Record High

More than a half million dollars in interest has been paid for 1960 to holders of Guaranteed Savings System accounts in Citizens Bank & Trust co., Park Ridge.

Lyman, Sorensen, v-i-c-e chairman, estimated the interest payment constitutes a windfall of nearly $100,000 to depositors due to the new method of computing interest.

"We compute interest monthly, paying at the end of June and the end of December. This assures our customers higher earnings than are possible (even at so-called higher rates) when the conventional 'first in first out' method is used," he said.

He added that Citizens Bank savings deposits at the year end amounted to $19,082,854, compared with $17,532,368.95 a year ago.

Bank Directors Elect 2 Corporate Officers

THE BANK OF Arlington Heights this week celebrates its first anniversary with an "open house" of coffee and cake Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The new bank, located in Arlington Market shopping center at 900 E. Kensington rd., is open 51 hours a week. Complete banking services and drive-in facilities are available.

Two new corporate officers were elected last week by the board of directors of The Bank of Arlington Heights, 900 E. Kensington rd., Arlington Heights.

W. C. Wolf, president, said the appointments were made by the board following the annual stockholder's meeting on January 10.

The new officers are J. W. Milligan and Norbert J. Nelson, both assistant cashiers.

MILLIGAN, 30, is responsible for the bank's installment loan department. Before joining the bank last year, he was a trainer in the Oak Park office of Retail Credit Co.

He recently completed a course in installment credit at the American Institute of Banking.

A native son of Arlington Heights, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Milligan and was graduated from Arlington high school in 1948.

He attends Faith Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, and is a member of Arlington Heights Masonic lodge, and Arlington Heights Jaycees.

NORBERT J. NELSON

J. W. MILLIGAN

Milligan is married to the former Juanita Graves of Arlington Heights. They are parents of a son, 11 months, and live in Addison.

NELSON, 28, will be responsible for bank operations and auditing.

Prior to his position with the Bank of Arlington Heights, he was a loan teller at the Cosmopolitan National bank in Chicago.

Nelson attended evening sessions at Northwestern university and has completed courses in accounting, banking, and business law at the American Institute of Banking.

He is single and lives with his parents in Chicago.

MORE THAN 50 stockholders attended the annual meeting which included full reports on bank operations, bond account, real estate loans, loans and discounts, and public relations.

John Henricks, president of John Henricks, Inc., Arlington Heights, was re-elected chairman of the board. Other officers re-elected include Wolf as president, Robert M. Calvin vice president, and Leonard D. DeRaedt as cashier.

Speaking in behalf of stockholders was R. Marshall Barnes of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities and Co. of Chicago, who said the stockholders had "every confidence" in the directors and were "pleased at the bank's excellent growth."

The bank's current assets total $3.6 million, described by Wolf as a "good record" for the first year of operation. Half that amount would have been regarded as an acceptable growth figure for the first year, he added. (BB

Taxpayers Given Student Maintenance Deductions

Harold R. All, Director of the Chicago district of internal revenue, today called attention to a recently enacted amendment to the law, effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1960, which under certain conditions allows a taxpayer a charitable contribution deduction for amounts paid to maintain a student as a member of the taxpayer's household.

The deduction may not exceed $50 multiplied by the number of full calendar months during the taxable year which fall within the period the student is maintained in the taxpayer's household. For this purpose, 15 or more days of a calendar month are considered as a full calendar month.

ALL POINTED out that in order for a taxpayer to qualify for this new deduction:

1. The student must not be a dependent or relative of the taxpayer.

2. The student must be a member of the taxpayer's household pursuant to a written agreement between the taxpayer and qualified charitable, religious, educational, and other organizations, contributions to which are deductible for federal income tax purposes. Such an organization must sponsor the student and must be engaged in a program to provide educational opportunities for pupils or students placed in private homes by the organization.

3. The student must be attending an educational institution in the U.S. on a full-time basis in the 12th or any lower grade.

4. The taxpayer must not receive any money or other property as compensation or reimbursement for maintaining the student in his household.

ALL EMPHASIZED that to substantiate the new deduction a taxpayer should keep adequate records of all amounts paid for maintaining the student. These include, for example, amounts paid for books, tuition, food, clothing, medical and dental care, transportation, and recreation. He stated, however, that since the new law was not enacted until September 1960, the deduction for amounts paid by the taxpayer during 1960 for maintaining a student in his household will not be denied solely because of lack of records of actual payments if the amounts claimed to have been paid can be reconstructed from available collateral evidence. (BB

James Kelly Heads Elgin Ford Agency

James Kelly revealed today that he has assumed the presidency of Elgin Motors, Elgin, franchised dealership of the Ford Motor Co. Simultaneously he announced that the name of the firm has been changed to Jim Kelly Ford. Inc.

The new president joined this automotive agency two years ago as general manager. His financial investment in the firm also began at this time.

Since then he has made four major organizational changes which have been designed to increase customer sales and service efficiencies.

With the assumption of his new post, Kelly stated, "We realize that in order to be successful in our operation, we must render to the public a sales and repair service of the highest quality. And this we will bend every effort to provide."

The first Ford agency in Elgin was established in 1914 by George S. Adams. Since that time, the orginal franchise had been passed down through six hands until it reached those of Jim Kelly.

JAMES KELLY

Kelly is an outstanding example of the lad who was raised on the farm and came to the city to make good—and did it. Jim was born on a wheat farm near St. Cloud, Minn., in 1918. He graduated from the University of Minnesota with a degree in law with a minor in business administration.

BEFORE GETTING a real start in the business world, Jim was asked by Uncle Sam to serve in World War II in the Army Combat Engineers.

Since the termination of the war, he has been engaged in the occupation of re-organizing and rebuilding businesses of different types in the Midwest and on the west coast. In the last five years he has devoted that talent to the automotive industry.

An outstanding example of his accomplishments in this field can be found in the business records of a Mercury dealership in Ohio covering the years of 1957 and 1958. During this time Jim raised the unit volume of this firm from 10th place out of ten dealers in his county to 2nd place.

He achieved this goal by establishing a top-flight service department and by earning the confidence of the public.

Jim resides with his wife, Betty, and his son, Jim, who is 10 years old, at 337 Hamilton, ave., Elgin. (BB

The Way We See It

Teachers Capable of Intelligent Decisions

We have been somewhat concerned by the recent controversy over whether teachers of high school district 214 were to be allowed to hear a representative of the American Federation of Teachers, a union which has already organized in Chicago schools and is active in some suburbs, the nearest being Elmhurst. The local controversy resulted from a series of misunderstandings and, perhaps, deserves some clarification.

Two months ago at an Arlington high school faculty meeting, teachers voted to invite a representative of AFT to speak at one of their monthly meetings. The suggestion had been made to the policy and welfare committee (an elected group of Arlington representatives), who put the question before the entire faculty. The question was so phrased that those who voted "no" would almost have to plead narrow-mindedness in refusing to hear what the "other side" (the union) had to say. Even so, the motion passed by a slim margin, "no" voters disclaiming any interest at all and "yes" voters acting mostly from curiosity. No one evidenced any intent to join the union.

The AFT talk was to be one of three programs, the other two consisting of speakers from the Illinois Education association and the National Education association. The purpose of the series was to hear what the various groups were doing to improve educational standards in the United States and particularly at the local level.

The first of the three talks (an IEA representative) had been completed before a well-intentioned resident deplored in a letter to our "Fence Post" column that teacher morale must be pretty low in the high schools if they were considering organization of a union. Despite two attempts by teachers to answer the letter, an emotional response was soon forthcoming. School board members and administrators received phone calls from anti-union taxpayers who assumed the schools were headed for Jimmy Hoffa's camp. The result was that the board brought pressure on Superintendent H. L. Slichenmyer, who announced at a faculty meeting last week that no representative of AFT would be invited to the district.

A tempest in a teapot? Yes, but we feel the action has serious undertones. Some board members by their actions seemed to evidence a fear that the faculty which they had helped to hire could not resist the convincing pitch of a union representative. The 200 and some instructors, representing over 1,000 years of college education, wouldn't be able to think for themselves. They might react emotionally, reasoned the board.

As far as the board, the administration, and the teachers are concerned, the issue is dead.

There were no great howls of faculty discontent when the announcement was made. The matter received little discussion and the decision has been accepted.

We would not be reviving the issue editorially, but we could not restrain from pointing out how ridiculous the situation had become.

There is another important aspect of this issue: the day when teachers were hired as a sort of governess to the community's children is past. They are no longer outsiders being brought in to handle youngsters from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In district 214 they are 70 per cent male and most have managed to scrape up a down payment and buy a home and are now paying taxes toward their own salaries. They offer a commodity which demands not only sufficient financial reward, but respect.

It is not enough to offer high salaries, for there is always some school which can offer more. We must offer the type of community in which the teacher does not feel stereotyped professionally. We must combat any patronizing attitude which consciously or subconsciously develops as a result of the power to control another person's salary, or what speaker he is allowed to hear.

Traveling Suburbanites Have Stake in Planning

If predictions in the second volume of the Chicago Area Transportation Study are accurate, the city and suburban complex will teem with a population of 9.5 million persons by 1980.

Volume two of the three-part report, sponsored jointly by the State of Illinois, Cook county, the city of Chicago and the U.S. Department of Commerce, was released last week. It concerns itself with the amount, kind and location of travel likely to take place in 1980.

The study very aptly points out that while urban transportation seldom has a catastrophic breakdown, there are successive, intense problems such as repeated traffic jams, financial difficulties of public transit, and particularly bad accidents.

Authors of the study indicate an awareness to the danger of conceiving and building transportation improvements in response to immediate problems, rather than in accordance with a long-term program.

The study predicts travel in the Chicago metropolitan area is destined to increase faster than population. The problem, therefore, is to anticipate future demands for travel over a sufficiently long time period.

The study's authors realize the return on the community's investment in terms of efficient, safe and fast travel will be much greater if improvements are planned and built as part of an entire system instead of as unrelated projects.

The study's authors realize the return on the community's investment in terms of efficient, safe and fast travel will be much greater if improvements are planned and built as part of an entire system instead of as unrelated projects.

We applaud the far-sighted thinking illustrated in volume two of the study and look anxiously forward to the conclusions of volume three. Projects based on this study will mean much to the traveling suburbanite.

Precise Planning Necessary

Metro Growth, Travel Needs Are Reflected in Area Study

by BRUCE LADD

The Chicago metropolitan area should reach a population of 9.5 million persons by 1980, predicts the Chicago Area Transportation Study released last week.

The study, sponsored by the State of Illinois, Cook county, and the city of Chicago in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Commerce, is the second of a three-part final report.

It is concerned with estimating the amount, kind, and location of travel likely to take place within the Chicago area in 1980.

TWICE AS many automobile registrations in 1980 should accompany the doubling of the population. The estimated 94 per cent increase predicted in the study will take automobile registrations from the current 1,462,000 to over 3,000,000 in 1980.

The number of average daily trips, 10,212,398 in 1956 compared to 18,081,000 in 1980, will nearly double. The mileage for automobiles alone will increase from 50,200,000 miles in 1956 to 100,900,000 in 1980. This suggests a doubling of demand for highway travel.

The problem, the study continues, is to anticipate future demands for travel over a sufficiently long time period. The need for precise planning is greater now than ever before.

NEW PUBLIC improvements in transportation, resulting from immediate problems like repeated traffic jams, may often be costlier than improvements made on the basis of a long term program.

Examination of the forces which have brought about the tremendous population and economic expansion of the Chicago area indicates a high probability of still further growth, the study says. With a large manufacturing and marketing base, the metropolitan area should retain its share (3.7 per cent) of the nation's population in 1980.

Urban land, by reason of varying accessibility, is a limited resource. Central city land commands the highest value, suburban lots lower, and inaccessible farm land the lowest. The study indicates the suburban areas will be vastly populated by 1980, however.

LOOKING backward in time, trip making and travel are seen as one of the best gauges of the productivity of a community or nation. In 1916, the average person in the Chicago area made 1.3 vehicular trips per day. In the future, the average will be 2.3 trips daily, according to the study.

Rail facilities alone have the capacity to deliver peak hour travelers in the quantity required in a dense population center. In view of this, the estimate for future central mass transportation has been held constant.

Non-central mass transportation travel, however, will be affected by rising incomes and more widespread car ownership. Therefore, while trips will grow with population, it seems inevitable that the average traveler will make less frequent use of local mass transportation services, the study says.

CONSPICUOUS throughout its history was the far-seeing vision and confidence with which Chicagoans planned for the future. Public works were built at a scale large enough to take care of greatly enlarged populations.

The study notes that, while the far-sighted men have been proven right, it is also true that in the struggle to build, many mistakes were made. But there was never any question of survival. There was no thought that Chicago would disappear.

Today, the need for more precise planning is greater than ever before. Sheer size increases the complexities of planning and design.

FURTHER, large parts of the metropolis are already matured, so that new facilities must be fitted more exactly to a nearly stable demand for travel, the study says. A more efficient transportation system is a crucial part of efforts to increase productivity.

"The object of planning is gradually to change the existing transportation networks toward a system which will serve the needs of the community more efficiently than would any scheme," the study con- alternate development cludes.

"It is possible to meet the challenge of growth as an exciting opportunity -- an opportunity to make the most of the chances lying ahead to build a better, more livable urban environment."

Political 'Pros' Are Upset by GOP Caucus

When village and township elections are fought on Republican vs. Democratic lines, there is the likelihood that the issues will be tailored to fit the organizations.

It is more sensible and beneficial for local residents to identify their unique local problems, and then divide according to how they see these local problems and propose to solve them.

That is not going to be the case in many of the local elections hereabouts.

But at least it can be said that the Republican party in the northern part of DuPage county benefited from holding an open caucus to choose its nominees for justice of the peace.

The attendance at the caucus for Addison, Bloomingdale and Wayne townships strained the seams of the Addison fire hall last Thursday. Four hundred and thirty-nine persons signed for ballots and voted.

After the ballots were counted, it became apparent that the rank-and-file had corrected a mistake in judgment by the committeemen.

The top man in the voting, Jack Parish of Wood Dale, got more than twice as many votes as any other candidate. Yet he was not on the slate proposed by the committeemen, who apparently underestimated Parish's popularity and organizing ability.

Obviously a man who can get almost 300 votes in such a caucus is going to strengthen the ticket — and probably lead it. Yet he would have been left off the slate if the decision had been made by the committeemen.

It is written that the public is wise enough to elect its officials. It follows logically that the public is also wise enough to nominate the candidates.

Some self-styled political "pros" dispute this logical sequence, saying that political acumen is given to only a few; by inference, to them. This GOP caucus is one time when the "pros" were wrong.

To Atom Dilemma

Rationality Is Solution

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Karl Jaspers, the author of "The Future of Mankind" (University of Chicago, $5.95) is one of the world's great philosophers. Long a professor at Heidelberg university and an opponent of Nazism through its whole career, he now brings the wisdom of age to the book awarded the German Peace Prize at the 1958 Frankfurt Book Fair.

The book is 'tough going" and lacks many literary graces — seldom does he relieve the pace with a brisk illustration. But it acquires importance for the way it suggests one way out of the atomic dilemma: rationality. It is equally important because it suggests at the same time the limits of rationality.

JASPERS BEGINS by recognizing, in the long perspective of history that man now holds the potential of destroying himself.

He is not of the noisy, poster-carrying, "On the Beach" type shouters. By calm rational calculation he says it is possible and almost probable that man any time beginning now will be removed from the earth by atomic warfare.

He also believes it is possible (I am not sure I would say he thinks 'almost probable') for man still to be saved by the powers of reason. Jaspers is not an old-fashioned sentimental rationalist. He is acutely aware of power politics and the part it can play in world peace. He is not a disarmament proponent on any simple set of terms; he is not a pacifist in the doctrinal sense.

HE SEES THE United States and Russia as the two poles around which the immediate future will gather. The West will turn, whether it likes to or not, to the United States; Europe would emerge as the free world defender if necessary: "In one single contingency—if America herself should succumb to such totalitarian tendencies as the free world was shocked to perceive in the success, however fleeting, of McCarthy — Europe would have the task of risking the self-preservation of Western freedom alone, at any cost, defying every danger."

But assuming that America stays free and Russia stays semi-rational, there are certain ways of aligning reason against self-destruction.

Jaspers, long one of the most informed and respectful critics of the churches, sees religion as an aid but not a solution; it might insulate people against realities and by its accent on eternal life remove some earnestness from making a go of it in the earthly city. (He couldn't be more incorrect on that point, if my observations are correct.) But he is correct on the limited sway modern Christianity has because its beliefs are so lightly held by so many adherents.

READING THE book gave me the uneasy feeling, however, that in his prescription-less quest for the the mood of rationality he simply does not take into consideration the fact that soon a dozen or more nations will have an atomic potential or can lend one to others.

On this scale, there is too much chance of blackmail going wrong to take much hope from reason.

Picture Castro with the bomb. Picture Hitler in his last insane days, willing to drag down Europe and the world with his personal defeat. And, if you don't want to sleep, picture Red China. (Those who urge that Red China be admitted to the U. N. probably have a point when they say that at least the Chinese would be exposed to the forces of reason around such tables. In their present pressuring of Russia they do not know that the use of atomic weapons would not mean the loss of some of China's millions but of all of them.)

SO JASPERS tells us more that we must think instead of what to think. It is a start. Reason should take its place among all the other forces that might keep the lights on a little longer yet.

SUMMARY: worth reading if only to keep us out of our easy chairs.

Paul Simon To Report Legislature

Paddock Publications will again run a series of weekly columns on activity in the legislature written by State Representative Paul Simon of Troy, beginning next week.

"We are bringing Paul Simon's column in the hope that people will take a greater interest in our state legislature," Charles Hayes, executive editor of the 14 suburban papers stated. "His opinions may differ from those of our readers or of this newspaper, but we feel it is healthy to promote greater interest in our state government."

SIMON'S column has received wider circulation than any similar column in the United States. The American Political Science association gave Simon an award "for distinguished reporting of state and local government" for the column.

Simon is serving his fourth term in the House of Representatives. In addition to his legislative activity, he is a newspaper publisher. His writings have appeared in Time, Newsweek and other national magazines.

Each of his three terms in office, Simon has received the Independent Voters of Illinois "best legislator" award.

Revenues of Illinois Tollway Estimated for Two Months

An estimated 4 and 7 per cent increase in revenue on the Illinois tollway resulted in October and November from the opening of the Congress and Northwest expressways and the O'Hare Airport ramps.

This was announced by Charles L. Dearing, executive director of the Illinois State Toll Highway commission.

DEARING said that a statistical comparison of toll plaza receipts with projected estimates of revenues, adjusted for seasonal variations, indicate that traffic revenues increased 4.2 per cent or $74,160 in October as a direct result of the expressway and O'Hare openings and 6. 5per cent or $102,450 in November.

"It is not possible to measure exactly the effect of the expressways at this early date," Dearing said. "However, this is a reasonable estimate and we expect traffic to the Tollway from the expressways to continue to grow as more motorists learn how to us the integrated tollway-expressway system."

Estimates of traffic revenue changes at eight toll plazas affected by the new expressways and O'Hare ramps ranged from an increase of 66 per cent to a decrease of 5 per cent. These included:

EAST - West Tollway — York rd, toll plaza increased 14.9 per cent in October and 20.2 per cent in November after completion of Congress Street expressway.

Tri-State tollway—After the opening of Congress expressway revenue at the Irving Park rd. plaza in October was 7.2 per cent above projections. After the Northwest Expressway opened revenue in November was 5.0 per cent below projections because traffic changed from the Tri-State-Congress Street routing to the Northwest Expressway. At the Cermak rd. toll plaza revenue increased 2.5 per cent and 4.5 per cent for October and November, respectively.

Northwest Tollway at River rd. plaza, handling eastbound traffic, revenue increased 10.5 per cent for October due to Congress st. expressway traffic moving north on Tri-State and exiting at this plaza for such communities as Park Ridge, Niles, and the northwest area of Chicago. In November, revenue at the same plaza increased 66.2 per cent with the opening of the Northwest Expressway.

At the Devon av. plaza on the Northwest Tollway, handlin gwestbound traffic, toll revenue increased 13.8 per cent in November as a result of the opening of the Northwest Expressway. (BB

Park Ridge Bank Pays Record High

More than a half million dollars in interest has been paid for 1960 to holders of Guaranteed Savings System accounts in Citizens Bank & Trust co., Park Ridge.

Lyman, Sorensen, v-i-c-e chairman, estimated the interest payment constitutes a windfall of nearly $100,000 to depositors due to the new method of computing interest.

"We compute interest monthly, paying at the end of June and the end of December. This assures our customers higher earnings than are possible (even at so-called higher rates) when the conventional 'first in first out' method is used," he said.

He added that Citizens Bank savings deposits at the year end amounted to $19,082,854, compared with $17,532,368.95 a year ago.

Taxpayers Given Student Maintenance Deductions

Harold R. All, Director of the Chicago district of internal revenue, today called attention to a recently enacted amendment to the law, effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1960, which under certain conditions allows a taxpayer a charitable contribution deduction for amounts paid to maintain a student as a member of the taxpayer's household.

The deduction may not exceed $50 multiplied by the number of full calendar months during the taxable year which fall within the period the student is maintained in the taxpayer's household. For this purpose, 15 or more days of a calendar month are considered as a full calendar month.

ALL POINTED out that in order for a taxpayer to qualify for this new deduction:

1. The student must not be a dependent or relative of the taxpayer.

2. The student must be a member of the taxpayer's household pursuant to a written agreement between the taxpayer and qualified charitable, religious, educational, and other organizations, contributions to which are deductible for federal income tax purposes. Such an organization must sponsor the student and must be engaged in a program to provide educational opportunities for pupils or students placed in private homes by the organization.

3. The student must be attending an educational institution in the U.S. on a full-time basis in the 12th or any lower grade.

4. The taxpayer must not receive any money or other property as compensation or reimbursement for maintaining the student in his household.

ALL EMPHASIZED that to substantiate the new deduction a taxpayer should keep adequate records of all amounts paid for maintaining the student. These include, for example, amounts paid for books, tuition, food, clothing, medical and dental care, transportation, and recreation. He stated, however, that since the new law was not enacted until September 1960, the deduction for amounts paid by the taxpayer during 1960 for maintaining a student in his household will not be denied solely because of lack of records of actual payments if the amounts claimed to have been paid can be reconstructed from available collateral evidence. # Teachers Capable of Intelligent Decisions

We have been somewhat concerned by the recent controversy over whether teachers of high school district 214 were to be allowed to hear a representative of the American Federation of Teachers, a union which has already organized in Chicago schools and is active in some suburbs, the nearest being Elmhurst. The local controversy resulted from a series of misunderstandings and, perhaps, deserves some clarification.

Two months ago at an Arlington high school faculty meeting, teachers voted to invite a representative of AFT to speak at one of their monthly meetings. The suggestion had been made to the policy and welfare committee (an elected group of Arlington representatives), who put the question before the entire faculty. The question was so phrased that those who voted "no" would almost have to plead narrow-mindedness in refusing to hear what the "other side" (the union) had to say. Even so, the motion passed by a slim margin, "no" voters disclaiming any interest at all and "yes" voters acting mostly from curiosity. No one evidenced any intent to join the union.

The AFT talk was to be one of three programs, the other two consisting of speakers from the Illinois Education association and the National Education association. The purpose of the series was to hear what the various groups were doing to improve educational standards in the United States and particularly at the local level.

The first of the three talks (an IEA representative) had been completed before a well-intentioned resident deplored in a letter to our "Fence Post" column that teacher morale must be pretty low in the high schools if they were considering organization of a union. Despite two attempts by teachers to answer the letter, an emotional response was soon forthcoming. School board members and administrators received phone calls from anti-union taxpayers who assumed the schools were headed for Jimmy Hoffa's camp. The result was that the board brought pressure on Superintendent H. L. Slichenmyer, who announced at a faculty meeting last week that no representative of AFT would be invited to the district.

A tempest in a teapot? Yes, but we feel the action has serious undertones. Some board members by their actions seemed to evidence a fear that the faculty which they had helped to hire could not resist the convincing pitch of a union representative. The 200 and some instructors, representing over 1,000 years of college education, wouldn't be able to think for themselves. They might react emotionally, reasoned the board.

As far as the board, the administration, and the teachers are concerned, the issue is dead.

There were no great howls of faculty discontent when the announcement was made. The matter received little discussion and the decision has been accepted.

We would not be reviving the issue editorially, but we could not restrain from pointing out how ridiculous the situation had become.

There is another important aspect of this issue: the day when teachers were hired as a sort of governess to the community's children is past. They are no longer outsiders being brought in to handle youngsters from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In district 214 they are 70 per cent male and most have managed to scrape up a down payment and buy a home and are now paying taxes toward their own salaries. They offer a commodity which demands not only sufficient financial reward, but respect.

It is not enough to offer high salaries, for there is always some school which can offer more. We must offer the type of community in which the teacher does not feel stereotyped professionally. We must combat any patronizing attitude which consciously or subconsciously develops as a result of the power to control another person's salary, or what speaker he is allowed to hear.

Traveling Suburbanites Have Stake in Planning

If predictions in the second volume of the Chicago Area Transportation Study are accurate, the city and suburban complex will teem with a population of 9.5 million persons by 1980.

Volume two of the three-part report, sponsored jointly by the State of Illinois, Cook county, the city of Chicago and the U.S. Department of Commerce, was released last week. It concerns itself with the amount, kind and location of travel likely to take place in 1980.

The study very aptly points out that while urban transportation seldom has a catastrophic breakdown, there are successive, intense problems such as repeated traffic jams, financial difficulties of public transit, and particularly bad accidents.

Authors of the study indicate an awareness to the danger of conceiving and building transportation improvements in response to immediate problems, rather than in accordance with a long-term program.

The study predicts travel in the Chicago metropolitan area is destined to increase faster than population. The problem, therefore, is to anticipate future demands for travel over a sufficiently long time period.

The study's authors realize the return on the community's investment in terms of efficient, safe and fast travel will be much greater if improvements are planned and built as part of an entire system instead of as unrelated projects.

The study's authors realize the return on the community's investment in terms of efficient, safe and fast travel will be much greater if improvements are planned and built as part of an entire system instead of as unrelated projects.

We applaud the far-sighted thinking illustrated in volume two of the study and look anxiously forward to the conclusions of volume three. Projects based on this study will mean much to the traveling suburbanite.

Precise Planning Necessary

Metro Growth, Travel Needs Are Reflected in Area Study

by BRUCE LADD

The Chicago metropolitan area should reach a population of 9.5 million persons by 1980, predicts the Chicago Area Transportation Study released last week.

The study, sponsored by the State of Illinois, Cook county, and the city of Chicago in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Commerce, is the second of a three-part final report.

It is concerned with estimating the amount, kind, and location of travel likely to take place within the Chicago area in 1980.

TWICE AS many automobile registrations in 1980 should accompany the doubling of the population. The estimated 94 per cent increase predicted in the study will take automobile registrations from the current 1,462,000 to over 3,000,000 in 1980.

The number of average daily trips, 10,212,398 in 1956 compared to 18,081,000 in 1980, will nearly double. The mileage for automobiles alone will increase from 50,200,000 miles in 1956 to 100,900,000 in 1980. This suggests a doubling of demand for highway travel.

The problem, the study continues, is to anticipate future demands for travel over a sufficiently long time period. The need for precise planning is greater now than ever before.

NEW PUBLIC improvements in transportation, resulting from immediate problems like repeated traffic jams, may often be costlier than improvements made on the basis of a long term program.

Examination of the forces which have brought about the tremendous population and economic expansion of the Chicago area indicates a high probability of still further growth, the study says. With a large manufacturing and marketing base, the metropolitan area should retain its share (3.7 per cent) of the nation's population in 1980.

Urban land, by reason of varying accessibility, is a limited resource. Central city land commands the highest value, suburban lots lower, and inaccessible farm land the lowest. The study indicates the suburban areas will be vastly populated by 1980, however.

LOOKING backward in time, trip making and travel are seen as one of the best gauges of the productivity of a community or nation. In 1916, the average person in the Chicago area made 1.3 vehicular trips per day. In the future, the average will be 2.3 trips daily, according to the study.

Rail facilities alone have the capacity to deliver peak hour travelers in the quantity required in a dense population center. In view of this, the estimate for future central mass transportation has been held constant.

Non-central mass transportation travel, however, will be affected by rising incomes and more widespread car ownership. Therefore, while trips will grow with population, it seems inevitable that the average traveler will make less frequent use of local mass transportation services, the study says.

CONSPICUOUS throughout its history was the far-seeing vision and confidence with which Chicagoans planned for the future. Public works were built at a scale large enough to take care of greatly enlarged populations.

The study notes that, while the far-sighted men have been proven right, it is also true that in the struggle to build, many mistakes were made. But there was never any question of survival. There was no thought that Chicago would disappear.

Today, the need for more precise planning is greater than ever before. Sheer size increases the complexities of planning and design.

FURTHER, large parts of the metropolis are already matured, so that new facilities must be fitted more exactly to a nearly stable demand for travel, the study says. A more efficient transportation system is a crucial part of efforts to increase productivity.

"The object of planning is gradually to change the existing transportation networks toward a system which will serve the needs of the community more efficiently than would any scheme," the study con- alternate development cludes.

"It is possible to meet the challenge of growth as an exciting opportunity -- an opportunity to make the most of the chances lying ahead to build a better, more livable urban environment."

Political 'Pros' Are Upset by GOP Caucus

When village and township elections are fought on Republican vs. Democratic lines, there is the likelihood that the issues will be tailored to fit the organizations.

It is more sensible and beneficial for local residents to identify their unique local problems, and then divide according to how they see these local problems and propose to solve them.

That is not going to be the case in many of the local elections hereabouts.

But at least it can be said that the Republican party in the northern part of DuPage county benefited from holding an open caucus to choose its nominees for justice of the peace.

The attendance at the caucus for Addison, Bloomingdale and Wayne townships strained the seams of the Addison fire hall last Thursday. Four hundred and thirty-nine persons signed for ballots and voted.

After the ballots were counted, it became apparent that the rank-and-file had corrected a mistake in judgment by the committeemen.

The top man in the voting, Jack Parish of Wood Dale, got more than twice as many votes as any other candidate. Yet he was not on the slate proposed by the committeemen, who apparently underestimated Parish's popularity and organizing ability.

Obviously a man who can get almost 300 votes in such a caucus is going to strengthen the ticket — and probably lead it. Yet he would have been left off the slate if the decision had been made by the committeemen.

It is written that the public is wise enough to elect its officials. It follows logically that the public is also wise enough to nominate the candidates.

Some self-styled political "pros" dispute this logical sequence, saying that political acumen is given to only a few; by inference, to them. This GOP caucus is one time when the "pros" were wrong.

To Atom Dilemma

Rationality Is Solution

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Karl Jaspers, the author of "The Future of Mankind" (University of Chicago, $5.95) is one of the world's great philosophers. Long a professor at Heidelberg university and an opponent of Nazism through its whole career, he now brings the wisdom of age to the book awarded the German Peace Prize at the 1958 Frankfurt Book Fair.

The book is 'tough going" and lacks many literary graces — seldom does he relieve the pace with a brisk illustration. But it acquires importance for the way it suggests one way out of the atomic dilemma: rationality. It is equally important because it suggests at the same time the limits of rationality.

JASPERS BEGINS by recognizing, in the long perspective of history that man now holds the potential of destroying himself.

He is not of the noisy, poster-carrying, "On the Beach" type shouters. By calm rational calculation he says it is possible and almost probable that man any time beginning now will be removed from the earth by atomic warfare.

He also believes it is possible (I am not sure I would say he thinks 'almost probable') for man still to be saved by the powers of reason. Jaspers is not an old-fashioned sentimental rationalist. He is acutely aware of power politics and the part it can play in world peace. He is not a disarmament proponent on any simple set of terms; he is not a pacifist in the doctrinal sense.

HE SEES THE United States and Russia as the two poles around which the immediate future will gather. The West will turn, whether it likes to or not, to the United States; Europe would emerge as the free world defender if necessary: "In one single contingency—if America herself should succumb to such totalitarian tendencies as the free world was shocked to perceive in the success, however fleeting, of McCarthy — Europe would have the task of risking the self-preservation of Western freedom alone, at any cost, defying every danger."

But assuming that America stays free and Russia stays semi-rational, there are certain ways of aligning reason against self-destruction.

Jaspers, long one of the most informed and respectful critics of the churches, sees religion as an aid but not a solution; it might insulate people against realities and by its accent on eternal life remove some earnestness from making a go of it in the earthly city. (He couldn't be more incorrect on that point, if my observations are correct.) But he is correct on the limited sway modern Christianity has because its beliefs are so lightly held by so many adherents.

READING THE book gave me the uneasy feeling, however, that in his prescription-less quest for the the mood of rationality he simply does not take into consideration the fact that soon a dozen or more nations will have an atomic potential or can lend one to others.

On this scale, there is too much chance of blackmail going wrong to take much hope from reason.

Picture Castro with the bomb. Picture Hitler in his last insane days, willing to drag down Europe and the world with his personal defeat. And, if you don't want to sleep, picture Red China. (Those who urge that Red China be admitted to the U. N. probably have a point when they say that at least the Chinese would be exposed to the forces of reason around such tables. In their present pressuring of Russia they do not know that the use of atomic weapons would not mean the loss of some of China's millions but of all of them.)

SO JASPERS tells us more that we must think instead of what to think. It is a start. Reason should take its place among all the other forces that might keep the lights on a little longer yet.

SUMMARY: worth reading if only to keep us out of our easy chairs.

Paul Simon To Report Legislature

Paddock Publications will again run a series of weekly columns on activity in the legislature written by State Representative Paul Simon of Troy, beginning next week.

"We are bringing Paul Simon's column in the hope that people will take a greater interest in our state legislature," Charles Hayes, executive editor of the 14 suburban papers stated. "His opinions may differ from those of our readers or of this newspaper, but we feel it is healthy to promote greater interest in our state government."

SIMON'S column has received wider circulation than any similar column in the United States. The American Political Science association gave Simon an award "for distinguished reporting of state and local government" for the column.

Simon is serving his fourth term in the House of Representatives. In addition to his legislative activity, he is a newspaper publisher. His writings have appeared in Time, Newsweek and other national magazines.

Each of his three terms in office, Simon has received the Independent Voters of Illinois "best legislator" award.

Quotoons

Tact is the ability to make a fellow pull his own oar with one hand and yours with the other.

Middle age is the time of life when a man gives up taking two steps at a time, and takes two pills at a time instead.

A boy becomes an adult as soon as he gets sufficiently interested in a girl's kisses that he tries to steal one.

Distinguish between imbue (which applies to a person) and infuse (which applies to the quality). Thus: You imbue a person with faith, and you infuse faith into a person.

Do not say, "He had the front to ask me to go with him." Say, "He had the impudence to ask me."

Distinguish between imbue (which applies to a person) and infuse (which applies to the quality). Thus: You imbue a person with faith, and you infuse faith into a person.

Do not say, "He had the front to ask me to go with him." Say, "He had the impudence to ask me."

In Appreciation

IN MEMORIAM

Five years have passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away.
God took her home, it was His will,
But in our hearts she liveth still.
